Milliken to march in Fourth parade

As far as July Fourth celebrations go, last year's Bicentennial may be a hard act to follow.

But this year, Gov. William Milliken will walk in Plymouth's parade, as well as former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Throw in the VFW's barbeque, the fireworks, and a five-mile foot race, and it looks like a very good day.

Darryl Dooley, parade chairman for the Plymouth Jaycees said the parade will start at 12:30 on Monday, the Fourth, at the corner of Main and Theodore Sts.

It will continue on Main past Kellogg Park to Hart-sough where it will turn left and end at East Middle School.

Propane tanker explodes

A FARMINGTON MAN, the driver of this Northwest Propane Co. tanker truck, received third degree burns over 25 per cent of his body when his truck exploded in front of the Six Park Party Store, 17071 Northville Rd. Tuesday morning. The resulting explosions and fire destroyed the store and took Northville, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and other fire departments most of the day to extinguish. Gordon Hill, 20, the truck driver, was treated at University Hospital in Ann Arbor where he was taken by City of Plymouth Rescue Squad. The seven persons in the store and the apartment above it escaped injury. Northville Township Police said at press time that a cause had not officially been determined, but Hill told Plymouth firemen he believed a release valve on the tanker had burst. (Crier photo by W. Recall moves to county

BY CHAS CHILD.

The Canton recall took yet another step on schedule Friday when the petitions asking for an election to remove Supervisor Harold Stein's slate from office were filed with the Wayne County Election Commission.

The recall is now temporarily out of the hands of the local residents and the next steps are up to the county bureaucracy.

The election commission has 15 days to validate the signatures. If they are validated, by the commission, (and it seems likely because the staff of Canton Clerk John Flodin has already checked them), the commission will set the date of the election within 60 days.

Orville Tungate of the commission said they will probably use the full 15 days to validate the signatures.

The election will probably be near the end of the 60 day period, Tungate said, setting the election around September 1.

Should there not be enough signatures, the recallers receive an extra ten days to collect more. So conceivably the election could be later than September 1.

Tungate also said the commission would try to set the election on a Saturday because there seems to be a higher turnout on that weekend day.

"It's a relief to be done," said Peter Gabbert, chairman of the Stein recall drive. He said he was now beginning to plan a good-sized campaign for the recall election.

"We plan to have bumper stickers, lawn signs and a basic leaflet for the campaign," Gabbert said.

Lynn LaBell, the leader of the Daley and Bradley recall, handed in her petitions after a crash effort by Flodin's office to finish checking her signatures.

The rush job by the clerk's office enabled all three petitions to be handed in Friday, making one election for all three possible.

Gabbert handed in 1,280 signatures for Stein's recall. LaBell filed 1,537 for Bradley and 1,525 for Daley.

School board to elect new president

There will be a new president Friday. School Board that is.

The new president will be elected Friday from among the Plymouth-Canton school board members, which now includes newly-elected trustee, Stephen Harper, who is replacing out-going vice-president Dr. E. J. McClendon.

The annual Plymouth-Canton School Board organizational meeting will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Canton Cafeteria at Canton High School.

"It could be a surprise," said Ray Hoedel, Assistant Superintendent for Business.

Other items include allocating attorney duties for the schools, deciding on a legal newspaper and bank accounts.

The future meeting place of the school board meetings, will also be discussed, said Hoedel.

"We may be seriously considering moving the school board meetings from the cafetorium to the school board offices," he said.

"We'd like to try it, people would hear better and it would work out great except in extreme cases when there's a 'hot' subject on the agenda."

Hoedel said 50 to 60 chairs could be put in the offices upstairs, theater style, plus a table for board members.

To mark B&O 150th birthday Passenger trains to steam through town again

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

The golden age of steam railroads will return to Plymouth beginning July 9, when an old steam-powered train makes the first of eight stops in Plymouth.

The stops are part of a series of one-day tours being presented by the Chessie System in honor of the 150th anniversary of the Baltimore and Ohio (B&O) railroad.

The 809,000 pound engine, known as Engine No. 2101 is the same machine which powered the Freedom Train during last year's Bicentennial celebrations.

"We're particularly interested to see it in the area because its been 30 years since we've seen any kind of steam action on the railroad," said Fred Beitner of Plymouth, a member of the Michigan Railroad Club, that is co-sponsor of the sesquicentennial event.

The arrival of the train could make Plymouth a mecca for railroad buffs from all over the country, said Beitner.

"On these tours we expect to have people from all over the country," said Beitner. "It's not uncommon to have people from New York, Illinois, Canada, and as far away as Texas.

"Plymouth is sort of a rail center for the whole of southeastern Michigan and whenever there's any special activity on the railroad, we draw rail buffs from all over."

The engine is an example of the kind of rail travel that was most popular in the 1920's said Beitner.

"This really reached its peak back in the 1920's," said Beitner. "Schedules were fast and frequent. Service was good with porters and red caps. There was sparkling dinnerware and white napkins and all the time in the world to get where you were going."

Nostalgia, Beitner feels, is the main appeal behind the train.

"It's really an exciting piece of Americana and nostalgia that youngsters should see and hear," said Beitner. "And, there are many of us who have passed the youngster stage who still have a youngster's fascination with railroads."

The first local tour begins Sat. July 9 and takes passengers through the countryside around Grand Ledge.

The train will leave Detroit at 8:30 a.m., arrive in Plymouth at 8:50 a.m., leave Lansing at 11:55 a.m., arrive in Grand Ledge at 12:25 p.m., leave Grand Ledge at 2:55 p.m., arrive in Lansing at 3:20 p.m., and in Plymouth at 5:30 p.m.

On Sun. July 10, a second tour will go to Saginaw. It will leave Plymouth at 8:50 a.m., arrive in Clio at 11:15 a.m., arrive in Hoyt at 11:55 a.m., leave Hoyt at 12:35 p.m., arrive in Clio at 1 p.m., leave Clio at 3 p.m., and arrive in Plymouth at 4:15 p.m.

A third tour Sat. July 16, will have the same schedule as the July 10 tour.

The final tour on Sunday, July 17, involves a one-way ferry trip to Grand Rapids. The train will leave Plymouth at 11:50 a.m., leave Lansing at 3 p.m., and arrive in Grand Rapids at 4:45 p.m. A charter bus will return passengers to Plymouth.

Fares for all four tours are $20 for adults; $18 for children. A parlor or observation car will be available on all trips for $50.

Tickets can be purchased locally at Beitner Jewelry, 904 West Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

A RIDE INTO A RAILROADS' PAST will be available next month when the Chessie System presents a series of steam engine tours in honor of the 150th anniversary of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The engine will make several stops in Plymouth. (Photo courtesy of Fred Beitner).

Buikema supports splitting the CEP band

A proposed music program for the 1977-78 school year at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) would create two bands at the concert and varsity levels, pep bands for half the home basketball games and provide for the hiring of an Associate Director. In a memo to John Hoben, Plymouth-Canton School Superintendent, Canton Principal Kent Buikema outlined his suggestions.

The modified proposal followed submission of a rough draft in March and subsequent discussions with Band Leader James Griffith, Salem Principal Bill Brown, administrator

Norm Kee, Supt. Hoben, and Music Area Coordinator Fred Meier.

The new program suggests that the CEP Symphony Band remain under the sole direction of director Griffith, but that an Associate Director be hired for the CEP Marching Band, to co-direct with Griffith.

The Canton and Salem Concert Bands would also be under the co-direction of Griffith and the new hire, thus creating separate bands at the concert and varsity level.

Other suggestions were that the marching bands perform at all home football games and that Orchestra Director at Salem, Michael Andres, be released half-time to work at the middle schools with strings.

Buikema said that the basic band arrangement would be the same.

"Separate marching bands would be created in such a way to enable them to perform singly (for each high school) and as a unit representing CEP," Buikema said.

The memo also mentioned the necessity of investing "added dollars" for additional uniforms and overlays for Canton, and also for added "color" instruments.

Board OK's parking space

BY DONNA LOMAS

Approval for the purchase of property adjacent to the Plymouth-Canton School District Administrative offices for possible parking or building use was approved by the school board Monday.

The board unanimously voted to approve the purchase of a house and property on 1040 Maple Street for the amount of $27,000. Member George Lawton was not present at the meeting.

Trustee Tom Yack asked how much it would cost to demolish the existing house on the property and what the long-term uses for the parcel would be.

"The figures are not available (for demolishing)," said Assistant Superintendent Ray Hoedel. "We might want to renovate the existing building without destroying it if possible. Or we would add 10 to 12 parking spaces."

"We are as guilty of parking lot jumping as anyone," Yack said. "But if we do put them n, how much will it cost?"

Flossie Tonda said the need for parking spaces was "critical."

"With the new shopping mall going in across the street," she said, "we can't use that if we have to anymore - and we are jeopardizing the safety of cars in the (administration) lot."

Vice-President McClendon pointed out that with the addition of the new shopping mall, the school lot would be used more also.

"They'll be parking over here more if those spaces fill up," he said.

"My real concern is that the site is going to leave a lot to be desired," Yack said. "I can see the short term benefit, but what long term?"

"Our long-term is to provide additional parking," said Hoedel.

DPW loses tree

Person or persons unknown have stolen a tree from the DPW yard "sometime during the night," report Plymouth police.

Tim Roache, a city employe, reported to police that last Monday that a tree had been stolen from 356 N. Evergreen Blvd.

Police report that the tree, which was planted and staked in the boulevard at the above address, was taken sometime during the night with a shovel.

The alleged tree thieves left a 2x2x1 foot hole at the scene, police report, and a tennis shoe type footprint around it.

The tree was valued at $50.

Canton planners urge land rights study

BY CHAS CHILD

Canton's Planning Commission unanimously urged the board of trustees to commission the township planner to study the cost of buying development rights of open and farm land in the township.

As proposed by George Peck, township planner, the study would compare the cost of buying the development rights with the cost of providing services to the open land if it were developed.

If a landowner sold his development rights to the township, he would still own it. He just couldn't sell it to a developer.

Peck proposed the $40,000 study at a township board meeting June 7. The board tabled it at that meeting and again June 14.

The Crier surveyed the board members Friday and it seems likely, according to their response, that the study will be approved.

In its resolution passed last Monday, the planning commission said the study should be undertaken because both the commission and the board of trustees "have committed themselves to the preservation of agricultural land within the township."

Also, the Growth Management and Land Use Study Committees support such preservation, and "the acquisition of development rights appears to be the most feasible technique for such preservation," the commission said.

Finally, the commission said it is "imperative that a professional and in-depth study of cost factors and ramifications of such acquisition be made as expeditiously as possible."

Canton barbeque includes Kid's games

Mom can get relief from slaving over a hot oven Sunday, July 17, when the Canton Chamber of Commerce presents their Second Annual Chicken Barbecue at noon on the Canton Recreation site on Canton Center Road, north of Cherry Hill Road.

Highlights of the fest include an all-star football game and program of games for the kids.

The chicken dinner includes half a chicken, an ear of corn, cole slaw, a roll and butter, and a beverage. Beer will be sold at a separate stand and plans are underway for an ice cream stand. The cost for the dinner is $3.

Serving begins at noon and ends at 5 p.m. Carry-outs are available for those who would rather take their meal home.

Tickets can be purchased at the Canton Chamber of Commerce, from Chamber members, or at the gate at the Rec. site.

AAA says light is hazardous

BY CHAS. CHILD

A traffic light at Sheldon and Hartsough in Plymouth, originally installed to protect school children, has turned into a safety hazard instead, a traffic engineer for the American Automobile Association (AAA) said.

"The light is not a safety device," Bob DeCorte of AAA said. "Before the light was installed there was only one traffic accident and no pedestrian mishaps. Since its installation, there have been four traffic accidents."

He said that the Plymouth-Canton School District's Safety Committee pressured the Wayne County Road Commission for a light after a traffic accident at the intersection in January, 1974. He said it was installed Nov. 22, 1974.

But traffic lights, contrary to common belief, don't always reduce the accident rate, DeCorte said.

"A light there is unwarranted," he said. "The intersection did not meet the criteria, such as volume of traffic and accidents, to justify a light."

"The members of the schools' safety committee are concerned parents, but they're just not qualified to make traffic decisions," DeCorte said. "Yet they pressured the road commission to install the light."

Johnie Belcher, chairman of the school's safety committee, said, "It would be a disaster to take the light down. We feel the AAA is car oriented. You can repair a car, but you can't repair a child."

She also disputed the AAA's accident figures. "Our figures from (Plymouth Police) Chief Ford show there were six accidents in '73 and three in '74."

The accident figures were unavailable from Ford's office on Monday.

"Before the light went up, the students had to wait up to 20 minutes to get across," Belcher said. "Also, if you took the light down, we couldn't get a crossing guard to work there anymore."

No one was seriously hurt in the four accidents after the light was installed, DeCorte said, "but two of them were caused directly by the light and two indirectly."

The light operates from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. and DeCorte said all four accidents occurred during this time. "No alcohol was involved in any of the four," he added.

A TRAFFIC ENGINEER for AAA claims the light at this intersection at Sheldon and Hartsough is a safety hazard. (Crier photo by Brian Watkins.)

Stein gets funding ideas in D.C. junket

Canton Supervisor Harold Stein said he received some very good ideas on how to procure federal funds after he, three other members of the township board, and the assistant treasurer spent two days at a conference on municipal affairs in Washington, D.C.

He said the police central dispatch system which Belleville, Sumpter, Huron, Van Buren and Canton townships have applied for, is a good basis for region-wide funding from the federal government.

Those who went to Washington were: Stein and his wife; Treasurer Anne Bradley and her husband; Assistant Treasurer Mike Gorman and his wife; Trustee Brian Schwall and his wife; and Trustee Lynne Goldsmith and Kathy Prince.

The township only paid for the township employes, however: Stein, Gorman, Schwall, Goldsmith and Bradley. Their air fare, $35 registration fee, $20 per day expenses and $40 hotel rooms were paid for by the taxpayers.

"Aside from our better understanding of how to get federal funds," Stein said, "we also made some very valuable contacts with federal officials."

Stein said he also investigated funding for commercial and business development to widen the township's tax base.

CEP seniors get credit change

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

A change in the credit requirements for incoming high school seniors was one of the items announced when school administrators and school board members met for a school workshop last Tuesday night.

This September all seniors will be required to have 12 credits prior to starting their senior year.

"What we're trying to do is prevent a load-up of classes at the end of high school," said Salem High School principal Bill Brown.

School administrators and board members have also discussed the possibility of raising the requirements in some subject areas.

"There has been a discussion of requirements," said

Brown. "For example, a year of science might be required, a fourth year of English might be added."

"Presently, we're requiring seven-and-a-half required courses out of the 20 credits needed to graduate. The question is, 'Do we raise that? But nothing has been decided,'" Brown said.

Canton recall is political blackmail

So now the poor losers in last fall's Canton election are not satisfied with just trying to recall Supervisor Harold Stein. They want the other two members of his slate: Treasurer Anne Bradley and Trustee Eugene Daley.

The charges against Bradley and Daley are pure political rhetoric. But not even good rhetoric. They're puff.

Stein's opponents are badly abusing the intent of the recall law. They're using it as a threat. Recall should only be used when a crime has been committed, not as a form of political blackmail.

If President Jimmy Carter was threatened with impeachment everytime he made a controversial decision, the democratic process in Washington would grind to a halt.

The situation is no different in Canton. Political grievances should be settled by co-operation and compromise. Instead, the recallers have abandoned these for the close-minded thrills of name calling and mud-slinging.

Stein's faction has not exactly been immune to these temptations, either, and both sides should be dripping with mud by the time the almost-certain recall election arrives.

So as two more names are added to the recall ballot, Canton moves closer to its description by a local political wag: The township that is not quite ready for self-government.

CHAS. CHILD

Crier reporting 'glib, uninformed'

EDITOR:

Your editorial "School Voters Have Short Memory" (June 22,) certainly reflects the provincialism that apparently kept many voters from the polls June 13.

You say "Granted, there wasn't a millage on the ballot last week. . . ." That's exactly how most Plymouth voters must have felt, too. For the Schoolcraft College millage didn't have them running their legs off to the polls, under the threat of having their children at home for half days.

In an editorial before the election, you give grudging support to the Schoolcraft College millage, making a point of its dropping enrollment and lack of programs to suit current needs. Before you relegate Schoolcraft College to the Dark Ages, why not check on enrollment trends in all colleges and universities, and why not elaborate on Schoolcraft College's lack of current programs.

I am sure that the students, faculty, administration, and consultants of Schoolcraft College would welcome your insights regarding needs that they continually study and attempt to provide for.

Forgive me if I cannot take your paper too seriously in view of your glib and often uninformed reporting and editorializing.

JOANNE STEIN

Stein deserves to serve

EDITOR:

In answer to Mrs. Martha E. Miller's letter in The Crier of June 15.

I'm sorry Mrs. Miller, but you aren't getting the point of my letters. Once more, I am not supporting Supervisor Stein per se - I am supporting the right of a man to serve out the term he was legally elected by voters to serve.

Valid reasons for the Canton recall movement are very hard to find. I guess the recall centers around the Reserve Police issue, Controlled land growth, and so-called 'secret-meetings'.

Where all the people that signed the recall petitions got their information is beyond me.

If these are the issues then this is how I see them.

Police Reserves. . . Residents I know are very pleased with the work of our Police Reserves. They are making themselves very visible and what better crime deterrent can any community have than police visibility. And Lord knows we are certainly getting our money's worth and more.

Controlled land growth. . . Advocates of this plan seem to have the situation under control with just about everyone either conducting a feasibility study or belonging to a committee gathered for the purpose of offering advice.

I'm most anxious to see how the Land Use Plan Committee's recommendations are carried out.

I note in the June 8th issue of The Crier that it was agreed to 'estimate exactly' how much the development rights program would cost. That makes about as much sense as thinking the government - even the township government - can dictate what a citizen can do with his land.

Just recently the Supreme Court ruled that property owners could not be prevented by local governments from placing 'For Sale' signs on their property. And Canton is going to purchase 'development rights'! In no way! But it looks like it will cost us a great deal in tax money before we learn the facts of life.

Secret Meetings. . . Supervisor Stein may have spoken with the Trustees or even to members of the Planning Commission outside the Board Room. So what? Is there anyone in Canton that is so naive as to believe this isn't done in every government level?

It is actually a necessity to conduct government business on a day-to-day basis. It permits brevity, organization, compromise, etc., etc.

Mrs. Miller, what are the real reasons behind the recall drive?

Recall is unfair to voters

EDITOR:

The leader of the Stein recall stated on TV news last week that they wanted a recall for Supervisor Stein because only 35 per cent of the people voted.

If the other 65 per cent didn't vote that is their mistake. If one doesn't vote on election day, he shall not complain.

If there is a re-election how would it be to have the people who signed the recall petitions to pay for it? That would be fair.

The people who worked so hard on getting recall signatures should work that hard helping the officials after they are elected.

Give them your support for their elected term.

MRS. ARNOLD HEIDT

School leadership bright after Gray past

Regardless of who is elected next president of the Plymouth-Canton School Board at the organizational meeting Friday, it's got to be an improvement over this past year's lackluster helmsmanship of Joe Gray.

Gray, it is said, is hoping to be re-elected to his post. In fact, he would be lucky to get one vote - unless someone reminds him where the meeting is being held and how to vote "Me".

With Steve Harper's election to replace E. J. McClendon on the board, it is unlikely Gray can muster enough support to be president again. The crucial vote behind him last time was McClendon - who let his dislike of Board Member Marcia Borowski stand in the way of reason and sanity.

Borowski could be the next president. She'd surely get Lawton's support and possibly votes from Harper and Board Member Tom Yack. With her own vote - that's four and enough to win the chair.

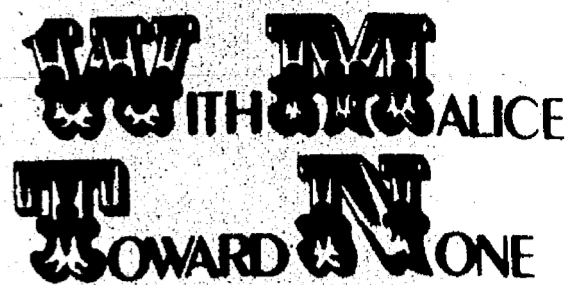

Possibly, with the same coalition, Lawton, Yack or Harper could also get the tap.

The conservative side of the board - Gray, Dick Arlen and Flossie Tonda - could hold together three votes but it probably is the most they could manage unless the quietly-simmering Lawton-Yack conflict bears a defector.

In the event a so-called liberal on the board defects, either Arlen or Tonda could take over the presidency.

But even in the case of a swing vote, it's not likely, (after a year of being unprepared for meetings, losing track of motions on the floor, interfering with schools administration when it came to pet projects like sports), that Gray will get anybody's vote.

While Gray may represent a large portion of the district's voters well, he was simply in over his head as number one on the board. Surely, by now, even his conservative cohorts realize Gray's lucky to even find the board meetings.

Letter writer misleading on dog shooting

EDITOR:

The continuing letters about the police shooting the dog have gone completely beyond reason, but the last letter from Donna Chalfonte is unwarranted, and certainly shows the level of her own intelligence if she must call names like some child.

First, none of your letter writers took the time to contact the police department and inquire if the story about the shooting was correct as stated. (It was not!) The Crier newspaper didn't even attempt to correct the story although they had access to the correct information at the police dept. The dog did not die at Smith School.

Second, Mrs. Kistler is correct when she states, as she did, "it doesn't matter whether a dog is shot by a police officer or hit by a car and left injured." It is still in pain and can become more dangerous.

Animal lovers, as the letter writers called themselves, should be aware that stray dogs, even licensed dogs running loose are against the law, and can be picked up and taken to the dog pound, if they aren't hit by a car first, or abused by a cruel human being or caught in an animal trap or some other small opening they can not extricate themselves from. A real animal lover would not allow their valued pets to run loose to face such dangers.

Also, as Ms. Kistler stated, many dogs will attack a person who is visibly frightened of them, even though their owners profess their dogs wouldn't hurt a fly.

Lastly, I challenge Ms. Chalfonte to take an injured dog or a vicious one to the Humane Society, if she can get close enough to pick it up and put it in her car, then write again about how welcome they are and what first request the Humane Society makes of her.

Of course, she first must make sure it is during their regular hours, (there isn't even a vet in the Plymouth area you can call to care for an injured pet after hours.) The first request the Humane Society will make is for a fee, never mind your protest that it isn't your dog (or cat, etc.)

An innocent Mrs. Kistler also reportedly received some very obscene and vicious phone calls from animal lovers who didn't even take the time to find out if she was the correct letter writer.

Please, Editor, run the true story and calm these overwrought animal lovers before one does go shoot the innocent Mrs. Kistler's daughter as one threatened to do via the anonymity of the telephone.

Thank You.

S. WHITLEY

P.S. Have any of you animal lovers ever seen the loop used by dog catchers to subdue a dog?

Put people, homes, property, before pets

Strays - strays - strays. Dogs, cats and whatever else.

It's time to bring the discussion to a halt - but first, my two cents worth.

Don't you honestly feel that if more people would keep their pets at home in their own yard where they belong we wouldn't have to worry about animals being run over or shot by the police? (As recently happened here in Plymouth.)

I cannot understand why someone would own a dog or cat and allow them to roam the streets any more than they would permit their children to - (some do, I realize). I like dogs and cats but choose not to have one. Yet I find myself cleaning up my yard week after week because someone's pet has done his "duty" to pollute my environment.

The morning after trash pickup is a sight to behold! My yard looks like the city dump! Cans knocked over - trash dragged about and animals having a field day with my garbage.

If they are poisoned as a result (accidentally or otherwise) our "humane animal lovers" are up in arms readily pointing fingers in every direction and, of course, not seeing the whole picture.

It also angers me when my children are playing in their own yard with the gate closed and locked, only to check on them and find someone's "pet" in the yard with them.

Our "humane animal lovers" shout cruelty to animals if we fight back. I protest the cruelty to my children, my yard, my home and myself - we do come first - not your pet.

When you see someone out "exercising" their lovable little pooch, what else do you see? That pet polluting his way from yard to yard while the owner gazes at the sky as if he never noticed what was going on. I'm for homeowners getting some humane treatment when they get fed up with this kind of disgusting habit.

Perhaps the biggest mistake the police made recently in Plymouth - was in not making a "clean kill". Failing that, they should have followed the animal and either captured it or kept a close watch on it until it could be picked up.

Humane treatment? Sure, I'm all for it. But the accidents caused by wandering pets, the malicious destruction of property (wasn't it a pack of dogs that some thought killed farm animals recently in Canton? They had to have been a "pet" to someone at some time) and the many other "crimes" committed by defenseless animals is less than humane!

Poor defenseless animals? He has better defenses than you and I. You don't see him worried about someone biting his children - or polluting his yard - or causing him auto accidents - or keeping him up all night with their howling and barking. Defenseless? I think not.

I think too many put "pets" in the wrong perspective: People - their safety, children, homes, property and peace of mind come first - pets come somewhere near the bottom of that list.

Glimpse at yesterday

THIS BRIDGE, pictured in The Crier a few issues ago, brought some response from Plymouth-Canton residents who have been around long enough to remember where it may have been and what it was used for.

Frank Konazeski, of Blunk St., in Plymouth, who came to the community in 1923 at the age of 3, says he is "pretty sure" the bridge went over what is now Wilcox or Phoenix Lake, since the original stream was rerouted some years later.

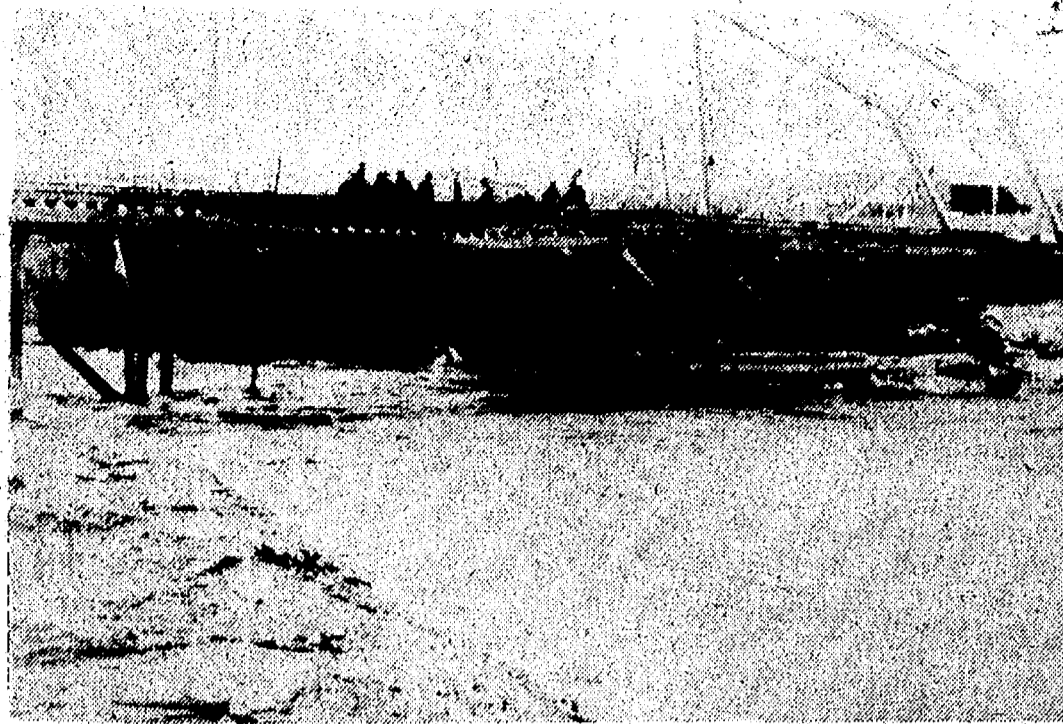

It was a trestle of a train that came from Detroit, he said, and went all the way to Ypsilanti, passing through the Plymouth area at the Cavalcade Bar (the old Thunderbird Inn, now the Plymouth Hilton Inn).

Another Plymouth resident, Gladys Sutton who was born on York Street and went to old Plymouth High School (now Central Middle School) in 1914 says she remembers it - it was a streetcar that went across the bridge when she was a little girl. "The bridge went uptown, and went over the river that went through Northville," she said.

"But they re-routed the river," she said, "It was a branch of the Rouge and it went from Northville to Plymouth.

"Every spring I had such a hard time getting my pony to go across over the washout - it was so deep. Two or three streams came together when the river was re-routed."

Can anyone else remember the river's name or where the bridge was located?

School board could draw pay under new law

BY DONNA LOMAS

Plymouth-Canton school board members may now pay themselves up to $30 per meeting as a result of a recent legislative amendment in the Michigan school code.

The Michigan State Legislature recently amended the school code so that members of the local school board can now earn pay while they attend board meetings. The legislation is effective today (Wednesday).

Trustee Marcia Borowski brought the matter up before the school board at Monday's meeting, saying she would "strongly endorse" the item when it appears on the agenda.

"The time, the money for babysitters, the transportation costs, all these factors are in my decision to vote 'yes' on this," she said.

"I predicted for years that the day I went off the board some such thing as this would happen," said out-going board vice-president Dr. E. J. McClelland.

School board members currently divide $2,000 annually among themselves.

NBD gets schools tax note bid

A Tax Note Bid was awarded to National Bank of Detroit, the lowest bidder, for the tax anticipation notes of the Plymouth-Canton School District.

The tax note, for the sum of $7,500,000 is to be used against the operating portion of the school tax. It was awarded to NBD, who presented a bid of $7,500,000 with an interest rate of 3.22 per cent.

The total interest on the tax note totaled $181,124.99, less a premium of $25, bringing the total dollar cost of the interest to $181,099.99.

The awarding of the bid to NBD was unanimous, Trustee George Lawton was not present.

Grieves sums up 26 years of teaching the Crier's friends & neighbors

LOREN GRIEVES

BY DAWN M. BOEGLER
For someone who has taught 26½ years in the Plymouth-Canton school system, you'd think that would be career enough. But for Loren Grieves, recently retired teacher here, teaching was his second career.

"Twenty-six and one-half years," said Loren Grieves, "That's how long I've been teaching in the Plymouth-Canton School District."

Grieves, a math teacher at Centennial Educational Park, is retiring from the Plymouth-Canton schools - his second career - with the end of this school year.

The son of an Army Officer, travel has always been part of his life. Grieves also joined the Army, went to West Point, graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1939 with a Bachelor of Science degree and went on to second lieutenant status.

"I had planned to get out of the service after I graduated but was side-tracked by World War II."

Grieves retired from the Army - his first career - in 1948 after receiving an injury in the war. He went on to his "second career" shortly thereafter.

"I went to the University of Michigan and received my Masters and began teaching in Plymouth in 1951, and I have been here ever since."

When Grieves joined the Plymouth-Canton schools the district had two elementary schools - with a third just being built - and the junior and senior high schools were both housed in the Central School Building.

"Things have changed a great deal since then," said Grieves. "Now we cover a good deal of area and offer a great deal more to the kids."

In discussing the changes he has experienced over the years, Grieves said the biggest change was, of course, growth. "We've been growing at a fantastic rate and I don't think it'll be slowing down for awhile."

The problem with growth, said Grieves, is the loss of closeness and this loss extends even between the school district personnel.

"It used to be that I knew every teacher, administrator and school board member personally."

"But now," he said, "it's hard to even know all the teachers in your own school building these days."

Kids haven't changed all that much over the years said Grieves. "You still have your kids who do a bang-up great job, and the ones who don't," he said. "It does seem that the latter are growing in number in the past few years."

In comparing Centennial Educational Park to what he knew when his teaching days first began, Grieves said he thought modular scheduling was excellent as long as students were mature enough to handle it.

"As with any fairly new concept," said Grieves, "it will take a while to work out all the bugs but with the cooperation of everyone," (he stressed everyone), "all should work out very well."

Grieves is impressed with the progress in education over the years, especially in the new and different offerings available to kids these days.

"We offer them a lot more," he said, "and the offering is excellent."

After 26½ years as teacher - including being the last president of the Plymouth Teachers Association in 1953 (in 1954 it became part of Michigan Education Association [MEA] and later the Plymouth Education Association [PEA]) and chairman of the Math Department - retirement is eagerly anticipated by Grieves and his wife, Isabelle.

"There are several places in the states that Isabelle hasn't seen yet and we'll take in the sights," said Grieves. "And there's the children - Bruce here in Plymouth and Tom back East."

And the old faithful retirement standby - getting to things long put off. "I've been putting off at least a 1001 things all these years, and now I'll have time to get to them."

What is all the traffic in the middle of a residential street at 10 a.m. on a Thursday morning? It's not very likely to be a party at that hour and now that the kids are out of school, it's probably not a morning bridge group. It's a garage sale!

America's economy is built on the wheelings and dealings of garage sales - or at least some people seem to think so!

You can easily spot the avid garage sale shoppers - they're the people who stop by on Wednesday for a sale that is starting on Thursday. They are also the shoppers who offer ten-cents less than the asking price of an article.

The real mystery of going to a garage sale is just trying to get to it.

"Ah, there's the sign," and you slam on your brakes causing three cars behind you to do the same.

You have to block traffic for five minutes trying to read the address on the weather-beaten sign.

Finally you know that you're on the right street because cars are parked on both sides of a no-parking area and you have to wait for the lady whose car door is open as she tries to put a bike, lawn mower and rocking car in the back seat of a very small sports car.

I have one favor to ask of those people who are having a garage sale. When the sale is over please take down the signs. It is frustrating to be hot on the garage-sale-trail, following the signs only to find out that the sale ended last week.

The new feature for this year's Antique Mart is the appraiser, Rae Choma. Old favorites, the Candlemaker and the Weaver will be back, along with other well known dealers and some who will be new to the Plymouth show.

She is working for General Motors during the summer on a scholarship program.

Employees and their spouses of Ford Motor Company were featured in an art show held recently at Ford's World Headquarters. Three Cities Art Club members who entered the show were Audrey Paul who entered in oils and Walter Bone who entered in sculpture. Board ponders random selection

BY DONNA LOMAS

A proposed random selection process for attendance at Plymouth Canton high schools was discussed by board members Monday night.

Trustee Tom Yack added the item to the agenda under old business and directed questions to administrators and David Rodwell, a consultant for the school district.

The random selection process is a process to qualize enrollment between the Canton and Salem high schools (Centennial Educational Park) - and school officials say it is the easiest and fairest way to insure proper number and sex balance, as well as keeping a family together in school attendance.

Yack voiced concern over keeping neighborhoods together through the proposed process.

"What about large neighborhoods staying together," he asked. "I know it was a concern before - can it be done now?"

"If you want the neighborhood, you have to decide how big the neighborhood should be," said Rodwell.

"We have the balanced economic base, a balanced growth rate - if we could get the third - keep the neighborhoods together," Yack said.

Trustee Marcia Borowski and Flossie Tonda said they were satisfied with the proposed process.

The board passed a resolution in February that a random selection process be established, that would allow for a number and sex balance in the high schools. Families can stay together under the proposed process.

The process has already started with eight new students. The process is only for incoming students of the district, as of now only high school students randomly select a school. Should the proposal go through, the process would begin with eighth graders, who would know in the first week which high school they will attend.

No official action was taken by the board.

DICK STISKO (CALL NO. WA8WMT) of the American Radio Relay League calls radio operators in places as far away as North Lake, Texas with his rig.

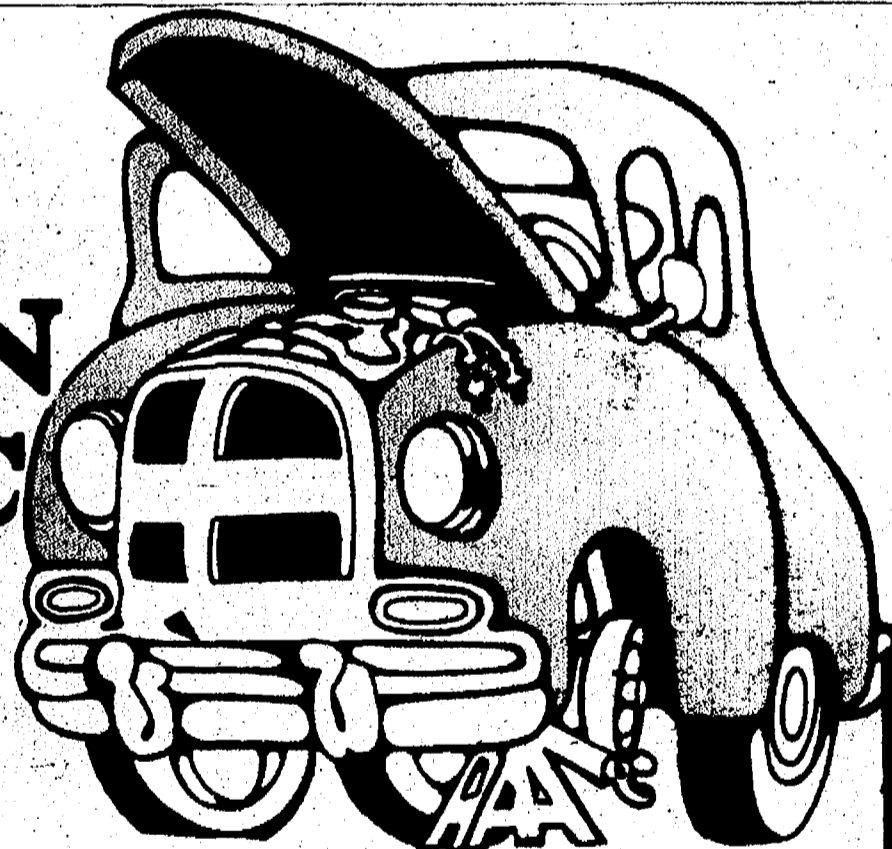

Once a year, members of the Plymouth-Canton area American Radio Relay League set up field communications with thousands of other groups in the United States. During the 24-hour period last weekend at the Plymouth Township recreation site, more than 500 contacts were completed as practice. In an emergency, a field system of portable generators, transceivers "phone patches" and specialized antennas can be operational in less than one hour. During last year's ice storm, the group provided communication for St. Mary's Hospital.

St. Joseph's moves closer to area residents

BY ELAINE GUREGIAN
Where do you go for emergency medical care?

If your answer is St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, Plymouth-Canton residents now have to think twice about directions before they start out. St. Joe's has moved to a new location at 5301 E. Huron River Dr. in Ann Arbor. The old location was at the corner of Engle St. and Catherine.

A local resident discovered recently (and luckily without mishap) the only facilities left at the old location are outpatient services.

However, if your private doctor had an office in St. Joe's you will still be able to visit him at the old hospital.

Outpatient surgery and all other services are available only in the new facility, which is closer to Plymouth and Canton residents.

The most direct route to the new hospital is Plymouth-Ann Arbor Road west to Dixboro Road., then left on Dixboro to Huron River Dr., where signs to the hospital direct you left.

For those who prefer the expressway to a two-lane, gravel-like Dixboro Road., there are two alternatives.

After taking Ann Arbor Road to U.S. 23 south, drivers may take the Geddes exit to Dixboro Road to Huron River Dr.

As an alternate route, drivers may exit on Washtenaw, going

Those who remember parking conditions at the old hospital will be pleasantly surprised at facilities at the new one, according to Connie Velin, public relations spokesperson for St. Joe's.

Although there is still a charge for parking, there is "always parking space," said Velin "which is a change from the old hospital."

The new facility has 558 beds, the same number as the old, but according to Velin, rooms in most sections of the new hospital are private (except in areas such as the obstetrics), whereas most rooms in the old hospital were semiprivate.

Civic Federation screens city hopefuls

BY DONNA LOMAS

All but one of the 11 candidates for the four seats on the Plymouth City Commission were interviewed by the Plymouth Civic Federation (PCF) Wednesday.

Mayor Joe Bida was the only candidate who did not show for the 30-minute interviews with the Civic Federation Interview Committee.

Bida also did not return his PCF questionnaire, according to PCF chairman Anthony Licata.

Each of the ten candidates was interviewed individually for 30 minutes, and then left the room while the 14-member interview committee spoke to the other candidates.

A five-minute opening talk, followed by a 20 minute question and answer period and then a 5-minute closing talk were part of the structured interviews.

All ten of the participating candidates spoke to the issues, said Licata. The 14-member interviewing committee then chose, by secret ballot, the four candidates whom the PCF endorsed: current City Commissioner John 'Jack' Moehle, and election hopefuls Clay Fechter, Mark Wehmeyer and Lorraine Watt.

Each was chosen on the basis of the issues they discussed and their knowledge of local government as well as more than an 80 per cent ballot endorsement by the 14-member interviewing committee.

Discussion by all ten candidates centered around four general issues:

- Future planning in the City of Plymouth.

-Taxation and assessments in the city.

-Efficient spending and efficient administration.

-Avoid polarization of the city commission on issues by providing a more structured agenda.

Some candidates spoke specifically to the senior citizen housing question.

According to Licata, many "fence-straddled" that particular issue, saying their attitude was "that they wanted to do something for the seniors, but opposed the high-rise."

Licata said the four candidates were hopeful the Blue Ribbon Study Committee would come up with some suggestions on the senior housing question.

On taxation and assessments, candidates wanted to at least "hold the line" on taxes, and pass any surplus monies back to the taxpayers.

They also advocated a more specific, more precise budget from the city; one that would show how the monies were allocated.

According to Licata, most candidates opposed the construction of a racquetball club unless it could be proven a profitable venture.

Saying they sought a more efficient administration, the hopefuls spoke of more study on the reasons why items were bought for the city - (do we need it?) - and also discussed efficient staffing of city departments - (were there too many people in some?).

Many candidates thought they could "bring open minds" to the City Commission. All wanted to work towards changing the 'polarization' on the commission, caused at times by insufficient time to study agenda items.

Some candidates advocated a more structured solution to the agenda meeting to relieve the pressure on commission members instant-decision making.

Following are some comments and summaries of candidates interviewed.

Clay Fechter, 41, said that he would contribute an "open mind" and "hard work" if elected. He said he also had experience in "reconciling differing points of view."

Fechter was for equitable taxation, central business district growth and development and efficient spending in the city.

Mark Wehmeyer, 51, also would bring an "open mind" to the commission if elected. He spoke of ending polarization of the commission, acting in the best interest of the community rather than serve special interests.

"We need to determine what changes best serve the community," his summary said. "The high rise? The racquetball courts?"

Wehmeyer said he would contribute analytical thinking, experience in problem assessing and resolving to the commission.

Lorraine Watt, 31, would increase "fiscal information to the public" if she was elected. She also advocated adhering to the city plan instead of "piecemeal zoning."

"There is a lack of consistency in zoning matters," her summary said. "Spot zoning affects the city as a whole - there is lack of follow through and implementation."

Incumbent City Commissioner John Moehle, 49, said there was "domination of the commission by special interests at the expense of the public."

"Who will pay for the efficiency and cost of city government services?" he asked.

His summary said he would, along with his many years of experience on the commission, have the "backbone to pursue tough questions."

James Arlen, 18, said he would contribute a new viewpoint to the commission, "not cluttered by 20 years of establishment education." He was in favor of tax reduction and stabilization and spoke of the senior housing and racquetball courts.

James Houk, 66, said he would "hold the line on taxes and properly spend the taxes."

Houk also referred to the 'polarization' on the commission saying he would get all information possible before making up his mind.

David Pugh, 33, said a strong, viable economic tax base was needed for the city. He would contribute experience from the Planning Commission and hard work if elected, he said.

"I have a fresh, unbiased approach to functions of city government," said Ronald Loiselle, 33.

He advocated making the Cultural Center a profit-making venture, and to preserve the city atmosphere as it is.

Mary Childs, 54, said she would bring experience and concern to the commission.

She also spoke of creating an "economically viable community" and maintaining a "good quality of life in our unique and friendly Plymouth."

Penny Wright, spoke of fiscal responsibility in taxes and a planned development of the city. She also spoke on implementing the parking policy.

"Clear thinking, fresh view of issues and a willingness to hear," would be her contributions to the City Commission if elected.

The Plymouth Civic Federation is a small local group of taxpayers, and homeowners, representing different sections in the community. It has 16 members.

Federation taps 4

City Commissioner John Moehle and three new candidates, Clay M. Fechter, Mark O. Wehmeyer and Lorraine F. Watt, received Primary Election endorsements from the Plymouth Civic Federation, early Thursday morning at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

The endorsements were made, following more than five hours of interviews with the candidates Wednesday night.

"It took fourteen separate ballots after midnight, Thursday, to complete the list of endorsements," said Federation Chairman, Anthony C. Licata.

Endorsement required that each candidate receive a minimum of 80 per cent of the votes cast during a ballot, Licata said.

"Despite the number of ballots taken, each of the candidates we endorsed did receive at least the minimum 80 per cent.

"Although most of the candidates interviewed sincerely believed themselves qualified, we measured them against the criteria we chose for endorsement... what the candidate considered the issues to be and their knowledge of local government. On this basis, our endorsements went to Moehle, Fechter, Wehmeyer and Watt," Licata said.

Hill excited about

Plymouth transfer

BY ELAINE GUREGIAN

What do the slums of Chicago and the City of Plymouth have in common? One person - Shirley Hill.

Hill came to Plymouth just two weeks ago after working for the Salvation Army in Chicago. She is training to become an officer in the Salvation Army organization, and the requirements are as varied as are the environments of Chicago and Plymouth.

Included in her training is Bible study, preaching, working in nursing homes, and outreach work.

It was a first for the Salvation Army, according to Hill, when the cadets worked right in the inner city in Chicago.

Hill said the experience was "quite different, really sad. 'I just could not believe some of the people and the conditions they were living in.'"

Although she sometimes felt the job was depressing, Hill said that working in a temporary lodge for children with no place to live was a "rewarding experience for all involved."

In Plymouth, Hill will be performing more conventional Salvation Army services. During the summer, she will conduct four or five backyard Bible School sessions which will include Bible study, games and crafts.

As a little girl, Hill said she aspired to do social work, and after her grandparents introduced the Salvation Army to her, she realized that she could combine teaching, (something she enjoys greatly), with social work.

She has directed Army bands in Flint, and is enthusiastic about the band camps and trips the Salvation Army sponsors. Now 27, Hill has held leadership positions in the organization for 10-12 years.

Although she enjoyed her work in Chicago, Hill said that as a city she "didn't like it that well," and that she is happy to be here, and "excited about meeting the people who live in Plymouth."

Don't miss parade

The parade should last about an hour, Dooley said.

Leading the parade will be the Plymouth Police, followed by the V.F.W. Color Guard. Next will be Allen H.S. Lintol, British Consulate General. This is Lintol's first parade as the new British Consulate General.

Mayor Joe Bida, follows then the Jaycee president and family, Governor William Milliken, Senator Robert Geake, Congressman Carl Pursell, State Representative Thomas H. Brown, State Representative Roy Smith, Judge Dunbar Davis, Supreme Court Justice G. Mennon Williams, Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas, Wayne County Road Commissioner Michael Berry, 1977 Michigan Junior Miss Pam Wallace of Westland, Plymouth Salem Homecoming Queen Mary Chiado, Canton Homecoming Queen Sue Gray, Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert, Plymouth Township Treasurer Joe West, Cub Scout Pack No. 1533, Grand Knight of Knights of Columbus, Jerry's Bicycles, Plymouth Canton Junior Athletics Baseball, Gourmet Gallery, Inc., Dave's Carpet Cleaning, Penny Wright Campaign Committee, City of Plymouth and Township Fire Dept., Canton Riding Club, Plymouth Town and Country 4-H Club, Elizabeth Campbell with her Pinto pony, State Police car, Plymouth Community Chorus, a roller skating clown, and the Jaycees own clowns.

Finishing up this section of the parade will be elephants sponsored by John Smith Inc. and me and mr. Jones.

A wide variety of vehicles entered in the parade are a 1922 Ford Truck Wrecker, Fiber-glass Mini-T, 1928 Reo Flying Cloud, 1952 Crosley Station Wagon, 1957 Crosley Super Sport and a 1921 Model T. Fire Truck.

Several musical groups, floats, and pom-pom girls will add color to the festivities.

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps; Senior and Junior Divisions, the Plymouth Community Band, Clan McRae, the Troubadores from Taylor, the Amhurstburg Community Band from Ontario, will all march in the parade.

The Canton Chiefettes, the Salem Rockettes, and the U.S. Marine Corps Color Guard will keep step with these groups.

There is no shortage of floats in this parade! The Plymouth Kiwanis, Centennials C.B. Radio Assoc. St. Peters Youth Group, Young American CB'ers, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, and the Retail Committee, Plymouth Theater Guild, Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA, Plymouth Grange No. 389, First National Bank of Plymouth and Colonial Pizza are all entering floats.

A fleet of decorated bicycles will close the parade. Prizes will be awarded to one of the four bikes which will be judged "best looking", by the Plymouth Jaycee Auxiliary at the Kroger parking lot at noon.

Parade judges this year are: Harry Green leaf, Marilyn Stathakis, Stephen Harper and Marcia Borowski. The emcee of the parade is past president of the Plymouth Jaycees, Karl Gansler, who is now Internal Executive Vice President of the Michigan Jaycees.

In addition to the five-mile foot race which will be held along the parade route before the parade, a chicken barbecue sponsored by the VFW and the Jaycees fireworks will round out the days events.

The VFW will hold its annual barbecue at the post on 1426 S. Mill St., from noon until 6 or 7 p.m. right after the parade.

Joe Krogel of the VFW said about 700 chicken dinners will be served. Also, beer and whiskey will be sold. Tickets will be $3 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under.

The fireworks at Massey Field on Plymouth Rd. will start when the sky is dark, around 9:30 or 10 p.m., according to Donald Hahn of the Jaycees.

Parking will be available at the Burroughs parking lot across the street, and cars must enter on Haggerty Rd., Hahn said.

The Jaycees are still soliciting for money to cover the cost of the fireworks, Hahn said, but as of Saturday, he did not think it would be necessary to charge a parking fee.

Reunion revives school past

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

They danced the fox trot, listened to the music of the big bands, and after graduation they hustled for jobs amidst the Great Depression. They were the Class of '32.

Saturday night they relived some of those moments again as they celebrated their class reunion in the Miles Standish Room of the Mayflower Hotel.

An old Plymouth High School tradition, Senior Skip Day, was celebrated with Guy Lombardo, said Class President William Kirkpatrick.

"We went down to the old Michigan Theatre and Belle Isle and saw Guy Lombardo," recalled Kirkpatrick. "We also used to go to Island Lake to a place called the Blue Lantern. The fellows who didn't have dates usually ended up at Reed's Restaurant."

Dancing was the most popular form of recreation said Mary Lorenz Gilles.

"There wasn't anything else to do. We didn't have television," said Mrs. Gilles. "We did fox trots and waltzes. They didn't have the nice places they do now."

"They were mostly dives. When we really went out we went to the Book-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit. The biggest place to go was the Walled Lake Casino with Red Nichols and his Five Pennies."

And, there were cheerleaders, but only boys could try out. "They just had boy cheerleaders then," said ex-cheerleader Russell Wallace. "I had a megaphone with blue striped pants. The cheers were mostly locomotive cheers and stuff."

"I remember the Old Southern Barbecue was a popular place," added Wallace. "In those days a barbecue was a really big thing. And, they had a dance floor and a juke box. It was something like 'American Grafetti' only before that."

Others recalled the difficulties of graduating during the depression.

"We graduated during the depression, which was a real tough time, believe me," said Class Treasurer Beulah Wagon-schutz-Smith. "We must have been pretty tough to have made it!"

"It was real hard to get a job and I went to Detroit and lived with my grandparents because there wasn't anything to be had here," recalled Class Secretary Elizabeth Currie-Lord.

All told, there were 93 members of the Class of '32. Fourteen are dead, and about 31 attended the reunion. "There are about four or five we can't seem to locate," said Reunion Chairman George Todd.

One member of the Class of '32, George Buers, came all the way from Orange, Calif., for the event.

"I came here because our boy graduated from Grand Rapids Baptist Bible College and I have a brother in Salem, so I thought I might as well stay here and enjoy the event," explained Bauers.

Hank wins friends, but not his tourney

BY CHAS CHILD

Hank Rupert may be first in the hearts of his friends, but he's dead last on their golf scorecards.

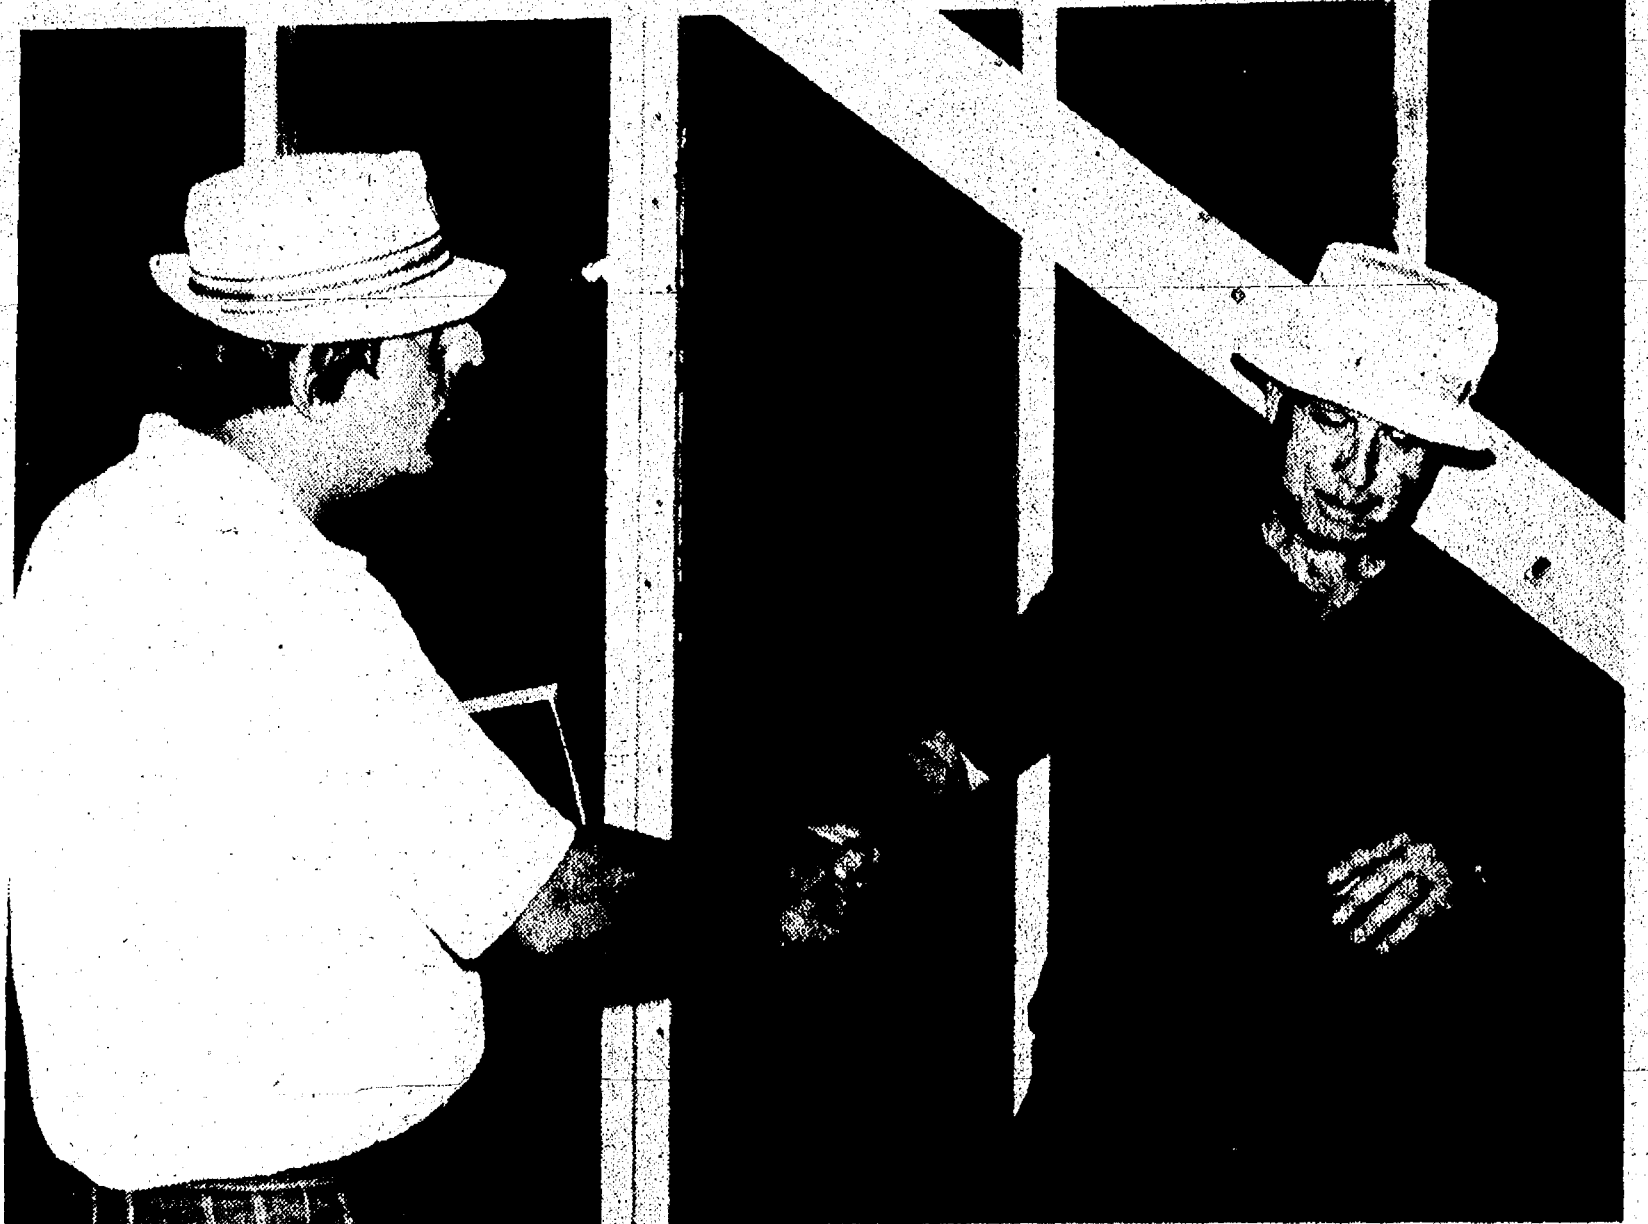

At his own golf tournament, the Hank Rupert Golf Classic, he carded a 110, unfortunately placing him in last place.

The field consisted of about 30 Centennial Educational Park grads who get together once a year for a friendly golf tournament. Rupert, who hosts the all-day affair, is the head of maintenance at CEP.

Salem golf coach Bob Waters won the event at Hilltop Golf Course with a 74. Mike Wickham at '76, took second.

Jim Ellinghausen, a former all-state basketball player from Salem, scored in the 90's.

There were no handicaps in the meet.

Mantles to duel

Plymouth's two Mickey Mantle teams will meet each other in the first round of their own Fourth of July tournament Sunday.

They will play in the second game of the first round, 12:30 p.m. at the Salem varsity diamond.

Detroit Southeast and Windsor Mic-Mac will play at 10 a.m.

If it rains Sunday, the tournament will be played the next day, the Fourth.

Canton Mantle loses two of three

Canton's Mickey Mantle team dropped two out of three last week, but a single bad bounce was the only thing that prevented them from winning two out of three.

With the bases loaded in the first inning against Westland Saturday, a grounder to shortstop Don Dreher hit a rock and bounced three feet over his head.

Two runs raced home and Canton went on to lose, 3-1.

Earlier in the week, Canton lost to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 4-2. Dale Albright got his team's only two hits of the contest, but they were good for two RBIs.

On Friday, Canton thrashed Dearborn Fairlane, 10-3. Dreher got two hits, as did Steve Grey, Brian James and Jay McKinley. McKinley was also the winning pitcher.

The week's action left Canton's 4-2-1. Their next game is a home contest against Detroit Southwest, 6 p.m. tomorrow, at Canton High School.

Merchants win

The Plymouth Merchants, Canton High School's entry in the Connie Mack League, rolled past their Salem counterparts, the Plymouth Elks, Thursday, 8-2.

The Merchants took three out of four games in the whole week, boosting their record to 6-3.

Last Tuesday they beat Southfield 3-1, and split a twinbill with Redford Union, dropping the first, 3-2, but coming back to win the second, 1-0.

Truck needed to haul wood

Breaker, breaker for the owner of an 18-wheeler or any large truck willing to haul wood for your good buddies of the Canton High School boys basketball program.

They've been donated all the wood they can cut in the Tawas City town in northern Michigan. But they need a truck to drive them up and bring the wood back down, don't ya know.

All proceeds from the sale of the firewood will go toward the Canton boys' basketball program.

Please call Canton coach Casey Cavell or Barb Carpenter, 455-4799, of the Red Boosters Club if you have a truck to donate.

CEP job office reports success

The new Job Placement Office at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) has reported some success at placing students, graduates and drop-outs in jobs since its opening in February.

Joyce Willis, Job Placement Director at CEP said in a memo addressed to administration and faculty, that 99 students have been placed in jobs.

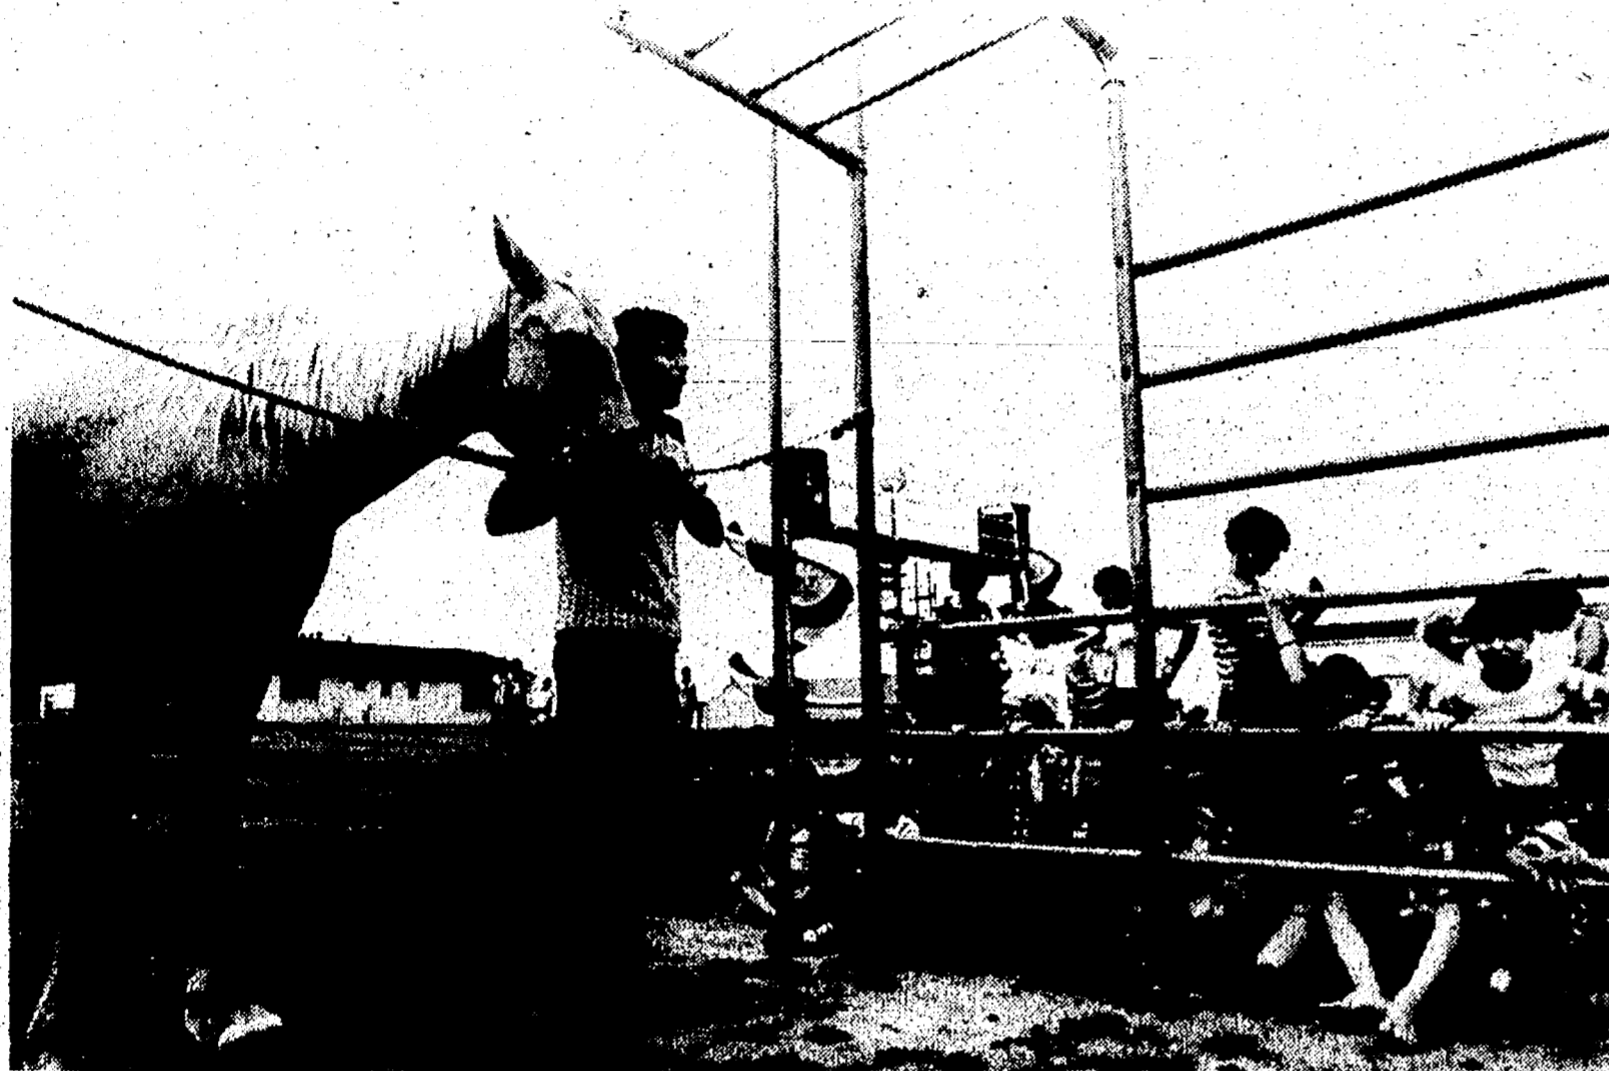

Of the 99, nine full-time positions were filled, 66 part-time positions were filled, 13 are summer jobs and 11 are temporary positions.

The kinds of work the students, graduates, and drop-outs are entering range from dishwasher to gas station attendant to YMCA assistant to secretary work. Others are busboys in restaurants, babysitters, maintenance personnel and food handlers.

Ms. Willis reports that she accepted 370 applications, contacted 750 employers through mailing, direct contact and phone calls. The office identified 140 job openings in the Plymouth-Canton area, and of those, 99 were placed.

The Placement Office will be open all summer, the memo said, and welcomes young people in search of employment.

Schools approve new staff unit

A modular building for the new staff of the Title IV C Resource Center at Salem High School was approved for purchase by the Plymouth-Canton School Board Monday.

The reason for the lease-purchase agreement, said a memo from Supt. John Hoben to board members, was that no space was available at Salem because of increasing student enrollments.

The modular building will house the Special Education Instruction Media Center (SEIMC), a state-funded project grant. The modular unit will be paid for with the Title IV-C project funds.

The unit, which has a total of 2,160 square feet, will house one project director, one curriculum resource consultant, four resource coordinators, one secretary for the project director, one clerk typist and one para-professional aide for the center.

The building is being purchased on a lease-purchase plan, it will be leased for $10,800 the first year, plus $4,700 installation cost, $10,800 the second year, and then the district would be eligible to purchase the unit for $1 in 1979-80, or anytime after the second lease payment is made.

The unit is a remodeled modular building.

CEP students go to arts camp

Seven students from the Plymouth-Canton area are attending Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a summer school of the arts located just north of Muskegon.

The students and their elective majors are:

John Perrett, Salem - Orchestra; Christine Bennett, Salem - Orchestra; Ann McGuffin, Salem - Orchestra; Darcy Johnson, Salem - Band; Shawn Rafferty, Salem - Band; Ingel Dickinson, Canton - Orchestra; and Gall Grieve, Salem - Orchestra.

Area doctors could move to WACO General

If County Commissioner Royce Smith can convince others, Wayne County General Hospital may be open soon to Plymouth-Canton doctors.

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith has advocated that qualified private physicians be granted full staff privileges at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Smith (D-Belleville) has declared that the hospital, which serves Western Wayne County including Plymouth and Canton, will be forced to close because of severe financial problems unless its revenue is increased.

"The biggest problem with the hospital is the income we have lost because of vacant beds," Smith stated.

"Last year, if we had had 100 more patients per day, the hospital would have brought in more than $8 million in additional revenue."

Smith has introduced a resolution before the Wayne County

Board of Commissioners urging full staff privileges for community doctors "as the best way to make full use of this outstanding facility and bring in the additional revenue needed to save it."

Private practice physicians are currently not allowed to admit patients to the hospital which has its own medical staff and is affiliated with the University of Michigan as a medical teaching and training facility.

"This is one of the finest hospitals in the world, but it's being grossly underused," Smith said. "The latest hospital financial statement shows a drop in patient days for the first quarter of 1977 from the same period in 1976."

"The medical service plan has already been approved by the Civil Service Commission. Time is running out. We can't afford to be patient any longer," he said.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES - REGULAR MEETING June 14, 1977

The meeting was called to order with all members present.

Mr. West moved approval of the minutes of May 24, 1977 regular meeting. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

Mr. Millington moved to approve payment of the bills in the grand total of $40,533.74. Supported by Mr. Gornick and carried unanimously on a roll call vote.

Michael C. Hechtman representing the Elro Corporation. Re: Proposed revision of the development of the park lands in Walnut Creek Subdivision. Mr. Hechtman addressed the board requesting permission to exclude the installation of a bicycle path around the park lands in Walnut Creek Subdivision as originally planned for by the Thompson-Brown Company, but to instead leave the decision of what should be done with the open space to the Home Owners Association. Mr. Gornick moved that the Board approve the concept of not requiring said installation of bicycle paths around the park lands and that additionally the monies for said project be deposited in the Homeowners Association and further the Board check with Mr. Morgan regarding the procedures involved and authorize him to work with Mr. Hechtman if any legal work is necessary on the deletion of the bicycle paths around the park lands.
