Schools to hire fewer new teachers

Chessie chugs into town

THAT LONESOME WHISTLE blew again in Plymouth last Sunday, when the Chessie Steamtrain Special puffed in to offer local residents a preview of the C & O railroad's July series of steamtrain excursions. Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford said upwards of 4,000 local residents turned out to watch the vintage train's arrival. Tickets for upcoming trips to Grand Ledge, Columbus and Clio, and from Grand Rapids, are available at Beitner's Jewelry. The 19-car train stopped in the Old Village area, which was once a regular stop for Michigan passenger trains. (Crier photo by Brian Watkins.)

A budget that forced cuts in more than 30 areas was approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

Hardest hit was the number of teachers to be hired to teach the 750 additional students expected next year. Because the 1.5 additional mills was defeated in the June 12 election, only 14 new teachers will be hired, instead of the 36 originally planned.

Overall, the approved budget of $29,636,049 is 16 per cent larger than last year.

Although voters approved the 3.0-mill renewal June 12, the added costs from growth and inflation necessitated broad cuts. Besides holding back on the number of new teachers, the athletic budget was slashed. All seventh and ninth grade athletics next year will be lost.

The Saturday use of the schools gyms by the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association was eliminated in the budget, as was a $4,000 contribution to the association.

A host of other programs were reduced, including the high schools' drama, forensics and debate clubs, and the two high school newspapers. The school farm allocation was reduced, as was money for CEP's radio station, WSDP; the talented and gifted program; asphalt repairs; secondary music; research; pre-school assessment; and adult education.

Revenues for the budget are estimated to increase 12.3 per cent from last year, while expenditures are increasing 16 per cent. The difference will

Jaycees prepare 4th of July parade

Pachyderms, politicians pizza and Plymouth's only Rolls Royce will be just a few of the highlights of this year's Fourth of July Parade next Tuesday. The Jaycee sponsored parade and fireworks display on July 4 is a sure sign that summer has arrived.

The annual parade will begin this year at 1 p.m. on Tuesday the Fourth on Main Street at Theodore. The parade route will go south on Main to Hartsough, where it will turn left and end at East Middle School.

Guests in this year's parade will include Gov. William Milliken and Supreme Court Justice G. Mennen Williams - not to mention marching bands, antique cars and a calliope.

The fireworks display will begin at dark (between 9:30 and 10 p.m.) and will be held at the Don Massey Field on Plymouth Road. Parking will be at the Burroughs Parking lot across from the field.

Part of the parade will include a bike decorating contest for school students. To enter, simply be at the Cultural Center at 12:30 p.m. on the Fourth. Entrants will ride in the parade and prizes will be awarded to the best entries.

The Jaycees Second Annual Five Mile Marathon will begin in Northville July 4 at 9:45 a.m. The footrace will begin at the Northville Downs parking lot, follow Edward Hines to Plymouth Point Park in Old Village.

Trophies will be awarded to the male and female first place finishers. You can still enter - it only costs $1. Deadline is Saturday. See The Crier's Sports Section for the entry blank.

The VFW will hold its annual barbecue at 1426 S. Mill from noon until 6 or 7 p.m. Chicken will be served. Tickets will be $3 each.

There won't be a shortage of music at the parade - six bands and a calliope will be present.

Included are the Amherstburg, Ont. Band, the Plymouth Community Band, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, the Clan McRae Bagpipers, the Troubadours from Taylor, the Farmington Community Band and a circus calliope.

The floats will be extravagant this year - one will include a real 20-foot pizza from Colonial Pizza, said Ventitelli. Other floats will represent Schoolcraft College, the Plymouth Theatre Guild, the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, St. Peter's Lutheran Church Youth group, Plymouth Community Chorus, Vickie's Baton Twirlers, Amherstburg, Ont. float, and the Redford Township Unicycle Club.

The Canton Riding Club and the Rocking Horse Association of Michigan will add 12 to 18 horse to the parade. John Smith of Plymouth will again sponsor two elephants

Hotel's 'no vacancy' riles honeymooners

The wedding bells chimed out of tune for a couple in Plymouth early Sunday morning.

A couple indentifying themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Littlepage asked the clerk at the Mayflower Hotel for the keys to a room for which they had made reservations, police report.

The clerk, Michael Pietila, told the pair that their room had been given to another guest because they had not arrived before 6 p.m.

The husband then demanded another room or a refund and threw the telephone at Pietila, said the police. Also, the woman threw a soft drink bottle and hit the clerk in the chest, police said.

On their way out, they threw a glass ashtray at a wall, kicked over the newstand in the hotel lobby, and broke a glass door, the police said.

The pair left the scene in a Ford LTD, with a "Just Married" sign on it, said the report.

Developer eyes western subdivision

BY DONNA LOMAS

About 50 acres of land west of Canton Center Road could be rezoned to residential use following an August public hearing on two rezoning requests, Canton planning commissioners said Monday.

Two parcels of land, totaling 50 acres, between Saltz and Ford roads could be the third subdivision development west of Canton Center Road if the Canton Planning Commission rezones the parcels to residential use following a public hearing Aug. 14.

However, it would be the first residential development permitted by the township

City asks County to halt Twp. houses

A FEW BOXES of fireworks remained unexploded last Thursday afternoon as Canton Firefighter Frank Chakrabarty hosed down the smoldering bin which exploded in the center aisle of the Thrifty Acres store on Ford Road. Firefighters from Canton, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township who responded to the smoke-filled store found the fire already largely extinguished by the store's sprinkling system, but a nearby display of potentially-explosive pool chemicals had to be removed from the store. Customers and employees waited in the parking lot as police and firefighters searched the building to make sure no one was still inside. Some merchandise suffered smoke and fire damage, but Wayne County health inspector Jerry Schwartz said the store's groceries had not been damaged. (Crier photo by Hank Meijer)

Fire-starters still at large

BY DONNA LOMAS

The search for two young boys who allegedly set off a fireworks display that caused almost a quarter of a million dollars worth of damage to the Meijer Thrifty Acres store on Ford Road continues this week, according to Wayne County Sheriff's detectives.

Youth Bureau Detective Adolphus Allen said Monday that three leads have been supplied by witnesses of the fire. Allen said the juvenile suspects, if found, would be charged with arson and turned over to juvenile court.

"There was no indication it was an accident," Det. Allen said. "Perhaps they didn't imagine what could happen, but their efforts indicate their intentions were plain."

Witnesses described two young boys, one about 12 years old with blond hair and wearing a cap, the other about eight years old, police said.

No one was injured in the explosion and ensuing fire according to Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun. Witnesses who were nearby said the fire started when they saw one of the boys throw a lighted matchbook or sparkler into the center aisle display of fireworks.

The fire, at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, forced the evacuation of hundreds of shoppers at the 235,000-square foot department store.

Georgette St. Amant, soft-lines manager and the store's manager-in-charge when the incident occurred, said close to 200 people were in the two center aisles near the fire-

Plymouth City Commissioners last Wednesday asked City Attorney Charles Lowe to prepare the necessary papers for an injunction against Wayne County Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood to prohibit him from approving new subdivisions in Plymouth Township until drainage improvements are done along the Tonquish Creek drainage basin.

The Subdivision Control Act of 1967 requires the Drain Commissioner to give final approval to subdivisions, said City Engineer Ken West.

"Our primary concern now is the run-off from upstream," said West. He said upstream included the entire northwest portion of Plymouth Township. "If the developers provide for excessive run-off because of this injunction, the township could benefit."

West said a meeting is planned for today between city and township officials on the matter.

West said Monday that clean up crews from Growthworks and the city DPW were assisting in the clean-up of the Tonquish.

"Thank the Lord for Growthworks, really," said West. The city engineer said the storm clean-up costs to the city is estimated at $5,000.

Speaking before the City Commission Wednesday, West reported that even before the storm, the two branches of Tonquish Creek were "extremely cluttered with debris ranging from tree branches and washed out footbridges to tin cans, broken bottles and old tires. The removal of this debris will aid in control of rats, reduce . . . injury to the public and promote better water flow."

West said the Drain Commissioner has engaged Wade, Trim and Associates, a planning firm, to recommend improvements of Tonquish. That report is due no later than Oct. 1.

West said if any homeowner along the creek wants to install rip-rap (broken concrete stacked like a brick wall) along their property to prevent erosion, the city engineering department can assist them.

West said storms like the one on May 30 occur about once every 100 years.

Signal lights slated for fatal RR crossing

BY CHAS CHILD

State railroad officials have recommended that warning lights be erected at the railroad crossing at Beck Road in Plymouth Township, the scene of two fatal accidents in the last six years.

The flashing lights are scheduled to be installed next summer, the same time the road is paved and widened by the Wayne County Road Commission. Only signs mark the crossing now.

A spokesman for the commission said Beck will be paved from N. Territorial to Five Mile Road as part of the improvements needed to handle the traffic that will be entering M-14, now under construction.

This increased traffic made the railroad crossing lights necessary, said Bill Teszlewicz, acting manager of the state's Railroad Safety Inspection Center in Lansing.

In 1972, Andrew Yager of Detroit was killed at the crossing when his car ran into the side of a train, according to the center's records. Despite the death, an inspector in 1974 said the crossing safety measures were adequate.

On Oct. 5, 1975, Robert Austin of Ypsilanti died at the crossing when he apparently tried to cross the tracks ahead of a westbound train, according to State Police records.

Teszlewicz said the Department of State Highway and Transportation Commission will order the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad to install the lights soon.

The recommendation from his inspector calls for flashing lights at the side of the road as well as a string of lights about 15 feet high over the road, he said.

Dispute affects hall work

Construction on parts of the Canton Township Hall is being delayed until a sheet metal workers union contract is settled, but the township is still planning on Aug. 4 as its moving date to the Canton Center Road site, Finance Director Mike Gorman said.

Gorman said the sheet metal workers is the last contract yet to be settled among laborers building the new township hall.

Cuts hurt elementary grades, pair say

BY CHAS CHILD

Two members of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted "no" on next year's budget because they said the cuts in the elementary schools are too deep.

Richard Arlen and Flossie Tonda both said more emphasis should be placed on the early grades to avoid problems when the students advance.

"I'm willing to take the extra money from athletics," said School Board Member Richard Arlen. "The cuts in elementary education and maintenance are too large."

The other five members, Tom Yack, Joe Gray, Elaine Kirchgatter, Carol Davis and Steve Harper, all agreed with the administration's recommendations and voted "yes."

"I'm willing to take the extra money from athletics," said Arlen. "The cuts in elementary education and maintenance are too large." Gray said, that the budget before them was the one the board went to the voters with in the June 12 election, and "if we change it now, the integrity of the board would be questioned."

Arlen also said that children in the lower grades are being cheated because class sizes are sometimes higher than 30.

"The building principals have been given the authority to alter class sizes. Maybe we should slap some wrists on this," said Harper.

Assistant Superintendent for Employee Relations Norm Kee said some elementary class sizes are greater than 30, but for instructional reasons, and that other classes are in the low 20s, thereby balancing out the larger classes.

Schools adopt budget

be made up by funds remaining in the school coffers after this year.

A large chunk of the added costs come from rising utility costs. The schools will be paying 24.3 per cent more for heat, electricity, telephone and water next year, a jump from $1,149,000 to $1,428,251.

The cost of the Extended School Year (ESY) program is dropping, however. Since the money to install air conditioners in the year-round buildings was in last year's budget, the figure for the added cost of ESY will drop 43.5 per cent ($730,000 to $412,000).

Allowing for an expected 0.36 rollback in property taxes mandated by the state legislature, the Plymouth-Canton schools will be levying the same number of mills next year as this. (33.76 without the rollback, and 33.40 with it.)

The increase in revenue will come from a 12.7 per cent increase in the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) of all property in the district.

Despite the increased money, the schools still do not have enough to fund programs as they now exist, hence the budget cuts.

Some 69.9 per cent will come from local taxes will account for 69.9 per cent of the schools revenue, which 26.3 per cent will come from the state, 0.9 per cent from the county, and 2.9 per cent from federal and state grants.

Sniper misses deputy

A sniper shattered the windshield of a Wayne County Sheriff's patrol car Thursday morning with a high-powered rifle or shotgun, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Officer Carl Kuban was on a routine patrol of Parkview Drive west of Edward Hines Drive in Plymouth Township when the incident occurred. According to Det. Frank Burton of the Wayne County Detective Bureau, a man with medium length brown hair wearing a red shirt was seen by Officer Kuban fleeing downhill after the shot. Kuban was not struck by the bullet, Burton said.

Wayne County Sheriff's officers and City of Plymouth Police searched the surrounding area Thursday. The Sheriff's Department is continuing the investigation, said Det. Burton Monday. Officer Kuban said he saw a light blue four-wheel drive vehicle drive off after the incident, but according to Det. Burton, it is not known for sure whether the vehicle was driven away by the person who fired at the patrol car.

Canton courtroom planned

Bids for renovating Canton's meeting hall on Cherry Hill and Canton Center roads into a 35th District courtroom will be taken during the second week of July, Canton officials report.

"We expect to get our block grant money by July 8, proceed with the bids in July and contract for the renovations in August," said Mike Gorman, Canton Finance Director. "We do expect to have the courthouse ready by January next year."

New DPW chief

Plymouth Township trustees were expected last night to approve the hiring of a new water and sewer superintendent to succeed Web Kincaid, who is retiring this week.

Recommended by Supervisor Tom Notebaert is Thomas Hollis, who is scheduled to begin the $15,000-per-year job July 1.

Hollis is currently a crew leader in the department.

Paperwork stalls Farmer Street railroad gates

The confused effort to install railroad crossing guards at Farmer Street in Plymouth has an ironic twist.

When the guards are finally installed, probably next year, they may cause more disruption than they're worth.

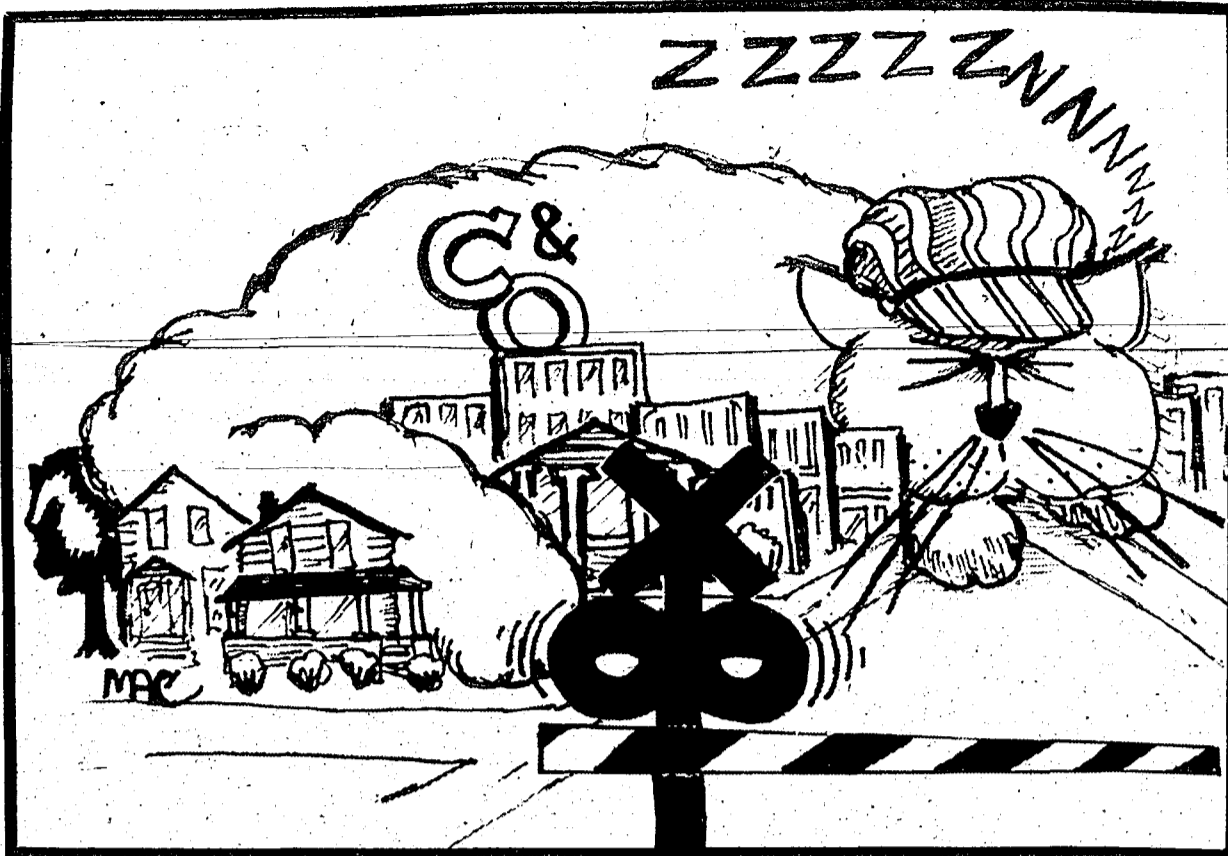

Why? Because state authorities ordered not only flashing lights but gates that block the road for the crossing. This may be the absolute best for safety reasons, but from a traffic standpoint, the gates will further tie up cars travelling downtown while the C & O is hauling freight.

Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford recommended only flashing lights for the crossing because many times the trains are stopped near, but not across the street in that area. The warning light would caution drivers, but not block traffic.

The gates were ordered by the state because the law mandates them for any crossing with more than one set of tracks. (Farmer has three.) Although we see the need for such state laws, they should be flexible to meet local conditions. The crossing at Farmer by no stretch of the imagination needs high-speed safety precautions.

In contrast, the Beck Road crossing in Plymouth Township, the scene of two fatal accidents in the last six years, is only due to get warning lights because it has only one set of tracks.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

There's too much waste

Central staff harms schools

EDITOR:

Three cheers to those individuals who, in recent letters to the community, have pointed out the added fat but lack of muscle which has accumulated in the school district's bureaucratic headquarters. I wish to add some things to the growing outcry against such waste in our school management.

I would first ask that our board members compare the percentage increases in bureaucrats and hangers-on (defined here as non-classroom salaried personnel plus attending clerical personnel, excluding one principal per school) versus the increase in workers (defined here as teachers and other professionals who directly assist our children).

Add to these head-count figures, a disproportionate increase in salaries for these non-functional persons, those who add no direct teaching value but rather a great deal of unneeded status, and one perceives distortions in budget which might best be converted to actual pupil-teacher ratios rather than wasted on overhead.

I would caution the board members to look at the changes in our schools not with comparisons to our neighbor districts.

As an example of the way this "fat" can detract from education, an incident apparently took place some months ago in one of our elementary schools. While one of our royally titled administrators was on a tour of the school, this individual was approached by a real child who asked for help on some problem. This child, not wise to the ways of our overpriced status-seekers and their bureaucratic ways, assumed that an adult - having some appearance of knowledge and authority - was a source of help. The bureaucrat's response was, "I don't work with children!" Need I say more?

DOUGLASS V. KOCH

Unification of services is committee's goal

EDITOR:

Readers are encouraged to write to our news media on local issues. This letter refers to what the media keeps referring to as the "Unification Study Committee". I do not know who applied this name, but it is a misnomer. As far as Plymouth Township is involved, our motion specified the study was to cover "Unification of Services". Our Supervisor was directed to write a letter to the Township members instructing them to restrict their discussion to "Unification of Services only". As far as Unification of the City and Township is concerned, we do not need another study. We already have three gathering dust.

Now let me comment on statements made by officials on both sides of the fence. It seems that several of the officials actually involved are giving all of the answers to the question in the newspaper before the Committee has even gotten their feet wet. First, we read how the Township will save money by combining the fire departments. You cannot close stations - we need more.

Mr. Batterman foresees a tax revolt in the City and Plymouth Township; in the City because they can no longer pay for their services and the Township because Township residents cannot get services. What is meant by such a statement? The Township residents can enjoy all the services they desire, merely by voting for them and being willing to pay the needed millage. After all, Township residents are not going to revolt as long as they only pay (a total of 3.35 mills).

Norm closes with the statement that we have been living together; so why not get married. Well, Norm, today things have changed. You can legally enjoy all life's pleasures and save the marriage fees. Why spoil a good thing?

This letter may put me in the dog house for awhile but I feel better now.

Ma Bell gives Canton a split personality

As if Canton doesn't have enough trouble knowing where it's at, the inimitable phone company has put the township in two places at once.

Unfortunately, to Supervisor Harold Stein's disappointment we think, it isn't Livonia or Wayne-Westland.

According to the west-northwest directory, Michigan Bell has located the Canton Township general offices, water and building departments in Belleville.

The Canton Fire Department has its location listed as Plymouth, however, the Canton Recreation Department is correctly located in Canton, indicating at least the fun aspect of the township exists.

The Canton Police Department got two listings: one in Belleville, and one in Canton, although both are listed at the same address. Given the embattled history of Canton's new police department, we at first glance thought the Canton PD had indeed moved to Belleville to get some R&R from Canton politics.

But we figure it's just another service from Ma Bell: a choice of township locations along with phone colors and styles.

Fireworks and kids don't mix

THE COMMUNITY CRIBER, June 28, 1978

Fast action averts tragedy

The fireworks fire at Meijer Thrifty Acres could have been a disaster. Instead, because of cool-thinking employees and fast-responding firefighters, it was only an expensive lesson. In the store crowded with shoppers, most of the public kept calm when the explosion-like fire was touched off and, in fact, many of the shoppers joined employees in manning fire extinguishers and leading others outside through the dark, acrid smoke.

Firemen from Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township extinguished the smoldering fireworks and then joined with Canton Police, Wayne County Sheriff's deputies and store personnel to be sure all shoppers were out of the store by combing and recombining the aisles.

Thrifty Acres management and employees reacted quickly and for the most part calmly in evacuating the public — including a few foolish shoppers who didn't want to leave the store without their packages. The store's sprinkler system doused the blaze.

Fortunately there were no serious injuries and the store was opened the next day with few ill side effects.

The lesson to be learned from the fire was simple: don't display fireworks where kids can be tempted to set them off, if they must be sold at all.

W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Our community has seen the ravages of the great fireworks folly of 1978.

Between the confusion over federal laws governing fireworks and our state's desire to lessen the bang, plus the rush to enact local ordinances, the summer has been an explosion of conflicting fireworks marketing pushes and enforcement efforts.

It has also been an unsafe summer.

The Plymouth-Canton Community this year alone has seen extensive damage to Central Middle School, Canton High School and the Meijer Thrifty Acres shopping plaza, plus minor injuries to kids playing with pipe bombs.

Surely our experiences with fireworks this summer raise the question, "Why have ANY fireworks at all?"

Granted some fireworks types are more dangerous than others, but what social value is there in allowing our children to play even with "harmless" smoke bombs and sparklers?

The fire at Thrifty Acres makes us wonder if even "safe" fireworks can be made, transported, stored, displayed and sold in large quantities, without peril.

It would be folly to rely upon local ordinances to combat the fireworks problem, since kids could easily go a mile down the road to make their purchases.

What we need is a state-wide ban of all fireworks. That may seem extreme, but we have suffered too much because of the so-called "safe" fireworks.

Write your legislator and voice your support of such a strong law. Ask state office candidates their stand as they're seeking election this year.

Twp. to seek charter status

Plymouth Township trustees were scheduled last night to discuss the possibility of creating a charter township that would exempt Plymouth Township from threatened annexation by the City of Plymouth.

Now a general-law township, Plymouth Township could become a charter township - as Canton already is - by a simple resolution of the

Charter townships may levy up to five mills for general operations, while a general-law township has a ceiling of one mill.

If approved at a future meeting, the change could still be subject to a referendum. Township voters last year soundly rejected a proposal that would have created a charter township.

Pugh asks Fall Fest parking fee

A plan to charge a Central Lot parking fee to Sunday visitors to the Fall Festival was referred by City Commission to the city's Parking Commission last Monday.

Commissioner Dave Pugh said he offered the proposal to get commissioners thinking about ways to raise parking revenue.

Tom Turner said charging for parking during Fall Festival "was the wrong place to start."

The parking commission was asked to comment and make recommendations on the proposal, said Pugh.

"The parking fund has been just breaking even, and with talk of a new structure on the Weidman lot, we have to start watching our nickels and dimes," Pugh said.

With 100 per cent capacity for a nine-hour day, Pugh said the plan would raise about $200. "The money isn't that much but it would be about twice as much as what the Central lot takes in on a normal day," he said. "I just wanted to get people thinking about the problems."

Commissioners Mark Wehmeyer and Beverly McAninch said the proposal was "a great idea," but City Mayor

The 10-speed that got away

Thomas Skrobeck of Sunset in Plymouth told State Police that while he was fishing near N. Territorial and Beacon Hill roads last Monday, someone drove up in a blue pickup truck and stole his 10-speed bicycle.

Council plans classes

The Plymouth Community Council on Aging, Inc. is planning to schedule fall classes for Seniors with the Plymouth-Canton Community Education Program.

The Council also discussed the "Vial for Life" program (medical histories and/or medication requirements for the senior citizen or the handicapped child is recorded on paper which is inserted into a plastic vial and attached to the interior of the refrigerator as a quick reference in emergencies.) The Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Room 114 of Central Middle School on July 11th. (Use the Adams Street entrance.)

Grenade found

A hand grenade was found last Tuesday by John Rodosky of Penniman in Plymouth while he was moving.

It was not known whether it was live or a dummy, and he told police that it was probably among the junk left by the previous resident.

WHITE ELEPHANT SYNDROME

In the real estate trade it's called "White Elephant". An excellent house for sale which just sits and sits. Often you can recognize it by the tall grass and weeds overrunning the front yard; and occasional broken window here and there. The cause of this blight is always the same - OVERPRICING!

This story always has a sad ending - for the seller. Eventually, he has to reduce the price to sell. By this time, it's too late. The good prospects have waved goodbye and bought elsewhere. The appearance and condition have deteriorated. The eventual selling price is far below what it could have realized had it been valued realistically from the outset.

You don't have to increase the "White Elephant" population. There is a safe way to establish the RIGHT price. When you're ready to sell, see a local Realtor. He'll know the true value and what it will bring in the market. Top price, yes! Overprice - No!

Gates at Farmer to hurt traffic in Plymouth?

BY CHAS CHILD

Bureaucratic mix-ups are being blamed for delays in construction of railroad crossing guards on Farmer Street in Plymouth that were ordered a year and one-half ago. City Engineer Ken West completed an application for a federal grant to erect the guards in January of this year, long after the application was started.

How long after, though remains a question. In a routine review of the files after assuming his post at the beginning of this year, West noticed the federal request for more information on the application.

A copy of the original application showing when it was sent by his predecessor, Allan Gove, is not in the file, West said. "It should be there," he said.

The city engineer guessed, however, that the application to the Federal Aid Urban Engineer was made shortly after the order to erect the guards came on Dec. 1, 1976.

State law requires gates at crossings with two or more tracks.

Since the additional information was not sent until January, the guards cannot be built until next summer, West said.

The Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation Commission told the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad in 1976 to install flashing signals and road gates for safety.

The C & O requested a six-month extension on the order, however, and the commission granted it on Nov. 1, 1977.

According to Bill Teszlewicz, acting manager of the state's Railroad Safety Inspection Center, the C & O wanted the extension to give the City of Plymouth time to complete the application for funds and to give the railroad time to acquire the crossing guard equipment.

Although the C & O was ordered to do the work, only the city can apply for the federal funds. Under the grant, federal money will meet 90 per cent of the cost, while the city will pay 10 per cent.

The order to erect the guards was the result of complaints from City Police Chief Tim Ford. He said he only asked for flashing lights at the crossing, however, to warn drivers of the trains.

Since the law requires gates at crossing with two or more sets of tracks, the commission could not grant Ford's request.

Many persons have objected to gates at Farmer because they would completely block traffic in downtown Plymouth even though the trains might be stopped in the area but not blocking the crossing.

Two recent accidents at the crossing show that safety measures are needed, Teszlewicz said. In November, 1974, a pick-up whose brakes failed hit a train, although there were no injuries. And in May of 1975, a woman hit a train that was backing up. Again, there were no injuries. With the six-month extension on the order expiring June 1, Teszlewicz said the file on the Farmer Street crossing was on one of his inspector's desk waiting for him to investigate when The Crier inquired last week about the case.

Canton OKs car storage

The owner of a towing service on Sheldon Road south of Michigan Avenue in Canton was granted approval to store cars in his lot following nearly six months of denial from the township board.

John Barnette was repeatedly denied site plan approval for his car storage and towing lot because the current Canton blight ordinance prohibits storage of junk cars. "Junk cars" according to the Canton ordinance are defined as any car that will not run under its own power.

"Why anyone would want to tow a car that would run beats me," said Barnette recently to the township board. "I've changed my blueprints to make neighbors happy, I've changed everything. How many times do I have to change them? It's expensive."

The blight ordinance is now being reviewed to amend the section which applies to junk cars, but in the meantime, Barnette said he would store only operable cars in his lot. Operable cars would include abandoned automobiles on township streets, cars driven by persons arrested for drunk driving and cars from the Ford Motor Company company inventory.

Barnette said he would tow disabled cars from accidents to a lot in Belleville. Barnette had been ticketed before by the township for storing inoperable (junk) cars at his lot on Sheldon.

Treasurer Anne Bradley moved to refer the case to the Zoning Board of Appeals because "it's a special use."

"I've been there and they've denied me the junkyard license," said Barnette.

"I don't want him to have a junkyard," said Trustee Brian Schwall. "But there is a need for this type (towing) of facility in Canton. We need to put inoperable cars, somewhere other than our driveways.

"If this (business) is excluded from the township, it's an illegal exclusion," Schwall noted. He moved to approve the site plan as Barnette requested.

Trustees Bradley and Eugene Daley were the only no votes. Trustee Lynn Goldsmith was absent.

June is the month for weddings and graduations, in fact it's not even a bad time of year to have a birthday.

With the help and sympathies of his friends and fellow staffers W. Edward Wendover turned 30 years old last Sunday. Celebrating at a back yard cook out, Ed received a lot of advice from his friends on "the art of growing old."

Don't worry Ed, being 30 really doesn't hurt that much. It's when the gray hair starts shining through, that the pain begins, but then maybe you won't have to worry about that.

Saturday was the big day for Crier photographer Bill Bresler and his bride, Sue Farhat. They were married at the Mercy Center in Farmington. The ceremony was beautiful of course and the reception was a great celebration. A toast to the new bride and groom - may they have many years of happiness.

Since June is a popular month for weddings, it is also at the top of the list for anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Florence Gladstone of Plymouth were married 53 years on June 20. They celebrated at a family gathering on June 17 at Webers Inn in Ann Arbor. According to Mrs. Gladstone, it was a combined celebration with many family anniversaries.

Their son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Nile Gladstone celebrated their 28th anniversary on June 17. Their granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Len Engler (Karen Gladstone) was married seven years on June 21. Other family members celebrating in June were Mr. and Mrs. William Engler who were married 35 years on June 19.

Joining in the celebration were Peg and Steve Lutz, Julie Gladstone and Jim Eatmon. Following dinner they gathered at Nile Gladstone's home on Brookline in Plymouth Township.

The Ann Nichols circle of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth had a picnic last Wednesday, June 21. It was held at the home of Isabelle Bates of Betty Hill in Plymouth.

Gail L. McKenny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. McKenny of Ivanhoe in Plymouth recently graduated from Taylor University in Upland, Indiana. She received a Bachelor of Science degree.

Canton Senior Citizens recently elected new officers for the upcoming year. They are: Claude Eaton, president; Harold Beattie, vice president; Doris Eaton, secretary; Marie Beattie, treasurer; Maude Truesdell, sunshine chairman; and Bernice Cummings, kitchen chairman.

According to Mrs. Eaton, the club has recessed for July and August, except for the kitchen band. She added "we have many exciting plans for the fall and always welcome new members."

Nicholas Ross Palice IV, son of Sharon and Nicholas Palice, of Southhampton in Canton raced in a soap box derby in Flint. He competed in six races and came in eighth place out of 21, "which isn't bad", declared his proud mother.

Township offers low interest home loans

Low interest loans for home improvement are available to Plymouth Township families until the end of summer, Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert said Friday.

The only limitation on the loans is a family's income, said Notebaert. For a family of four, the limit is $15,500 income per year, for a family of two, $12,750 is the limit.

The three per cent interest rate is applied to all the home improvement loans, which can be used for new siding on a home, a new furnace, water heater, storm windows and insulation.

The loans are from $24,000 in federal funds to be used specifically for housing improvements, said Notebaert.

New Towne elects officers

Meeting formally for the first time last week, merchants in Canton's New Towne Plaza approved by-laws and elected officers to their new New Towne Plaza Merchants' Association.

Named president was Roy Perlove, general manager of Shifman's Mens Wear. Steve Rohelie, owner of Sunny Daze gifts, was elected vice-president. Among those on hand for the group's inaugural meeting was landlord Joel Gershenson of Ramco-Gershenson Inc., who told the merchants his firm was hoping to erect a sign for the center, located on Ford Road just west of Sheldon, as soon as Canton's long-awaited sign ordinance allows.

Township still waits for new ambulance

Since awarding a bid last March, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees is still waiting for delivery of a new fire department rescue squad ambulance.

Supervisor Tom Notebaert said the original bidder, who promised delivery within 30 days, complained of the bid specifications and apparently was working with a manufacturer who had moved his factory from Michigan to North Carolina.

Said Notebaert in a letter to the Township Board, "I would like to see us throw out this bid and hopefully sue for damages."

He said another dealer has a vehicle available which would fit the township's needs. Without a township fire chief, however, Notebaert said he would ask a chief from a neighboring department for an opinion on the township's bid specifications.

Move stalled

The congregation of The First United Presbyterian Church, Plymouth will continue to worship in its Sanctuary at Main and Church Streets until July 16, when it will hold Services through the summer in the Masonic Temple, opposite Kellogg Park. The church is renovating, therefore the move is necessary. Earlier, July 2 was slated as the moving date, but building plans have brought about a change to July 16.

Nazarene vocal group plans July 2 performance

Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail will present a concert on July 2, at 6 p.m. at the church.

The group, called Seeds of Faith, directed by Bob Kring, is a part of Faith-n-Company, Inc. (youth organization) from Plymouth Church of the Nazarene. This group has performed at the Northville Talent Show, Tonquish Manor for senior citizens, various churches in Eastern Michigan and are active in the local church congregation.

The public is invited to hear the group of teenagers at the Home Concert, at the Church of the Nazarene, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth.

Jr. cage program cut

The Saturday morning basketball program of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association was cut by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

The cut was one of over 30 reductions the board made to reduce costs in the wake of the defeat of the one and one-half extra mills on the June 12 ballot.

Over 1,000 youngsters from grades three through 12 will be affected by the $8,000 cut.

Under the PCJBA program, games are played on Saturday morning through the winter, while practices are scheduled weekday evenings.

Cindy Merrifield, president of the Junior basketball association, said she was unsure how the program would adjust. "We may just have one game per week, instead of the game and practice before," she said.

"But I don't see how it can be done, especially for the younger grades who need a practice session. It's a learning experience," she added.

"We'll probably have to raise our registration fee," she said. "The (PCJBA) board will be getting together this week to go over it."

She said board members would discuss the possibility of raising the money to pay the custodians and other costs of keeping the schools open in an effort to save Saturday basketball.

The board of education also cut from next year's budget a $4,000 contribution to the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association.

Boxing brothers batter, beat foes

BY ERIC OLSON

Have you ever visited a locker room before a boxing match? If you haven't you might expect the boxers to be shadow boxing vigorously to work up a sweat, the coaches and trainers shouting encouragement, or the fighters yelling to psych themselves up.

But none of that happened before Brian Cole, a 14-year-old ninth grader at Salem, and his brother Eric Cole, a 13-year-old East Middle School student, took the ring.

Brian was one of three boxers who were lying motionless on the locker room benches while Eric's hands were being taped by trainer-coach Roosevelt "Stacey" McKinley.

"Jab, jab, jab," said McKinley breaking the silence, "if he backs away then come at him."

Eric asked for more tape, but McKinley refused, saying that you want him to feel your knuckles. McKinley then ordered Eric to lie down on the benches.

"I have them lie down to get rest and relaxation," explained McKinley. "It also saves energy."

Brian, in the 120-pound weight class, and Eric, in the 90 pound division, both won their bouts in a match between the Livonia Boxing Club and the Ann Arbor Boxing Club to which the Coles belong, held last Tuesday at the Livonia Spree ice arena. Eric, Class C State Junior Olympic champion, won on a unanimous decision while Brian won in a split decision. The wins left Eric at 2-0 and Brian at 1-2.

"I was always getting into fights in school in the seventh grade so my older brother Scott told me to take up boxing," said Brian. "In the eighth grade I watched a lot of fights on TV and that summer I went down to see Micky Goodwill fight at Cobo Hall and that's what really got me started."

"I sort of got into it because of my brother," said Eric. "I think it is a real exciting sport."

Their mother is as excited about the sport as her sons.

"I'm glad they took an interest in something - they have something to do," stated Jean Cole. "Boxing is a team sport as well as a individual sport and it takes tremendous discipline. There can't be any smoking or drinking."

The discipline involves a rigorous training schedule. The Club trains five nights a week at the Intramural building in Ann Arbor. The routine begins with hand taping and muscle stretching which is followed by shadow boxing and a warm-up with the big gloves, 16 ounce.

Next comes the most important phase - work on the floor. This is when McKinley teaches combinations such as jab-uppercut and footwork.

"This is where you learn how to fight," said Brian. "You get experience from the ring, but you learn from practice."

After the floor work Brian and Eric spar four three-minute rounds. Brian insists, "I take it easy on Eric."

Weight training follows with a series of five eight-minute lifts. The practice is ended by several exercises. Eric and

Coles are Olympic hopefuls

Brian also get up at 6:30 a.m. to run hard for two miles and jump rope for four minutes. The Coles also have a special diet to follow which forbids any fried foods.

All of the Coles say they are not afraid of being hurt in the ring - Brian "No, I'm not afraid of getting hurt. You don't have to get hurt if you block, counter punch, and hit first. If I'm over-matched in a bout then that gives me a chance to improve and if my opponent is over-matched then I have no sympathy."

Eric: "I'm not afraid. You never get hurt if you stick first."

Jean: "Never afraid, its not as violent as football and hockey. They fought two lefthanders in Livonia and neither one (Brian or Eric) had a mark on his face afterwards."

Brian says that he is interested in most of the other sports and Eric says that he likes basketball, adding, "I have to be careful when I play because it is easy to sprain a finger."

"He's a very good all around boxer," says McKinley of Eric. "He has lots of natural ability and he can punch with both hands. He lands his punches with determination and he always gives 100 percent. In fact, I have to keep him from over-training. At this time he's a prospect for the 1984 Olympics."

After the 1976 Olympics there were Leon and Michael Spinks. Maybe after the 1984 Olympics there will be Eric and Brian Cole.

Trio tied for first

Lou Skotzke, Bev Green, Pauline Pryor are still tied for first place in the 6th week of Canton's Womens Golf League.

Trailing behind by one point is Silvia Dickinson. The highlight of play, was when Kay Nichols carded a 42. This betters the league record by five strokes, set last week by Green.

Helen McGee shot a 57, a personal best score, though she is expected to better this by the end of the season.

Craving to carve?

If you want to carve your name in brass, and help the Canton and Salem high school swimmers at the same time, here's your chance.

To raise money for an electronic timing system, the swim program at CEP will be hanging a walnut plaque in the Canton pool area with the name of donors engraved in brass.

"We're asking everyone in the community to help us," said Bill Faunce, Canton varsity boys swim coach.

The goal of the fundraising effort is $10,000. To donate, contact any varsity swimmer at Canton or Salem, or call Faunce at 453-2738.

Elks aid junior cagers

A CHECK FOR $1,000 was donated by the Plymouth Elks to the Plymouth Canton Junior Basketball Association. Receiving the check from Plymouth Elks Grand Marshall is Robert Rienas (right) of the PCJBA. The money will be used to defray costs in the four sports programs the association sponsors - basketball, hockey, football and baseball.

Jaycee parade coming

in the parade this year.

Cars will be another highlight of this year's parade - William Maybury will drive "the only Rolls Royce in the City of Plymouth". Harold Martin will be driving a 1950 Pontiac and an antique bicycle from Jerry's Bike Shop will also be featured. Of course, clowns will also be part of this year's parade.

Schools borrow

The National Bank of Detroit was awarded Monday night a bid to lend the Plymouth-Canton School District $7,600,000.

The bank's bid of 4.73 per cent interest was lower than the First National Bank of Plymouth (4.9 per cent) and Michigan National Bank (4.98 per cent).

The money is needed to meet current operating expenses and the loan will be paid off by future tax revenues, school officials said.

The Jaycees are still soliciting donations to cover the cost of the parade and fireworks.

Man sentenced for winter theft

A Detroit man was sentenced last week to six and one-half to 10 years in jail for breaking and entering a Plymouth store on Jan. 18, and afterwards leading police on a high-speed chase.

Julius Carson, 27, of Detroit, was sentenced by Judge Michael Stacey in Wayne County Circuit Court on June 21.

Students cited

The following Canton High School students were awarded keys for excellence in the vocational auto department recently at a class picnic:

Kiwanians donate tent

S'craft arts festival begins

The four-week program, which runs through July 28, will feature readings by a pair of Michigan poets, John Woods and Eric Greinke, as well as a photographic exhibition, July 10-12 in the college's Upper Waterman Center.

Local residents are invited to participate in workshops in poetry, fiction, basketry taught by Theresa Ohno of Plymouth, advanced photographic techniques, printmaking, acting and marionette theatre taught by Raymond Masters of Plymouth.

Schools buy bus radios

Dispatch radios were bought for 14 new Plymouth-Canton school buses Monday night by the Board of Education.

RCA, with a bid of $16,058, was awarded the contract to install the radios before the start of the 1978-79 school year.

The radios will be used when buses breakdown, to dispatch buses to pick up extra children, to report accidents, and for other matters, school officials said.

Smoke fills Penniman shops

A small fire apparently caused by the spontaneous combustion of some paint rags filled an empty storefront of the Penniman Avenue shops, 825 Penniman, with smoke late Saturday

Penniman Avenue shop owners said the incident caused little damage, however. Plymouth firefighters who were on the scene within moments, used fans to clear the smoke.

Paving due

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education awarded the Ypsilanti Asphalt Paving Company a contract to patch the driveways of 12 schools Monday night.

The company offered a low bid of $11,806.

Bags offered

Smoke fills Thrifty Acres

works display. About 1,500 shoppers had been through the store that day, she said, adding, "it was a busy day."

Some $20,000 worth of smoke bombs and sparklers - Class C fireworks - were set off, according to Chief Paulun. The fire was doused in 30 minutes, but not before it had burned through several ceiling panels and filled the store with smoke.

Thrifty Acres employes and clean-up crews worked through Thursday night to clear more than an inch of water from the store's floor. The seven-acre complex re-opened Friday morning at 8 a.m.

"That sprinkler system put a helluva stop to the fire," one firefighter said. The store has an automatic, heat-activated sprinkler system.

The Canton Fire Department called out its entire force of 31 firefighters, and all four trucks were on the scene in minutes, said Paulun. City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township fire trucks were also summoned, and firefighters from Wayne and Westland supplied air tanks for local firefighters working to clear the smoke-filled building.

Shoppers standing in nearby check-out counters said they heard a whoosh, followed by some crackling, then the fireworks went off.

"It was like a snap, crackle, pop," said Paulun. "Then the fire began." Carl Silvers, former commander of the Canton Police Department, was shopping in an adjacent aisle when the explosion occurred and was one of the first persons to rush to the scene with a fire extinguisher.

Employes began evacuating shoppers immediately. Customers in the home improvement section toward the rear of the store were trapped until the department manager led them out through a back door.

A few shoppers didn't want to leave their packages behind, said one bystander. However, one fire official said, "we're just worried about getting the people out." Employes went up and down the aisles several times to make sure no one was left inside.

Ron Stepec, manager of the pet and garden department, carried outside several cages of parakeets and lovebirds. All the birds survived.

"The employes did an outstanding job," said Thrifty Acres store manager Brian Michmerhuizen. "They evacuated people in minutes.

The police and fire departments did a fine job of helping us out."

Michmerhuizen said all fireworks displays have been pulled from the chain's 28 stores in Michigan. Paulun said the store had been inspected last Tuesday and was found in compliance with a new Canton ordinance which prohibits the sale of fireworks to minors.

Developer seeks rezoning to build in western Canton

south of Ford Road on the west side. Two other developments, Sunflower Village and Country Estates are north of Ford Road.

Republic Development Corporation had first asked the planning commission to rezone the parcels from 100 foot lots to commercial. That request was denied because the use was "not compatible", according to Planning Commission chairman Bob Padgett.

The present rezoning request is to rezone the two parcels from single family residential 100 foot lots to single family 70 foot lots.

The two parcels encompass the northwest commercial corner at Ford and Canton Center as well as a few residential acres with existing farms and homes.

"We should rezone all the land," said Bart Berg. "If that corner is commercial now, we should establish zoning to provide for commercial and residential alike once the roads are widened."

The land is in a 'buffer zone' on the proposed land use map the township has yet to adopt. The buffer zone would be a mix of developments to separate the eastern half of Canton, now developing, from the agricultural land west of Saltz Road which may yet be used for township open space.

A public hearing was scheduled by a 6-1 vote, with Commissioner Joyce Willis objecting. She said the 70 foot lot rezoning request did not comply with zoning on the proposed zoning map the township is revising (that map calls for a minimum of 80 foot lots.)

Commissioners, by requesting the hearing for 70 foot lots, could increase the size of the lots to 80 feet after the public hearing.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Proposed Amendments to the Zoning Text and Ordinance of The Charter Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Act 184 of the Public Acts of Michigan as amended, and pursuant to the Zoning Ordinance of the Charter Township of Canton that the Planning Commission of the Charter Township of Canton will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, July 24, 1978 at the Canton Township Hall, 128 Canton Center Road at 8:00 p.m. on the following proposed amendments to the Zoning Ordinance:

Consideration of the rezoning of 1.67 acres on the south side of Joy Road west of Sheldon, being in the north quarter of section 3, from R-1C Residential to C-2 General Business. The parcel is 240' wide and 303' deep.

Consideration of a proposed amendment to the Forest Trails planned unit development agreement. Property is located on the south side of Joy Road and west of Sheldon Road. - Delete present reference to Footnote "M" on the schedule of regulations, Article XVIII, and delete Footnote "M", in the footnotes to schedule of regulations, Article XVIII.
- Add new Footnote "M" to term front, under minimum yard spaces in Article XVIII schedule of regulations and add a new Footnote "M" to footnotes to schedule of regulations, Article XVIII as follows:

M. All yards abutting upon a public street shall be considered as front yard for setback purposes except in commercial districts on corner lots, the side setback from the side street need not be greater than one-half the required front setback.

Comments on the proposed changes may be made in writing prior to the scheduled hearing date, and submitted to the Township's Administrative Offices at 44508 Geddes Road and/or comments may be given at the time of the hearing.
