PEA membership to vote on own offer

The 650 members of the Plymouth Education Assoc. will be asked next Tuesday by their negotiating team to approve a tentative contract which they claim the schools once offered.

Plymouth-Canton school officials maintain that no tentative agreement had been reached although both sides admit that many contract items have been agreed to.

After a strategy session with its negotiators last week, the School Board agreed that if five conditions not settled at the table were agreed to by the PEA, a contract was reached.

Those five items included:
*Broader rights for the school district on implementing year round school (45-15)

*A cap on insurance premiums paid by the schools.

*A save harmless clause excluding the district from liability for enforcing an agency union shop.

Chief PEA negotiator Derald McKinley said the teachers could not "live with" those items.

The tentative contract which PEA members will be asked to vote on Tuesday will not include those items although it will contain the other items thus far tentatively agreed to - such as a salary package which the board has said will not be given without the other items in return.

PEA Vice President Bill Bartlett said it was an "unprecedented move" to have the PEA membership vote on a contract offer before the schools and teachers bargainers had agreed.

"We're going to put the onus of whether it's accepted or rejected clearly on the board,"

Bartlett said.

The decision to place the proposed contract before the members was made at Tuesday afternoon's PEA executive meeting by a vote of about 55-2 said Bartlett.

He added that the PEA bargaining team had suggested such a move if it were accompanied by a deadline for the school board to in turn ratify a proposed contract but the deadline idea failed.

Norm Kee, chief negotiator for the schools, said, "half a contract is better than none.

"It doesn't mean diddley if the board doesn't ratify a contract," Kee said, adding that the board would not agree to any contract with out the five items.

Bartlett agreed but said it would force the board to recognize the items already tentatively agreed to - such as the salary package.

No additional negotiating sessions have been scheduled between the schools and the teachers.

No joke-- 'Jest Foolin'

THE MAIKO DANCE will be one of the numbers featured when the PCAC (Plymouth Community Arts Council) presents the "Jest Foolin" follies on Friday, April 1, and Saturday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Salem

Write-ins win 2 Heights seats

Although two write-in candidates will be sworn in as Plymouth Heights Charter Commissioners - along with six successful candidates who were on last week's ballot - the remaining position will be filled by the rest of the commissioners.

According to Plymouth Township Attorney Don Morgan, the front running write in candidate, Jamil Akhtar, is not a registered voter with an address or phone listed in the de facto city of Plymouth Heights and therefore cannot take office.

Akhtar received a total of 26 write in votes in Pcts. 9 and 10, leading by far the dozens of candidates receiving write in votes.

The write in ballot deluge occurred because only six persons filed for election to the nine member body which now has 90 days to prepare a new charter for the City of Plymouth Heights.

Since Akhtar was ruled out by Morgan, says Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson, two other write in candidates - Paul Albright with six votes and Larry Groth with four votes - will be sworn in. A Plymouth Township dog, Tucker, received four votes but is not a qualified elector being only four years old.

Behind Albright and Groth in write in support were: Gerald Fitch, Earl Rafferty, Lorna Badendick and Fred Davids each with three votes.

So rather than try to chose from among them, Mrs. Richardson said, the remaining seat will be filled by the other charter commissioners.

The six candidates on the ballot finished in the following order (vote total in parentheses): Mary Brooks (695); Andy Pruner (686); John Godre (658); Barb Pray (650); Patsy Sadowski (623); and Barb Godre (609).

City to set parking policies Monday

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

At its April 4 meeting, the Plymouth City Commission will discuss just how it will proceed in setting a new overall parking policy for the city.

One of the ideas discussed by the city commissioners Monday discussed recommendations made in a parking study released late last year and took action on one of study's suggestions - improving the Central Parking Lot off Harvey Street.

By a 5 to 1 vote, the commission agreed to seek bids on general improvement and resurfacing the lot. It was estimated by City Manager Fred Yockey that purchasing new toll gate equipment, changing the Harvey Street entrance - exit into just an entrance with the current truck exit being made into the attended auto exit as well, wedging and resurfacing could cost about $80,000.

Funds for the project would come from federal revenue sharing monies.

In opposing the move, Commissioner Bev McAninch argued with its cost. "We do have a responsibility to our taxpayers to point up what the real costs of our parking are.

"This cannot be spent on the Central Lot without looking to parking as whole," she said.

Bids on the project will come to the commission by May 16 or earlier, said Yockey.

In debating the motion, Mrs. McAninch suggested the commission first consider creating a parking authority which would have the power to assess the central business district to provide parking.

She, and several property owners in the audience, said this would be one way of requiring a parking effort from those businesses which do not now supply adequate parking because they preceded the city's parking code.

That discussion led to consideration of a parking commission which would not have the assessing powers and would be responsible to the city commission.

"You've got certain responsibilities as the city commission and parking is one of them" Yockey said. "There's no reason the city commission can't do it."

Tom Turner, mayor pro tem who headed the parking study group, said the most important thing was to have "an ongoing parking body."

He said the study group "felt that the city commission should retain the basic authority (for parking)."

The commission also asked city administrators to research the problem of free parking on Union Street detracting from paid parking in the lot behind the library. The possibility of putting meters on the street was discussed.

Four amendments to city ordinances regarding parking were also discussed by the commission and sent to administrators for a report. They are:

*Changing the existing city ordinance which prohibits parking in the Central Lot for more than two hours.

* Reducing the number of parking spaces required for senior citizen housing projects.

* Changing the formula for requiring parking at financial institutions and adding a requirement for drive-in window stacking lanes.

* Increasing the number of parking spaces required for office uses other than doctors and dentist type uses.

Pioneers not in pavement's path

BY CHAS. CHILD

The remains of a pioneer family in the Plymouth area are not in danger of being lost under the new M-14 freeway as originally thought.

Dennis Nostrant, a Plymouth resident, found the toppled tombstones of Nancy and Erasmus Shearer in the path of the freeway's construction and a picture of the stone appeared in March 16's Crier.

Edna Campbell, who lived in the historic blue house on Ann Arbor Trail, sent the picture to an old friend, Mrs. Anna Nash of West Plains, Mo., a great granddaughter of Nancy and Erasmus Shearer.

She wrote Edna back and said, "After the old Presbyterian Cemetery on Church St. was moved, the two bodies of Nancy and Erasmus Shearer were buried in Riverside Cemetery and new markers were purchased.

"The old monuments in the picture you sent were taken from the old Presbyterian cemetery to our farm and discarded after the bodies were moved.

"As far as I know there were no human bodies buried on the Shearer farm."

Geake wins with old style campaign

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

There is no substitute for good old campaigning when it comes to getting votes.

That old adage must be Robert Geake's new philosophy after last week's defeat of Patrick McDonald in the race for the 14th State Senate District which includes Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and Plymouth, Northville and Redford Townships.

Geake did all the right things in his campaign.

Not only did his own faithful ring doorbells, make phone calls and pass out literature like crazy, he brought in the heavies.

The state Republican Committee met the Friday before the election at the Plymouth Hilton - bringing lots of GOP bigshots who were able to get a word in edgewise about their man for the 14th District.

A bus load of former Gerald Ford campaigners also pitched in for a weekend of campaigning after a trip down from Grand Rapids.

Although State Senate Majority Leader William Faust (whose district includes Canton) said the Democratic guns would be mustered for McDonald, there was little evidence of even a cap pistol during the campaign.

McDonald's ploy to put a senior citizen referendum on the Redford Township ballot as a way of drawing out the Democratic vote backfired in his face as well. That issue may go down as the great spoiler of incumbent political machines-machines-remember the City of Plymouth vote?

Geake carried every political unit of the district -including Redford where McDonald is supervisor except the tiny sliver of Westland which is Faust's stomping ground.

His victory can be laid to plain and simple good campaigning.

Most car fire extinguishers are CO2. They are designed for gasoline fires - the carbon dioxide consume all the oxygen and smother the fire. Remember that water spreads gasoline fires. A good safety precaution is always to put a fire extinguisher by the front door of your RV. Another fire extinguisher in a very accessible spot in the middle or rear of your RV should also be considered good practice.

Keep both of your doors clear at all times as standard procedure in your RV.

Burroughs strike shows no let up

THE STRIKE at the Burrough's Corp. Plymouth Township plant continued this week although a negotiations session has been scheduled for today -- the first one in 10 days. Workers have been huddling in wood shacks at the plant gate. They said the unresolved issues include raises, longevity, job security and subletting of job work. The company had no statement Monday. (Crier photo).

City to apply for U.S. rent $$$

The Plymouth City Commission voted unanimously Monday to apply for a federally-funded rent subsidy program for low and moderate income families.

If the city receives the grant, it will administer a U.S. subsidized rental program for 35 existing housing units -- which could range from homes and flats to apartments.

The program would produce rental fees for participating landlords and also an administrative fee of about $650 monthly to the city Housing Commission which drew up the U.S. Housing and Urban Development grant application.

It is not known whether the city would necessarily receive that much in administrative fees, said Housing Commission Chairman William Silvis. "We have no idea where we're going to be moneywise," Silvis told the commission. "I would expect if we're short that we look to the city for help."

The grant would be paid through an annual contract which could be terminated after any year, city officials said. Two weeks ago the city commission discussed making the application made Monday night. It was postponed by a split vote of the commission.

Monday night's action was unanimous. (Commissioner Jack Moehle was absent from the meeting.)

If the city receives the grant, further study and publicity will help locate potential landlords and tenants who qualify, said Asst. City Manager Mark Wollenweber.

City police want stiffer fines

Davis seeks railroad study

District Court Judge Dunbar Davis has said he would like to see an independent study conducted to research the problem of railroad crossing delays.

Judge Davis, who revealed last week that he is considering some changes in his procedures for dealing with the railroad crossing violations, said he would like a study to be made by an agency like the Automobile Club of Michigan or the University of Michigan. Such a study, the judge said, could investigate train procedures, signals and alternative routes and could produce some recommendations for dealing with the problem.

As yet, no commitment has been made for such a study but Davis has requested several community leaders and organizations to respond to his proposals for revising the court procedure on handling railroad crossing delays.

In addition to The Crier's response on last week's editorial page, Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford has responded to Davis' proposal.

Davis has proposed that the C&O Railroad be allowed to pay a set fine for the number of minutes a crossing is delayed without appearing in court. He also proposed a new fine schedule.

Reacting to that, Chief Ford said of allowing the C&O to pay fines, "It seems to us that the procedure we now use where in both the citizens and the police officers file a complaint with the court is the most effective and uniform manner for process and causes the least amount of complexity in the procedure."

In response to Davis' proposed fine schedule, Chief Ford said he felt they were too low.

"We believe that if the concept of 'fine as deterrent' has any merit, it must be applied to a point where behavior becomes inconvenient and unprofitable," Ford told Davis.

Ford also told Davis that he had witnessed one incident where a train blocked a crossing because of a mechanical failure when in fact the mechanical failure was due to sloppy maintenance of the train.

"I think the railroads are fully culpable (in such situations) and I have little sympathy for their continued violations when I see this kind of negligence," the chief concluded.

Schools stall random selection

The Plymouth-Canton Board last Monday night voted unanimously to act on the recommendation that random selection for high school be moved back to seventh grade classes, and to start the random selection with seventh graders only by June of the year.

Superintendent John M. Hoben put a motion before the Board that the recommendation received was to go ahead with the seventh graders and hold back on random selection for eighth graders for one year only.

A citizen voiced concern over breaking up established neighborhoods with the random selection process.

"It is your choice, not theirs or ours," he said. "It would break up the spirit of the neighborhood. We are asking you to continue in the same way for best interests of all."

Board President Joe Gray echoed these sentiments and suggested that the board consider the use of a computer service company to see if they could find a way without "disrupting neighborhoods."

"I move to amend the motion to move ahead with the scheduling of seventh graders," said Trustee George Lawton, "but I am not satisfied with the selection process."

Trustee E.J. McClendon supported the amendment to the original motion, but Gray opposed it, saying, "By the end of this year we should look at options more closely and hopefully not destroy any neighborhoods."

Could provide answer, says Stein Canton gets grant to study growth

Canton has been awarded a $23,000 grant to cover Phase I of a Growth Control Study. The award was made at a Block Grant meeting held March 23.

The Growth Control Study should begin by April 1, and Phase II funding should begin around July 1, with completion of the Study expected in September, according to Canton Supervisor Harold Stein.

"This study will investigate all available sources, organizations, as well as communities that have experienced or are now experiencing rapid growth in order to compile a comprehensive inventory of innovative techniques, methodology and regulatory measures which are currently in use or have been in use in recent years to modify rapid growth rates, limit community growth altogether, retain undeveloped rural lands free of urbanization, and the scheduling of orderly community development," Stein said.

Hoben said the random selection 'straw man' recommendation would select students and balance enrollment regardless of growth in the community and would put brothers and sisters in the same high school.

Stein commented that with Canton's Growth Management Committee and this Block Grant Study, "we are on our way to possible solutions to the serious problem of rapid growth."

This allocation of Block Grant Funds is above and beyond Canton's normal funding.

Dr. Michael Homes was unanimously voted last Monday night by the Plymouth Canton School Board to the position of Assistant Superintendent for Instruction for the school district.

Homes, currently Director of Elementary Education in St. Louis Park in the Minnesota Public School District, was selected from a field of 95 candidates filtered through a screening committee for the position.

"He is a pretty fine person, and I would like to compliment Supt. Hoben for bringing him here," said Trustee Flossie Tonda.

Hoben passed the compliment to the screening committee and said, "Dr. Homes is bringing a wealth of experience to this job and has done a number of outstanding things."

Homes is no stranger to the Michigan area. He attended Michigan State University and earned a Doctor of Philosophy degree from MSU in 1971. He taught as an elementary teacher in the Battle Creek area for four years and was principal of an elementary school in Grand Ledge Michigan for three years. He was also Director of Curriculum for grades K-12 in Grand Ledge from 1971 through 1973. From there he took his present position in the Minnesota Public schools.

"I'm optimistic and looking

forward to coming to Plymouth," said Dr. Homes. "Plymouth-Canton is a school district with a lot of possibilities and potential. It is not without its problems and there is a lot of concern surrounding the school district."

"Professionally, it was an excellent opportunity for me - it was an attractive position and the size of the system (was also attractive). The growth opportunity there provides a lot of interest."

Dr. Homes, and his family, wife Lynne and two sons Michael and Matthew, plan on moving to the community "probably in the later part of June," said Homes. "We have to sell the house and all that good stuff after my official duties end here."

Study group eyes growth controls

Growth in Canton not necessarily 'good'

While a full report from the Growth Management Study Committee in Canton is not due for two or three weeks, members of the committee have decided to share with Canton citizens a few ideas and consensus opinions drawn during the seven weeks the committee has been meeting.

Neva Carter, chairperson of the committee, says the group feels "the time is now right to revitalize the community's interest in growth control.

It is the consensus of this group that the 'growth is good' myth needs to be dissolved," says Ms. Carter, "Growth can only be good when it progresses at a rate such that services can be maintained and improved as needed.

"This study group was formed out of concern over the possible inability of the township to keep up with service needs. Our prime concerns center around the probable advent of 'super sewer' and stress placed on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools by burgeoning enrollments; necessitating massive building programs and alternative interim scheduling solutions. "We further do not feel present police and fire protection and road conditions can withstand a rapid increase in population without jeopardizing the present quality of life. Recreational and other services (such as library services) are already somewhat limited."

Ms. Carter says the group feels "somewhere in all the assorted growth control techniques studied lies the proper blend of techniques whereby growth could progress in a more orderly fashion, without placing undue hardships on any group of residents. We feel this is necessary if the services are going to keep pace with the population.

"Canton was already growing rapidly prior to the opening of I-275. This highway teamed with I-94 makes Canton a prime target for growth. Further, we have been informed that natural gas will continue to be available in this area, while other areas are not extending gas services. These factors leads us to believe rapid growth will continue and increase in rate, if left unchecked.

"We feel that Canton Township must be a responsible member government of the total region and therefore, would hope to see a growth ordinance that would take into account land use and environmental guidelines set by SEMCOG."

Although the committee speaks of "growth management or orderly growth," Ms. Carter says the group does not advocate any ceiling on the total population for Canton.

"Any management we would consider would be in terms of the rate of growth annually and the distribution of that growth. This group does not desire the township to be exclusionary or limit any individuals freedom to travel or take up residence here.

"Further, we feel it is the township's responsibility to increase public input on this issue perhaps through a survey, a referendum question or public hearings. We realize no growth management plan can stand without the support of the people and the administration of the township."

Ms. Carter says the consensus represents "probably 11 of the 14 members on the committee."

Both a majority and a minority report on growth control are expected to be submitted to the township board of trustees within the month.

Hopes to create township identity

Stein submits 'Canton plan'

Calling it a "Canton Plan for Canton People," Canton Supervisor Harold Stein has submitted to the people of the township a "plan for all people, to create an identity that Cantonites will be proud of."

Appearing before both the Canton Democratic Club and the Canton Chamber of Commerce at their respective meetings last week, Stein said "Canton finds itself in a highly volatile situation caused by many issues such as rapid growth, land use and police protection."

Stein cited the reverse in thinking of Canton residents from eight or nine years ago when "the problem was whether or not to allow subdivisions," to recent trends of "farmers wanting to rid themselves of land they say is no longer profitable to farm or land they can no longer pay taxes on and on the other side these same subdivisions owners...demanding that the western half of the township remain agricultural."

Stein said citizens committees institutes since his taking office have been stymied because of "outside pressures need the preformed philosophies that have led Canton to the problems facing it today.

"What the different sides have forgotten is that there is a silent majority that should be considered and a plan developed to encompass all of Canton's various factions and needs."

Included in Stein's plan, which he calls one of "philosophy" rather than set rules, are

Three join CU board

Three new members have been elected to the Plymouth Community Credit Union's Board of Directors at the credit union's annual meeting of membership held March 24:

Julie Thoman and Kirk Lorenz, both of Plymouth, will serve two-year terms, while William Sliger of Northville will serve a three-year terms.

Sliger, publisher of Sliger Publications, is the first Northville resident to be elected director since the credit union's charter was extended to include Northville last month.

Ms. Thoman and her husband Tex own and manage the Wayside and Sideway shops in Plymouth. Lorenz is manager of Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel.

Other board members include Walter Hagen, Russell Koepke, Clarence Moore and George Lawton who were re-elected and Margaret Dunning, Richard Wernette, Glen Krieg and Barbara Burget.

steps toward providing services to Canton's ever-growing population.

"We can supply these services temporarily with make-shift accommodations," said Stein, "but it will not be long before we will need permanent locations for police, court, library and recreational facilities.

"What we have to do now is plan for the future by sound management practices to allow us to build our reserves so that when future grants come along to build these permanent facilities, we will have enough reserves to maintain them."

Other points in Stein's plan include establishing a projected workable population figure and planning for future commercial and industrial development.

"We have taken another step in the right direction with the formation of the economic development corporation," said Stein, "and we have furthered this by forming a commercial and industrial study committee.

"There will be those who cannot put aside their pre-conceived ideas and there will be those who do not want to remove politics from various events, but in spite of these people we must gather forces and create a plan that will survive the times and serve the people and above all be a 'Canton Plan for Canton People.'"

Vote 'Yes' April 23 on school millage renewal

Plymouth-Canton School District voters will be asked to approve a five mill operating tax renewal at the Saturday, April 23 special election.

We support that renewal request.

While many taxpayers in the district have expressed concern over the teachers' contract situation (this is written before a settlement has been reached) we must point out that renewal of an operating millage should not be tied to the contract talks. Since the school board has been working basically within the guidelines it set before last year's millage increase was approved, we feel this millage should not be construed as a vote for teacher raises.

The renewal is needed simply to maintain programs at the current levels.

Some voters have expressed concern with the recent reassessments and increases in the state equalized valuation factors. Here again, this issue shouldn't be confused with the schools' operating millage. True, these increases may yield more local taxes for the schools, but such increases will be accompanied by corresponding losses in state aid to the district.

In addition, many voters confuse the operating millage renewal request with the proposed building bond issue which will also be on the ballot April 23.

The bond issue, if approved, would be used to construct new schools and cannot be used for operating funds for the school district.

We take no stand on the proposed bond issue at this time, feeling the schools have not yet presented all the information necessary for voters and the press to make an opinion on the issue.

It is clear the operating millage renewal is needed - we recommend that school district residents (you need only be a registered voter to cast a ballot not a taxpayer) vote "YES" on the millage renewal.

Who draws this choice duty?

County sheriffs reasoning queer

At a time when Wayne County is pleading poverty in cutting back law enforcement in our community, is it really justifiable that the sheriff station two deputies in Hines Park restrooms to spy on those using the facilities?

The purpose of the surveillance, says the sheriff, is to crack down on homosexual activities.

While admittedly those activities are considered distasteful to many, are they really of such a magnitude as to warrant deputies spying on the rest rooms?

We suggest that the sheriff better deploy his deputies if indeed he must face cutting back police protection. There are more important things to be done.

There's something quite amiss.
Let's give that wavering mind a chance
With facts above pretense,
We need a healthy overdose
Of good old common sense.

Street lights, not frills

Editor:

It is ironic how the "old flame" is rekindled of the former Dingledey Administration has returned to the old fold--Do Nothing! Accomplish Nothing! Just Put in Time!

The $2.7 million of federal monies that Canton has should first be put to proper use in having the entire area well lighted with proper street lights instead of dickering and bickering where a municipality building should be established which means nothing at present.

The welfare and safety of the entire area is of prime importance for serious driving condition exists in the area of the 'densa pea-soup fog' the 'pitch black darkness' at night throughout the area, and the installation of proper lights on the corner of Lilley Road at Joy; Lilley at Cherry Hill (stop lights) and other sections of the area. Even Mr. Stein's area is unpaved, ditches along road, and pitch black at night.

It would do well for Mr. Stein to invest a few bucks of that $2.7 million in securing for his committee members of the committee to the committee and his planners a handbook from the City of Livonia--"This is Livonia"--an excellent text in how the City was developed, since Mr. Stein and his planners lack the proper knowledge and skills in what constitutes a City, and especially the Recreation Department whose insignificant programs consists of guitar lessons; belly dance classes; dog obedience classes; a nepotism program of the Dingledey days.

Since when does an area dictate the style, the price, and type of home to establish which is unconstitutional as all get out?

Mr. Stein was given a pamphlet for study purposes--"Livonia, Michigan's Best Planned Community" before he became

Editor:

With the completion of a very successful thirteenth season of Junior Basketball, the P.C.J.B.A. would like to extend a special thanks to The Community Crier.

Your weekly coverage, provided through the fine efforts of Donna Lomas and Susan Sheiner, of our player registrations, game scores, playoffs, and other special features was a major assist to us. Their "words and pictures" kept the entire community tuned into the philosophy and progress of our Program. A sincere thanks also for the cooperation and courtesies shown our Ron Mack.

Your coverage of a very popular community program was greatly appreciated.

Community opinions

Supervisor to establish some of the principles for Canton.

Canton has nothing to offer one except a place to reside, eat, sleep and be dictated by a group of home-owners that they must have the same price range that I paid for home and style.

Why has industry ignored the area for establishment?

The Recreation Department fails to realize that $900 million has been established for communities to develop sound, functional recreation activities for the participation of the community along with establishing an 18-hole first-class golf course.

Wake-Up Madame Director, time will pass you by without ever accomplishing anything, and you will be still dabbling in your three-favorite programs--guitar lessons; belly dance classes; dog obedience training classes.

Sewer rates unchanged

Canton's sewer rates will not go up this year despite a 13 per cent rise in the rate charged by Wayne County.

"Effective management" by Canton's Department of Public Works was the reason cited, by Supervisor Harold Stein at the Township meeting last Tuesday.

League to study wind

By the year 2000, will futuristic windmills be a common sight on our landscape? Can wind power become a major source of energy or not?

As part of its ongoing study of Energy, the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi will learn more about wind power on Wednesday evening, April 6. The Geneva Presbyterian Church on Sheldon Road near Ford Rd. is the location for the 7:30 p.m. public meeting at which Penny Wright of Plymouth will speak.

Mrs. Wright's interest in wind power had begun earlier, but a four month stay in Holland a couple of years ago stimulated that interest and she has become an expert on both the historical importance of windmills and current developments relating to wind as a source of energy. As part of her presentation she will show a series of slides which will visually tell the story of wind power.

The public is invited to this, and all, League meetings. Anyone wishing more information may call Annalee Mathes, President, 349-7334.

'Jest Foolin': a fun, fabulous frolic

Friday is April Fool's Day and the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) members hope it will be one of the highlights of the entertainment season locally when they present "Jest Foolin," a talent and variety show for, by and in spite of folks in the Plymouth-Canton community!

Director of the production is an experienced actor and dancer, Gary Randolph, of Cargill Productions. Randolph has been in Plymouth for the past two weeks, trying out, rehearsing and perfecting the acts which will headline the performances scheduled for Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2, at 8:30 p.m. in Salem High School auditorium.

More than 150 cast members, including many area business people with heretofore unknown "talents," will participate in 'Jest Foolin'. Rehearsals have continued daily at Central Middle school since director Randolph's arrival.

Along with the performance itself will be a "Leg's Contest," a Follies Prize Bar and the unmasking of the mysterious Follies Jester.

"Mr. and Mrs. Legs" winners will be announced during the performances.

Some 500 prizes will also be given from the Follies

the Crier's friends & neighbors

Prize Bar with gifts donated by local merchants.

And the Follies Jester, complete with harlequin costume designed and sewn by members of Judy Fensch's commercial sewing class at Salem High School, will remove his (her?) mask as a final "gesture" or merriment and surprise.

Pianist Nancy Purtill will provide the piano accompaniment, with Jerry McKenzie at drums and Ron Utterbeck on bass.

Ticket vouchers may now be exchanged for reserved seats at the Edison box office. Tickets are $5 for the main floor, $3 for the balcony.

Looking for a good time this weekend? No foolin', try Jest Foolin'.

Future cloudy for historic schools in Salem and Canton

The future of an historic building in the Plymouth area is in doubt.

Stone School, at the corner of North Territorial and Curtis Rds. has been declared a driving hazard by the Salem Township Board of Trustees. It has asked School Superintendent Mike Hoben his plans for the one-room school house built about 100 years ago.

During the Bicentennial celebration last year, a drive was organized to refurbish the badly vandalized building. An Early American school house atmosphere was planned with old-style lamps, benches and slates.

Every week a new group of youngsters would attend and relive the old days.

These plans never materialized, mostly from lack of money. Earl Gibson, principal of Farrand School and inheritor of the refurbishing project said "I'd hate to see the building destroyed. It's part of our locale." If it was fixed up, the school could also be used as a meeting house for residents in the western part of the school district, he said.

There is about $750 in the restoration fund now but "the cost of lumber alone for the benches and tables would cost that," he said.

"We have an obligation to the service groups who contributed to either get going on the project or return the money."

Hoben's office is studying the matter.

Stone School

THE LAST ONE-ROOM SCHOOL BUILDING used in Wayne County still stands at the corner of Canton Center and Proctor Roads next to the site for the new civic center in Canton. The township board of trustees is considering acquiring the building from the Plymouth-Canton Community School District after Ed and Mary Hauk of the Canton Historical Committee suggested it would be an appropriate historical landmark for Canton. Township architects have said the building could not be safely moved and have suggested restoration include a new roof and cupola and a concrete porch and roof among other improvements. The Canton Lions Club has rented the building from the school district as a meeting spot in recent years. (Crier photo)

Cab riders wait on outdated ordinance, small taxi firm

BY CHAS. CHILD
Waiting for a taxi is never pleasant.

And some persons in Plymouth claim it happens often, due to an outmoded city ordinance, a small cab company located in Northville and the limited business for taxis in a small town.

"Senior citizens need taxis," said George Chute, a retiree. "Our friends want to be independent. The Northville taxi (The Star Cab Co.) sometimes doesn't want to come to Plymouth, and when they do come, it can be an hour and a half late."

Charles Henry, owner of Star, said, "I know there have been complaints. But, I'm handling all the calls that I get. There hasn't been a wait in over a month."

"There aren't that many calls, though," he said. "Business is slow. I'm not going broke, but I do have to put money back into the company every month."

Star is the only cab company approved to operate in Plymouth.

Tim Ford, Plymouth's police chief, said his department has granted permission for out-of-town cabs to pick up Plymouth residents when Star's cabs were unavailable. He said it happened most often in the early morning.

Ford was sympathetic to Star's difficulties in trying to provide taxi service to Plymouth. "Long runs (to Metro Airport, for example) are the most profitable for Star and with only two cabs, service calls become secondary."

Henry said he is one driver short now and generally had a hard time hiring help. The insurance company requires 24-year-old drivers and "most people looking for jobs are younger than that," he said.

The city's taxi ordinance contributes to the problem, Ford said. It states that every taxi cab serving Plymouth must be licensed every 90 days. At $10 per license its unprofitable for an out-of-town company of 40 or so vehicles to serve Plymouth, he said.

The ordinance also states that a company of "three or more" vehicles must keep a cab in town for most of the day.

Ford said it would be unprofitable to keep a cab tied up in Plymouth all day "that may only get 2 fares." Star, with only two cars, avoids this stipulation. Henry said, however, he has plans to license another cab in Plymouth.

"The ordinance is designed for a community much larger than Plymouth that could support a large fleet of taxis," Ford said.

City Manager Fred Yockey said he would submit a report to the City Commission in a month on how to improve Plymouth's taxi service.

"It's very difficult," he said.

"To improve service we would have to change the ordinance, which might mean putting Star out of business."

Air cadets open headquarters

Senior members of the Plymouth Cadet Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol opened up new staff headquarters at Mettatal Airport recently.

Weekly meetings will still be held Tuesday nights at 7 p.m. in Room 1405, Salem High School, but office duties will be carried out at the new location.

The Civil Air Patrol is an auxiliary of the United States Air Force. Members wear the Air Force uniform and receive training in emergency disaster aid, aerospace awareness, and searching for missing aircraft. They range in age from 12 to retirement and everyone is welcome to join. The membership fee is $7.

Members can become involved in a variety of activities such as radio communications training, first-aid, and a week-long basic training session.

"Our kids are trained in first-aid and communications," said 1st Lt. Valerie Jablonski.

"We have our own network of radios across the United States and we have started observer training."

According to Jablonski, members can also experience free-plane rides, flight scholarships, and trips to Europe.

"We provide a minimum of three orientation plane rides the first year you join and they're absolutely free," said Jablonski. "Cadets can also apply for a flight scholarship and every summer over 200 American kids go to Europe for a month to tour and spend one week with a native family."

We also exchange cadets with youth-oriented, European aviation groups."

Although the Plymouth Civil Air Patrol Squadron is only three-years-old, Jablonski says that the national Patrol has been around for some time.

"We've been in operation for 45-years," said Jablonski. "In World War II, we had coastal missions where we flew up and down the coast looking for submarines. We're just as big as Cross Country or the Boys Scouts only most people don't know about us."

Now I know spring is here. Our new shipment of kites came in at Sidways. You'll have to see the CLIPPER SHIP KIT to believe it. I'm not sure how you get it in the air but we'll try it!

At Wayside we have Village Bath's new Tea Rose scent - fresh and springy! Seven Seas has a new Counter top line called Ultimo - very plain, good with wallpaper - nice new colors.

Revenue sharing

How U.S. $$ find way into fire trucks, sewers and sidewalks

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

Did you ever wonder how your local government was able to buy that shiny new fire truck-- or build that recreation center?

It could be that they received an assist from Uncle Sam with funds from the five-year-old Federal Revenue Sharing program.

The Federal Revenue Sharing program was created around 1972 as part of an effort to return federal monies to state and local governments for municipal improvements.

The three area governments--the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Canton Township-- have been receiving slices of the revenue sharing pie from the very beginning.

Of the three, the City of Plymouth has received the largest share--a total of $561,137--while Canton Township has received the least--$310,460. Plymouth Township received $408,999.

All three have used the federal money for a variety of purposes, but they appear to share some of the same interests, if not the same expenses.

Fire protection is an example. The City of Plymouth spent $57,000 for a new fire engine while Plymouth Township parted with $65,000 for a new pumper and part of $14,370.86 for plans to obtain a Public Works Grant for a new fire station as well as a new township hall.

But it was Canton that spent the most on its fire department. All told, Canton spent $99,385 on fire department salaries, another $9,236 on salaries, and $34,362 on plans for an addition to Fire Station

No. 1 and a new Fire Station No. 2.

The care and feeding of local roads was another major outlay. The City of Plymouth spent $28,000 to resurface Ann Arbor Trail, $12,250 to light Ann Arbor Road, $94,122 on a contribution to a special assessment on street improvement, and $25,000 on traffic signal modernization.

Plymouth Township, with the aid of the Block Grant program, spent $789 on sidewalks along Ann Arbor Road and in a separate outlay, $10,180.50 for an overpass at Fiegel Elementary School.

Canton confined its road expenses to $12,469 for a school crossing overpass.

Yet, there were differences. The City of Plymouth spent the most on studies with $8,525 for a Loop Road traffic study, $2,600 for a Central Parking Lot study, $1,008 for a traffic study, and $2,500 for a D.P.W. (Department of Public Works) architect's study.

The townships spent more on recreation. Plymouth Township spent $50,000 to light the baseball diamonds at its Recreation Park along with $1000,974.29 for the down payment on its golf course.

Canton spent $40,661 on the purchase of recreation land as well as $6,568 and $550 on recreation salaries.

The City of Plymouth appeared to have only one recreational expense: $6,500 for a bicycle path.

Sewage was a big outlay for Plymouth Township with $58,580.68 for a storm sewer on Ann Arbor Road.

Finally, all three governments used their federal funds to either make plans for new government facilities or to improve existing ones.

In addition to Plymouth Township's plans for a grant to build a new township hall and fire station and Canton's engineering fees for two fire stations, there were large expenditures in the City of Plymouth. They include the following: $47,446 for a D.P.W. lunchroom, 44,500 for City Hall expansion of City Hall, and an unofficial $40,000 for the Central Parking Lot.

The Easter Turkey arrives at Tanager school next Wednesday when they will serve an Easter Dinner consisting of turkey, cranberries and hot cross buns - but what with the price of ham, I'd serve a turkey too. East Middle will serve ham salad (more in the spirit of Easter) and soup Wednesday, a good match for Central's bunny cake. Field keeps things simple for Wednesday with peanut butter and jelly - but maybe they'll have 'bunny ears' in the veggie soup instead of alphabets. Gallimore students are having their parents over for lunch, and lucky they'll get a taste of that famous Bar-B-Que on a bun. I was just wondering why the column is upside down myself.

Stein to pay for ZBA suit

BY CHAS. CHILD

Private, not public, money will be spent to settle the Zoning Board of Appeals controversy in Canton, says Supervisor Harold Stein.

Stein said he will pick up the tab for the Circuit Court suit at their meeting last Tuesday.

Apparently just to be sure, the Canton Board of Trustees unanimously forbade spending any township money on the suit at their meeting last Tuesday.

Stein's attorneys in the case are Sempliner, Thomas and Guth who are also the Township's attorneys. Some observers thought this might be a conflict of interest.

Right now there are two

ZBAs: One appointed by Stein and another appointed by former Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

Stein is asking Judge Neal Fitzgerald to simply declare which ZBA is legal. He is not specifically requesting that the ZBA he appointed be declared legal.

The whole problem started in 1976 when the State Legislature required five-member ZBAs in townships with populations greater than 5,000.

Former Supervisor Robert Greenstein enlarged the then three-member ZBA to five without amending the local ordinance.

On Feb. 8, Stein appointed his own five-member board thinking Greestein's enlarged ZBA was illegal because the local ordinance hadn't been updated.

Aided by a favorable opinion by Attorney General Frank Kelley, the original ZBA refused to quit. Consequently neither of them have been meeting and conducting official business. Nor will they until the matter settled.

"The actions of either board may be challenged and the public cannot know whether the decision of either board is a valid decision or not," Stein says in his suit.

Optimists give speaking awards

"TOGETHER WE WILL" was the topic at the recent Optimist Club Boys Oratorical Contest. David Campbell of Pioneer Middle School was the first-place winner followed by second-place winner Peter Hieme of Middle School West, and runner-up George Emerson of Pioneer.

County must wait for state's recommendation on jail facility

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has assured that public hearings will be held if the state formally proposes location of a state penal institution on the grounds of the now unused Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township.

The County Board has delayed consideration of a resolution opposing the penal institution because no proposal has been received from the state as yet.

On a vote of 15-9 the resolution was referred back to the board's public works committee with a stipulation that public hearings be held after the anticipated state proposal is received.

Commissioners Mary E.

Dumas (R-Livonia) and Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) whose district includes the Plymouth-Canton community) sponsors of the resolution, opposed sending the resolution back to the committee whose members unanimously has recommended adoption of the resolution by the Board.

Smith, urging that the resolution be adopted, said that "about half the Township's 18 square miles of land is already taken up by non-taxable public institutions - Northville State Hospital, Detroit House of Corrections and Hawthorne Center for Human Development.

"The people are only opposed to penal institutions. They are not against any other use of the property," Smith stated.

Smith later told The Crier the whole question of a penal institution in Northville would "stand in limbo until a recommendation is received from the state...if and when that happens.

"I urge people in the meantime to write to their legislators and the governor in opposition to the idea. It has to be funded in Lansing and they can't do it if it's not funded."

Smith said the referral of the resolution back to the public works committee was only a loss of a "skirmish and not the whole war."

Cops help, but youth dies

BY KATHY KUENZER

Wayne County Medical Examiners have still not determined the cause of death of a 17-year-old Westland youth who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital last Tuesday after he stopped breathing while being stopped for minor traffic violation in Plymouth Township.

Willard Miller, 2568 Ackley, Westland, had been stopped near Sheldon and Five Mile Roads by Wayne County Sheriffs. Officers said that when they approached the car Miller was driving, he apparently went into a seizure.

The officers said they tried to make the young man comfortable and summoned the Plymouth Township rescue squad.

Fire Chief Jim Gignac said when his men arrived on the scene the sheriffs deputies were administering CPR (Cardiopulmonary resuscitation) to Miller, who had stopped breathing.

Gignac said Miller was transported to St. Mary but was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The Medical Examiner's office said the cause of Miller's death has not been determined yet, although Wayne County Sheriffs said the coroner's office reported "No alcohol, no drugs, no foul play or violent physical cause of death" had been found.

A toxicology report is still pending.

Twp. adopts new schedule

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees has adopted a meeting schedule for the year beginning April 1, 1977, and ending March 31, 1978. All regular meetings of the board will be held the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month without exception.

An attempt last year to complete township business during only one meeting a month during summer months has been scrapped by the board.

All meetings begin at 8 p.m. in the Township Hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Rd.

Chamber meeting hears Canton officials

The Canton Chamber of Commerce held its fifth annual dinner meeting Friday night at Leights in Westland. The new officers of the chamber were introduced. They are: Mary Perna, president; Frank McMurray, vice president; Bert Bart, vice president; Bill Brown, treasurer; and Al Daly secretary.

Following the buffet dinner Mel Paulin talked about some of the things that have been happening with the fire department. Hopefully the new fire station will be open in about 60 days. Jake Dingleday, Superintendent of D.P.W. (and husband of the chamber's manager, Mary), explained some of the things that are happening with the water and sewage in Canton.

that is going on. Last year his department made 1043 single family home inspections. and this year they plan to make about 1250 inspections.

Supervisor Harold Stein related how Canton's problems began about eight or nine years ago with the decision of whether to allow subdivisions. One of Mr. Steins main considerations is to "formulate a plan for Canton for Canton people".

As dress styles change and become longer, so must coat styles change. The difference in length is really apparent when trying on a new dress from this year with a coat you just bought last year and seeing two inches of dress hanging out. So it's time to get your spring and summer wardrobe together.

Canton Newcomers are having a dinner and fashion show Wednesday, April 6 at the Plymouth Hilton. Hospitality will begin at 7:30 and the buffet dinner featuring Seafood Newburgh and Beef Tips will begin at 8. Hair styles will be by The Cutting Quarters, and Frans Cosmetics will do the make up. The price is $8.50, and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Thomas Cifrodella, Palisades Court before April 4.

The Plymouth Christian Academy held their first annual Founder's banquet March 22 at Calvary Baptist Church on Joy Road in Canton. Gymnast qualifies for AAU regionals

The Plymouth Gymnast Club hosted the AAU meet this past weekend at the Phase III facility in Canton High School, and qualified Jill Moorehead from the 15-18 age group for AAU regional competition in June.

"I'm pleased, very pleased with the way it went," said John Cunningham, the gymnast club's coach.

Moorehead placed second in all-around to qualify, took first place in vault, third in uneven parallel, third in the balance beam, and eighth in floor exercise.

Wendy Gray, also in the 15-18 age group, placed sixth in bars, vault and all around, ninth on floor exercises and eighth on beam.

In the 12-14 age group,

Laurie Beale, Laura Michalik and Cheryl Newport placed in the top 20 out of a field of 80 girls. In the ten and 11 year olds, participants Pam Modson and Linday Beale placed in the top 30 out of a field of 80 gymnasts.

Sara Michalik from the nine and under age, took 11 place on the beam out of 33 participants.

The Plymouth gymnasts will host a smaller meet this weekend, the MAG (Michigan Assoc. Gymnastics) in which all three sections in Michigan will participate.

The Plymouth Gymnast Club last meet will be held June 28 at Stearns Park in Ludington Beach. Weather permitting, it will be outdoors.

Rocks open with good defense, untested pitchers and hitters

BY CHAS. CHILD

Replacing five starters from last year is difficult anytime. But when one, Brian Wolcott, was All-State, 15-0 and now pitching for Michigan State, and two others are also playing collegeball, the job is even tougher.

Salem baseball coach Brian Gilles says, though, that his team will be in contention again for the Suburban 8 title.

"Our defense will be solid. Our pitchers are untested but I'm looking for some good things from them," Gilles said. "We hit the ball a ton last year and it'll be tough to match it. Good hitting can make up for a lot of mistakes."

The outfield has been fenced in for this season and Gilles is looking for a lot more home runs, especially from leftfielder

Bobby Smith who led the team last year with a .410 average.

Three other starters will also be back: Pat McKendry at shortstop ("outstanding glove"); Bruce Gerish at first (.355 last year) and catcher Mike Stevens.

Gilles's pitching ace this year figures to be Tommy Chiatalas. He was 0-2, with a 6.177 ERA last year but really came on strong this summer according to Gilles. "He's an excellent hitter and should see action in right field," Gilles said.

Completing the starting rotation will be Gerish ("right behind Chiatalas"), Doug Holloway and Barry Bruckner.

Sharing the outfield with Smith will be Dick Bradburn at center and Tim Lillie in left. Bradburn tightened up the outfield last year in late inning defensive moves.

The other starters look like this:

Second base: Bennie Wilcox; .556 last year with only nine at bats.

Third base: Bruce Piper, a transfer from Southgate Aquinas with "good hands," says Gilles.

The teams to watch in the Suburban 8 are Dearborn High and Allen Park, Gilles said. Dearborn has six starters returning and Allen Park five.

Playing as a team over the summer, Salem took the Livonia Connie Mack League down. "A good sign," Gilles said. "We'll be right in the top ourselves this spring."

Metro Club donates $$ to PCJAA

The Plymouth Canton Junior Athletic Association, (PCJAA) which sponsors the sports of football, basketball, baseball and hockey in the community, has a goal of $24,000 to raise this year to help offset the cost of the community sports programs, says Jim Sinclair, president of the PCJAA.

The monies received from donors, which are tax deductible go towards keeping registration cost down for rental fees, equipment costs, and even, according to Sinclair, president of the PCJAA, goes right back into the community via the students from Canton and Salem high school who are paid to referee games in the various sports.

The Metro Club of America, "Spirit of '58" based at 1796 Sheldon Rd. in Canton recently donated $375 to the PCJAA. Other donors have included CANTON Township (who donated $4,000 last year; $1000 for each major sport), Rotary Club, the Plymouth Elks and several individuals and community businesses.

Tax deductible donations from individuals or businesses are always needed by the PCJAA to keep their program effective. Donors can send their donations to Jim Sinclair, c/o PCJAA, 11449 Terry, Plymouth Township, 48170.

Salem batters far from 'washed-up'

BY MATT NORRIS

A Suburban Eight championship and scoring training trip to Tennessee are in the plans of the Salem softball team this season. Two returning all-league players and four seniors should provide the backbone for the Rocks this season.

All-league batterymates Debbie Pitera and Kathy Dillon will start for Salem this year, and coach Livi Way feels that Pitera could be the best pitcher in the conference. Behind Dillon at catcher will be Becky Crespo, and sophomore Jan Boyd will see action as pitcher.

Seniors Peggy Moore, Kathy Lehmann, and Lynne Stone return to play infield this season, joined by underclassmen Donna Goodrich, Peggy Sommers, and Nan Horwood. Outfielders include senior Venus Jeter, Diane Goodrich, Sue McDowell, Wendy Webb, Cindy Cindrich, and Doris Hoelscher.

This Spring marks the third season for the Salem softball team, as they finished 5-9 and 9-5 in their first two seasons. Way predicts the squad will improve on its third-place finish from last year, saying, "There's no reason why we can't take the league title".

The team had a carwash last Saturday to raise funds for a trip to Tennessee, where the squad will practice for eight days during Easter vacation. The players will have another car wash this Saturday, and paper drive at Central Middle School.

The Rocks have one game before Easter, playing at Allen Park Tuesday. Their first home game will be April 19 against Belleville. The squad plays their games behind Salem adjacent to the boy's varsity baseball field.

Rock netters hopeful, face tough season in Sub-8

BY MATT NORRIS

Salem tennis coach Jim Stevens looks to an improved team this season, despite losing two key netters from last year's squad. The team begins its season against Ypsilanti Monday, and plays league opponent Allen Park Tuesday.

Replacing Ken Bloom, who graduated from the first singles position last year, will be Kurt Schultz, a junior. "That is a tough spot to fill", said Stevens, (Bloom was league champion last season). Also playing singles positions will be Bill Cook, Bob Braun, and Dick Cook. Greg Andrews, who was captain of the team as a junior last spring, did not return this season, which will hurt the doubles portion of the team. Craig Stevens and Ed Thomas will play first doubles for the Rocks, while Jeff Bearup and Chris Saxton will form the second doubles combination. The third doubles position is yet undecided, with Phil Coosaia, Greg Widmer, Blake Lundsberg, and Larry Kummer all trying to fill the varsity.

Saxton is the only senior on the team this season, while freshmen Widmer, Lundsberg, Kummer, and Dick Cook will see varsity action. The young squad has already faced Ypsilanti this winter, winning ten of the 14 matches played. Most of the team played indoors this winter, which should strengthen the squad.

Stevens feels the Rocks will have a better record than in '76 but says, "Only time will tell about our league chances."

Stevens has coached the Salem team since its beginning, and coached the Plymouth High netters from 1963 to 1973. He played tennis at Plymouth High, at Eastern Michigan University, and in the Navy before teaching at East Middle School.

Chief sluggers want second West-6 win

BY DONNA LOMAS

The Canton Chiefs boys baseball team, winners of the Western Six League title last season, intend to keep their winning style going this year, and it seems as if they will have a good chance at it, with 11 returning players.

"We feel we're going to be strong," said Canton head coach Fred Crissey. "I feel we have some good talent - last year eight of our kids were in the Mickey Mantle summer league and they were in second place in the nation."

Crissey credits the strong program at the junior varsity level as one reason his Canton baseball team has been a 'winner' the past three seasons.

"Ninety-five percent of our team is the product of JV ranks, said Crissey, "those kids haven't (JV) lost a game in three years."

The Canton squad last year had graduate Tom Close, who is now in professional baseball. The Chiefs sport a 52-18 win-loss record for their three years and also two Western Six League titles.

"The key to our success this season will be the depth of pitching," he continued. "And we are in the best shape we've ever been in three years."

And the Chiefs will need a lot of pitching ammunition to hold off three traditionally strong foes, Farmington Harrison, Churchill and Northville.

Returning seniors Mark Perkins, first baseman Steve Mormon will rotate on pitching, with assistance from left fielder Doug Smith and one of three sophomores Crissey thinks had the ability to provide pitching for the Chiefs. Perkins and Mormon won league honors last year for their pitching performance.

John Young will be catcher, while junior Scott Collins, who came to the team last year will be short stop. Second base will be covered by Kevin Randazzo and Gary Sieber first base and outfield by Rob Mandle and Mark Zydeck, Ken Britton and Ray Smock will cover third base.

"The league will be really tough this year," said Crissey. "We have a kamikaze non-league schedule. Six out of the ten teams we play (non-league) were state ranked last year."

"Harrison has an excellent crop of players, a good crew, Churchill is always tough and Northville has 16 out of 18 experienced players back."

"What we hope to do is win the second Western League title in a row - that is an unheard of thing. But we're pretty well set."

Chief hitters strong; add JV squad

BY DONNA LOMAS

With a third place finish and a first place tie in the Western Six League for their respective first and second years, the Canton girls softball team figures its third season will be the best one yet.

"We lost only two strong players (Cindy Krieg, shortstop and Jan Haarer, a catcher to graduation last season,") said Canton girls softball coach Joan Ryan. "But we have 12 very good returning players this year.

"This year, I think we will be a strong team altogether, very solid, where last year we had a few outstanding, consistent players.

Coach Ryan can count two seniors, four juniors and six sophomores as returnees. The sophomores, including Kathy Peck, who is moving into the shortstop position, Laura Butler, third base, whom Ryan plans to use for more pitching this year; Lucy Howe, pitcher last year and now; Evie Pasek, outfield and substitute first base, Kim Young, third base, and Stephanie Hancock, working outfield - all six are beginning their second year on the varsity team

Three year veterans, seniors, Kim Zoladz, who will take over first base duties and is "a strong batter and infielder" according to Coach Ryan and Cathy Verduce, second base and outfield, bring depth and experience to the Chiefs. Another senior, Laurie Barnes, was on the Chief's team the first year but not the last. Coach Ryan plans to position her at third base and catcher.

Juniors Kathy Sochacki, "a very strong outfielder" and third year player; Judy Freiman, third year outfielder, Kim Clarke, two year outfielder and Sue Rekuc, two year outfielder will also provide their skills and experience for the Chiefs.

Three freshmen also made it to the varsity squad - "brand new" said Ryan. They are: Pam Schipani, Vicky Cavallero and Jean Crashovitz.

"Our batting will be strong," says Ryan. "But I can't say who yet because we haven't been able to practice outside. It's hard to tell."

"Pitching - we're not real strong because we're not extremely fast - which gives the batter time to see the ball - but we are accurate and good in the outfield. Infielding is especially good enough to stop the bats. We use our stronger arms infield.

The Canton girls softball team now for the first time, has a junior varsity squad.

There will be 21 players on it said coach Ryan, mostly freshman and sophomores and one junior.

"Last year we tied with Waterford Mott, 2 for the West-Six title" said Ryan. "They are always the toughest team we face. Another one is Walled Lake, because they have a fast pitcher. But we have a good solid team for this year, and more total talent than ever before in varsity. It could be good."

Chief cagers feted

BY MATT NORRIS

Members of the Canton basketball team were honored at the annual banquet, held at the Plymouth Elks Club Tuesday. Recognition was given to both individual and team performances.

Awarded Most Valuable Player was captain Rob Mandel, who led the Chiefs in rebounds and assists. The Most Peckable Player (named after Chief cager Marty Peck for the player who shows the most hustle in the season), was given to senior Kevin Randazzo. Randazzo was sixth man on the squad, playing at guard.

Richard Mandel, President of the Red Chapter of the Boosters Club, donated $100 towards the Canton basketball program. The money will be used for a weight machine, according to coach Cavell.

SOME BENEFITS OF AGE

If you want more house for your dollar, you have good cause to look over older houses. But there are other good reasons for shopping the old ones too.

For one thing, there are simply more old houses than new ones. For every new house that will go up this year there are some 45 existing homes already on the market.

Many older homes, especially those built before World War II, offer more abundant space than new homes do - a special attraction if you have a large and growing family, but a limited budget.

Most old homes are in well-established, well-developed neighborhoods. There will be no waiting for streets to be paved, sewers to be connected or schools to be built. All that is going to grace the neighborhood is probably already there, so that worrying about the future will have been done for you already.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455 - 8400. We're here to help!

Twp. grants license change

The transfer of an SDM liquor license from Lewis B. Hoffman and Dennis W. Richardson to Stanley Thomas Jaroh was approved last week by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees despite complaints from audience members about the effect the license has on local traffic and litter in the area.

Hoffman and Richardson presently own the filling station and store at 49429 Ann Arbor Rd. where the SDM is in effect. Jaroh plans to purchase the

Priorities set

Canton's Board of Trustees set its priorities for public works projects possible with federal grant money at the Township meeting last Tuesday. They are:

1. The fire station at Warren and Haggerty Rds.
2. A community recreation building similar to Plymouth's
3. An addition to the Department of Public Works.
4. Improved water mains to boost the water pressure to levels needed by industry.
5. Further construction of sanitary sewers.
6. Additional improvements to the recreational site just north of the Canton fire station on Canton Center Rd.

Lawyer helps

Are you in a legal jam but afraid to talk to an attorney?

Former Wayne County Circuit Judge George Bowles, a Plymouth Township resident who now has his own law practice in Plymouth, says he is participating in a new program designed to help folks get over their fear of lawyers.

"A lot of people are curious as to what their rights are in a given situation," Bowles said, "but they never go to a lawyer because they're scared."

Under a Detroit Bar Assoc. lawyers referral program, some attorneys volunteer their time to offer a half hour of consultation to anyone who needs to talk to an attorney. The Detroit Bar program includes a $10 administrative charge for the half hour.

But Bowles said he's going to do more than just those cases referred through the bar program. He will take on those who wish to use the idea on their own.

Bowles said he hopes to find time for the program along with his other practice demands.

business once he has obtained the license transfer.

The board's vote was 6-1 in favor of the transfer with Trustee Lee Fidge opposing the measure.

"I would have not approved a license at this corner if I had been on the board when it was first voted on," said Ms. Fidge. "There is litter on the grounds there and I feel it's a dangerous spot to have traffic coming in and out."

Ms. Fidge was supported by township resident Tiv Balogh, who lives near the business.

"It's a very serious situation there," said Balogh. "Someone should make a study to see how much the beer and wine sales contribute to the traffic. Maybe the license should be rescinded."

While the board voted to approve the transfer, Trustee Richard Gornick asked that it be made a "matter of record that we contact the State Highway Department and ask about a passing lane there and that we evaluate the new owner and how he functions there before the next license renewal."

Residents near the filling station have been opposed to expansion of the commercial area.
