Bicyclist injured

IN THE SECOND BICYCLE accident in three weeks here, a 15-year-old Plymouth youth was injured when, according to police, he swerved in front of a car last Wednesday. Stephen Hartnet of 10893 Brookwood, was treated and released at St. Mary Hospital for a broken leg. At the scene, he was treated by Fire Lt. Paul Sanders; Fireman Don Belsky (back to camera) while Patrolman Bob Henry (at right) helped out. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Officials to discuss area's rapid growth

Our community's rapid growth and its impact on our future will be the topic of a special meeting next Tuesday morning.

Plymouth-Canton School Supt. John M. Hoben, Canton Township Supervisor Harold Stein and Plymouth Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert have been invited to speak on growth to a meeting of the United Northwestern Realtors Assoc.

The meeting is aimed at outlining the community's growth statistics and their impact on the area to the real estate representatives.

In Subcommittee on Aging Report 2 Sr. housing sites get nod

Two sites for a senior citizen housing project in the city of Plymouth have been recommended in a verbal report from a subcommittee of the city's Blue Ribbon Committee on Senior Citizens.

They are: Hamilton Park and the location of the Wilcox House at Penniman and Union.

The subcommittee report was made last week and will be formally presented to the City Commission Monday night. Because the report was verbal, formal approval of a written report is expected from the subcommittee at its meeting tonight.

According to the subcommittee, the two recommended sites would be convenient to downtown services for senior citizen residents.

Last fall, city voters rejected a tax abatement proposal which would have allowed a private corporation to construct a senior citizen high rise project on the Wilcox site.

Critics of the project said then they considered the Wilcox site a poor location.

Schools eye new bond issue for June 13 vote

BY DONNA LOMAS

Following Saturday's voter approval of the renewal millage and the defeat of a $30 million bond issue, the Plymouth-Canton School Board will now eye putting a revised bond issue on the June 13 school ballot.

The workshop, slated for Monday, was decided after board members discussed why the bond issue failed and how the schools will now handle the growth patterns in the community.

Trustee Marcia Borowski spoke of the possibility of putting a revised bond issue before the voters in the June 13 election. She suggested asking for enough money to cover repairs and maintenance expenses for schools (except new) going on 45-15.

"To equip buildings and prepare them for 45-15 and repairs will cost us a half mill," she said. "By putting that part of it back on (June 13 ballot) we could get what we needed to start something in July. We are forced to consider this, due to the bond defeat."

Trustee Tom Yack said he wasn't sure about coming back to the voters too quickly with the bond proposal.

"We don't know why they voted against it," he said. "I don't see the June election as the only time to put together a package. We best get research done on why (bond issue was voted down) so we can make an intelligent decision."

Supt. John M. Hoben pointed out that every special election costs $4,000 - - and to get the revised proposal on the June 13 ballot, a decision would have to be made May 9 on any changes or substitutions. A meeting on the proposal would have to be held by May 16 and "A substantial change has to be made on the bond issue," Hoben said. "We could wait six months," he said.

Yack said that "$4,000 is peanuts to me...the money will be well spent, it's almost an investment."

"The cheapest thing, to me, is to do it (build) now," said Trustee Dick Arlen. "Construction will be going up almost 15 percent this year - next year it could be 25-30 percent."

A member of the Concerned Parents Group told the board that "you people don't care what the public thinks. We're against 45-15 and modular scheduling."

All proposals were tabled until Monday's workshop.

Schools, teachers settle contract

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER,
CHAS. CHILD and
DONNA LOMAS

The Plymouth-Canton Community School District and its 650 teachers tentatively agreed to a three-year contract at 1 a.m. Friday - the day before a crucial millage and bond school election is being held.

At 6 a.m. Friday the general membership of the Plymouth Education Assoc. (PEA) met at Salem High School and gave unanimous tentative approval of their negotiating team's recommendation for a contract.

Formal ratification votes by the school board and the PEA are expected in perhaps two weeks.

Four key issues were resolved in the final bargaining session between the schools and the teachers' union which started 7 p.m. Thursday evening and ended at about 1 a.m. Friday. Those issues were:

*REDUCTION OF THE SALARY IMPROVEMENT factor for the first year in exchange for no capping on health insurance costs. This compromise came from Monday night's school board executive session on negotiations.

"AT THE TABLE" is the term used for negotiating - - but in the case of the Plymouth-Canton Schools and its teachers union by 2 a.m. last Friday, things were on the table. Several Options ...

We've been lending money to home buyers since 1889, and our experience shows in the service we render our customers. For example, at D&N we have several term options to help meet each borrower's particular needs. The term of the loan, along with the down payment amount and interest rate determine your monthly payment. Depending on the age and condition of the home, a term of up to 30 years may be selected. Ask a D&N home loan specialist to explain how your monthly payment is affected by the term you choose.

For your security, D&N offers mortgage life insurance. This protection provides for the full payment of your loan in the event of death. Disability insurance is available, too, providing for the payment of your monthly loan if the family breadwinner should become disabled.

Loan Payment Convenience ...

In addition to security, D&N offers some real conveniences, too. To make your monthly payment as easy as possible, we have a plan called "Transmatic." With this plan, your mortgage payment is automatically deducted from your checking account and transferred to D&N on a set date each month. Using the "Transmatic" plan, you needn't worry about forgetting to make a payment when you are on vacation or out of town. A special trip and writing an additional check each month are eliminated when you choose "Transmatic."

Handling Details ...

Many of the details involved in closing the deal will be handled by Detroit & Northern. We will arrange for an appraisal of the property, which will assist in determining the amount of the loan. If a survey is required, D&N will arrange for it. In addition, we can arrange for title insurance. D&N will perform the routine credit checks and handle the recording of your purchase. At the "closing," Detroit & Northern will assemble the various mortgage and legal documents and review them with you.

Continuing Service ...

After receiving your Detroit & Northern home loan, you will enjoy the continuing services we provide homeowners. D&N will handle the payment of your property taxes, hazard insurance, mortgage life and disability insurance. Critics attack city budget

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Critics of the proposed City of Plymouth 1977-78 budget Monday night asked that property taxes levied by the city be reduced even more than the .9 mill reduction under consideration.

The plea for lowered taxation and greater cost cutting in the city's operation came at the budget public hearing held by law before the City Commission must approve the budget at the first meeting in May.

Former Plymouth Mayor Jim McKeon said that because the city ran operations with such a large surplus the last three years, there has been little reason for the city to hold the line on costs and inflation.

"When you consistently run in the black," McKeon said, "there's no incentive to watch costs. For three or four years running we have consistently come in high (on the budget) so we not only form a pattern, but we've formed a policy."

McKeon said the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce consensus was that with a "hard nosed budget" taxes could be reduced even another 1.75 mills.

He said the chamber also wanted cost reduction programs, the city to abandon its proposed handball-racquetball courts at the Cultural Center, alternatives to expansion of City Hall, a study before any railroad crossing grade separation project is undertaken, and use of Federal Revenue Sharing funds for capital improvements rather than to supplement operational expenses.

Roger Wright, City Planning Commissioner, said he seconded McKeon's request for a tight budget and cited the commission's proposed budget revision to put an additional $40,000 to be spent on this year's capital improvement program for unspecified work as "sort of a blank check at this point."

Tony Licata, of the Plymouth Civic Federation, said the budget philosophy of the city was not cost conscious. "Rather than fill slots with dollars, what we want you to do is decide that those dollars are needed in those slots."

Commissioner Jack Moehle said the proposed expenditure of $80,000 on repaving the Central Parking Lot was inconsistent with the newly adopted city parking policy which calls for the parking program in the city to be self sufficient. The money for the repaving will come from Federal Revenue Sharing funds.

He said the revenue sharing expenditure could be used for something which would "reduce taxes instead."

The commission will adopt the proposed budget at its next meeting.

"THE VICTORS" will be one of the numbers featured when the Staccato Group of the Plymouth Symphony League presents "College Night at the Pops" on Saturday, May 14, at 8:30 p.m. in Pioneer Middle School. Will recallers seek Bradley, Daley?

BY CHAS. CHILD

Supervisor Harold Stein may not be the only target of a recall effort in Canton. Rumors are circulating that a signature drive is under way to recall Trustee Eugene Daley and Treasurer Anne Bradley.

Daley and Bradley ran with Stein on the same slate in last November's election.

Petitions were handed in last week asking for a recall election of Stein.

Stein, planners seek 3 Canton concepts

Canton Supervisor Harold Stein presented the township planner's recommended steps to develop a new plan to the Board of Trustees and the Planning Commission last week.

The steps call for a close look at Canton's needs, a survey of 5 to 10 percent of Canton's people and the development of three alternative plans to choose from.

The whole procedure will take eight to 10 months, according to Canton's planning consultants, Wade and Trim.

The planning commission will discuss the plan at their next meeting, May 9 at 8:00 p.m.

'Little guy' hurt by ZBA hassling

The Zoning Board of Appeals controversy in Canton often seems just a political football batted back and forth between politicians looking for political advantage.

But one Canton resident, because no ZBA is meeting, is sitting on plans to build three duplexes on his property.

Clayton Miller has been waiting for two months to proceed because township ordinances require the ZBA to approve duplexes (two houses under one roof.)

"Supposedly, I'm on the agenda of the next ZBA meeting, but until it meets, I can't build these houses," Miller said. The Canton Planning Commission approved Miller's plan Monday night.

Call '911' for city fires

City of Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman has asked the telephone company to remove 453-1313, the former fire emergency number.

Since installation of 911 service last September, city residents are dialing 911 for their emergency calls.

The elimination of the old number will save tax dollars and provide a uniform way for handling all emergencies in the city, he said.

Chief Schoenneman stated that since the new telephone book came out listing 911 as the emergency number, almost all citizens are using it. The telephone company has agreed to transfer misdirected calls to the 911 emergency number effective May 2.

Schoenneman stressed that citizens are reminded to dial 911 only for EMERGENCY police, fire or ambulance service.

For calls of a nonemergency nature to the Fire Dept. dial 453-1234 effective May 2.

Salem gals, compete in secretarial contest

Colette Kadas and Jeanne Schumacher and alternate Sue Stanwood will represent Salem High School in the 18th Annual Shorthand-Typing Contest of Metropolitan Detroit. The contest will be held at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn on May 10. The girls are students in the B.E.S.T. Secretarial Lab.

Contestants from approximately 75 schools in the metropolitan area will be competing for prizes provided by Detroit

Business Institute, sponsor of the contest. First place winners in both the typing and shorthand contest will receive an electric typewriter in addition to trophy. Others placing within the top ten in each of the contests will receive prizes including portable typewriters, tape recorders, radios, and cameras.

Kara Egan, a 1975 Salem graduate, was a winner in the 16th Annual Shorthand Contest.

Millage forces use phone blitz

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Were you surprised to get a phone call Saturday afternoon reminding you that you hadn't yet voted in the special school election?

The phone campaign was part of the overall strategy of the schools' Citizens Election Committee which stationed volunteers at each precinct to keep track of which voters had cast ballots in the Saturday special election.

When a voter votes is public information and the school committee volunteers used presorted cards to then call parents of elementary school students, Plymouth-Canton District employes and teachers from other districts who live here, if they had not voted by noon.

Only those parents with listed phone numbers were called, Mrs. Beier said.

"In general, they're the most positive group," said Florence Beier, the school district's community relations coordinator. She said those voters were most likely to vote "yes" on the operating millage renewal and building bond issue on Saturday's ballot.

"Everybody who runs a campaign and wins does this," Mrs. Beier said. "The Democrats, the Republicans and everybody."

A campaign evaluation meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the school board offices by the Citizens' Committee.

Voters refuse bond, O.K. millage

The voters in the Plymouth-Canton School District narrowly approved a five mill renewal proposal and soundly defeated by a 2-1 margin a $30 million bond issue in the district at a special election Saturday.

Out of the 30,000 total registered voters in the district, 27 per cent turned out in the rainy chill Saturday, a total of 8,176 voters, including absent-tee ballots.

The five mill renewal proposal passed by a total of 281 votes, while the bond proposal was defeated by a 3,291 vote margin.

On the millage renewal, the last nine out of the 14 precincts voted in support of the renewal. The five precincts that voted against the millage proposal were city and township of Plymouth precincts. All four Canton precincts supported the millage renewal as did five Plymouth precincts.

From a total of 6,163 voters in the Plymouth precincts, 3,115 voted "yes" on a renewal and a total of 3,027 voted "no" for a slim approval margin of 36 votes. Twenty-one votes weren't accounted for.

On the bond issue, Plymouth voters tallied 4,435 "no" votes compared to 1,673 "yes" votes, for a difference of 2,662 ballots. Out of the 6,163 voters, 255 did not vote on the bond issue in Plymouth precincts.

In Canton, a total of 1,673 voters from four precincts voted 953 "yes" on the renewal issue, and 719 voted "no" for a approval margin of 234.

Canton voters defeated the bond proposal by 350 votes; 981 "no" votes compared to 631 "yes" votes. Sixty-one votes are unaccounted for on the bond issue in Canton.

Absentee voters (whose votes were in before the tentative agreement early Friday by the PEA and school board) rejected the millage renewal by 37 votes.

A total of 340 absentee voters, from both Plymouth and Canton, also turned down the bond issue by a margin of 29 votes.

The Plymouth-Canton School Board may put a revised bond issue before the voters on the June 13 election. According to Assistant Supt. for Personnel, Norm Kee, had the millage renewal not passed, 96 teachers would have been 'pink slipped' Monday.

Schools, PCA bargain

For the first time in history, the Plymouth-Canton School District and its administrators will formally sit down at a bargaining table Thursday to work out a contract.

Members of the school districts administrative team -- including school principals -- recently voted overwhelmingly to join in a bargaining unit, the Plymouth Congress of Administrators, (PCA).

The schools will be represented at the bargaining by Attorney Charles Fine.

Current administrative contracts expire on June 30.

Schools will have to pay Marts

A technicality may cause the Plymouth-Canton District as much as a quarter million dollars in the firing of a teacher three years ago.

In a decision handed down by the Ingham County Circuit Court, Plymouth-Canton Schools have been ordered to reinstate Jack Marts, of Canton, and to give him back pay -- which with interest and costs could amount to over $200,000. The schools' attorney, Walter Guth, said an appeal was already in the works if a pending request for a rehearing was denied.

What the entire case may hinge upon -- based on the technicality cited by the court -- was whether former school board secretary Wilson Sick, actually signed the formal original document notifying Marts he was fired.

Guth and School Supt. John M. Hoben said that original document has been misplaced although the document was entered in formal evidence during Marts' tenure case.

Marts, a former candidate for Canton Township Supervisor who lost in the 1974 primary to Bob Greenstein, declined to comment on the case.

When a "just wonderful" teacher goes out of her way to make things better for a student, it doesn't go un-noticed -- at least not by Rita Lanci. When she was hospitalized recently, Mrs. Lanci's big worry was how her son, Richard, (right) could stay in school at Central Middle School with no one nearby to care for him. But Richard's teacher, Jeanne Martin, had the answer. She has taken her pupil in temporarily and has even seen to it he makes baseball practice. "This school system actually goes out of its way to help you," said Mrs. Lanci. "She's (Mrs. Martin) just terrific."

Recreational Vehicle Life

Staying with a good thing seems to set the accent for the new mini-motorhomes. There's little question of their popularity over the last several seasons. In fact, about one out of every three new motorhomes is of the mini, or cutaway van chassis variety. Perhaps this is because the chassis seems more like a car to many motorized camping fans. An increasing number of outdoorsmen have found the cutaway van motorhome to be the ideal vehicle for launching into motorized camping.

New to camping or an old hand? Whatever your needs for a vehicle or information we'll be glad to give you full assistance at WALKER-RAFFERTY CO., 25431 Michigan Ave., 562-7661. The Tioga motor homes have many camping/traveling conveniences. There are panorama radius-corner view tinted windows, large entry door with assist handle and retractable steps, large exterior and interior storage compartments, porch light, easy utility hookups and 25' electric power cord.

Double sink and range with oven are only a few of the plusses for the motorhome.

Vote 'no' on recall

Anne Bradley's genteel, not crazy

EDITOR:

So they're going to have a recall! Well it's not surprising to me. Mr. Stein didn't have a chance to warm the seat of the Supervisor Chair before there were rumors out to that effect - and this was all before they got a few trumped up reasons to get the ball rolling.

It was just a continuation of the primary, the write-in and general elections plus the recount and not to mention the delay (intentional) of having the election certified.

The two other candidates for the prime position in Canton and their cliques, worked hard and diligently to achieve this goal.

If they were to win (God forbid) in their mighty efforts to replace Mr. Stein, the armed truce they are now effecting to get their combined supporters signatures on the recall petition will turn into the most blood thirsty campaign Canton Township has ever seen.

The fact that Mr. Greenstein

"doesn't know" whether he will run again or not doesn't stop one from guessing that he will... and the fact that he would rather see half of the board members dispersed along with the Supervisor should be no hassle for him should he assume office. He can then find a few excuses to have them recalled. Then Mr. Greenstein will have everything the way he wants it.

Calling Mrs. Bradley a "crazy treasurer" are pretty harsh words aren't they counselor? Anyway, who's crazy? At least Mrs. Bradley conducts herself in a very genteel and diplomatic manner in spite of the devious harrassments she is receiving from certain self-styled "orators" at the meetings.

I am sure in the event of a recall election, all concerned Canton Residents will see through the thin veil of it's purpose and vote "no" on the issue.

TIM MURPHY

Now that the school district operating millage is passed and a contract has been agreed to with the teachers, we can all refocus our attentions to things we've let go for a while.

First of all, we need much groundwork to be laid for the start of an expanded 45-15 school year programs - and first of all we need to iron out the schedule.

A committee is currently studying the 45-15-schedule problem and the alternatives which may be taken to correct it. We hope the group can expedite its study and recommendations and the board will consider the difficulties inherent in changing the schedule.

There is much readying which needs to be done in the new 45-15 schools but it cannot begin seriously until we know when the program will begin.

The schedule is also important to parents who are trying to make vacation plans.

With the two major hurdles to the schools' future out of the way, it's time to get cracking on 45-15.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Bradley misinformed

EDITOR:

Mrs. Bradley: After reading your article I feel I must respond. You are very misinformed. It's the people most of all who want this recall, not the candidates. I was able to get signatures on the recall petitions, and the response was overwhelming: "Where have you been?" "I can't wait to sign." "We've been waiting for you." These are all quotes from the people who signed. I must note not one person refused to sign the petition. This must tell you something.

Mrs. Bradley, being a township official I am very disappointed that you are also guilty of politically labeling the people of this township just because they are concerned about the welfare of their home. You should be grateful and Canton should be proud the people here care and I don't feel you will ever stop them from voicing their opinions when something is wrong.

Last, I feel the cost of a recall will be very minor compared to the cost of keeping Mr. Stein in office with his pro-growth stand. I'll put my money in a recall that's a sound investment.

EDITOR:

Just wanted to compliment you on the "Bob Cameron Redundancy Award." That was the greatest piece of over humor exhibited by The Crier to date.

I think you should consider presenting this award once a month as a special feature. The candidates and material for this is limitless.

You have done humorous things in the past - mostly very subtle humor. This however was the first thing you've done overtly funny. Loved it!

Yockey advises reassessment

Plymouth City Manager Fred L. Yockey has advocated that each local governmental unit within a school district be reassessed by an independent assessor at least once every 10 years.

Yockey's comments were made at Monday's public hearing of the proposed city budget for 1977-78.

He said this would help equalize taxes between taxpayers in the individual government units in the school system. The City of Plymouth has just gone through a reassessment unlike the other communities within the Plymouth-Canton School District - Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Salem and Superior townships.

Such a reassessment may cost a community as much as $60,000 but, on the heels of the city's reassessment, "it's time to ask for an outside assessment" for the other school district units too.

A PECK ON THE CHEEK from former student Cindy Sadlocha was just one of the tributes retired Plymouth school teacher Elizabeth Donnelly received last Friday during Arbor Day festivities at Starkweather School. A blue spruce tree was planted in her honor and students hope to use it for their annual Christmas Sing. Mrs. Donnelly taught three generations of Starkweather students. PEA, schools settle

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER, CHAS. CHILD, SUSAN SHEINER and DONNA LOMAS

The Plymouth-Canton Community School District and its 650 teachers tentatively agreed to a three-year contract at 11:30 a.m. Friday - the day before a crucial millage and bond school election is being held.

At 6 a.m. Friday the general membership of the Plymouth Education Assoc. (PEA) met at Salem High School and gave unanimous tentative approval of their negotiating team's recommendation for a contract.

Formal ratification votes by the school board and the PEA are expected in perhaps two weeks.

Four key issues were resolved in the final bargaining session between the schools and the teachers' union which started 7 p.m. Thursday evening and ended at about 1 a.m. Friday. Those issues were:

- *REDUCTION OF THE SALARY IMPROVEMENT factor for the first year in exchange for no capping on health insurance costs. This compromise came from Monday night's school board executive session on negotiations.
- *ELIMINATION OF 45-15 15Y LANGUAGE which would now mean greater flexibility for the schools in establishing year-round school schedules and location.
- *ADDITION OF A "SAFE HARBOR" clause which protects the schools from enforcing agency shop union status for the PEA.
- *GRANDFATHERING OF THE special salary schedule for counselors, social workers and psychologists for those already on the schedule. New hires will not be given the schedule however.

The salary package for the three years includes: a three per cent increase, incremental adjustments and two per cent retirement in the first year (1976-77 school year) of which teachers have already taught 147 days; from four to six per cent standard of living adjustment, incremental increases and an additional three per cent retirement in the second year; and a three per cent plus incremental adjustments and from four to seven per cent standard of living adjustments in the third year.

According to Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, the contract would mean a 34 per cent increase over the current contract.

The Community Crier was the only newspaper on the scene in the middle of the night Thursday when the Plymouth-Canton Schools and its teachers reached agreement on a contract. While you slept, The Crier's entire editorial staff was at work getting a bulletin on the street so that voters in Saturday's school election would know a contract was settled.

The Crier staff knows what it means to hustle to bring you the news. Even if it means losing a little sleep.

MOVE OVER C & O, the Gallimore, Canton and Northern Railroad is the newest line in town. Operating out of Gene Pydynkowski's fifth-grade class, the train, a class project, provides the fastest service in the Gallimore School area - and doesn't block any traffic either! (Crier photo by Susan Sheiner).

Kids learn from this railroad

BY DONNA LOMAS

There's one crossing in town where you never have to wait for a train - where the "Gallimore, Canton and Northern Railroad" goes through.

It all started last year when the fifth grade class of Gallimore teacher Gene Pydynkowski started construction of the 14x4 foot table the mini-railroad rests on, laid the framework for train routes and wired the tracks under the supervision of Pydynkowski, a rail-road buff who has built several of his own railroads - miniature, that is.

"I saw the idea in a magazine," he said, "They used the train as an educational tool. The children learn everything in this project from how electricity works, using construction materials, tools, design and scenery plans and how a railroad really works."

By building the railroad for 15 minutes a day throughout the year, at noon hour, and after school sometimes, the beginnings of the railroad village slowly began to take shape. This year's fifth grade class designed and made scenery with paper mache, plaster of paris and watercolors.

Dried flowers were used as shrubbery and trees over the colorful landscape and green grass is the school janitors cleaning compound glued down. Small grains of gravel are mixed with glue and water to form a roadbed to hold the railroad ties in place.

The students have erected a pickle factory, a railroad station and a stockyard. Telegraph poles have been put in, but there are no wires on them yet. The students even built a few of the railroad cars. A model train company donated some model trains and made the fifth grade class honorary members.

The fifth graders operate the Gallimore Canton and Northern Railroad whenever they have free time during the school day. But even model trains are not without their problems - derailments are somewhat common along with deciding who will engineer the controls.

But the fifth grade class is proud of what they've accomplished with their project and the things they've learned while doing it, says Pydynkowski.

The project will stay in Gallimore's fifth grade classroom for this year's fourth graders to take over next year.

"We can always improve on the project," said Pydynkowski. "There's no end to what you can do with trains."

AAUW marks 25th birthday

Last Saturday marked the 25th anniversary of the Plymouth branch of the American Assoc. of University Women (AAUW).

In the past 25-years, the membership roster has grown from 44 in 1952 to 238 today. Of the original 44 members, three - Edna Allen, Mildred Field, and Esther Hulsing - have had Plymouth elementary schools named in their honor.

Other original branch members include Wilma Barnes, Jean Harsha, Clara Scharmen, Irene Truesdell, Chris Witwer and Libby Worth.

Two of the best known AAUW projects are the annual booksale and children's play.

The first book sale was held in 1955 in Kroger's. As the sale grew its location changed several times and in 1970 moved to its present site, the Westland Mall. Over the years the volume of sale has grown from about 500 to 20,000 books.

The first children's play, "Snow White and Rose Red," was presented in February 1961. Since then it has grown to the point where a professional script is required, but everything else is handled by AAUW members.

Proceeds from both the book sale and the play go towards scholarships and fellowships.

Other AAUW activities include a lecture series, Lifeliners (a program with women inmates at the Detroit House of Correction serving life sentences), and costume judging at the Fall Festival.

April 28 begins the annual Water Waves synchronized swimming show, this year being called "Water Colors"

It will be held April 28 through the 30, in the Salem Pool, at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1 in advance and $1.25 at the door.

The Water Waves which consists of 28 girls from both schools, will be doing routines to 10 songs plus the finale. Some of the songs they will perform are "Gypsy Rose Lee" "Painted Dolls" "Yellow Submarines", "Red Ferrando", etc.

"They started off with the idea "Water Colors", so that each song or routine is depicting a color. If the girls thought of yellow as being happy, for example, there's one song called Yellow Submarine. " All of our new girls will be doing a routine to that song", says Mrs. Mary Uhl, who has been the advisor of Water Waves for three years.

"Synchronized swimming is a little bit of ballet, dance, gymnastics, swimming, and being able to count music, having a pretty good rhythm so everything's together", explained Mrs. Uhl.

Coming up May 24 is the Water Waves Clinic for all incoming freshman girls. At the clinic, the girls will be taught what they are expected to do for tryouts in the fall.

In order to be a Water Wave, it is recommended girls should be the equivalent of the Red Cross Intermediate level, "Which means you would know all the strokes", says Mary Uhl.

"We don't want beginning swimmers. We don't teach the girls to swim, we teach them synchronized swimming, which is 'skulling', and everything is done with their hands and arms."

One of the outstanding members of Water Waves is senior Jane Anderson. She has been in the Waves for four years. She is also the president of the organization.

"Our president not only conducts the meetings, but she's the director of the show. She pretty much tries to keep everything running smoothly. The vice-president is in charge of running the publicity, she takes care of our scrapbook also.

STAMP COLLECTOR DANIEL STANTON, 13, a sixth-grader at Central Middle School, prepares a few examples from his collection for sale at the Annual West Suburban Stamp Club Exhibition and Bourse last weekend. About 2,000 collectors attended the event in the Central School gym.

Rain drops are washing away the dirt and dullness of winter as mother nature does her spring housecleaning. The bright colors of tulips and daffodils are beginning to appear. Wouldn't it be great if we could just open the windows and doors and let the rain do the spring housecleaning for us, and let mother nature splash some of her nice colors on the walls? I'm sure it wouldn't take mother nature as long as it does husbands to agree on wallpaper.

The case of the mysterious water loss

BY HANK MEIJER

Every month our local municipalities buy the water from the Detroit Metropolitan Water Board that flows into local homes and factories, swimming pools and fire hydrants.

And always, they buy more water than their residents use. Somewhere along the line, millions of gallons disappear.

While local DPW officials don't find the dilemma as mysterious as it seems, it is rooted in complications they say can never be totally resolved.

The City of Plymouth was especially hard hit this year, with its water loss percentage half again greater than last year, according to DPW Chief Ken Vogras. From April, 1976 through March, 1977, city officials were able to account for only 81 percent of the water the city bought from the Detroit board. That's a water loss of 19 percent, up from a relatively low figure of 12 percent in the previous year. That's 27 million gallons more than last year that the city bought but did not bill its residents for, and a total of 118 million missing gallons out of the 600 million purchased.

Vogras says the percentage of water loss used to be included in the city audit. Since 1971, however, it has disappeared. Says Vogras, "the (city) council gets upset when they see a percentage."

Vogras concedes that the city has lost a lot of water, but he adds that the biggest reasons are all too evident: a severe winter and old, deteriorating water mains.

In an average winter, Vogras says homeowners' service pipes don't freeze. This year, 175 did. In each case after the pipe is thawed, the homeowner is told to open the faucet and let the water run. It runs un-metered. The city has recorded 27 broken water mains so far this year, a third again more than usual, because of frost conditions. There's no meter to record water loss when a main bursts.

In 24 hours, some 2,500 gallons can pour out through a hole the size of a nail. And often it's cheaper to let that water run out if it's a week-end and the city has to pay its crews overtime to make the repairs.

Labor costs for the city DPW are already double their budget.

Missing water is un-metered water, and the city has several water uses that go un-metered. A six-inch main serving city-owned Riverside Cemetery remains un-metered, although the city purchased a meter for it. In a report to the city manager on water loss in 1971, Vogras wrote "During the summer we have had juveniles open several spigots and they have run all night."

Newer fire hydrants lack drain-backs that allow DPW crews to notice leaks fast. Water used for street sweeping is also unmetered, as are the approximately 5,000 gallons per day used by the city's new sewer-cleaning truck when it's in use.

Pipe quality plays a big part in water loss too. The newest pipes and the oldest are best, Vogras says. The Old Village section of Plymouth, where many of the city's oldest homes are located, suffered few main breaks, because the mains are all sand-cast iron pipes much thicker than those in use today. The latest pipe materials, notably ductile steel, are also holding up well, the local DPW chiefs report. But those sections of the city which were built up in the middle of this century often have inferior mains, Vogras notes. Hence, the Hough Park neighborhood, for example, is "full of patches."

Old mains aren't much of a problem in Canton and Plymouth townships. Most of the water system didn't exist a few years ago. In the townships, new construction is the biggest water loss factor.

Canton DPW Chief Jake Dingeldey puts his water loss currently at about 20 per cent compared to what he says is an industry standard of 15 per cent. Dingeldey blames the larger figure in large part on construction needs. His department has responded to three water main breaks in the past week, all as a result of construction activity. "That really puts a bind on water consumption," he says.

All the communities have to lower the pressure of Detroit water as it flows into their systems. For Vogras that can be a problem with older mains. For Dingeldey, it means a drastic reduction at the connection, because Canton is second in line among Detroit water customers along the out-flowing main.

As each new subdivision opens in Canton, its main must be flushed thoroughly to meet state bacteriological requirements. That water, too, is un-metered, and goes into the township's loss column.

The township has appropriated $50,000 to upgrade meters, and Dingeldey is pushing for other improvements. He wants a "flow indicator" like Plymouth Township has which has a graph-indicator up on which main breaks will show up.

Plymouth Township's annual water loss is running about 13 percent - 16 per cent lowest among local communities - but DPW Chief Web Kincade says it's still a difficult problem trying to correlate water bought with water used. Because of the township's quarterly billing of water purchased monthly, he says, "you never, never have a point where you know precisely how much water you bought."

Kincade plans to hire a consultant to examine the township's water loss problems. "It's a big problem," he says, "and it's not popular with anyone." The Township buys about twice as much water as the city. Last year it lost about 151 million gallons. Winter brought with it 24 frozen home services.

Once again, new construction can be a headache. As in Canton, Plymouth Township sells new-home contractors construction water at a fixed rate. It's not metered. Says Kincade, "Some use it wisely, but some turn on the hose and let it run." He cites a case last week where a plumber on a new home project didn't tighten down the connection he had just made with the township main. The next day, the lawn was soggy. There was no meter, and how much water seeped out is anybody's guess.

As in the City of Plymouth, most main breaks in the township occur in the older subdivisions. Kincade says, "We have a relatively new system, materials now are much better."

All three DPW chiefs agree the problem isn't going to go away. As long as water passes through old mains, as long as new buildings are built, as long as winter makes pipes shrink, millions of gallons of water will leak away. But in all three communities, water loss is receiving increased attention, and as new materials replace old, the DPW mean see hope for improvement.

How much can they control water loss? Maybe not much more than the 13 per cent Plymouth Township recorded last month.

As Vogras says of the dream of eliminating water loss, "It's virtually impossible. If anybody could ever figure out how, he'd be a millionaire."

Senior citizen fights to save Mill St. property

BY CHAS. CHILD

LEILA CHILSON

As whole new subdivisions sprout in the Plymouth-Canton area, the old houses and the old people tend to be forgotten. Forgotten are the people, their lives and a slow, rural way of life.

Such is the case with a house condemned for road widening at Ann Arbor Trail and Mill Street, and the 82-year-old woman who grew up there.

Leila Chilson moved into the house in 1900 when she was five. Her father farmed the land around the house. She remembers his acres of red raspberries, gooseberries, currants and plums. "Oh, yes, I remember the plums, bushels and bushels of plums."

Plymouth was a very quiet town back then, she said. "Everybody knew everybody else and people could do what they wanted. Today the government is reaching into all our affairs."

Leila feels she knows the heavy hand of government. The Wayne County Road Commission has condemned the house in order to widen the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Mill Street to five lanes.

"We had a cow, two horses and many other animals, right in what's the city of Plymouth now," she said. "As a little girl I remember hobos knocking at the door asking for something to eat. My mother said 'Willing to work?' and set them chopping these old apple trees in LEILA'S HOUSE stands condemned, waiting for the county to tear it down. front of our house for firewood."

She hasn't lived in the house since 1938 but for most of the time since then, she's commuted back and forth from Detroit and stayed on weekends. She befriended those who rented the house and tended the flowers and shrubs around the yard.

"When my mother was alone and lonely in the house, I planted 150 varieties of iris and peonies each. She sold the flowers to keep her busy. It was a big social event for her."

"I put so much into the house and it's so dear to me. The city and county don't want me around. The city is money-hungry, the county is money-hungry. They're trying to edge me out."

Leila's lawyer, Perry Richwine, said the county will be paying Leila the amount it was appraised by the county's assessor next week.

She is suing, however, for more money. It may take a year or more to settle, according to Frank O'Boyle, the attorney handling the case for the County Road Commission.

The house can be torn down now, since it's already been condemned, Richwine said. But they haven't done so, he said, for lack of money.

"They have a lot of people to tell how to use the money but they don't have it," Leila said.

"They told me I couldn't rent it. If I did they'd take the rent money away. This is how older people are persecuted these days."

Leila lives alone in Highland Park now, her church cuts her lawn, ferries her to the grocery store and helps with other errands.

"The Mission is my family," she said. "I'm alone, but because of them, I'm not lonely."

Growth brings second parish to Canton

The Archdiocese of Detroit approved construction of a second Catholic parish in Canton recently.

The new parish will cover an area bounded by Ford Rd. in the north, Palmer Rd. in the south, I-275 in the east, and Canton-Center Rd. in the west.

According to Father Edward Baldwin, pastor at the Blessed John Neumann parish in Canton, increased growth was one of the reasons behind the decision to provide a new parish.

"When you have people coming to mass and they're all standing up, well, it doesn't work," said Fr. Baldwin. "We started out a year ago having one mass at 10 a.m. Sunday. Now, we have three masses on Sunday and one on Saturday and people are still standing up. And we anticipate having another mass on Saturday."

John Cardinal Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit, has appointed the Rev. Fr. Ernest Porcari, pastor of St. Clement Catholic Church, Dearborn, to serve as pastor. His appointment is effective June 15.

A name for the new parish has not been selected. Parishioners will suggest several names but final approval will rest with Cardinal Dearden.

Cantonites to build Catholic Church

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held recently at the site of the new Divine Savior Catholic Church, on Joy Rd. west of Hix.

The church, to be built on the borders of Canton and Westland has many Canton residents as parishioners.

Fall 1977, is the scheduled completion date for the five-year-old, 450-family parish. Presently, the parish meets in Fiegel Elementary School.

Once built, the church will have no pews and masses will be held in a large, multi-purpose room with a portable altar. A small chapel will handle weddings and baptisms.

Care was taken to preserve the woods surrounding the site, said Dave Thomas, a member of the parish building committee.

"It's going to be beautiful it will be set back from the road in a woods so you won't be able to see it from the road," said Thomas, adding, "You reach it by a path in the woods. We wanted to preserve the natural environment 100 per cent."

The Rev. Fr. Gerald Flannery will act as pastor.

*ELIMINATION OF 45-15 ESY LANGUAGE which would now mean greater flexibility for the schools in establishing year round school schedules and location.

*ADDITION OF A "SAVE HARMLESS" clause which protects the schools from enforcing agency shop union status for the PEA.

*GRANDFATHERING — OF THE special salary schedule for counselors, social workers and psychologists for those already on the schedule. New hires will not be given the schedules however.

The salary package for the three years includes: a three per cent increase, incremental adjustments and two per cent retirement in the first year (1976-77 school year of which teachers have already taught 147 days); from four to six per cent standard of living adjustment, incremental increases and an additional three per cent retirement in the second year; and a three per cent raise plus incremental adjustments and from four to seven per cent standard of living adjustments in the third year.

According to Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, the contract would mean a per cent increase overall and will cost a total of some $

After the two bargaining teams met with accord early Friday, Kee polled the school board members to get verbal approval of the contract.

PEA President Candi Reece and Chief Negotiator Derald McKinley said they will now drop the two unfair labor practice charges and the circuit court suit the PEA filed against the school district.

The two negotiating teams issued a joint statement saying they urged school district voters to approve the millage renewal and building bond issues on Saturday's special school election ballot. Prior to the settlement, the PEA had not officially taken any stand on the two issues - the first time in recent history it has not supported school issues.

IRVING ROZIAN, Salem Township resident and State Boundary Commission member, leaves nothing to chance - he wears suspenders and a belt. He told The Crier he wears both because of the "gravity of the situation". He was acting as a go-between in the schools - teacher talks. (Crier photo by Susan Sheiner)

Through marathon sessions Negotiator Irv Rozian kept talks moving

"Both sides seem to be reasonably satisfied and reasonably dissatisfied."

This summary of the teacher-contract settlement was given by Irv Rozian, the special negotiator who was instrumental in keeping both sides' noses to the grindstone up to the teacher settlement.

"I was not a mediator or a labor negotiator in the strict sense," he said. "Rather I was a 'facilitator.' I set the agendas, scheduled meetings, and tried to keep things moving along as fast as possible."

Rozian's special position was suggested by The Crier and agreed upon by both sides.

"Getting settled before the millage was on everybody's mind," he said, "but not so dominant so as prevent fair bargaining."

"We keep in contact with the other teacher negotiations going on throughout the area and kept comparing offers and ideas," he said. "It seemed to assure both sides that the offers were reasonable."

"The tone was calm throughout the night. We didn't want to lose this opportunity."

One day Julie said the time would come when The Community Crier would write her ad.

That day has come - Julie is in Florida.

Real Estate

BY WILLIAM DECKER

REALTOR

The value of your house is not what you think it is - or what the buyer thinks. It is determined chiefly by the location, the neighborhood, and the current market. An over priced house sitting on the market for months becomes almost impossible to sell. So first, you must get in line with the market. That means a realistic appraisal.

Nobody - buy nobody - is more acutely aware of the current housing market than your local Realtor. A capable Realtor can bring in his own appraisal expert or even a team of salesmen who will individually price your home and then reach a fair consensus. Or you can hire a qualified independent appraiser. You may be pleasantly surprised to find out that you were intending to price your house for less than its fair market value. If possible, your price should include curtains, draperies, refrigerator, air-conditioners, dishwasher, built-ins. It's a better package deal and may hasten the sale.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

WORKING OUT THE DETAILS of the teacher contract early Friday morning were (from left) PEA President Elect Al Nurmi, PEA President

THIS 3-YEAR PROPOSED PAY schedule will be subject to ratification by the PEA and teachers following the tentatively agreed on contract last Friday.

After releasing the 'corners' of the yet to be ratified pay scale for the teachers in the district, Norm Kee said he thought the agreement was "a fair and equitable one."
"I don't see any problems with the formal ratification," he said.

"The agreement won't change our position with the other districts in the county (Plymouth-Canton retained the 10th highest position pay scale). That was our goal - we were striving to maintain our position."

Schools to keep same census

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education decided last Monday to continue to use the alternative method of census during odd years in accordance with a new codification law.

Acting on the recommendation of Supt. John Hoben, the school board decided on the alternate method because it would save more school district money - and a formal census would cost too much. Plymouth-Canton has been using alternate census for four years.

A formal census is no longer required of the school district and the alternate census method uses community resources such as civic and social clubs. A paper census will also be taken with school children.

Students honored

Three Plymouth residents were among Alma College graduates who received their degrees with honors at the college's 90th year commencement recently.

They are: Sheryl J. Kirchoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Kirchoff of 44456 Brookside Dr., Plymouth, who received a bachelor of arts degree and graduated with honors in business administration; Beverly J. Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Taylor of 44499 Charnwood Dr., Plymouth, who received a bachelor of science degree cum laude; and Mark A. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Turner of 1300 Linden, Plymouth, who received a bachelor of science degree magna cum laude.

Correction

The Crier reported incorrectly last week that the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees had agreed to allow the Ann Arbor Road House to improve and expand its rear area. The board was sympathetic to the proposed alterations, but referred the matter to the township Board of Zoning Appeals without taking further action.

In a story in last week's Crier on the search for a police chief for Canton Township, we noted that the township is currently patrolled on a part-time basis by its own police and regularly by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. We neglected to mention, however, that the State Police also patrol the township and respond to calls there.

Salem runner Mangan dies

BY DONNA LOMAS

Jeff Mangan 18, a senior at Salem High School and a half-mile runner on the Salem track team, died late Saturday afternoon of complications following an appendectomy earlier last week.

Jeff succumbed to a peritonitis infection following the operation at Annapolis Hospital in Garden City, according to Salem track coach Gary Balconi.

"After running six miles Monday, he was in a great deal of pain," said Balconi. "I called him Tuesday morning and found out he had had an appendectomy.

Mangan was in the operating room several hours Saturday before succumbing to the infection late in the afternoon.

"Jeff was the kind of student any teacher would want, and any coach would want," said Balconi. "He was a thorough athlete, he never took shortcuts. He was always like that, right from when I met him in middle school.

"He came out for track as a junior last year, and we took a second look at him as he ran the mile. He was successful at it and constantly got better and better as a runner."

Jeff, who also wrestled as a junior, suffered a leg injury last season and switched to running the half mile for Salem.

He had a time of 2:04 for the half mile and his desire, said Balconi, was to run the half mile in under two minutes.

"We were super pleased when Jeff ran the half mile," said Balconi. "We knew he'd found his race. He started this season with the desire to run under two minutes."

In an effort to break his record said Balconi, Jeff ran from six to eight miles a day, and got severe shin splints. He then practiced swimming in the pool at Salem but got a severe chest cold.

"He had just started to get back into shape until last Monday," said Balconi. "Jeff was a super young man. It was a privilege to coach him as well as teach him."

Tri-captains of the Salem track team, Walt White, Jerry Basierbe and Tom Kindree are organizing a fund raising car wash at the Don Massey car dealership on the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Road this Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fundraiser is to buy a track record board for Salem on Jeff Mangan's behalf.

Jeff is survived by his parents, Jan and Patricia Mangan of 41703 Cherry Hill Rd. in Canton, sisters Jill and Leanne; brothers, Mark and Bradley; grandparents Mr. and Mrs. August Mangan of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Parker Murray of -Leslie, Mich., and great-grandmother Mrs. John Smith of Ann Arbor.

Services were held Tuesday at Calvary Baptist Church.

Boosters to sponsor Canton 'Lift-a-thon'

BY MATT NORRIS

The Red Chapter of the Plymouth Boosters Club is sponsoring a Lift-A-Thon to raise funds for weight lifting equipment in the Canton gym. Canton athletes are seeking pledges of one cent per pound lifted, and will collect the money after the Lift-A-Thon May 19.

Participants in the contest (organized by Canton head football coach Dave Schuele) will test their strength on the leg press, bench press, and military press. Pledges will be collected based on the total amount of weight lifted in the three exercises.

"We need about $3,000 to fill the place out in addition to what the school purchased," said Schuele. "We want a weight program throughout all season - the equipment would benefit all athletes."

All Canton High School boys are eligible for the Lift-A-Thon and will be placed in one of four (lightweight, middleweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight) categories for competition. Prizes will be awarded to players lifting the most weight in each of the four divisions, as well as a Hustle Award, given to the student that collects the most money. Pledge sheets are available in the Canton General Office.

Salem defeats Canton in link match

BY DONNA LOMAS AND MATT NORRIS

The Salem golfers took the Central Five League win against Canton last Thursday 226, 236, having improved over last season, according to Rock golf coach, Bob Waters "by six, seven even eight strokes," he said.

Top medalist for the day was senior Anne Arthur with a score of 53 for nine holes at the Hilltop Golf Course. JoAnne Szilagyi followed with a score of 55, and Betty Delano came in third with 58. Meg McGee had a score of 60 for the day.

"Canton is very improved," said Waters. The Rocks were supposed to have met Brighton Monday for a match on the Brighton course, but the game was cancelled due to rain. Check The Crier for re-scheduling of the match.

The Canton High girl's golf squad dropped the league match to Salem 236-226.

"We had an interesting match, and we did better than I had anticipated," said coach John Crosson.

Peggy Visser was the top Chief golfer, with a score of 56 for nine holes. Darlene Rodden had a 59, followed by Lynn McAllister and Cathy Andersone with 60 and 61. Four of the eight golfers return to the squad after playing last season. "I didn't know who or what we had until last week," said Crosson.

Crosson feels his team could beat the Rocks later in the season. "They (Salem) got off to a quick start, and they have a slight advantage in experience. But maybe by the end of the season we can square off again", said the Canton coach.

A relentless downpour of rain on Friday and over the weekend has forced the cancellation of many varsity and junior varsity sports activities in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Nine sports events were cancelled Monday due to the rain, including two rescheduled events that had been postponed even earlier this season.

"We are trying to reschedule everything that has been cancelled," said Athletic Director John Sandmann. "The difficult thing is to correlate our schedules with the other school's schedules. The more rain we have, the more it compounds our problems."

Two events have been rescheduled as of The Crier's press time: Salem girls golf, scheduled for Monday at Brighton has been reset for Monday, May 2. The Salem track meet, scheduled for Monday with Belleville was cancelled due to Jeff Mangan's untimely death. The meet has been rescheduled for Tuesday, May 24.

But the sun shone Tuesday, true to form for unpredictable Michigan weather, and all Tuesday events were held as planned.

Rock batters bounce Allen Park, 11-5

BY DONNA LOMAS

A rescheduled league opener with Allen Park was won 11-5 last Thursday by the Salem Rocks baseball team, bringing their league standing up 1-1.

The winning pitcher was Tom Chiatialis, pitching for seven innings. He gave up nine hits, struck out five and walked four batters.

"Allen Park was favored to be one of the Sub-Eight league favorites," said Salem coach Brian Gilles. "We were happy to win—we really needed it, gave us a confidence boost."

Salem was down by two hits in the top of the sixth inning,

Dasher sets a new record for discus

BY DONNA LOMAS

The Salem boys track team took second place in a triangular meet with Northville and Stevenson last week, and lost to Suburban Eight, league team Trenton Thursday, 98-61. In the triangular meet the Rocks scored 51½ points compared to first place Stevenson's 75½.

Salem track coach Gary Balconi was upstaged by the loss. However, for he considered his team performed well and attributed the losses to experimenting in events and the loss of two distance runners.

"We experimenting a lot, finding our strengths in events," he said. "And our depth took a beating in the distance."

Bob Dasher was a double winner in the shot put and discus in the Tuesday triangular meet. In discus he measured 133 feet 6 inches, in shot put won first place with 49'1". Rich Henschew took second place in the long jump with 19'10" and tied for fourth place in the high jump at 5'8".

Mike Stone and Mike Christie were first and second in the high jump with respective heights of 5'10" and 5'8". Stone also took second place in the 330 yard low hurdles with :41.4. Christie took second place in the 120 high hurdles in :15.9.

Scott Kapler won in pole vaulting with 11'6" and Mark Coma took second place with 11'. Tom Covington took fourth place in the 880 yard run and a third and fourth place tie developed on the 100 yard dash as Terry Kachehko placed for Salem with :10.9. Chris Richie took fourth place for the Rocks in the 440 yard dash.

In the one mile event, Walk White ran in for second place with a time of 4:35.3. White doubled in the mile after breaking Salem's outdoor mile record in the two mile event. He placed third in the two miler with a time of 9:56.

At Trenton on Thursday, Salem took third and fourth place in the 220 yard dash, and the 440 relay team won again with a time of :45.4.

Tom Covington took second place in the 440 yard dash with a time of :54.3. The Rocks took second, third and fourth places in the 100 yard dash with a time of :11.1 for Tom Kindree, Kachenko and Basierbe.

Dasher broke his own record in the discus, placing second with 141'2". He also won the shotput Thursday with 48'7".

"We're shooting consistently in the shot put and discus," said Balconi. "We're doing well in long jump and the relay teams are very improved. Our pole vaulters are working very hard and I'm really optimistic."

The Rocks face Suburban Eight Belleville and Dearborn and Edsel Ford this week.

"They're loaded with talent," said Balconi. "But we are working and improving too."

Chief runners triumph in meets

BY MATT NORRIS

Canton High girl's track team logged two wins and one loss in a quadrangular meet at Livonia Stevenson Wednesday. Only two members of each of the four teams were entered in the varsity meet, while a junior varsity meet was also held.

Aquinas High School finished with 82 points in the meet, and Canton scored 46. Bishop Gallagher had 45 points, and Ladywood was last with 42 points.

"I am really pleased that we beat those two teams," said Canton coach Barb Winn.

Jennifer Tregembo, Beth Richardson, Lynne Bigelow and Veronica Gray took the only first place for Canton Wednesday. "The 880 and mile relay teams have a good chance for State competition," said Winn. The mile relay combination of Richardson, Bigelow, Tregembo and Cheryl Coble took second in 4:30.1.

Canton thinclads also placed in the short races, earning seconds in the 100, 220 and 440 yard races. Meaghan Ford dashed to a :12.3 time in the 100, and Gray was second in the 220 in 28.4 seconds.

Tregembo earned second in the 440 in 1:06.6, and Bigelow took second in the 110 low hurdles. Lynn Rudolph hurled the discus to a second place, as did Sue Vitoratos in the shotput.

The Chiefs host Walled Lake Western in their opening league meet tomorrow. Walled Lake Western is the favorite to win the league this year, but Winn said, "We could take second in the league this year if we run well."

The two opening meets for the Salem girls track squad were lost last week to Walled Lake Western and Trenton. The league meet against Trenton was 96-38, and Walled Lake dominated the Rocks, 98½ - 28½.

"We thought Trenton would be easier," said Salem track coach, Scott Kurtz. "Last year we won by 20 points, but they've improved to the point this year where they're favored to win the (Sub-Eight) league meet."

At Walled Lake Tuesday, the Rocks took second and third place in the two mile event, Cheri Levielle coming in second with 14:10 and Jennifer DeVenny with 14:16. Kathy Sample came in third with a time of 2:39 in the 880 run. Julie Prchlik as a double winner in the shotput and discus events. She tied for third place in shotput with 28'5" and placed second in discus with 87'10".

Lisa Morris tied for fourth place in the long jump and Tricia Mullen came in second in the 100 yard dash with a time of :12.5. JoAnn Langkabel placed second in the hurdles with a time of :16.2 and Erin Lucas placed fourth in that event.

In the 440 yard dash and the mile, Salem had two third places Cindi Levielle at :67.8 and Sarah Marks clocking 6:24 respectively.

An "excellent effort" by the 440 relay team earned Salem second place. The Rocks lost by one-tenth of a second in the relay.

Erin Lucas placed second in the high jump with a height of 4'10".

A double win for Prchlik again on Thursday in the shotput and discus, placing first with 28'½" and 81'7½" in the discus.

Erin Lucas won the high jump event with 4'8" and JoAnne Langkabel took a fourth place in the long jump with 14'6".

Salem took a one-two win in the two mile, Cheri Levielle first with a time of 14:24 and DeVenny second with 14:35. A "real good" time of 2:34.8 for Kathy Sample earned her second place in the 880 yard run and Cindi Levielle took third place with 2:48.3.

Cathy Zielek came in third in the 440 yard dash, and tied with Cindi Croce, who placed fourth, with a time of :70.7.

Sarah Marks placed second in the mile run with a time of 6:31, Cindi Levielle took fourth place with 6:49.

"We have a few small injuries but the team is doing a whale of a job," said Kurtz. "We only have 30 kids on the team, so we spread ourselves a little thin when we meet teams like Dearborn with 59 kids. But we are gaining a few more every week, so we're working hard."

Thinclad Barnes is double winner in loss

BY MATT NORRIS

Chief thinclads dropped their opening meet at Thurston last Tuesday, 107-51. Although Canton runners took only four first places Tuesday, there were a few bright spots in the non-league meet.

Senior Steve Barnes was the only Chief to win two races, capturing the 100 and 200 yard sprints. Barnes won the 100 in 10.9 seconds, while winning the 200 in :24.6. Gerard Durocher, one of Canton's top sprinters, was sidelined against Thurston because of a back injury.

Canton won two first places in field events, as William Murphy leapt to a 5'8" first in the high jump, and Scott Gray won the polevault with a vault of 11 feet. Canton also took second and third in the polevault, as Randy Reinas and Dave Tanner posted 9'6" and 9'0" heights.

Canton placed well in the 120 yard high hurdles, as Aaron Tomolak and Bryan Pijanowski were second and third. Murphy took two third places, in the two mile and 440 yard dash. Reinas and co-captain Cliff Norris were second and fourth in the high jump behind Murphy's first. Andy Lewis, a junior, took third place in the shotput with a throw of 40'9".

"Thurston was very similar to our team, but we didn't run very well against them," said coach Mike Spitz. Spitz feels his team will improve during the season, and added, "We will work on some technical stuff after this meet."

Canton will run against Walled Lake Western tomorrow in the opening Western Six conference meet, and will compete against Redford Union next Tuesday.

but after eight scores in the sixth, Allen Park had a lot to worry about.

In the second inning, Salem's Dave Nidzgorski went to first base on an Allen Park error, followed by Chiatialis who singled, and a Mike Stevens single. Bruce Piper then got to first base on another error, scoring Nidzgorski for the Rocks first run.

Then Dave Wilcox singled to first and Joe Goodsir walked, bringing in two more runs, Chiatialis and Stevens in the second inning.

The Tigers hit three in the fourth inning and scored a hit in the fifth - but then in the sixth Salem started to warm up, taking advantage of several Allen Park errors.

Starting out the slugfest, in the sixth, Stevens took first base on a walk and Piper followed on fielder's choice. Bradburn popped up to the Tiger shortstop and went out. Dave Wilcox walked to first, followed by Joe Goodsir. Bases were loaded, with two men out.

Bob Smith singled, and brought Piper in for a score, 5-4.

Bruce Gerish then hit a grand slam home run and brought in four runs. Then Nidzgorski hit a home run right after Gerish followed by a homer for Chiatialis as well.

Stevens then walked to first and scored on an error by the Allen Park team.

Allen Park scored only one hit in the sixth inning, and lost the contest 11-5.

"We're really happy to knock them off," said Gilles. "I hope this turns things around for us."

Slugfest in third sparks Rock victory

BY MATT NORRIS

Rock softball squad defeated Suburban Eight opponent Allen Park Thursday, 7-4. A five-run third inning sparked the victory, the second this season, against no losses. The game had been rescheduled due to bad weather earlier in the season.

Salem's five runs in the third provided the winning margin, as all nine Rock batters reached the plate. Nan Horwood led off the stanza with a single, and after Peggy Moore flied out to centerfield, sophomore Becky Crespo singled, sending Horwood to third. Both runners advanced on Cindy Cindrich's RBI sacrifice bunt.

Kathy Lehmann was safe on an error, and Donna Goodrich singled to score Crespo. Outfielder Doris Hoelscher knocked in Lehmann and Goodrich with a double, and scored the fifth run of the inning on Sue McDowell's single.

Salem scored single runs in each of the first two innings. Horwood reached base on an error in the first inning, and stole second base. With two outs, Crespo also got on base by an Allen Park error, scoring Horwood. Poor fielding again led to a Salem run in the second inning, as Lynne Stone and Hoelscher were safe on errors. Stone injured her leg stealing second base, and was replaced by Goodrich as a pinchrunner.

Sophomore pitcher Jan Boyd picked up the win Thursday, aided by Debbie Pitera pitching in relief. Pitera hurled the last three innings.

The Rocks are now 2-0 in the league (not including yesterday's game against Trenton), tied with Edsel Ford, Dearborn and Trenton. Allen Park slipped to 0-2 after the loss. Salem plays another rescheduled game at Redford Union today, and will play host to Edsel Ford Friday afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

Local residents form EMU Hall of Fame

BY DONNA LOMAS

Two Plymouth residents decided four years ago to give something back to the university that had given them a chance to excel in their chosen sports - and they did it by honoring past athletes of the university.

Glenn Davis and Bill Rowland Class of '55 at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, organized the E-Club, a group of former varsity letterwinners in all sports from EMU.

The E-Club wanted to honor excellence in athletics at EMU - not only athletes from all sports, but administrators, coaches and teachers in sports as well.

Davis, a former track letterwinner at Eastern, says the Hall of Fame at Eastern got started because the Eastern Alumnae had always had a strong track alumnus - and the Hall of Fame idea grew from that.

"They wanted to contribute something back to the university in a special way," he said.

"So we contacted some people and we got going."

This is the second year the selection committee, of which Davis is chairman, is accepting applications for the Hall of Fame honor. They will select eight candidates from over 80 applications.

"We have 43 firm nominations," Davis said. "We are seriously considering those that made contributions after their graduation. Most nominees are 'old-timers' from the '20's, '30's."

JV triumphs

The Salem junior varsity baseball team won its first league game last Tuesday against Belleville, 18-7.

The Rocks were ahead 6-0 going into the third inning with John Hoelzer pitching. Relief pitcher Barry Owens came in after the Tigers scored a run.

The Rocks came back in the bottom of the third, with five runs, putting the score at 11-7. Pitcher Owens got the win.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Thursday, May 5, 1977, at 7:30 p.m. a public hearing will be held to consider the following:
APPEAL CASE NO. 77-4 DAVID J. THOMPSON 280 Lindsay Drive Plymouth, Michigan 48170, requesting permission to construct a 24 ft x 36 ft. garage at above address, located in a R-1 (Single Family Residential District), which is in conflict with Section 5.194(3) of Article XV, Chapter 52, Zoning, of the Plymouth City Code.

Section 5.194(3) provides that an accessory building may occupy not more than twenty-five (25) percent of a required yard, plus twenty percent (20%) of any non-required rear yard, provided that in no instance shall the accessory building exceed one-half (1/2) the ground floor area of the main building, except an accessory building can be constructed which exceeds these standards where it is intended to serve as a two car garage or carport. However, where the area of such a structure would exceed the above standards, its floor area shall not exceed 528 square feet and, provided further, that it shall not occupy more than forty (40) percent of the combined required and non-required rear yard of the residential lot. All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of said hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals prior to rendering its decision.
