Friday - Supervisor
Sunday - Police Chief
Tuesday - Patrolman

That's the record of the last five days for Robert Greenstein, who was unanimously removed from his position as Canton police chief at last night's township board meeting.

The move to dismiss Greenstein came on a motion by Trustee Lynne Goldsmith at the first meeting of the newly-elected township board, which officially took office Saturday. Greenstein, who lost to new Supervisor Harold Stein in the August Democratic primary and then lost a write-in bid on the Nov. 2 ballot, termed his removal from the police chief post "political."

After the board removed him as chief, Greenstein asked if he could stay on as a patrolman with the fledgling police force. He was told he could.

He had been sworn in as a policeman on Friday night after completing state approved training at the Criminal Justice Institute.

Carl Silver, present police coordinator, was named interim police chief pending a recommendation from a study group that was established by the board to study the township's police situation.

Greenstein told the trustees his dismissal would not "heal the situation."

Santa's arrival marks Yuletide

With sleighbells ringing, Santa comes to town this week.

He'll be so busy taking local youngsters on his knee he'll often be in two or more places at once.

Santa arrives in Canton, Friday, Nov. 26 at 1 p.m., flying in from the North Pole by helicopter and landing at the Canton Recreation Site, Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads.

After the ceremony, Santa will go to his workshop at the north end of Harvard Square shopping center on Sheldon Road, where he'll welcome visits from local youngsters. Parents are invited to stop in at the Canton Firehall for coffee and doughnuts with Chamber President Al Daly, merchants and township officials.

Santa will be waiting to see his young friends in his workshop every weekend until Christmas, from noon to 9 p.m. Fridays, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays and noon to 6 p.m. Sundays. Also on hand in a pen behind the workshop will be a pair of Santa's deer.

Santa comes to Plymouth Saturday, when the annual Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce Santa Claus Parade begins at 11 a.m. at the corner of Main and Wing streets. The parade will proceed north on Main to Santa's house in Kellogg Park.

His house will be open from Saturday through Christmas Eve. Hours will be 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. Santa will be strolling through Plymouth area stores Monday through Friday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Plymouth merchants and residents will once again mark the coming of the holiday season Friday at 7:30 p.m. with the traditional Christmas Tree Light in Kellogg Park. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the event will feature a sing-a-long with the Plymouth Community Chorus.

Plymouth merchants will stay open until 10 p.m. again this year following the tree lighting to offer shoppers their "Christmas Cordial" welcome. Beverages and snacks will be served by downtown retailers.

Most 911 calls non-emergencies

BY TED EVANOFF

The first emergency phone call to city police under the new "911" emergency number was from a boy reporting his diabetic father was in a coma.

Since then, the majority of "911" calls have not been emergencies, for which the line was intended, but "phonies," according to Police Chief Tim Ford.

Ford has kept tabs on the "911" calls made since the service was begun the second week of September.

His figures through October show 182 calls on the "911" line, 97 of them "phonies."

"Some 100 (phony) calls over 60 days is really not that great a number, at least I wouldn't call it bad based on what I know about other places with emergency '911' lines," Ford said.

"Many of these calls are 'cat in the tree' types that we won't handle on '911,'" he said.

Although the number of "911" calls compared to ordinary police administrative calls is slight — some 200 to 300 calls to the police are placed each day — the "911" system poses a potential problem during emergencies that attract much attention, the police chief says.

For then, the police dispatcher runs the city communication "Nerve Center" and must handle numerous calls, each lasting five to six seconds, and man two switchboards while dispatching emergency or service vehicles; in all, says Ford, the dispatcher could conceivably have to handle "23 separate functions simultaneously."

Should the dispatcher inadvertently misdirect a vehicle to a "911" emergency, the city could be sued.

In addition, city police get "911" calls from Plymouth Township even though the township is not part of the "911" system. Naturally, township calls are transferred by city police to state or county authorities.

Ford says that should the dispatcher somehow not transfer a township call, perhaps in the confusion of a chaotic moment, and someone died, the city again would be liable for damages.

He pointed out that Detroit "is being sued all the time," by people who accuse the "911" system there of being too slow to respond, or handling emergencies poorly.

So far, police here have logged 22 calls from outside the city. Seven were made in October and 22 in September.

Totals for the two months show 111 "911" calls made in the last three weeks of September. Forty-three were valid emergencies involving police, fire, or rescue squads. Fifty-three calls were "phonies."

In October, 71 calls were placed. Twenty were valid emergencies and 44 were false.

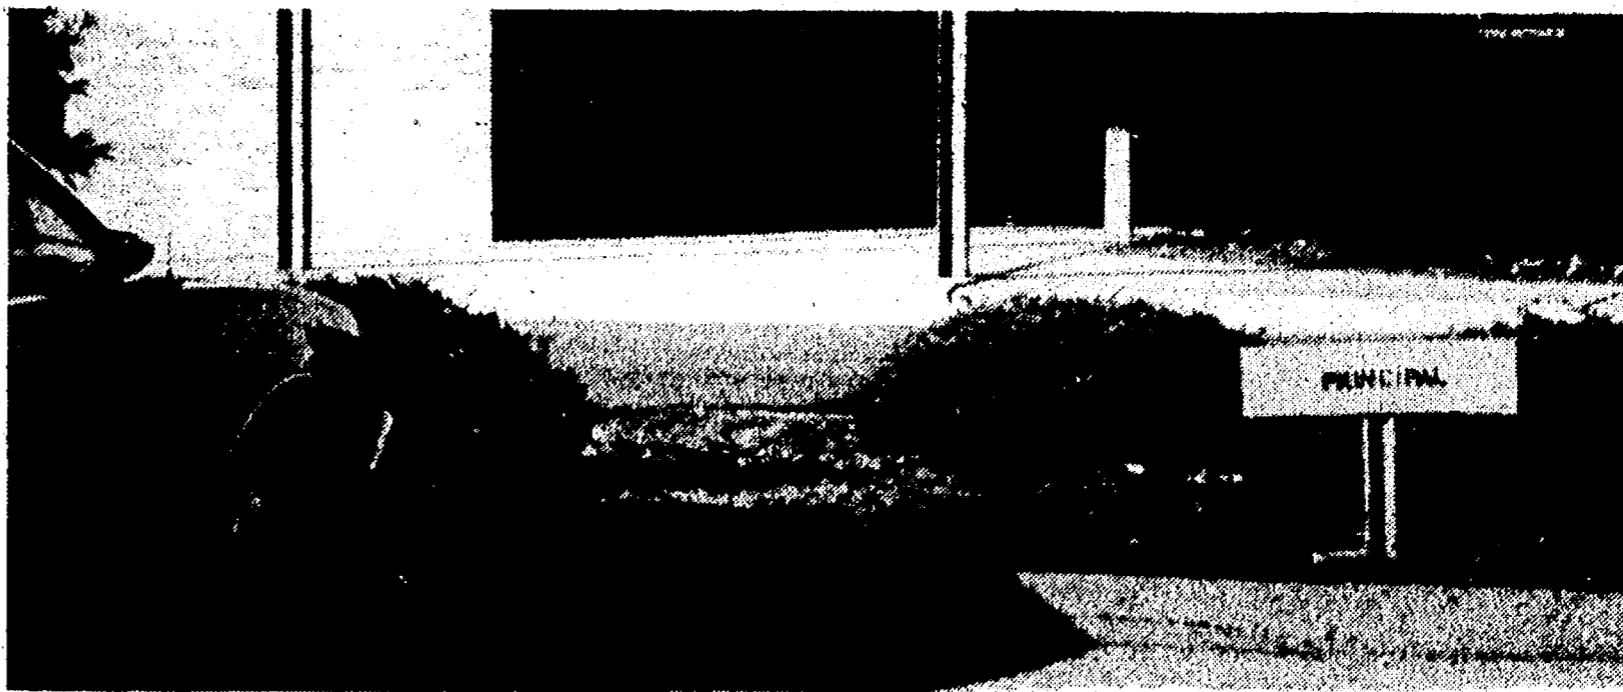

Ann Brown, the daytime police dispatcher, says most of the "phony" calls are people trying to get in touch with police quickly about unessential matters. She says few calls are from people playing tricks.

Salem Twp. trustees seek to rename Gotfredson Rd

At the suggestion of developer Greg Donovan, Salem Township trustees last week agreed to ask their planning commission to consider changing the name of Gotfredson Road in Salem Township to Salem Road. Also affected would be a stretch of Brookville Road which connects Gotfredson with the southern end of the existing Salem Road.

Township Trustee Harvey Barkley said the change, which would require approval of the Washtenaw County Road Commission should it be approved by the township planning commission, would be a boost to community identity when the new M-14 expressway opens. The new highway will have an exit at what is now Gotfredson Road.

The change would create a north-south road through the township bearing the township's name.

The principal's out

THE PRINCIPAL'S PRIVATE PARKING spot at Tanger will not remain empty now that the Plymouth School Board has approved the screening process for the hiring of a new principal at that school. Principal John Howe has been serving on a split-time basis with both Starkweather and Tanger, but Starkweather parents recently requested that each school have its own principal. A survey was made of parents, teachers and non-academic staff at both schools, revealing that 93.1 percent of Starkweather's parents and 59.1 percent of Tanger's parents agreed each school should have its own principal, with 100 per cent of the Starkweather teachers strongly agreeing and 68 per cent of the Tanger teachers agreeing or strongly disagreeing. Fund falls $24,000 short

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The 1976 Plymouth Community Fund drive has fallen some $24,000 — 10 per cent — short of its goal.

According to Fund leaders, there is still some money coming in, but the exact amount is not known. Therefore, they said, only that money already received or pledged can be counted.

As of last week, the Fund drive total was $219,816.16. The goal is $244,000.

"We're at 90 per cent and still counting," said the Fund's drive chairman Gene Kornegay. "I'm not going to say 90 per cent is a failure or a victory. Everyone's tried pretty hard."

If the additional $24,000 is not forthcoming, says Fund president Tim Yoe, the agencies and community services receiving support from the Fund will face cutbacks in the amount they receive.

Although the Fund leaders postponed their "victory" lunch one week to use that extra time for the drive and even then didn't make the goal, they aren't giving up either.

"We thought we didn't make our goal last year either — but we did," Yoe said.

Yoe, Kornegay and John Lynch, Fund treasurer, said they hoped the money on its way to the Fund but not yet received would bring the total up to the goal as happened last year.

Despite that optimism, Kornegay expressed some disappointment with several areas of the Fund drive.

"We were a little bit disappointed with the businesses," he said. "We were expecting more from them." The business category raised $12,635 — 79 per cent of its goal — with only 100 out of 400 area businesses participating.

Education produced $5,934 — 66 per cent of its goal.

Fund officials said that many teachers would not contribute until a new contract has been signed between the Plymouth

Education Assoc. and the schools.

Governmental pledges and donations came to $2,222 — 67 per cent of goal.

Industry, traditionally the largest single area of the Fund drive, gave $185,262 — 96 per cent of its goal.

Professionals gave $4,940 — 55 per cent of their goal.

The residential drive produced $6,203 — 78 per cent of its goal.

Special gifts accounted for $2,821 — 56 per cent of its goal. "We know we have more money here, but a lot of service clubs haven't responded as yet," Kornegay said.

As yet unaccounted for in the Fund's figures are donations and pledges made to the United Way but earmarked for the local Fund drive by Plymouthites who work outside the community. Yoe said it would be next spring before we get "any formal written designation from the United Fund."

Fund officials are planning a breakfast meeting Dec. 9 to discuss the current drive and hope at that time to have a better idea of monies still forthcoming to the Fund.

For 7th time, township prepares for cityhood

If Plymouth Township ever becomes the City of Plymouth Heights, its city charter won't be hastily drawn.

While legal complications could stall City of Plymouth efforts to annex the township or portions thereof for months or years to come, township residents may soon be asked to authorize the seventh revision of the charter of their would-be city.

The City of Plymouth filed petitions in 1972 on the eve of the unsuccessful consolidation election seeking to annex the Burroughs parking lot property, the Hillside Inn property, and finally the entire township. Since then, the authority of the State Boundary Commission to decide such requests has been challenged in similar cases and boundary commission decisions have been placed in abeyance pending a review of commission authority by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Just to make sure no court decisions suddenly thrust annexation upon them, a group of Plymouth Township residents filed petitions last week — for the seventh time since 1958 — asking the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to set a date early next year for another charter commission election.

Election of charter commissioners is a preparatory step to creation of a new Plymouth Heights charter and a vote by residents on approval of the charter. Should the charter win approval — such a measure was solidly defeated Nov. 2, as each of its predecessors had been — all of Plymouth Township east of McClumpha Road would be incorporated.

A spokesman for the county clerk's office said an election date could be set soon after Gov. Milliken established a date for a special election to fill the State Senate seat vacated by U.S. Rep. elect Carl Pursell. At that time, the deadline will be announced for township residents to file nominating petitions for seats on the nine-man charter commission. Because the election would be held before the terms of the current charter commissioner expire (in August), they would not be eligible.

The election petitions were filed with the county by former Supervisor Jack McEwen, a current charter commissioner and de-facto mayor of Plymouth Heights.

How do salaries compare?

What does administering local government cost?

BY CELESTE BEROZA

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first part in a series on the costs of administering our local governments.

How much does the administration of local government cost?

What percentage of school, city and township budgets are spent on administrative salaries?

How much have these costs risen since last year?

These questions and others are discussed in a two-part series delving into administration costs at the township, city, and school district administration levels. Both Canton and Plymouth Township will be covered as well as the City of Plymouth and the Plymouth Community School's central administration.

While comparisons between township positions, city positions, and school administrators' posts can't be directly made because the duties between these governmental bodies vary greatly, the taxpayer can derive some idea of just where his tax money is being spent.

Whether it helps pay a car allowance for the school superintendent, is used for the purpose of hiring an additional administrator or pays the retirement of a township official, it is of interest to those paying taxes.

This, the first part of the series, deals with the school district's central administration which is budgeted this year at $700,858, or 3.3 per cent of the total $21 million budget — an increase of 27.8 per cent over last year's figure of $548,050.

The total administrative costs of the school district, including building administrators who are not lumped under the central administrative budget, is about seven per cent of the district's total budget, says Asst. Supt. for Business Ray Hoedel.

The central administration budget — which is almost half the total district administrative cost also includes: secretarial salaries, legal and auditing costs

(the former is estimated to amount to $31,800 this year), election expenses, office supplies (about $23,000), and equipment costs.

Some 30 per cent of the central administrative budget goes for salaries of the district's top administrators, Hoedel said.

The income of principals, assistant principals, directors of special services and area coordinators are figured by multiplying a base by an evaluation factor and a time factor. A formula for the remainder of the administrative posts has not been established and these are determined by the school board.

The administrators' base for this year is $15,150. Evaluation factors range in value from .5 to 1.8 per cent and depend upon the administrator's performance and the degree of difficulty of the job. Time factors vary according to the number of weeks the position is under contract for. In effect 2½ per cent of the total salary is paid for every week worked.

According to the administrator's handbook, fringe benefits for these personnel include Blue Cross health insurance (major medical coverage), a $30,000 life insurance policy, income protection (disability insurance), and dental insurance. They are also allowed to accumulate one sick day per month.

Principals and directors receive a $20 monthly mileage allowance and all other administrators are given 12 cents per mile for mileage driven directly related to school business but outside of the district. The superintendent and deputy superintendent are given an additional allowance of five per cent of their salary to be used towards the rental of a car.

In comparison to the other school districts in Wayne County Plymouth ranks 29 out of 34 districts as to the percentage of the budget spent on central administration.

Plymouth also ranks below the median in comparison of central administrators' salaries

* 1973-74 was the first year a car allowance was given in lieu of a raise among all the schools in the state of Michigan.

According to figures released by the state, the superintendent's salary in Plymouth ranks just above the tenth percentile for a school with a population over 13,000. The tenth percentile is $35,200 and the Plymouth superintendent makes $35,700.

The deputy superintendent, which is analogous to the state's category of assistant superintendent, falls just above the 25th percentile, $30,894, in terms of salary.

The assistant superintendent in charge of business, analogous to the position of business manager, ranks between the 25th percentile, $27,934, and the median $30,000, in terms of income. The Plymouth salary for this position is $29,400.

High school principals' salaries in Plymouth are the only incomes which rank above the median out of these top four administrative positions. They fall $930 above the 50th percentile, which is $30,000.

John M. Hoben, superintendent, said that there are at least five fewer people in central administration than when he became superintendent five years ago.

Plymouth's most recent loss was Earl Hogan, who resigned from the post of deputy superintendent.

Currently the school district has posted vacancies for the administrative posts of coordinator of elementary instruction, coordinator of secondary instruction, assistant superintendent for instruction, director of finance, and administrative assistant in employee relations.

Hoben expects a large number of applications in response to the posting of these vacancies.

He expressed concern that the schools' administration was understaffed and underpaid.

"Overall I think the Plymouth school system is getting good mileage for its dollars," he said.

Canton spends most on local gov't legal fees

BY KATHY KUENZER

How much does it cost our local governments each year for lawyers' fees, either in seeking legal opinions or in time spent in court?

The Crier asked this question recently of officials of the City of Plymouth, Canton, and Plymouth Township and the results perhaps not surprisingly — revealed that Canton, the fastest-growing of the three, has spent considerably more in each of the last three years than either of the other two communities.

Plymouth Township, where accessible records only go back through 1975, recorded attorneys' fees for 1975-76 totalling $9,866, while fees up to September of 1976 have reached only $2,805.

Don Morgan is the township's attorney of record.

The City of Plymouth retains attorney Charles Lowe on a yearly basis. Lowe's retainer fee in 1974 was $9,327. In 1975 it was $9,980, and this year it will be $10,788.

For these amounts Lowe represents the city in District Court proceedings and in "day-to-day matters," according to City Manager Fred Yockey.

But, says Yockey, the total amount paid Lowe varies, since occasional Circuit Court trials are "extra." Yockey said digging up these extra fees from records over the past three years would not be easy.

Canton's fees to lawyers for the past three years, while being the highest, were also the most readily available.

Deputy Treasurer Mike Gorman revealed that in 1974 Canton paid out $12,444 in legal fees, but that figure was nearly doubled in 1975, when $24,833 was spent.

The township's 1976 figure apparently will either match or exceed those of 1975. So far, up to October of this year, $17,351 has been paid to one of two law firms representing Canton, either Sempliner, Thomas and Guth of Plymouth or Travis, Warren, Nayer and Burgoyne of Detroit.

But the township board of trustees learned recently that a total attorney's fee of $5,415 was necessary to defend a class action lawsuit brought last summer against Canton's new police force. That will quickly raise the total spent in Canton to nearly $23,000 — and the year is not yet over.

Where does Festival go from here?

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS
 EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final part of a series on the annual Fall Festival.

Each year the publicity promises that the coming Festival will be "bigger and better than ever."

However, it is doubtful if the Festival will get any bigger and there are those who question its capacity to get better under its present format.

"I don't think we want it to get any bigger," said Festival Manager Ed Page. "If we extend it any further it will disrupt the traffic flow."

"We've reached the saturation point in terms of space. You wouldn't want it any bigger in terms of control."

Leaf pick-up ends Dec. 3

The Plymouth DPW says the week of Nov. 29 to Dec. 3 will be the last week the city will pick up leaves.

After that time residents will be asked to bag leaves for the regular trash pickup.

City of Plymouth Ordinance 7.60 bears him out. It says, in part:

"... Fall Festival is held in the City of Plymouth in that area bounded by Harvey, Wing, Maple, Hamilton, Roe, Union, and Church streets."

With the space exhausted, there is a problem with content:

"I guess the critics think that it has developed into a giant eatery and there are some who think it's too big," said Festival Board President Doug Blunk, adding, "One of the Board's efforts has been to get the clubs to serve something besides food."

There were fewer food concessions this year, but the problem of sameness remains:

"It has become so gigantic that you have to make some changes to avoid being repetitious," says ex-manager Tony Flum.

To that end some have suggested a beer tent. However, that is very unlikely to occur. For one thing, Board policy forbids alcoholic beverages. Board members tend to be wary of it, for another.

"It poses too many problems in terms of crowd control, licensing, and so forth," said Page.

However, there are those whose criticism of the Festival goes beyond the number of booths and dinners.

"I have said all along that it has turned out to be a sort of money-grabbing thing," said Harold Guenther, who was on the steering committee that created the Festival Board in 1962.

"What is the Fall Festival Board doing to get rid of the crassness of the money involved?" asked Guenther. "It's just like a carnival. The seeds of deterioration lie in that area."

Others, like Ralph Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower Hotel, would like to see the Festival return to its historic, simpler form.

"I'd like to have it go back to where it used to be, rather than the situation now with all those fishing shanties," said Lorenz. "I'd rather see the arts in there and get away from the trade. I think it has gotten too large and there's too much commercialism. Personally, I don't think you need all this hullabaloo."

Festival Board President Blunk disagrees.

"I don't think you can reverse it to the point where the founders would like it to be," said Blunk. "They had envisioned a cultural festival on the lines of Stratford, Ontario. I think it evolved to the way it is because of the monetary gain for the groups involved."

Smashing

Eight vehicles in the city had windows smashed out during the week, apparently with tire irons or ball peen hammers, according to police.

Damage to the four trucks, one van and three cars was estimated at $425 by their owners.

Last week, vandals with an air rifle shot out windows in 14 parked cars as well as a residential picture window.

Vehicles on McKinley, Linden and Main streets were hit in the latest effort.

Still, could the Festival change? "To turn it around at this point is not impossible, but it would be rather difficult," said Blunk.

However, there are those who like the Festival as it is.

"It's a great public relations thing for the town," said Earl Harrington, the first fall Festival manager. "It's good for the community and it's good for

Board to evaluate 45-15

The Plymouth School Board will meet in a workshop session next Monday at Canton High School at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the evaluation of the 45-15 extended year school program.

The 45-15 year is currently in operation for the second year at Miller School and may be considered for other schools in the district to further expand school capacity.

'M' victory is complete

University of Michigan supporters got a rare treat Saturday evening in Kellogg Park — they heard local Ohio State fans sing "The Victors," the fight song of their alma mater.

A tradition between local Wolverines and Buckeyes includes placing newspaper advertisements supporting respective teams before the BIG GAME and meeting afterwards at the fountain in the park to rub it in on the losers, who must sing the winner's fight song.

This year, members of the high school band sparked the gathering with their rendition of the two colleges' fight songs.

Turnout at the Kellogg Park ceremony this year was considerably larger than in the past four years, noted Buckeye enthusiast Fred Hill.

Fund needs your help to go over top

It couldn't really be described as a "victory" lunch when the Plymouth Community Fund chairpersons got together last week.

The disappointing news - that the Fund was only at 90 per cent of its goal - was a sad note upon which to hold the last official meeting for the Fund's drive.

There is some optimism that there are still more donations coming but as yet they've been unreported and therefore can't be counted.

Let's not have the Fund fail to meet its goal for the first time. If it fails, the agencies and community organizations receiving support from the Fund may have to face cutbacks in their programs.

This is the last reminder: if you haven't already given to this year's Fund Drive, use the coupon here to do so now. Your generous contribution will help many Plymouth residents through the Fund's support of several agencies.

Stein: remember campaign promise

Unless a recount in Canton shows some major discrepancy in the tallies for the supervisor's office, the Canton board of trustees will be headed by Supervisor Harold Stein, barring any further unforeseen events, for at least the next two years.

The changing of the guard, so to speak, has not been as smooth as one might have hoped. It was a dirty campaign, a difficult election - for election workers and electorate alike - and even the totals were not certain for many days.

Let's hope Wayne County can conduct the recount in as objective a method as possible so that the questions, doubts and innuendoes are once and for all a thing of the past.

But going on to new things in the administration of Canton cannot be done without considering the good things that have happened in the past.

This reporter has not often gone out of her way to toss any bouquets toward Bob Coen-stein and company. Some would maintain just the opposite has been true!

In any case, Canton has made some favorable strides in the last couple of years, and we suggest Stein would do well to give time and study to issues and consult the citizens of Canton before initiating any major changes in policy.

Some cases in point: the sign ordinance as it now reads may not be perfect in that it reduces the visibility of many businesses. But Canton's appearance is one to be proud of, and sweeping changes of the ordinance aren't the answer. Compromise may be.

The berm ordinance has its flaws, too, but required landscaping does enhance the business area and should not be thrown aside.

The police force, which we have maintained was spirited through the back door through a catch phrase in the wording of the police ordinance giving the force the power to exercise "any and all duties as seen fit by the police chief" is indeed a fact of life. A majority of the officers are certified. The unit has proper equipment and an honest, sincere commander in Carl Silvers.

Don't scrap the police operation, Mr. Stein, unless and until you have seen the worth of their sheer presence on Canton's streets. Then decide how best they can be used to served the township.

It would be hypocritical to say that the expense of remodeling both the township business offices and recreation center was either a necessary or a "good" thing. But those buildings cannot be changed back, so let's put aside our criticisms and continue to encourage their use and upkeep, both for the benefit of the office workers who can't help but be more efficient and the senior citizens and recreation programs who today enjoy a place of their own.

Two items should also be placed high on the list of priorities for Canton's new board and administration. First, hire an industrial coordinator. Search one out until the job is done. Canton is in desperate need of tax base or one day it won't be able to stop the massive exodus of people who can't afford the high taxes.

Second, keep an eye on new housing development. If you are right, Mr. Stein, that sewer capacity will automatically restrict the growth in the township, then let us know exactly how that will be accomplished. Otherwise, some kinds of restrictions are necessary or Canton will turn into a "little old woman in a shoe" and the Plymouth School District, like her, "won't know what to do" with the children that new housing generates.

Most important, remember your promise of open government with input by the citizens. It is obvious the backing for Greenstein's write-in is a very real, very vocal group in the township. Your most difficult task, for a while at least, may be to find a way of listening to them and others without giving up control of the meetings.

Good luck. Your job won't be easy, but the very fact that you and your board ran shows you care what happens to the township.

League supports seniors needs

Editor:

The League of Women Voters (LWV) of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novis strongly supports efforts to provide adequate housing for all citizens. The League has had a continuing concern for the special needs of senior citizens for suitable, affordable housing.

The proposed Forest City

Dillon high rise development was defeated on the referendum vote as an inappropriate way to meet the housing needs of the city's senior citizens. Now Plymouth residents must continue to seek an optimum balance between human needs and the needs of the community.

The League strongly supports the city's application to HUD for funds to build an additional 49 units at Tonquish Creek Manor. We urge HUD's timely approval of this application and appropriation of the necessary funds.

The League urges senior citizens, as well as other qualifying city residents, to apply for block grant funds, which are available as loans at little or no interest, to citizens to make improvements to their existing residences in order to bring them up to code.

We urge area governments to study the needs of senior citizens through a comprehensive survey to identify those with a need for housing, a hot meal program, transportation, or other aid.

In conclusion, I would also like to state that I chose this job and enjoy working with your children. Just because this is my chosen profession, I do not feel I can afford to subsidize education, make a living, or be maligned for not accepting the board's current contract proposal.

Editor:

I realize that emotions run high during contract negotiations, and because of this, only factual information should be conveyed to the community.

I feel that many people (who choose to remain anonymous) express ideas and quote information that they do not possess complete knowledge of, and as a result, it is not presented factually.

This compounds existing problems of poor feelings and wild rumors spreading through this community.

I would like to state factual information that can not be misinterpreted. I live on one paycheck. I pay the same price for food, clothing, shelter, and medical expenses as most residents of this community.

Coaches pleased

Editor:

Thank you for making it possible to give the Freshmen football coaches at Salem High School such a unique remembrance.

The pages were framed and presented to them Friday night. Needless to say they were pleased!

Thank you for being so kind and generous. It was so appreciated.

PCAC compiling artists list

The Plymouth Community Art Council, PCAC, is assisting the Michigan Council for the Arts in a major effort to discover Michigan's artists.

Directed by the Institute for Social Research of the University of Michigan, the study involves inquiry forms which have been sent to 25,000 persons across the state. Persons engaged in music, dance, theatre as well as in the visual arts are being contacted.

The expected response will, for the first time, make it possible to know who the artists in our state are, where they live and work, what field of art they work in, said the PCAC.

A major benefit of this survey will be the establishment of a roster of artists who can be reached regularly with information which is important to them and their work.

Publication of the summary of the survey findings, expected by mid-1977, will make available to Michigan residents for the first time information about the size and diversity of the arts community.

Since the processing of returns is started, it is urgent that persons who have received inquiries and haven't returned them do so immediately.

Local residents who would like to participate but have not received the inquiry can obtain one by contacting: Arts Survey, Plymouth Community Arts Council, 332 S. Main, of phone 455-5260.

Swine flu clinics set

The Wayne County Health Department, encouraged by the crowds attending last week's Swine Flu Clinics in Outer Wayne County, has announced a continuation of its flu clinics.

A clinic will again be held at Salem High School on Joy Road from 3 to 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 29, in the school cafeteria.

Plymouth school nurses have volunteered to give the inoculations.

Clinics also will be held Nov. 29 through Dec. 4 in "J" Building of the Eloise Complex on Merriman Road just north of Michigan Avenue, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, with hours extended until 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Clinic hours on Saturday, Dec. 4, will be from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

These clinics are for both the high risk and the general population 18 years of age and older. High risk is defined as anyone 60 years of age and older, or anyone over 18 with a chronic illness.

People with fevers or having egg, chicken or feather allergies will not be vaccinated at these clinics. For more information, call 729-6616.

Canton High School Principal Kent Buikema reminds parents and interested citizens that a principal's coffee hour continues each first and third Wednesday of the month at 9:30 a.m. in the principal's conference room at Canton.

The meetings are informal and give citizens an opportunity to gain information about the high school program, says Buikema.

'Try Plymouth first'

Plymouth retailers gathered Tuesday morning to kick off a new campaign - "Try Plymouth First."

The campaign, sponsored by the First National Bank of Plymouth is designed to promote local shopping by area residents.

Buttons, posters and counter top signs will soon be popping up in Plymouth stores proclaiming the slogan.

Charles W. Heidt, First National Bank president, told Plymouth merchants his bank is sponsoring the new program because of "the many benefits to the local economy of shopping at home."

He mentioned the indirect value of keeping dollars "at home" such as providing more jobs, encouraging growth and development of new stores and shopping areas, and expanding merchandise available locally.

"It's not necessary that people only shop in Plymouth," Heidt said, "but because our dollars work twice as hard when they're spent at home, we want to encourage everyone to 'Try Plymouth First.'"

With the growth of the Plymouth community and the many new stores here, Heidt said, "Our stores are carrying more and better merchandise every year. It's hard to think of items available in larger cities that aren't available here."

Goodfellows plan giving

If you've been searching for some way to help others during the holiday season, the Goodfellows may be your answer.

Once again this year, the Plymouth and Canton Goodfellow groups are planning to brighten Christmas for many area needy families.

Under the slogan, "No Kiddie Without a Christmas," the groups will raise funds for their Yule cheer efforts through sale of the Goodfellow papers on Dec. 11 at area street corners and shopping centers.

Each group is preparing publication of their own editions, stressing the tradition of the Goodfellows and their role in the holiday season. Both papers will be published again this year by The Community Crier.

Donations collected from the Dec. 11 sale of the papers will go towards buying food, clothing and toys to be given to less fortunate families who might otherwise not be able to celebrate Christmas. If you have a suggestion of a needy family who might welcome the Goodfellows thoughtfulness contact your local fire department.

With their paper sale less than three weeks away, the Goodfellows have some street corners as yet uncovered. Volunteers — men, women or young adults — are sought to help spread cheer during the paper sale.

In Plymouth, volunteers should report to the Fire Station at City Hall, 201 S. Main St. at 10 a.m. Dec. 11. A meeting has also been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday (Dec. 1) at the city main fire station.

Canton volunteers for the Goodfellow drive should report to the Canton Fire Hall, Canton Center at Cherry Hill, at 10 a.m. the day of the sale — Dec. 11.

(The capacity of Salem High School auditorium, currently the largest in the area is 1,027.) Church personnel hope to occupy the school by fall of 1977. Architects of the new construction is Thomas Hansz of Birmingham.

Kleinsmiths try pioneer life on Dakota prairie

BY KATHY KUENZER

Ever dream of what it would be like to throw away all the modern conveniences, don the clothes of our early pioneers and return to the days of yesteryear?

Ed and Carolyn Kleinsmith of Plymouth Township decided to do just that a little over a year ago in July of 1975 when they took their three sons, now age 10, 12 and 14, to North Dakota for a covered wagon trip that indeed recaptured those early days.

"Our whole family is historically-minded," says Mrs. Kleinsmith, seated among the antique furnishings of her living room.

"We had 'done' the Civil War battlefields with our boys, and we decided it would be good to do something different for the Bicentennial."

Through information supplied to them by a friend, the Kleinsmiths registered for the Fort Seward Wagon Train, based in Jamestown, N.D., which has organized the covered wagon trip annually since 1969. The Kleinsmiths found the trip to be relatively inexpensive, with money going only for the cost of food for the participants and horses and for the minimal salaries of the "overseers" of the trip.

It took exactly one week for the entire 100-mile circular trip that transported the "pioneers" in their seven wagons through the rolling hills and prairies around Jamestown, across land that has remained relatively untouched since the earliest inhabitants wended their way through the same area. But the 120 men, women and children, ranging in age from four to 72, found that every day brought something new and unexpected — much the way it must have been for early pioneers.

The requirements of the trip were few and simple but strictly enforced, says Mrs. Kleinsmith. "We had to dress like pioneers and all of the work details were divided up among us. The duty roster included building fires, cooking the food, serving and, of course, clean-up. Even the little four-year-old girl helped serve with her mother."

All of the breakfasts and evening meals were prepared over large open-pit fires, while lunch was a cold meal because of the short two hours allotted at noon.

"But we unhitched and unsaddled the horses," says Mrs. Kleinsmith. "They were as important as the people."

Some 40 of the participants traveled by horseback during the trip, but Mrs. Kleinsmith says a full day in the saddle was nearly too much for even the most experienced riders. Other train members either walked or rode in their assigned wagons.

"It got very hot inside of the wagons," Mrs. Kleinsmith said, "but in North Dakota one can always count on cool nights and mornings and a good night's sleep."

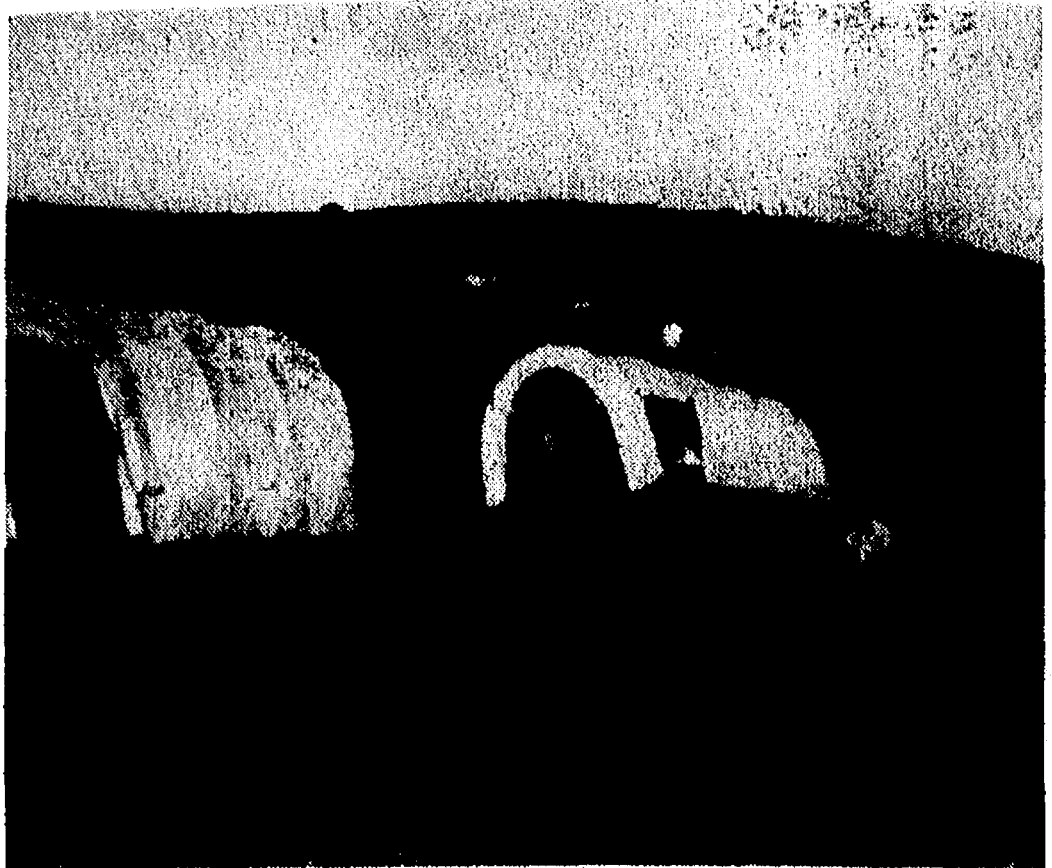

Local landowners and townspeople also contributed to the experience by stopping in during the evenings when the wagons were drawn in a circle and talking about the history of the locale. Mrs. Kleinsmith said one fascinating highlight of the trip was the original wagon tracks still visible over one section of the North Dakota prairie.

"We were always kept busy with cleaning our wagons for inspection, making up skits for the evening campfires, doing arts and crafts along the way. I helped sew a quilt while riding in the wagon — and got several pricked fingers!"

But looking back at the nights sleeping under the stars and the days slowly moving behind the unhurried steps of the lead wagon's mules, Mrs. Kleinsmith says the people were the highlight of the entire trip.

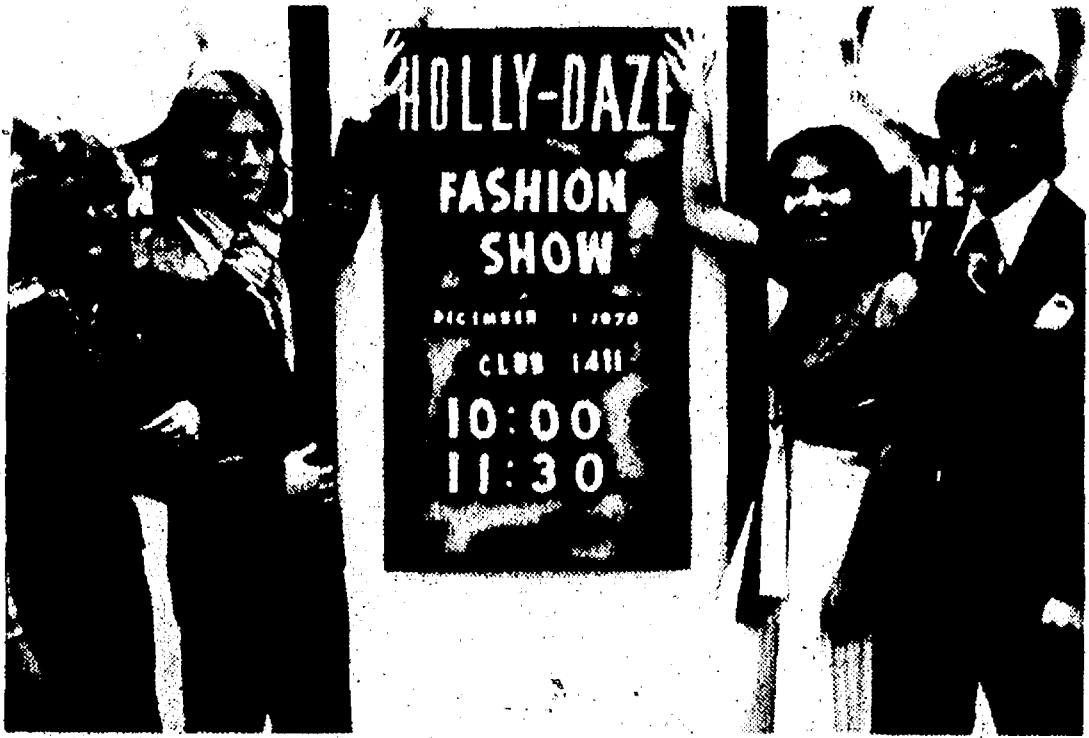

"The man in charge of our wagon had tended cows barefoot on gravel roads as a boy, and he swore he would one day have a horse of his own. We had a surgeon, an undertaker, a grandmother with her three granddaughters. There were people there from a commune, and I learned to understand them as human beings, as people who have a different outlook from mine. That was valuable."

"There was a spirit about the trip that you wished you could take and impart to others."

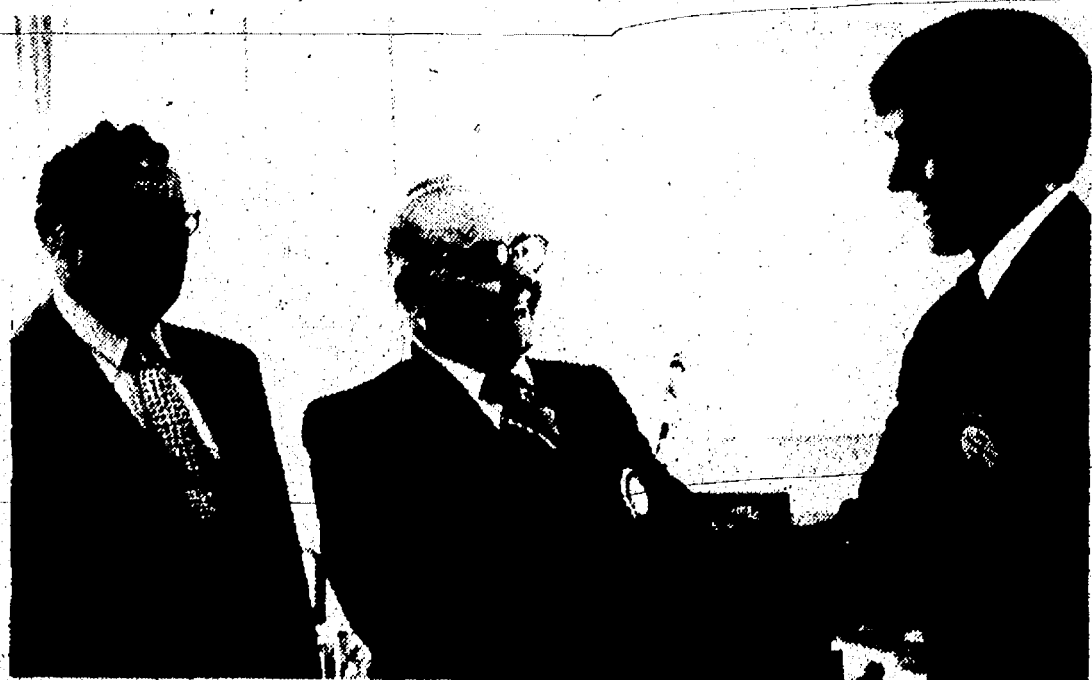

WINDING ITS WAY ACROSS THE PRAIRIE, this wagon train carried 120 modern day folks, including a Plymouth Township family, who wanted to find out how the pioneers lived and travelled on their way west. Carolyn Kleinsmith says she and her husband and sons found the best part of the trip was "the people" who shared their knowledge, their talents and their pioneer spirit with one another.

Tree lighting marks Yuletide's advent

THE LITTLE STAR SYMBOLIZED in the Kellogg Park Christmas tree's colored light delights a local youngster who joined his mother and dozens of fellow residents last year in the annual Christmas Tree Lighting. This year's ceremony will be held Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Beginning with the annual Christmas Tree Lighting Friday night in Kellogg Park (at 7:30 p.m. in Kellogg Park) and the Santa Claus Parade up Main Street Saturday at 11 a.m. a host of activities fills the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce holiday season calendar.

Residents are invited to help decorate a mitten tree, a large Christmas tree to be set up in the Detroit Edison office at Main and Ann Arbor Trail, with gloves, scarves, mittens and similar articles to be given to needy children. The tree will be in place from Dec. 1 to Dec. 24.

St. John Episcopal Church will hold its Christmas Bazaar Friday, Dec. 3 at the church, 574 Sheldon Rd.

The Plymouth Arts and Crafts Show in the Cultural Center at 525 Farmer St. will be held Dec. 3-5. Hours will be 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The Centennial Educational Park Symphony Concert, Varsity and Stage bands will present their December Concert Saturday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in the Salem High auditorium. Admission is free.

Dec. 4 is also the date of the Plymouth Grange Bake Sale, to be held at the Grange Hall, on Union just north of Penniman.

Another highlight of the busy Dec. 4 schedule is the Plymouth Symphony League's Christmas Ball dinner-dance. For tickets to the event, to be held at the Plymouth Hilton, call Barb King at 453-8356 or Joyce Kelly at 453-9461. The evening will begin with cocktails at a cash bar at 7 p.m., with dinner at 8 p.m. and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. Tickets are $25 per couple.

The Plymouth Newcomers Club will hold a "talent auction" Christmas boutique Monday, Dec. 6 at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union. Guests are invited. Auctioneers will begin the bidding at 8 p.m.

The Plymouth Historical Museum and five local homes will be open to holiday season visitors Dec. 10 for the annual Christmas Home Tour sponsored by the Plymouth Branch of the Woman's

Tanger students plan Fantasy

Christmas season for Tanger Elementary School began in mid-November when fourth and fifth graders participated in a number of workshops, handcrafting Christmas items for sale at Fantasy Fair, Dec. 6-10.

Under the sponsorship of PTO and the Fair chairmanship of Debbie Borenski, parent volunteers have contributed hours of time and abundance of talent in order to foster closer Tanger community spirit and co-operation.

Fair items will include such handcrafted goods as wreaths, kissing balls, door and Christmas decorations, tree ornaments, knitted and crocheted items, jewelry, and toys. Other features are a candy corner, dried-flower arrangements, and fresh holly and plants.

Elementary children are encouraged to do their Christmas shopping for family and friends, Wednesday-Friday during school hours. Others are invited to Tanger's Christmas Fantasy Fair, Monday and Tuesday evenings, 7 - 8 p.m. in Room G at the school on Five Mile Rd. west of Haggerty.

Santa visits Old Village

BY FRAN HENNINGS

Once upon a time in mid-November, Santa Claus came home from a long day's work of toymaking, to find his wife dressed up and ready to go out.

She was wearing her warm red coat with the fur collar, and her hands were tucked into the matching muff.

Without letting Santa know, she and all the little elves had planned a special night out to spark their enthusiasm for a very wonderful Christmas in 1976.

Santa donned his big red coat with the shiny silver buckle on the black belt, and his warm fur hat, and out the door they hurried.

Rudolph knew exactly where they were going, and took off through the clouds, past the icebergs where the penguins strutted, over the Great Lakes, then suddenly down to the twinkling lights of Old Village, Plymouth.

As they landed the Clauses were greeted with shouts of joy, for the whole area had been eagerly anticipating this special Christmas Pre-Walk with Santa.

Warm greetings from Pat and Eric at the OLD VILLAGE GALLERY pleased Santa greatly, and he found just the perfect painting of Plymouth for their home. Just across the street he had a talk with Dave, at OLD VILLAGE UPHOLSTERY about his fireside chair, which needed a new covering and reinforcing, because of his added pounds. Dave readily promised the chair would be ready Christmas Eve.

Bob Puckett who owns PUCKETT PLUMBING AND HEATING had already checked the plumbing at the North Pole (he goes everywhere) and had adjusted and cleaned their furnace for the cold months ahead.

Mrs. Claus was feeling a bit weary so a bowl of piping hot home-made soup at Roger's OLD VILLAGE RESTAURANT was the perfect answer. Ben, and his sons, Ed and Glenn, from PLYMOUTH RUG stopped by and Mrs. Claus arranged for them to carpet the Claus' living room floor with that beautiful new shag carpeting.

By now the streets were filled with carolers, and Santa excused himself to go out and see. Confidentially he wanted to arrange for a New Years Eve clam bake from Dan and Curtis at THE FISH BARREL. He slipped into PLYMOUTH METAL DETECTORS to have Bill look over the strange coins and unusual bottles he had found at the North Pole. A package of Milton's delicious barbecued beef and beans at BILL'S MARKET for a late night snack was his next purchase. Roberta quickly took care of it while slipping in one of her own oil paintings for a holiday surprise.

Mrs. Claus in the meantime had gone into the HOUSE OF GLAMOUR for Pat and the girls to give her a new hair style, manicure, and shh! Don't tell Santa.

long eyelashes! With the help of Amy at NEW GAL IN TOWN, Mrs. Claus selected a bright new green gown for the holidays while Cynthia and Barbara from BEAUTIFUL THINGS chose the right gold chains and earrings to complete this lovely outfit.

During Mrs. Claus' personal shopping spree, Santa was arranging with Doug and Sally BLUNK, INC. to have his sleigh carpeted with nylon plush for his Christmas Eve trip. A perfect C.B. from WESTSIDE ELECTRONICS would be a safety feature for his trip, keeping him informed of weather conditions, as well as exchanging greetings with other C.Bers. Jack and Roger made an appointment to check his T. V. at Westside Electronics in the last of December, so nothing would go wrong while he was watching the Rose Bowl parade and game.

It was time now for a midnight snack, so the sleigh stopped on the way to THE PLYMOUTH HILTON at the OLD VILLAGE BOUTIQUE where Mrs. Claus made appointments with Eula, as Christmas gifts for several friends. Arriving at the Hilton they made a tour of the beautiful facility, and even had a dance in the JOLLY MILLER. Santa was so glad THE OLD VILLAGE ASSOC. had arranged for him to be there that night.

There was still so much to see and do, so they hurried back to JUST ANN'S where Ann personally helped them choose cheerful wallpaper and paint for their powder room.

Hoping to find gifts for very special friends, they stopped at THE PHOENIX GALLERY where Suzanne showed them exquisite wall hangings, macrame, and paintings as well as fabric ornaments for the holiday trees. At OLD FRIENDS MENAGERIE, Lennie and Rosebud helped them select a delicate bowl which had surely been someone's treasure. Across the street at AUSTIN VACUUM, Jerry selected just the right sewing machine for the elves' workroom.

Where do you think the elves had been all this time? First into the CORNER CANDY STORE, where Doug and Curtis sold them chocolate covered apples, the best candies for Christmas stockings and a few goodies to munch on. At LORRAINE'S DOLLS, they selected dolls and doll houses for all the good big and little girls.

LITTLE ANGELS reminded them of all the new babies in town, and Alice was delighted to show them the snugly bunting and warm outfits they would need.

Mrs. Claus was shown how unusual hanging pots from Tim at WILDWOOD IMPORTS could be planted as pleasing gifts. All the lovely flowers reminded them of a soon-to-happen wedding at the North Pole, so at the OLD VILLAGE SAUSAGE SHOP they talked about delicious food with Connie and Gertrude. They really know how to cater a reception.

Time was flying, but they simply had to pick up new towels, and a long-hoped-for bedspread from Helen at BED N STEAD TOO. How fortunate they were having a "Grand Opening Sale."

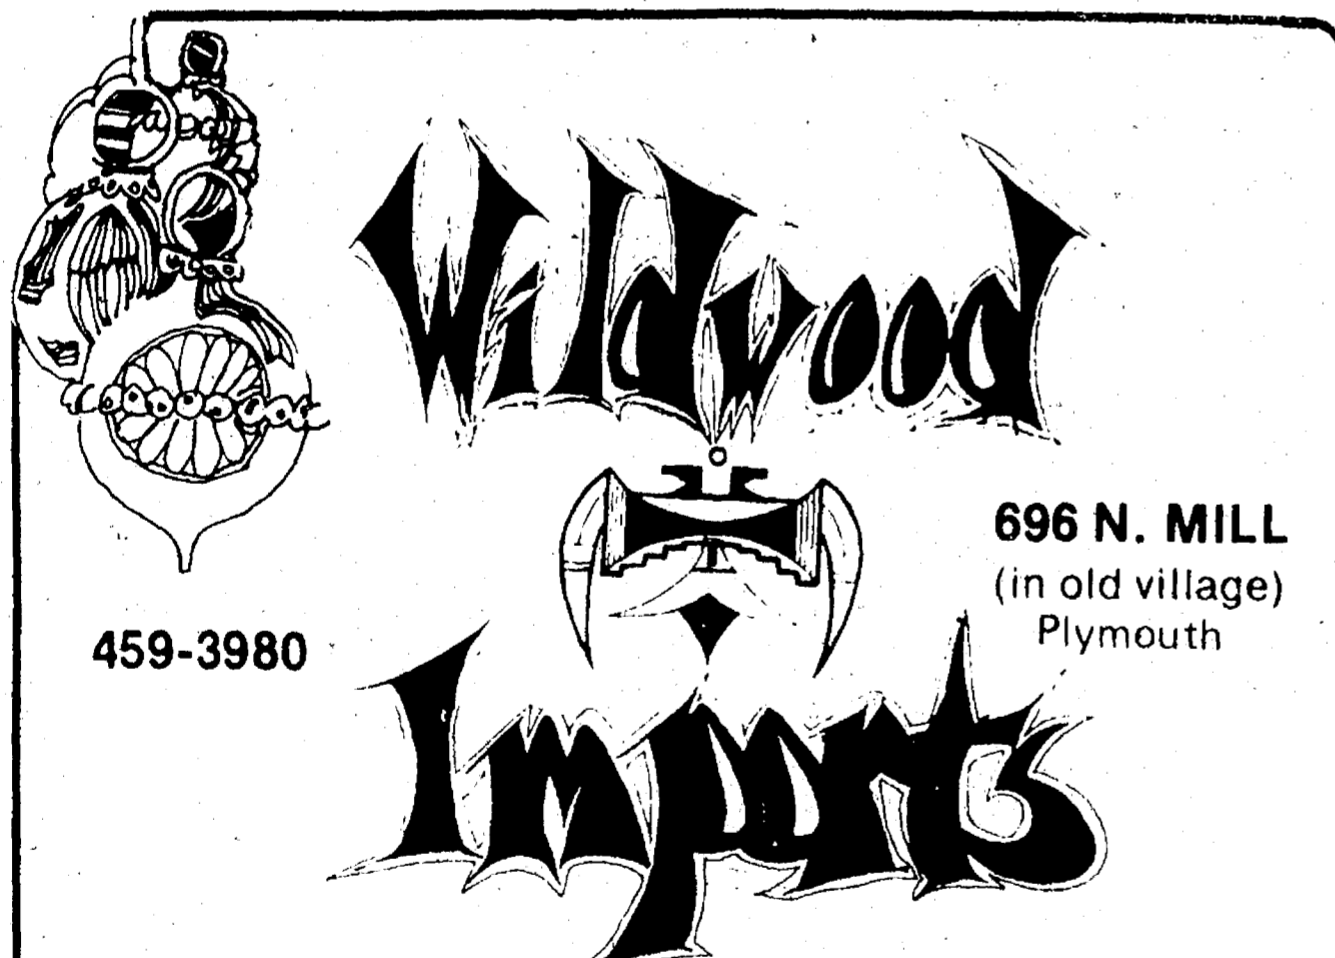

Fran was waiting at the CLOTHES TREE to assist in choosing gifts for their nieces and nephews. Gay colors in mufflers and mittens pleased them, as did the warm jackets for the boys.

Soon they must start home, but not until Santa had George at B.F. AUTO check over his very special sleigh. It had to be in tiptop shape for that important Christmas Eve trip and Santa could only trust it to an old friend. Wasn't it fortunate that Tom had moved his TOM'S CUSTOM AUTO SHOP right by the tracks, for Santa had arranged to have the sleigh painted before the 24th.

While Santa was attending to these practical matters, Mrs. Claus dashed into those exciting antique shops along Liberty Starkweather in Old Village, ending up at OUR PLACE, where antique clocks are a speciality.

Now they must be off to the North Pole, but Santa would return to OLD VILLAGE for the CHRISTMAS WALK on Sunday, Nov. 28 from noon to 5 p.m. He hoped to make the Sunday Brunch at the PLYMOUTH HILTON before greeting his many friends from around the area.

The sleigh was loaded, Mrs. Claus and the elves tucked in, and Santa made a last trip around OLD VILLAGE. Everyone called out to wish them a safe journey as they drove off into the silver moonlight. This had been a very special evening in OLD VILLAGE, where Santa and Mrs. Claus had enjoyed their very own Shopping Spree.

I Need Christmas

by Erick Carne

I need the soft twinkling lights....
the glow of color on the white snow,

The brightness of the living room,
And the brightness of living.

Don't worry that our views about the big problems are different,

Small talk will do....
Candlelight is enough.....

Courtesy and good cheer are all we need.

And I need its hope.....
Escape from reality?.....
Perhaps.....

But I need that.

That soaring realization,
So sure,
So fleeting,
That it is possible.....!

That the goodness in each man could form a powerful bridge to peace on earth!

It happens every Christmas.....

When presents have been placed,
and there is only coffee.....
and candles and quiet and us

Or at a crowded shoppers lunch counter when you and I.....
Who are worlds or colors apart.....
are spontaneous people

Or when 800 voices and cymbals
and organ
Know that love was born on a night like this.....

Take my hand and come with me to Christmas.

Museum features Dickens' Christmas

A DICKENS OF A CHRISTMAS is the theme this season at the Plymouth Historical Museum. The museum opened its doors for the Christmas display last Sunday and will be open during regular museum hours throughout the holidays. One example of the Dickens theme is this Victorian parlor where Christmas meant a plate of sugar cookies, a pot of steaming tea and a tree filled with hand-made ornaments and popcorn strings. The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its "toys for Tots" program Dec. 13-24 with Christmas Trees set up in collection spots at the three local branches of the National Bank of Detroit. Sponsors say that if a toy is wrapped, an identifying note should be attached, with suggested sex and age for which the gift is appropriate.

Musical programs round out the holiday season calendar, with the West Middle School Christmas Program and the Canton Choral Concert both scheduled for Dec. 14. The West program will begin at 7 p.m. in the Salem High auditorium, while the Canton concert will be held in the Canton Little Theater, also beginning at 7 p.m.

Wednesday, Dec. 15, the Salem High Choral Concert will be held in the Salem auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Plymouth Symphony will present its special Christmas show of the opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" Sunday, Dec. 12 at 4 p.m. in the Salem High auditorium.

Lunch with LOMAS

Next week, we will return to the world of mundane lunches after having made gluttons out of ourselves on turkey everything.

But things look bright on the lunch front, as Eriksson kicks things off next Tuesday with Batman Burgers, (but no ground-round Robins) and to further put things in perspective, Fiegel features Jumping Jello next Friday. Bring your pogo stick to lunch.

Isbister will serve a "mixed up" lunch next Tuesday, with pizza, peanuts, orange juice, and milk. A grab bag, like the "potluck" Miller students will be taking their chances with on Monday.

Tales out of school

News from Salem and Canton High Schools
BY SANDY HAWLEY

One of the strongest organizations at CEP is the Student Service Center, located in Canton's business area.

SSC is run by students with help from guidance counselors Carla Garbin and Nic Cooper and advisor Marge Yokum.

"The SSC is there to help people find their problem by way of their feelings, because your feelings are what guide you. Once the person knows what he feels, alternatives are given to them," says senior peer listener Cheryl Ridge. "Peer listeners" are students who volunteer to talk with and listen to troubled classmates.

This year some of the staff members went to a special alcoholism clinic. Plans are now underway for classroom presentations to show students that knowing you can do something, achieve your goals, is better than relying on alcohol.

Says Ms. Ridge, "Each person has something he or she is really good at. And when they find that, maybe they'll try and make that better. We'll be trying to get them (students) to see that, so they won't get into alcohol."

Other members of the staff have been working in crisis centers and visiting runaway shelters and women's centers. "Reach Out" is a new program for groups of people interested in the values of the Center but not yet on the staff, although some staff members are involved.

The group gets together to discuss a problem as a group and seek to help the person with the problem.

Besides helping students with their problems, the center and its 40-student staff orient new students and offer tutoring. SSC also has information on drugs, pregnancies, VD, runaways, local agencies and laws pertaining to teenagers.

Coming up this week is the play "The Clock that Went Meow," Nov. 30 at 10 a.m. at Allen School and at 1:30 p.m. at Starkweather School, presented by Canton High's Drama Department. Admission is free.

Plymouth C of C hopes '77 is better

Although 1976 was not a good year for the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce — it will finish the year about $2,000 in the red — next year promises to be much better.

According to Janet Curlee, executive secretary and manager of the chamber, the new promotional Plymouth Community Map project for the chamber will raise some $6,000 and mean the difference for solvency for the chamber budget.

Projected expenditures for this year at the chamber total $22,371 while revenues were only $19,588.34. The difference has been made up by "a $2,000 loan in the form of an overdraft on its bank account," according to the chamber's 1976 annual report.

With the $6,000 anticipated from the map project, the 1977 revenues are expected to be $26,773.00 — some $2,000 over costs which are projected at $24,536.10. That surplus will be used to make up the 1976 deficit Mrs. Curlee said.

"We'll be a little better off next year," she said. Pre-paid 1977 chamber memberships will allow the chamber to finish up 1976 in the black, she added.

Additional revenue is expected in 1977 for the annual Chamber of Commerce circus which last year generated $583 for the chamber. (It produced $86 the year before — its first year.) "I'm figuring we can get another $500 from the circus this year," Mrs. Curlee said, meaning a total of $1,000 profit from the circus.

New Canton trustees oust Greenstein as township's top cop

She was hooted down, with one man calling, "lady, how long have you lived in Canton Township?"

"We don't like having things crammed down our throat," a township woman who opposed Greenstein said. "Mr. Greenstein did a lot of good. But can we really believe him — will he stay out of politics?"

Greenstein, after being fired, told The Crier his removal as police chief "granted him license" to remain active politically in the township.

An attorney, he said he hopes to open a law office in Canton and serve as a Canton patrolman.

Voting with the rest of the board to dismiss Greenstein were two former members of Greenstein's political slate — John Flodin and Bob Myers. Flodin was the only member of the Greenstein slate to win election in the August primary. Myers, who was elected with Greenstein in 1974, had a falling out with the former supervisor last year and has since become one of his chief critics.

Greenstein said after the meeting he thought Stein "had tied his own hands by accepting $600,000" in campaign funds from the union of the Wayne County Sheriffs and promising to contract for services with the sheriff.

Stein, in response to a question from the audience, said firing Greenstein was not an attempt to disband the reserves. Goldsmith said her reason for firing Greenstein was to get "the most political man in the township" out of the police force and, find someone who knew more about police work to replace him. Someone, she said, "who has come up through the ranks."

The lights from a TV news crew heated the township hall, already sweltering from people jammed five deep in the entryways and crowding the floor and aisles.

Some of the audience spoke on behalf of Greenstein, one woman saying his dismissal would "alienate" the township.

Fire Station #2 shows progress

CANTON FIRE STATION NUMBER TWO begins to take shape at its location on Warren Road near Haggerty. "Over the river and through the woods to grandfather's house we go." The traditional Thanksgiving has been updated by a few changes over the years.

Instead of getting the horse and sleigh ready for the trip to Grandma's house, we all pile in the car that dad has just warmed up. There have been some basic changes in the appliances used in preparing the dinner, but one of the biggest changes appears after dinner as everyone gathers around to talk. America has added a new tradition to the day with Thanksgiving Day football.

Many things change with time, but the tradition of getting together with families and friends during the holidays has never changed. Some area families will be packing their bags as they head out of town, while others will be opening their doors to greet familiar faces.

Frank and Joan Leary and their family will be heading south to Newburgh, Ind. They will be visiting Ray and Ann Canafax who recently moved from Plymouth.

Chuck and Janet Newsome and their family will be visiting her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Steyer in Oscoda.

Bill and Sue Knapp of Canton are planning a family dinner with Bill's parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knapp from Grosse Pointe Farms.

A family get-together is planned by Jim and Margaret Shields. They will be entertaining her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Belanger from Saginaw, and an aunt, Mrs. Edna Wartenberg.

Don and MaryJo Johnson of Canton are planning a turkey dinner for her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emery from Grosse Pointe Woods.

The first grade class at Starkweather School taught by Mrs. Kelly is celebrating Thanksgiving a day early. The children have been busy making costumes and decorations and each one will have a part in preparing the turkey dinner they will be serving Wednesday.

Lynne and Jeff Goldsmith were hosts at a pizza party last Saturday night at Northville Charley's. The party was held to celebrate Lynne's swearing in as a trustee in Canton. Joining them for the occasion were Brian and Carole Schwall, Jerry and Linda Lynch, Dick and Elaine Kirchgatter, Ralph and Lori Brickman, and Bob Chandler.

Mary Perna is leaving today on a eight-day theater and art tour of Russia. She will spend four days in Moscow then take a sleeper train to Leningrad for four days. The trip is sponsored by Antioch College in Ohio.

The Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the American Assoc. of Retired Persons meets the fourth Wednesday of each month at the Presbyterian Church. A sack lunch is held at noon followed by a sing along, business meeting and program. Visitors are always welcome.

The Broadcast and Cinematic Arts Area of Central Michigan University has announced that Paul J. Sincok will hold the position of Community Relations Director for WMHW-FM (a university run radio station) for the upcoming winter semester. During the fall semester Paul was on the executive staff at the station as well as being operations manager for the Moore Hall Television Studios. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sincok of Penniman Ave. in Plymouth. A 1975 graduate of Plymouth Salem, Paul was program director of the school district's WSDP-FM and graduated with honors in the communications area of the school.

The children in Ms. Kathy Teahan's class at Allen Elementary are planning a Thanksgiving dinner Wednesday, Nov. 24. The children are making placemats and learning how to prepare a holiday meal.

Winterizing your trailer is fairly simple, but if the RV is an older model, some things must be done to keep it at its best. Check every panel of siding. Tighten all the screws, caulk every window and door down to the bottom of each wall. It really is not as hard as it may sound, and the work goes quickly. If you have a sheet metal roof, it should be painted, to seal out water. Commercial trailer-roof paints provide an elasticity which will accommodate the thawing/freezing cycles inevitable on your roof top. Be especially liberal with the paint around the roof vents.

We at WALKER-RAFFERTY CO., 25341 Michigan Ave., 562-7661 can handle the servicing on all makes and models of recreational vehicles. Since our service personnel only work on R.V.'s they know them thoroughly. Looking for gifts for your R.V. family? - Come to us for a full selection. We have over 9,000 different items for your camping pleasure or necessity.

RV TIP
The proper technique with roof paint is more a trowling-on with the paint brush, than a fine painting stroke.

The program is hosted by Doretta Adcock and can be heard on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:05 and 5:15 p.m.

Backroom blaze may be arson

A Starkweather street resident told Plymouth Police last week she suspected arson in a fire in her home.

Bonita Weaver of 843 Starkweather, told police that she discovered a smoldering fire in her back room, with wood and paper kindling lying around a pool of lighter fluid.

She had been talking on the phone when she heard a noise in the room. Police said entry was apparently gained through an unlocked door to the back room.

Then there is Margaret Wilson, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Penn Theatre, who feels that, despite its flaws, the Festival is still worthwhile.

"Sure, I'd like to see it go back to being a Plymouth effort for Plymouth people, but we're growing and we're changing," said Wilson. "I'm still proud of it and the community. When you think of the thousands of volunteer hours that go into it, it's fantastic."

Rocks fall 63-57 in district title bid

BY SPIKE KERSHAW

It wasn't until the last two minutes of last night's game against Walled Lake Western that the Salem Rock girls' basketball team saw its hopes for a district crown and perhaps even an undefeated season dashed, as the Warriors, playing on their home court, turned a see-saw battle into a 63-57 victory.

The loss, which snapped the Suburban Eight champion Rocks' 18-game winning streak, also abruptly ended their season.

Awesome Walled Lake Western center Sue Reimer, at 5'10" the tallest player on either squad, frustrated the Rocks under the boards and anchored a well-rehearsed zone defense that stymied the shorter Salem girls inside. But the Rocks, who spurted to a 14-11 first-period lead before slipping behind in the second period, fought back again and again with a taut running and passing game.

Only at the end of the first half, when the foes hit six straight points to come from behind and lead at the buzzer 29-24, and in the waning moments, when a technical foul and other miscues killed the young Rocks' final bid, did their inexperience show.

The squad's lone senior, forward Peggy Moore, played what coach Debbie Hatcher described as a 'cool' game, starting slowly but finally coming alive in the second half to reel off 10 of the Rocks' 16 third-quarter points. Combined with the hustling defense of guard Kathy Dillon and clutch baskets by Donna Goodrich, Moore's play helped keep the Rocks alive until the end.

Only when her technical foul - for throwing the ball against the ground - enabled Western free-throw shooters to turn a 53-52 edge into a 60-53 lead with less than two minutes to go did the Rocks yield.

Coach Hatcher laid the loss to inexperience - and generosity at the foul line - in the face of a senior Western squad. "They (Western players) have been in district competition for four years and it really showed," she said.

"All our girls are coming back next year. Theirs aren't. This isn't like a regular game. It's difficult to simulate this quality of pressure in practice at home." Hatcher said her players could only use half of the damaged Salem High court for practice this week.

Forward Donna Goodrich led all Rock scorers with 13 points, followed by her sister Diane, who fouled out late in the second half, and Peggy Moore, with 10 each; Erin Moore, Peggy's sister, and Doris Hoelscher, with eight each; Kathy Dillon with six and Patrice Cunningham with two.

The Rocks earned their berth in the district finals with a 62-47 triumph Saturday against Walled Lake Central.

Tankers nip Trojans, claim Sub-8 crown

The Salem girls' swim team did it again last week - only this time they went home with the Suburban Eight league title after blasting their "toughest" foe, Trenton with 249 points to the Trojans' 238.

Behind Trenton came Bentley, Dearborn, Edsel-Ford, Redford Union and Belleville respectively.

"Trenton swam exceptionally well," said Rock swim coach Chuck Olson. Olson had said before the meet that he felt it would be close between Salem and Trenton.

"Everyone on our team swam well," he said. "It was a very good meet, everyone did their job and everything went well."

Marion Stanwood won the 100 free in 56.3 seconds, while sister Sue Stanwood also won the 500 free in 5:52.2. Sharon Ross placed second in the 500, with a clocking of 5:54.6.

The Rocks were also first in the 400 free, with a time of 3:49.7. In the 100 backstroke, Jill McCann came in second with a time of 1:08.9; while Sue Stanwood was second with a time of 2:26.5 in the 200 Individual medley. McCann placed fifth in that event with a 2:36.3 clocking.

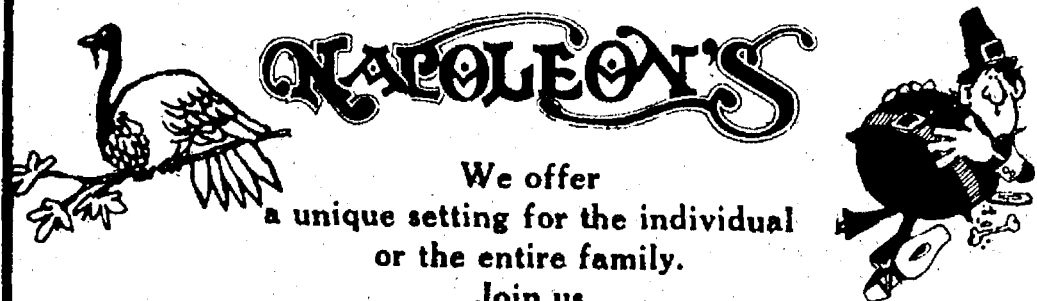

In diving, Amy McClumpha took second place honors, totaling up 313.4 points; Lisa Lukens placed sixth in diving with 268.95 points.

Ilona Schmidt came in fifth in the 100 butterfly with a time of 1:10.8. Collette Kadas placed fifth in the 100 breaststroke with 1:19.8 and McCann was second in the 100 backstroke with 1:08.9.

Marion Stanwood won the 200 free with a time of 2:02.4 and Sharon Ross came in third with a time of 2:12.2.

The Rock tankers begin final competition in the State Meets Friday, Dec. 3.

In tough Sub-8 Thomann looks to new recruits

BY DONNA LOMAS

Aiming to win their fourth straight Suburban Eight League championship basketball title in a row, Salem boys' basketball head coach Fred Thoman said it would depend on two things.

"It will depend," he said, "first, on how well we can defend the bigger players on the opposing teams and two, how quickly our younger players mature."

Thoman is thinking of three or four returning players from last year, but the key may well be the younger players.

"The supporting players are young - we'll have to rely on them. This year they'll have to accelerate faster, play better right away.

"We have a good beneficial schedule, however," he said. "That will give us a good start. We'll have time for our younger players to work on their skills. We'll get our team together then, and after Christmas we'll really go."

Thoman favors the man-on-man defense type of play, while offensively, he stresses passing the ball.

"We exert total team pressure on the offensive and defensive opposing team as much as possible so they keep moving. We never let up."

Thoman considers (in any order) Trenton, Dearborn and Bentley the three toughest teams his squad will have to face this season.

Taut cage debut ends in Chief loss

BY MATT NORRIS

"If we had made a few more free throws at the end, we could have won it", said coach Casey Cavell after the Canton basketball team lost a 71-67 overtime contest last night to Dearborn on the Pioneers' court.

Sophomore Butch King sank a jump shot from the top of the key with 31 seconds left in the regulation time to tie the score at 65 and send the game into overtime. Dearborn's Jeff Montgomery converted two freethrows and King made a two-foot shot with 1:15 gone in the overtime period to keep the score knotted. The Pioneers stalled for 30 seconds, until Tom Kwiatkowski broke free for a go-ahead layup. After a Canton shot went astray, Ken Britton fouled Kwiatkowski, who was successful on two free throw attempts to ice the final, 71-67.

Both teams started slowly, but Dearborn cracked the Chiefs' man-to-man defense enough to grab a 24-14 first-quarter lead. Guard Keith Randazzo accumulated his third personal foul early in the second quarter, and left the game. King has eight points in the stanza, as Canton cut the lead to seven at halftime, 32-39.

Randazzo returned in the second half, but the outsized Chiefs couldn't gain ground in the third eight minutes of play. Mike Ley, the tallest Canton player, challenged Dearborn's 6:7" Bill Stucky, holding the center to two field goals in the second half. The score after the third quarter read Dearborn 54, Canton 45.

Mike Albright, Rob Mandle and King rattled off three field goals to start the fourth quarter, and suddenly the Chiefs were within three points of the leaders. Canton took the lead for the first time since early in the contest on Mandle's steal and pass to King, who hit a 20-foot shot, Mandle scored a basket of his own, putting his team up by three with 2:33 left. Dearborn regained the lead but King's basket tied the score and set the stage for the overtime ending. King led Canton scorers with 24 points, followed by Mandle with 14 points and nine rebounds. Albright, a forward, chipped in 10 points and seven caroms.

The junior varsity never recovered from an early deficit, losing to the Pioneer squad, 46-55 last night. The young team had difficulty playing together in its first game, and coach Wayne Weimer substituted freely.

SENIOR FORWARD MIKE ALBRIGHT sank eight points last night in the Chiefs dramatic but unsuccessful overtime debut against Dearborn. (Crier photo)

Chief cagers to rely on speed

BY MATT NORRIS

The Canton cagers hope to win their tough league schedule this winter, relying mainly on quick, small players and fast-breaking offense.

Coach Casey Cavell feels his young team, playing with a positive attitude, can stymie taller teams.

Only six seniors return to the team from '75-'76, and Cavell realizes the team is shorter than it has been in the past. Cavell will counter this with Canton's typical fast break offense, and add more quickness and passing to the attack. The squad is playing more aggressive defense than usual, but must cause many turnovers to win each game.

Much of the scoring will depend on the guards, led by seniors Rob Mandle and Kevin Randazzo, who often led the team as juniors. Ken Britton returns to the varsity this year joined by junior Doug Smith. Mandle's younger brother Rusty and Butch King are the youngest players on the team, but Cavell has confidence in both.

Cavell demands that his forwards jump well, to be able to score over tall defenders and grab rebounds off the backboards.

Mike Albright fits the bill, Cavell says, the senior can both dunk the ball and score consistently. Keith Fuelling and Randy Reinas provided the one-two punch on the junior varsity last season, leading in scoring and rebounds. Steve Wendland also returns to the varsity as a senior.

JUDY AND PAT KELLY

Couple shares whistle as local cage ref duo

BY SPIKE KERSHAW

Pat and Judy Kelly decided from the first that "love, cherish and obey" had no place on the basketball court.

"On the floor we're both our own bosses," said Judy describing the relationship which enables them to work as one of the few husband-wife referee teams in southeastern Michigan.

They're the only such duo to blow the whistle on a Plymouth area court, refereeing Salem High home girls' basketball games.

Pat's been calling the close ones for about 19 years. Judy spent many of those years, the last 13 as Mrs. Kelly, in the bleachers, watching her husband work. Before long she had become something of an expert herself on the fine points of basketball.

"I always went to his games to watch," she said. "I'd been going to 99% of Pat's games."

With that kind of background, it still wasn't until about four years ago that she finally decided she'd like to don a whistle and striped shirt and run herself ragged on the basketball floor.

She passed her refereeing test without difficulty and didn't have far to look to find a partner.

But before they took the court together, the Kellys decided on some ground rules of their own. Pat can't be expected to offer any husbandly solace in the heat of a tough game. "We knew I'd have to sink or swim on my own calls," Judy said.

The Utica couple has been making the long trip to Plymouth for years, beginning back when only Pat was refereeing. They continue to commute nearly every week.

"It's a long drive," Judy said, "but John (Sandmann, Plymouth Schools' athletic director) has been good to us."

Refereeing has its hot moments. There's always an irate coach or disgruntled fan, but with the right kind of attitude, you find it challenging, Judy added.

Her secret: "Just keep your cool, keep calm."

That rule may not always work in the Kelly household, but on the basketball floor it's won Pat and Judy respect on the basketball floor.

Chief grapplers shine in opener

A strong showing by the Canton varsity wrestling squad netted the team second place with 132 team points in a season opener quad meet yesterday afternoon and evening at Garden City West High School. The home team took first with 160½ points.

Chief grapplers taking first place were Bill Heedum, 105 pounds; Craig Lee, 112; Terry Clifton, 138; Scott Collins, 145; Kyle Heaton, 155; and Dennis Howell, 165.

"I'm very optimistic about Northville (an invitational wrestling tourney) this Saturday", said coach Dan Chrenko. "But we still need more kids in the heavier weight classes if we are to make any kind of showing."

The junior varsity wrestling team walked away with quad meet honors in its competition with the same schools. The younger wrestlers tallied 149½ points to dominate the other three schools. "They did a superb job," said JV coach Dan Riggs. The JV team is comprised mostly of freshmen, while the other schools fields many sophomores.

Chief cagers upset in tourney finals, finish 13-6

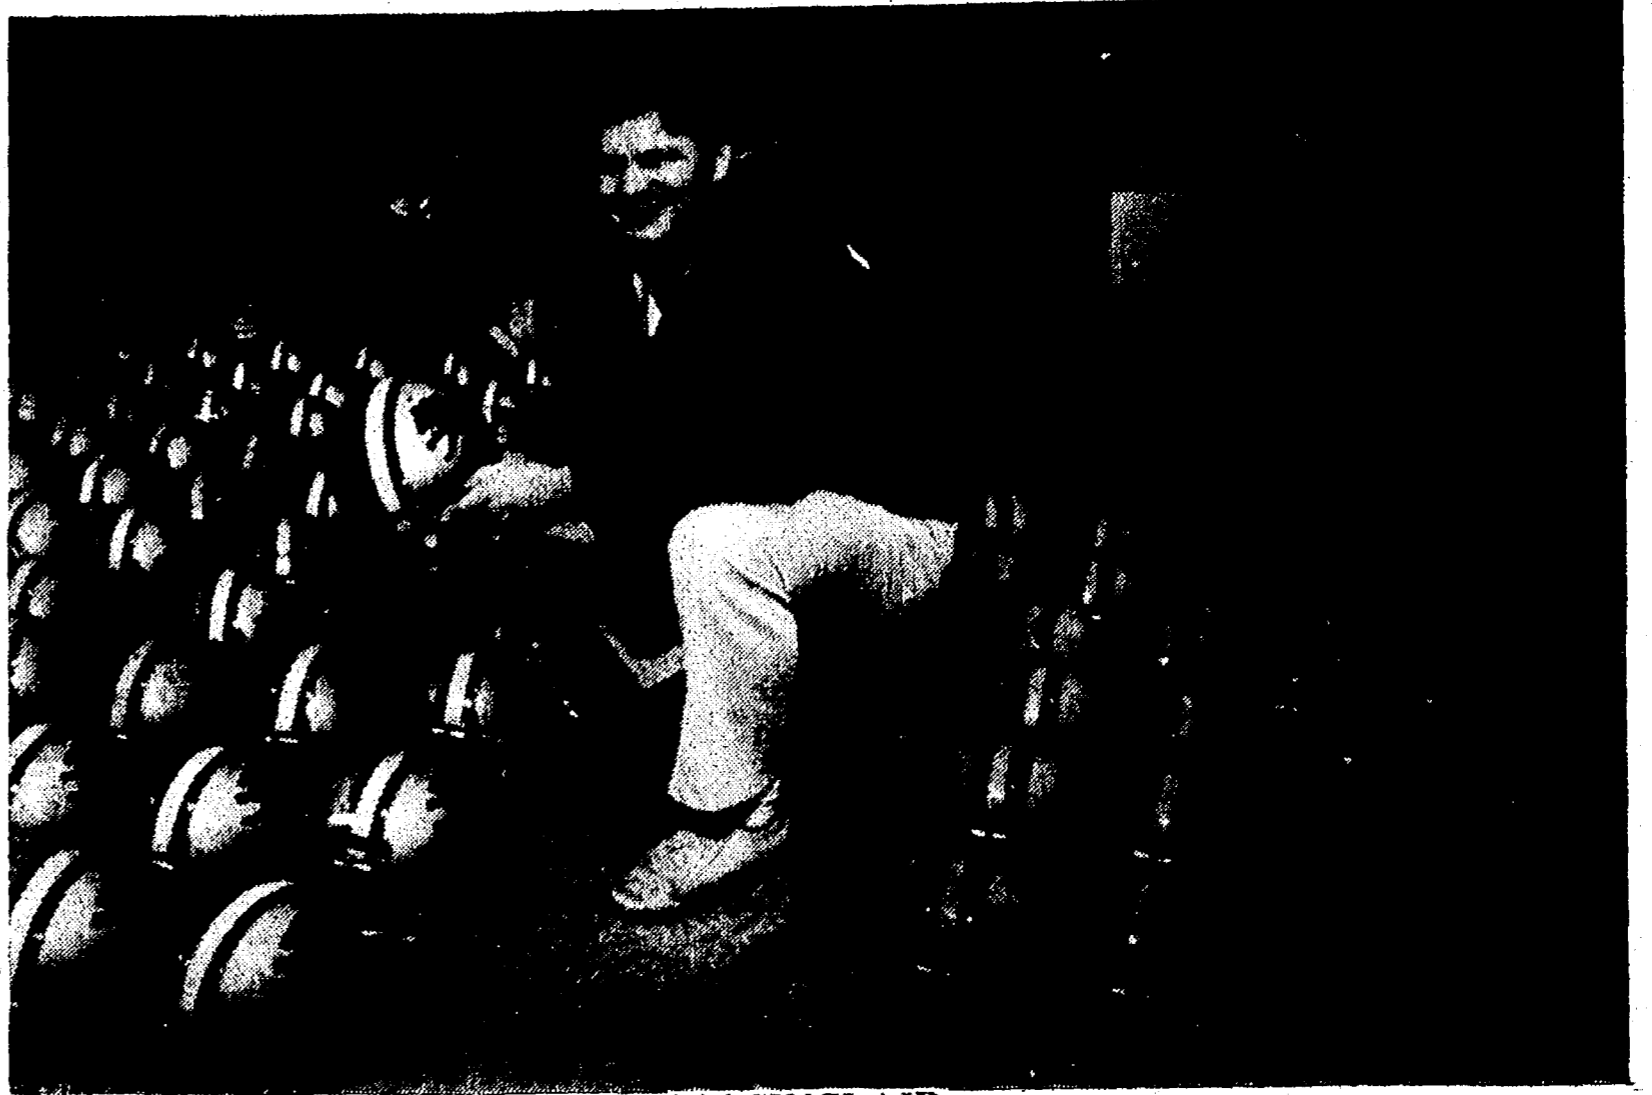

BY MATT NORRIS

Chief women's basketball couldn't upset Walled Lake Western in the district semifinal contest last Saturday, losing 43-58.

The Warriors held an eight point advantage through most of the contest, but poor offensive rebounding and several turnovers (The Chiefs lost the ball 37 times, without stealing it once), hurt the chances of a Canton comeback.

The Chiefs defeated Farmington Harrison in the season finals last Tuesday (Nov. 16) 63-14. Sochacki had 24 points, and Peck added ten.

Coach Mike McCauley described the 13-6 season as a "learning year", and he feels that the players gained valuable experience in the tournament loss. Only Zoladz and Ellen Doran are seniors on the team, while eight sophomores and two juniors should return to the team next season.

JIM SINCLAIR

Storage-minded Jim Sinclair wraps up junior grid season

BY DONNA LOMAS

The contents of Jim Sinclair's garage are worth at least $50,000 for a few days this fall, as they are every year at the end of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Football Association's grid iron season.

Sinclair, a Plymouth Township resident, is equipment manager for the local Vince Lombardi League. His is the tedious and lonesome task of collecting, sorting and carting away the Lion and Panther players' and coaches' equipment.

He sorts through piles of game and practice uniforms, helrets, knee and shoulder pads, balls, bags and field markers. He loses about 5% each year on equipment that is irreparably damaged or not returned.

His garage was jammed two weeks ago with 220 helmets, 220 bags, and 220 new and practice uniforms for each team. That's 440 uniforms that include jersey, pants and socks.

"It costs about $190 to outfit each player," said Sinclair. "With helmets at $40 apiece and knee pads at $24 each, you'd better believe this is topnotch, brand-name equipment."

Sinclair buys new uniforms up to two years ahead of time to save money. Each year the players return their uniforms for Sinclair to sort through and see which can be used for practice the next season. Old uniforms are sewn up (if sewable) and used as practice uniforms.

Sinclair has held his job on a volunteer basis for five years. He doesn't mind the work, except for a few weeks out of the year, when he can't use his garage. "Never thought I'd own a garage worth that much," he said with a grin.

Canton tankers fifth in league

BY MATT NORRIS

The Canton girls swim team, sporting the youngest roster in the league, finished fifth in the Western Six meet, which was held at Churchill last Wednesday and Thursday. The tankers were 24 points behind fourth-place Harrison.

The best individual performance for Canton was Wendy Gray's second place in diving. Setting the school record with 265.15 points for eleven dives, Gray will compete in the diving Regionals Tuesday at Churchill.

Canton tanker Cindy Shelansky had a successful day at Churchill, winning two thirds and a fourth in the meet. Shelansky's 1:07.5 time in the 100 yard backstroke was good enough for a third, a new Canton record.

Her time was nine tenths of a second short of qualifying for the state meet. Shelansky placed fourth in the 200 individual medley. Later in the meet, she joined Annette Pieth, Sue Knight, and Jane Anderson to take third in the medley relay. The quarter set a nother record with a 2:07 clocking.

Senior Jane Anderson ended a personal winning season with third and sixth place finishes in the 50 and 100 freestyle races. Pieth set a Canton mark in the butterfly, finishing fifth. Lori Hogan and Kathy Gray made consolation finals in the same event, placing 11th and 12th. Knight also broke a Canton record, racing to a 1:22 time in the 100 breaststroke.

Coach Anne Massey was pleased with the number of other Chief swimmers in finals.

Massey is optimistic about next season, when all but Anderson, Tina DeWalt and Janet Gottschalk will return to the team.

The swimming banquet will be held in the Canton cafeteria.

Offense-oriented Rock cagers eye Sub-8 title

"Belleville, us, Edsel Ford and Redford Union are very competitive this season," he said. "Allen Park is in a down year."

"The (Sub-Eight) league should be the best, top to bottom, as it's ever been," he added. "All the teams have good, big people that can play basketball. Some, like Trenton, Dearborn and Bentley, have excellent size."

"This year we can expect a team to have three, maybe four losses and still win the league title. It will be that balanced."

Thomas tentatively sees the following thirteen players making it on Salem's squad.

Starting forward Tom Ellinghausen, a 6'4" senior, returning from last year; sophomore Rich Hewlett, 6', moving up from junior varsity play; Chris DeBear, a 6'3" senior, to play forward. Thoman said DeBear should "have a good year as a returning senior with experience."

Mike Christie, a junior,

"much improved" according to Thoman, 5'11" will see action as a guard; Bruce Gerish, 6'6" and Kevin Roose, another senior 6'2", who "should provide good senior leadership and playing time," said Thoman.

Doug Agnew, 6'2", a junior, John Broderick, 6'3", Steve Horton, a 6'7" junior is "inexperienced, but could learn to be a very good player" are also three prospects Thoman has in mind.

Two juniors, Bob Hissom, 6'3", and David Monck, 6'2" are "learning and are good," says Thoman. Senior Pat McKendry and sophomore Matt Etienne are also on the roster.

"We utilize our talent and place players in their best and most efficient areas," said Thoman. "Of course, we'll work for the best this year."

WHICH CLOSING COSTS ARE DEDUCTIBLE?

Expenses connected with the sale of real estate over and above the selling price are known as closing costs. Some of these are deductible from your income tax - others are not.

Property taxes are usually pro-rated so that both the buyer and seller each pay the taxes for the portion of the year that each owned the property. Each may deduct this amount - and only this amount - even though one or the other pays the entire amount.

Another deductible item that appears in closing costs, is interest charged to you on the mortgage up to the date of closing. Also deductible as interest is the amount charged as points - provided they are charged as a premium for the loan of the money - not when charged for services.

Non-deductible closing expenses are fire insurance, FHA mortgage insurance, and charges for rent for occupancy before closing.

Favorite book? Holmes wins

If detectives were politicians, Sherlock Holmes would be president. Or at least mayor of Plymouth.

At least that's the indication from Dunning-Hough Library, where young readers in grades three and up who visited the library during election week -- which coincided with Children's Book Week -- cast ballots for their favorite literary characters.

According to Mary Kilian, Dunning-Hough children's librarian, Mr. Holmes was the favorite detective, Paul Bunyan the favorite folklore character, Curious George the favorite picture book character, Willie Wonka's Chocolate Factory the favorite fantasy, the Wilders (of "Little House on the Prairie" fame) the favorite family, Snoopy the favorite dog, the Wizard of Oz the favorite fantasy character, Tom Sawyer the favorite adventurer, Black Beauty the favorite horse, Helen Keller (not fictional) the favorite historical character, and Pippie Longstocking the favorite book character.

"Peanuts" books ran away with the honors as the best books ever, with the Wilder books second and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory third.
