Board to vote Monday

School bands to reunite?

BY CHAS CHILD

A one-year experiment with separate concert and varsity bands for Salem and Canton high schools may end next week.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is due

Monday to decide to rejoin the bands and return to basis for the bands that mix Canton and Salem musicians on all levels.

Now, there are five bands for the two high schools: a symphony band for the whole Centennial Educational Park, varsity bands for both Salem and Canton, and concert bands for the two schools.

The proposal would reduce the number of bands to four, all on a Park-wide basis: a symphony, concert, varsity, and cadet band.

Similar to the arrangement used two-years ago, the plan was recommended to the superintendent by the two principals at CEP, and by the band director, James Griffith.

Canton High Principal Kent Buikema said splitting the band didn't work because with five bands instead of four, the range of abilities in the varsity and concert bands was too wide.

"The music we had to choose for the bands was too hard for some of the players and not challenging enough for the top musicians," he said. Reducing the number of bands would solve this problem, he said.

Besides this, fewer students signed up for band next year because the traditional schedule introduced at the Park reduced the number of electives a student could take, said Buikema.

The board was originally scheduled to decide the matter at its last regular meeting on June 26. The date was changed to allow further study by the office of Supt. Mike Hoben.

"By splitting the bands, we hoped to give identity to the two schools," Buikema said. "But we found that identity comes from the marching band."

There has been some talk of splitting the marching band, which serves both schools, but one large band would be better and cheaper than two small ones, said the principal.

Vandals wreak havoc on school bus fleet

Vandals caused about $3,000 worth of damage to 32 Plymouth-Canton school buses last week.

However, the destruction at the yard at 1024 Mill St. caused only a few late bus runs Thursday morning.

According to police, the damage was done sometime between 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:40 a.m. Thursday.

Tires were flattened, fire extinguishers were squirted into bus gas tanks, seats were torn, road reflector kits were damaged, and mirrors were damaged by the vandals.

Because it was summer and only half the bus fleet is used, alternate vehicles were pressed into service, and there were only a few late runs on Thursday, said Robert Houghton, supervisor of the bus yard.

The fire extinguishers used to squirt the gas tanks came from the buses themselves, said Houghton. "One of the vans damaged was just delivered the night before," he said.

"This is the worst we've ever been hit," said Houghton. "Eventually we're going to have to improve the security measures at the bus yard."

Landowners sue to stop sewer vote

By HANK MEIJER

Three property owners who want sanitary sewers extended to their areas of western Plymouth Township are suing the township to keep a referendum scheduled for the Aug. 8 ballot from deciding the issue.

The suit, filed last week in Wayne County Circuit Court, is actually a refile of a suit first brought six years ago. It asks the court to order the township to a show-cause hearing to determine if an injunction should be issued to cancel the Aug. 8 vote.

In question is a proposal to approve a bond issue financing a $2.8 million sewer extension west of Sheldon Road to the Plymouth Hills subdivision on Beck between Powell and North Territorial and into other, still largely-rural western areas. Called for in the same project is an additional sewer line in the populous Lake Pointe area in the northeastern corner of the township.

Filing the suit are builder Loren (Bud) Gould, farmer Loyd Sharland and Plymouth Hills Homeowners Association President Leo Schultz. If the Aug. 8 vote is not cancelled and the bond issue is then rejected, the three have asked that the sewer be extended anyway under a law which does not allow voters to decide the need for such a project.

As approved by the township Board of Trustees earlier this year, the proposal under which bonding was sought allowed township residents to petition for a referendum on the sewer extension. Petitions were circulated by a homeowner group, the Community Improvement Association, and enough signatures were gathered to force the vote.

Township officials say they are caught in the middle in the controversy—they are under court order to go ahead with the sewers, but must nonetheless permit the vote because of the route under which they had earlier approved the sewer extension.

The suit filed six years ago by another group of property owners headed by Greg Donovan and a group known as the Plymouth Center Stewardship Association was set aside after township officials agreed to proceed with the sewer construction, but only last year did they complete right-of-way acquisition along the

Transformer shift blacks out Canton

At 9:45 p.m. Thursday last week, the lights went out in nearly all of Canton. They didn't come back on again until 1:30 a.m. Friday, said an Edison spokesman, although some Canton residents reported lights on as late as 3:30 a.m.

According to one Detroit Edison spokesman, the lights went out when a Wayne County substation transformer was taken out for a maintenance check, and the other transformer couldn't take the load. "It hit most of Canton (blackout)," said the spokesman.

The area south of Joy and between Haggerty to Beck Road was out. The Canton Police Department, located on Geddes Road, however, had its lights on.

Meijer Thrifty Acres and Kroger Grocery Store stored perishables in refrigerated trucks.

"We called extra men out to help us handle traffic at the lights," said Canton Police Chief Walter MacGregor. "Nothing much." MacGregor said there were no robberies and that the night was uneventful. "It went fine as frog's hair," he noted.

City to vote on volts

City of Plymouth voters will decide during the Aug. 8 primary whether the Detroit Edison should be allowed to operate its electricity franchise here for the next 30 years.

The Plymouth City Commission took the necessary steps a few weeks ago to put the question on the ballot. According to city officials, the question is mainly a rhetorical one: if voters turn the franchise request down, the city and surrounding areas won't have electricity. City officials have said it is unlikely the request will be turned down by the voters, as the franchise will likely be granted anyway.

School posts may change

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is due to elect new officers at its regular meeting Monday, although few expect broad changes.

Of the four officers — president, vice president, treasurer and secretary — only Secretary Flossie Tonda has said she would not like to keep her job. President Tom Yack said he would like to continue, as did Vice President Richard Arlen, and Treasurer Steve Harper.

Possible replacements for Tonda that have been mentioned by board members included the two newest members of the board, Elaine Kirchgatter and Carol Davis.

"I've had my turn and I've enjoyed it very much," said Tonda. "But I believe the duties should be shared."

Canton may need a home for its dogs

Canton is going to the dogs, township officials learned last week when the director of the Westland Humane Shelter told them that "dogs were more than a little problem" in Canton, and the Westland facility might not be able to take Canton strays next year.

Canton currently pays $150 per month to keep stray dogs in the Westland shelter, sharing it with Westland and Livonia.

But the Michigan Humane Society, directors of the shelter, may not renew Canton's contract next year, according to Tom Goodman, manager of Westland's shelter.

"They (Michigan Humane Society) wants to change its dog pound image to an adoption image," Goodman said. "They may cancel Canton's contract or raise its prices."

Canton's contract lasted for five years, however, any new contract would be for one year at a time.

Canton has plans to build its own animal shelter. Plymouth Township had been taking its strays to Parkway Veterinary Clinic until this year, when officials were told the clinic didn't have enough room for township strays.

Pumper eyed

Plymouth Township trustees are expected at their meeting July 11 to consider the purchase of a $65,000 pumper for the township fire department.

Township Supervisor Tom Notebeart proposed the purchase of the unit at the board of trustees' meeting last week, but Trustee Maurice Breen objected to the purchase on the basis of Notebeart's single price quote. The board agreed to delay action until other quotes could be sought, but Notebeart told The Crier this week that only one manufacturer, American LaFrance, builds the vehicle township officials say meets their specifications in that price range.

The pumper is similar to four now in use in Canton Township.

RR gates for Farmer nothing new to city

When the advisability of adding crossing gates to the Farmer Street C&O Railroad crossing was studied 30 years ago, the city decided it was a bad idea.

According to Bill Hartmann, former mayor of Plymouth, the city studied the idea in 1946-47 just as it is doing now.

"We found they couldn't put the Block (which triggers the gates to go down) far enough North because of the yard being so close," Hartmann recalled.

"That meant the train would be at the crossing before the gates were down or else the gates would always be down," he said.

Currently the city is looking into providing gates at the crossing because Police Chief Tim Ford has maintained it is dangerous being unmarked by signals.

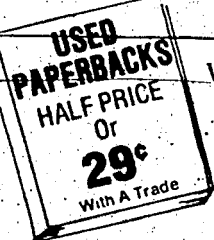

Ford sought flashing lights for the crossing but not gates — realizing that the closeness of the rail yard train traffic to the Farmer Street crossing could mean the gates would be down most of the time. However, state law requires gates as well as the flashers when more than one track is in use at the crossing.

Canton residents seek home repairs

Several Canton homeowners appeared again last Tuesday before the Canton Board of Trustees to complain of deficiencies in their subdivision homes, but Supervisor Harold Stein reported that all but few of the registered complaints had been resolved.

A letter from the Wayne County Road Commission told five township builders they were responsible for keeping streets in Sunflower Subdivision clean from "all material and debris," in response to homeowners' dirty streets complaints.

"This letter will serve as notice to you to proceed immediately to clean all pavements on streets where residents live," said Wayne County

"The township is helpless to interfere in private enterprise," said Canton Supervisor Harold Stein to homeowners. "The township's hands are tied."

Engineer William LaGosh. LaGosh added that builders had 10 days to clean up the streets or they would be billed by the county, who would then do the work.

The five builders are Beauchum and Roeser Homes Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, Crescendo Homes of Madison Heights, Starlight Homes, Southfield, James Bonadeo of Detroit, and Norman Long Inc. of Southfield.

"No apparent effort appears to be made to remove the dirt," said the letter. "Much of this dirt will end up in the storm sewers and the ultimate cleaning of those is also your responsibility. Any spillover into the gutter should be cleaned out immediately with a hand shovel and broom," the letter added.

Homeowners from other

Subdivisions cited broken pavement and lengthy waits for their homes.

Joe Washnock, who said he had signed with Pebble Builders to construct a home for him in the Franklin Palmer subdivision, said the builder had offered "four or five times to buy the house back."

"I finally painted the inside of the house myself yesterday," Washnock told the board. "Is there anything I can do? They said they would start building in March of 77, but they didn't begin until September."

"The township is helpless to interfere in a private enterprise," said Stein. "There is legislation now being introduced to help homeowners. But the township's hands are tied." Cont. on pg. 24

Sewers should serve everyone

Plymouth Township officials are caught between the rock and the hard place on the question of running new sewer lines west of Sheldon Road out to Ridge.

The courts and many of the township's own citizens who live in that still partly-rural area insist the sewers are needed. The majority of township residents, if the referendum goes the same way a similar vote did five years ago, don't want it enough to foot the bill for bonding the project.

It's the classic case of the rights of a minority threatened by the will of the majority. In this case by the will of those residents of eastern Plymouth Township whose sewers were paid for over the years by property owners in the west who are now without the same service.

Now the red flag of increasing growth overshadows the selfishness of those with the "we've got ours" philosophy. And the demand for subdividing the township's rolling western half will surely increase with the extension of sewers. But there are ways to address growth, through planning and zoning, which do not deprive property owners in the west of the same services as those in the east.

While we are not enthusiastic about developers stepping up pressure for building in the west, affidavits filed in connection with a lawsuit brought by a trio of western property owners show that state and county environmental agencies have recognized the need for improved sewers, and the court has acknowledged that need. Cost of the sewers has risen from $1.5 to $2.8 million in the 5 years since the last vote and lawsuit.

The biggest question now seems to be how soon, if township voters reject the sewer extension next month, the township will be forced to go ahead with more sewer lines anyway.

A secondary question is how much money will be lost in the meantime on legal fees and rising construction costs.

Let's ban all fireworks

EDITOR:

I am writing this letter regarding your article on "Fireworks and kids don't mix". I am fourteen years old and I do, myself, think that fireworks should be banned once again or should be sold only to adults.

I do know of some incidents when fireworks have been misused. I was a student at West Middle School in Plymouth. Some kids brought fireworks to school one day and were throwing lighted firecrackers down the stairwells to scare people. One of them hit my friend in the eyes and she was in pain for three weeks and had to wear patches over her eyes for a short time.

The last day of school five smoke bombs had been thrown into the office and burned the floor. The fire at the Meijer Thrifty Acres store, in Canton, and the explosion in the bathroom at Central Middle School proves that fireworks of any kind should not be played with by kids or sold to kids.

I think that there should

Parents make Geer worth saving

Geer Elementary School, Plymouth-Canton's two-room schoolhouse was saved from extinction Saturday by a group of dedicated parents.

With a rotting underfloor, the unique school was faced with closing its doors.

But the parents, working in cramped quarters, repaired the joists and leveled the floor. In these days, where only three candidates run for two seats on the board, and the safety committee dies for the lack of participation, their interest is remarkable.

A recent estimate put a $100,000 price tag on putting the 100-year-old building in good shape.

It would be hard to justify keeping it open at that price, but we hope that some way can be found to insure its survival. True, it only serves 45 students, but education is more than cost analyses.

The Geer parents are a good example of why.

-THE COMMUNITY CRIER

The repairs will keep Geer open next year. But beyond that, the prospects look dim.

Planning hearing necessary

When Planning Commissioner Robert Shefferley said last week that he didn't "think it is necessary" to hold a public hearing on a proposed change of land use in a Canton residential development, he was outvoted.

Residents affected by even the slightest land use change have the right to voice their opinion on it — no matter how slight any township official thinks the change may be.

Even if the commission is waiting for an opinion on the legality of holding public hearings when changes occur in a planned unit contract between the township and a developer, that's no excuse to say "we can just go ahead and vote on it ourselves."

It is gratifying to know the other commissioners don't think the public hearing unnecessary.

Cantonites are good in dark

In 1965, when the lights went out in New York, hundreds of people were trapped in the subways, highrise and elevators of that megalopolis.

In 1978, when the lights went out in suburban Canton, we hear a lot of Cantonites played cards by candlelight until the small hours of the morning. Several more sat up and worried whether their freezer and its contents were going to make it through the sweltering summer night. Some visited neighbors, and discovered conversation and the art of whiling time away.

The black-out was — this time — simply an inconvenient situation to be endured. Most residents half-heartedly welcomed the break from a predictable routine.

But we're willing to bet that should the lights go out in Canton again, the card sharks and other resourceful suburban pioneers will make the best of the dim situation.

We're proud of fife corps

EDITOR:

Do you the people of Plymouth realize how sharp and great the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps performs out-of-town? They recently performed in the Muskegon Seaway Festival Parade.

Their unique uniforms and talent earned them a spot on Channel 13 (Grand Rapids) and in the Muskegon Chronicle. We were very proud of them and pleased to see them after the two years we have been away. We are native Plymouthites living in the Muskegon area. It was a most pleasant surprise for us.

Town loves a parade

By DONNA LOMAS

Neither overcast skies nor tardy politicians could dampen the spirit of some 8,000 local residents who gathered along Main Street yesterday afternoon to watch the Plymouth Jaycees' annual Fourth of July parade.

Politicians, police, elephants, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps and the Canton Riding Club enthralled children, senior citizens and everyone in between.

"This is really something - I've never seen anything like this in my life," said a visitor from Ohio.

Police said it was a "quiet, orderly parade," and reported no disturbances.

The parade was delayed nearly an hour because some politicians arrived late, a Jaycee spokesman said, but got underway as Parade Marshall Robert Sincock passed the reviewing stand in front of Kellogg Park.

Following him was the VFW Rifle Unit, Gov. William Milliken, Supreme Court Justice G. Mennen Williams, Mayor Tom Turner and his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Reid, representing the British Consul-General in Detroit.

Residents were perched on rooftops to see clowns, antique autos, a calliope, unicycles, Indian Guides, nuns and cheerleaders go by. Parade and float judges this year included Paula Joyner, Janette Schumacher and Jerry Wendelken. Several floats and marching bands vied for the crowd's attention.

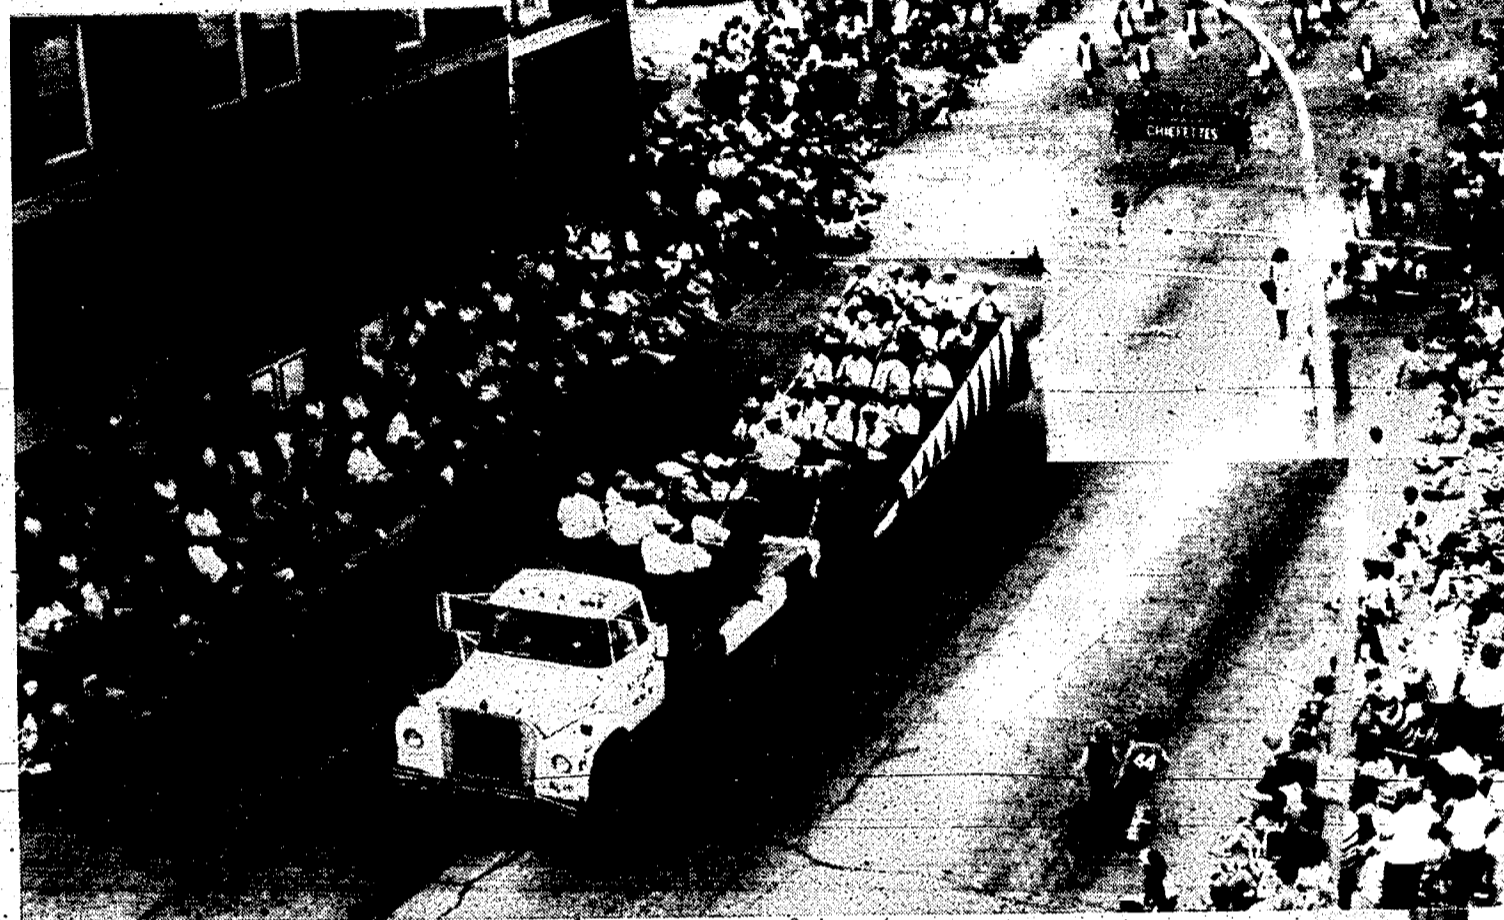

The vintage Ford Mustang in which Mayor Turner and British guest were riding broke down partway through the parade - "an embarrassment", Turner chuckled later - but the pair was graciously offered a lift from Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert, who was following close behind in a spiffy red antique Mercedes.

Following the parade, City Commissioners hosted a luncheon for the British representatives and his wife at which city officials and their guests reaffirmed the close ties with Plymouth's sister city in England.

Stein questions legality of saving farms

By DONNA LOMAS

While the newly-formed Farmland Preservation Committee Thursday discussed ways to inform farmers and Canton residents about the purchase of development rights, Canton officials agreed to spend up to $2,000 to ask an attorney if the proposed plan was legal.

"We need to ask questions like 'Can a charter township do this?', how can we approach it, how to finance it?"

said Canton Supervisor Harold Stein. "No one has ever done anything like this before. What if we get all this research done on the development rights and find out we legally can't do it?"

Cops still seek sniper

The search for a sniper who last week shot out the windshield of a Wayne County Sheriff patrol officer's car continues this week with no new leads, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

The suspect shot at Officer Carl Kuban while he was on a routine patrol of Parkview Drive near Edward Hines in Plymouth Township, Sheriff's Detectives said.

According to Wayne County Detectives, Officer Kuban saw a man with medium-length brown hair wearing a red shirt flee down a hill after the shot. Officer Kuban was not struck by the shotgun blast, detectives said.

Pop stolen

Joan Ford of N. Holbrook in Plymouth told police that her house was broken into and robbed sometime on June 23 or 24.

Stolen were a CB radio, two cases of Coca-cola, one case of 7-Up, one case of Squirt, a pocket camera, and a SLR camera, said police.

Program stimulates seniors

'College' for elderly draws pair

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Elderhostel, a short-term education program for people more than 60 years old was held recently at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Maud Piggot from Canton and Vera Mapous from Plymouth attended the program, which was the first of its kind to be held in Michigan.

"The program was tremendous," said Maud. "The people who went, went because they were interested, so we all had something in common."

Vera added that she would highly recommend the program. "We had a good time, and met many nice people from all over." She also said she wished more senior citizens would get interested in it.

The week-long program included a series of mini-courses on Michigan history, music, biofeedback and stress management, plus tours of the area. One of the requirements of the Elderhostel program is that classes are equal in content to the school's regular classes, without homework or tests. The colleges sponsoring the program also agree to keep the cost as low as possible, and not to offer classes especially for elder people.

According to Maud, everyone in the program is required to take at least one class, "but we found they were so interesting that we attended all the classes." One of the most interesting classes for her was "You are what you are when..."

"It was an exceptional learning experience, and the campus was beautiful - all up and downhill," said Vera. "If they have it again next year, I'm going."

Maud, who first learned about the program last year when reading an article about Elderhostel in Massachusetts said she also planned to attend again.

Sponsors of the program, WMU College of Health and Human Services said, "Elderhostel participants, through sessions on a college campus, recognize that they can still be active and contributing members of society."

Vera and Maud are both active in community activities and according to Vera, she is "having more fun at 69 than I've ever had in my life!"

Vera Mapous and Maud Piggot (left to right) reminisce about the fun week they spent at Elderhostel at Western Michigan University. The educational program for senior citizens age 60 and more was the first of its kind offered in Michigan. (Crier Photo by Phyllis Redfern.)

Germans to sell 'junque'

The German-American Club of Plymouth will hold a "German Junque" sale Saturday, July 22 at 10 a.m. at the IOOF Hall on Ann Arbor Trail.

According to Club President Roger Feller, it won't be a "customary or common garage sale." Many items of clothing and even a car (in running condition) have been donated for the event.

The junque sale will be the kick-off for selling tickets for the first "authentic Plymouth Octoberfest", said Feller.

That event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 30 at the Cultural Center. German beer, wine, food and dancing will be part of the Munich beer hall atmosphere, Feller said.

Club sets meetings

The Plymouth German American Club meets the third Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. in the IOOF Hall at Ann Arbor Trail and Elizabeth Street in Plymouth. The July 20 meeting will be a picnic for families at Gunsolly mill in Hines Park.

Old skull found

BY CHAS CHILD

Has Canton Man reared his ugly head again? Or is this just more skullduggery?

Mike Barnes, of 500 Parkview in Plymouth found a strange-looking skull as he whiled away a lazy Wednesday last week.

"I was just sitting on the patio when I noticed it in the bushes," said Mike. "I just walked over and picked it up."

What kind of animal was it? A cow? Horse? Or was it Canton Man, the missing link who lived in a long-forgotten subdivision built beyond the memory of man?

"My mother thinks it was an alligator, but I don't know" said Mike.

"I grew up on a farm, but I never saw anything like this," said his mother, Helen.

"There is a tooth in the back of the skull," said Mike, apparently backing up his mother's opinion.

The Barnes called the police but they didn't know the skull's identity. It is now at the University of Michigan being inspected. Don't give up hope, Canton Man.

Canton hires 2 inspectors

The hiring of two inspectors for Canton's building department was approved by the Canton Board of Trustees last week.

The officials also approved the creating of a second building inspector position, who was expected to be hired by this week, Canton Finance Director Mike Gorman said Monday.

One building inspector and one electrical inspector were hired for salaries of $16,800 each.

"The building department should be a self-sufficient department," Gorman said when recommending the additional help.

It is the fifth of July. Do you know where your flowers and vegetables are? I think some of mine are playing hide and seek underground.

During the past couple of months, most of us have been out digging in the garden, planting edibles or beautifuls. Those tiny little seeds I planted a month ago are finally beginning to sprout green leaves. I still don't understand what makes the weeds grow faster than the plants.

This is also a good time to trim the greenery which adds that perfect touch to the landscaping. I admit I have been nagging (who-me?) that we trim the shrubbery and get it in shape. But, give a man a new pair of clippers and a healthy three foot shrub soon becomes a little pile of sticks three-inches high. Oh well, it sure is fun putting in new landscaping.

The Pilgrim Garden Club is working on their own landscaping project. One of the main objectives of the club is to serve the community. They are presently involved in the beautification of the Dunning - Hough Library. Co-chairmen for the project are Dianne Bodell and Sharon Rucinski. Committees for the various projects include Jeannelle Corbin, Sue Byzryl, Kay Dividock and Pat Robinson in charge of flowers; Linda Olson, the hanging basket; Mary Streeter, bike rack; Nancy Chapman, the bench; Pat Saelzler, the sign; Jan Dersey, brick-ing the south side of the library; and Cheryl Gibbons was in charge of the work sheet.

Remember to mark July 15 on your calendar for Dearie Days in Old Village. The dance will be held Saturday evening from 7 p.m. to midnight at the Cultural Center. Tickets can be purchased at The Sound Station in Canton, First National Bank of Plymouth, Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, any Old Village merchant and through the mail by calling 59-3410.

The German American Club of Plymouth recently installed officers for the coming year. The new officers are: Roger Feller, president; Maria Mulzer, vice president; Edith Scherer, secretary; Mary Ann Sudhoff, treasurer; L. John Miller and Robert Fitzner, auditors.

Students from Plymouth who will be freshmen at Western Michigan University this fall have completed a three day orientation program there. Getting acquainted with the campus and the programs were Alan Baskins, Kathy Dillon, Lori Erickson, Robert Hissom, Michael Nyhus, James Ross, Gregory Davis, Michael Jones, Kathleen Denomme, Lorie Vick and Julie Jahn.

Winners of the 1977-78 spelling bee at Pioneer Middle School were: first place - Stacey Miceli, and a three way tie for second place between Flo Beggs, Pam Wojtan and Kurt Kuster. All the second place winners misspelled the same word, "automation."

"TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE"

You have agreed to purchase a house or piece of property. You have discussed with the seller the importance of a definite settlement date. Whether the reason is personal or for business, it makes no difference. But if closing is important within a certain time limit, be sure that the phrase, "time is of the essence" is inserted into the sales agreement.

If this key phrase is not included, then either the buyer or seller can delay settlement for a "reasonable" time. What may be reasonable for one party may be unreasonable for the other. At this juncture, it may become a matter for the court to settle.

Glimpse at yesterday

ACCORDING TO doctors in Plymouth, at the turn of the century, Tonquish Creek running open through the center of Plymouth was a mosquito-breeding, disease-carrying nuisance. It wasn't until 1939 the city tilled over the creek and changed the face of the city forever. The pictures above show the before and after of the creek covering.

If the picture were to be taken today, you would be standing near the liftgate by an office supply store facing Central Parking Lot. The 1939 picture shows a barn and few sheds still existing, along with some graceful trees. At far right, above the 'Huston Hardware' sign are renovated apartments today called 'Joppa Place'. The tall building at far left is the old Penniman and Allen (P&A) Theatre that was torn down after a fire destroyed a clothing store and restaurant next to it. proposed sewer lines.

The August referendum, the property owners fear, might be a majority of township residents opposed the sale of bonds to finance the additional sewers.

Supporters of the sewer extension claim that the matter should not be subjected to a vote, because as property owners they supported earlier bond issues which built sewers in other sections of the township. They say they are being penalized because residents whose sewers they helped underwrite are now denying them the same services because extending sewers out to Ridge Road may spur more residential growth in the western areas.

And Plymouth Hills residents, who have appeared before the township board several times in recent years to plead their case, say that insuring the health and welfare of residents of the subdivision demands the sewer line. The new suit includes affidavits from the Wayne County Health Department's environmental health division and the state Department of Natural Resources which say the sewer is needed.

A preliminary hearing in the suit will be held before Circuit Judge John R. Kirwan Monday, July 10 at 2 p.m. in the City-County Building in Detroit. Representing the property owners is attorney Edward Draugelis of Plymouth. Plymouth Township Attorney Donald Morgan is expected to appear on the township's behalf.

A SHOPPING CENTER on Joy Road just east of I-275 in Canton is scheduled to begin this month. The commercial center is called the Pine Tree Plaza and will cover 28,000 square feet. According to Plaza owner, William Cramner, the center will be two blocks east of Honeytree Apartments and the Canton Gardens apartment complex. A major tenant in the shopping plaza said Cramner is the Quick-Pik Convenience store.

Parents save Geer School

BY CHAS CHILD

One of America's oldest traditions — the one-room schoolhouse — is alive and well in Plymouth-Canton — for one more year, anyway.

With a rotten underfloor, Geer School, in the far western edge of the school district, was in danger of being closed for safety reasons.

But the parents of the school rallied and on Saturday repaired the floor joists and replaced the flooring.

The labor of love will keep Geer open next year, but its future beyond that is in doubt. Because it will take an estimated $100,000 to bring it up to code, Geer may be phased out by 1981-82.

"It's a unique school," said Joan Wilson, who has two children attending Geer. "The kids get a fantastic education."

The school is not strictly a one-room building. It has two classrooms, serving 45 students from first through fifth grade. However, the atmosphere still more closely resembles the old-fashioned school that was a rural common place 100 years ago, than a modern elementary with 500 or 600 pupils.

In one classroom at Geer, the first and second graders are taught, and in the other, the third through fifth grade students meet.

"The kids in the different grades learn they have to get along," said Mrs. Wilson, whose husband led the work detail Saturday morning. "They also learn to help the younger children."

"Geer has a self-sustaining atmosphere which makes it unique," said Carrol Nichols, who, as principal of Bird Elementary School, doubles as Geer's principal.

"The social activities of the school brings people together at Geer," he said. "The spring picnic usually includes grandparents and high school and middle school students. Also, the children realize it is unique and enjoy it."

Since the 100-year-old school has been in danger of closing before, Mrs. Wilson said the children have also learned to fight to keep it open.

"They worked hard for the school raffle to raise money," she said.

Besides repairing the rotten joists with material donated by his company, Wilson and his crew of parents also leveled the floor wherever possible. The Geer PTO plans to install smoke detectors in the building, too.

The school's maintenance department will rewire parts of the school and line the furnace room with fire retardant, which will cost from $250 to $450, according to a school report.

What is the future of Geer? According to the school's architect, John Culotta, it would cost $100,000 to bring this building up to code to enable the school district to utilize this building as an educational facility."

Other possible uses that were considered at a meeting of school staff and Geer parents were a nursery school and donating it to Superior Township Historical Society.

For September, however, Nichols said he was trying to cut costs at Geer by altering the curriculum. The final form of these changes, have yet to be made, he said.

So, the one-room schoolhouse will continue, but with a very uncertain future.

WITH ONLY inches to spare, Al Krugler (left) and Donn Wilson install a new support beam under the floor at Geer

Rich strides to victory in Plymouth race

BRUCE RICH crosses the finish line first.

It wasn't Marathon to Athens - some 26 miles - and no runners died from exhaustion, but the five-mile Northville to Plymouth Marathon run yesterday had plenty of excitement.

A field of 103 gathered in Northville at the starting line and were off at 9:45 a.m. Twenty-five minutes and 45 seconds later, Bruce Rich of Canton Township broke the tape to win the race.

Rich, who now runs for the Great Lakes Track Club out of Ann Arbor, also ran for his high school, Portage Northern, and at Kalamazoo College. Earlier this year Rich placed 100th in the Boston Marathon.

"This is the first time I've run in a while," said Rich after the race. "I've been injured. I tore a tendon in my ankle and I've had a lot of achilles tendon problems."

Paul Beford was second, a half minute behind Rich, and John Coran edged Jim Beford by two strides for third place. Other finishers were John Anderson in sixth, Dan Skinner in seventh, Dave Spitz (former Canton High track coach) in eighth, and Keith Pederson edged John Monagle at the finish for ninth place.

Cheryl McKettrick, a senior at Bishop Borgess High School, was the first woman to finish as she came in at 34 minutes flat.

"I was surprised because I didn't know what to expect," said McKettrick. "I've been running only two or three miles since June, but I felt good. The weather was real good - maybe a little warmer."

Rich's time was the only one that was clocked accurately - as he, being the first runner, was timed with a stopwatch. The remaining runners were to be timed with a digital clock and the runners' times were to be called off as they crossed the finish line, but the clock malfunctioned so the times had to be approximated.

"When the police didn't put anyone at the Seven Mile Road intersection to insure the runners safety as planned, I had to put the man who was to call off the times at that intersection to watch the runners," explained Marathon Director Mike Beauchamp.

After the race several runners offered suggestions on how to improve the race. Many said they would like a more clearly marked route, a timer at the halfway point, and a wider finish line.

"I'm hesitant to criticize the race because it is only their second year," said Rich. "I'm not trying to shoot down the race, but the police did a poor job blocking off the traffic and there were no markings."

"When I first saw the finish line area I thought it was up this way," said Rich pointing up North Mill. "I thought this road (Starkwheater) was blocked off because of the police car and the roadblocks. There was only about three feet to run through to get to the finish line."

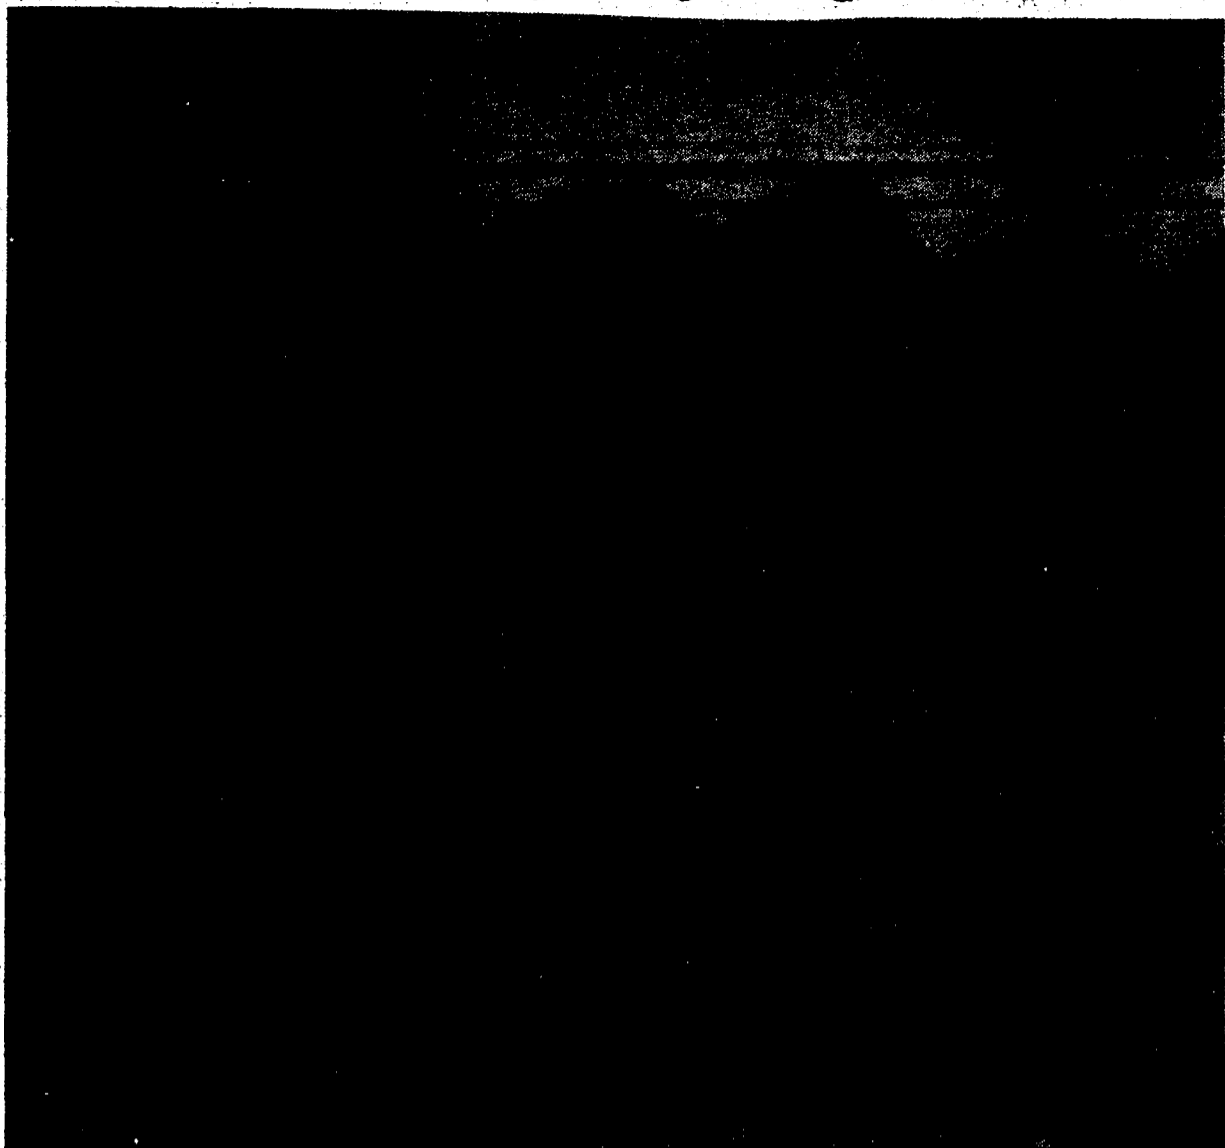

Rich is undecided on running in next year's Northville-Plymouth marathon, but he said that he is planning to run in the Boston Marathon next year and in 1980.

THEY'RE OFF. One hundred and three strong, the racers leave downtown Northville in the race yesterday morning.

Merchants victors in Mantle play

After a four week delay due to Canton High's play in the state baseball playoffs Canton's Mickey Mantle team, the Plymouth Merchants, finally got their season under way last week.

The Merchants won the three games that they played as they outscored their opponents 46-15. On Thursday they downed Dearborn Hts. Fairlane 10-3, on Friday they fried South Lyon, 16-6, and on Saturday they bombed Catholic Central 20-6.

Canton blew the games open early as they scored five runs in the first inning of each game.

Against South Lyon, Steve Eddy headed the 15 hit offense with his four for four hitting for the day. He had two triples and two singles. Steve Gray added three hits and three runs in the win.

Gray went four for five against Catholic Central and tallied five runs. Al Lupinski smacked four hits, one of which was a three run homer, while he scored four times.

Mickey Mantle teams are comprised of players 16 years and under.

Batman is in, are you?

"Holy batastrophy Batman, we haven't signed up for The Community Crier tennis tournament yet."

"Yes, I know Robin. But we still have time because the entry deadline isn't until 5 p.m. on Aug. 2.

"Holy alright, Batman. We can play doubles together and we can get Batgirl and Aunt Harriett to play mixed doubles with us."

"I'll batflip you for Batgirl."

Now that the Caped Crusaders have signed up, why don't you? Hop on the batphone and call 455-6620 or send your entry form by batmail to City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, 525 Farmer Street.

The tournament will be held on Aug. 4, 5, and 6 is open to all Plymouth-Canton Community School District residents with a cost of $2 per person per event. All matches will be held at the Canton High tennis courts.

The age divisions for men and women are: 10-12 under, 13-15 and under, 16 and over, 35 and over, doubles, and mixed doubles.

Players are limited to one singles and two doubles categories. There must be six players or teams in a division before it will be opened.

Players are expected to furnish three USTA approved new tennis balls.

Stay tuned until next week to find out who gets Batgirl. Same Batpaper, same Batsettion.

Tennis novices have a chance to compete against other beginners in the upcoming City of Plymouth Novice Tennis Tournament.

The event will be held on July 14, 15, and 16 is open to all players who have never reached the quarter-finals of a tournament or won a high school or college tennis letter.

Registration forms are available at the Cultural Center, 525 Farmer in Plymouth.

Canton advances in Koufax, 9-2

By ERIC OLSON

The Canton Koufax baseball team survived the first round of competition in the Plymouth-Canton tournament by upending Windsor Mc-Mac 9-2 Monday night at Ford Park in Livonia. It was their second win in three tries on the day. Earlier they defeated Northville 6-4 and lost to Lansing 3-2.

However, the Salem Koufax nine was not as fortunate as they were eliminated Monday night at the Central Middle School field 6-5 by Northville. Salem also split its first two games as they beat Windsor Mc-Mac 5-2 and lost to Livonia.

Leading the rout against Windsor Mc-Mac for Canton was Danny Smith who fired a complete game victory and added a home run. Billy Hanis, Dave Malke, and Keith Stone helped fuel the nine run attack with basehits.

In the 3-2 loss to Lansing, Hanis took the loss in going the distance and Steve Johnson and Stone paced Canton with two hits apiece.

Reliever Keith Braun hurled Canton past Northville as he came on for starting pitcher Craig Champagne in the third inning and allowed just two hits over the last five innings. He struck out seven.

A home run and a single by Chris Johnson, a triple by Shawn Peng, and a double by John Blanchard backed the pitching of John Penders in Salem's 5-2 win over Windsor Mc-Mac.

Against Northville Salem held a 5-3 lead in the seventh inning, but losing pitcher Art Lokar walked the bases loaded and then surrendered a triple. Bob Pitaway who doubled had the lone Salem extra base hit.

PG. 24 Canton land group organizes to answer queries

Farmland Preservation Committee Chairman Bob Padgett said Thursday the key to the Preservation Committee was its "responsibility for a public education program" on development rights.

The committee will meet again July 12 to begin answering the most-asked questions about farm rights purchases.

"Some people have told me they they think this program is going to start tomorrow," said Mary Houk, committee member. "If we told people we are working on it slowly, wouldn't that help?"

"People in subdivisions and apartment dwellers need to be informed, too, they have a lot of misconceptions about this," noted Bill Gilmore.

During the month of July, the preservation Committee will be gathering information on development rights question and begin to prepare a slide show depicting the pros and cons of buying development rights from farmers in western Canton.

In August, handouts will be printed of the questions and their answers as well as copies of studies and reports already completed on growth and land use in Canton.

In September, the group hopes to circulate Canton giving talks to civic and service clubs as well as schools and homeowner groups.

Committee members are Padgett, chairman; Bart Berg, Bill Gilmore, Mary Hauk and Gary Sands. Two representatives from county-based newspapers are also on the committee. The committee will also use several resources from the township government level, as well as a growth specialist attorney and a newscaster who lives in Canton.

Canton homeowners chide builders

"We are trying to exert reasonable pressure on the builders," said Clerk John Flodin. Flodin said that if the township tried to prohibit the builders from building in the township, the courts would find that illegal.

Blood drive Sat.

The second annual St. John Neuman Catholic Church blood drive will be held at Miller School Saturday July 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," Flodin commented.

"People beg us for temporary occupancy permits and once they get in their homes, discover that the things they didn't care about before - like unfinished driveways, no grading - bother them now," he added.

Township officials said the building department stopped issuing temporary occupancy permits June 1.

One resident told the township board his signature on the temporary occupancy permit was forged. Stein denied it, saying "only the holder not the homeowner needs to sign that permit. I don't know why anyone would forge your name."

Gary Roberts, a political organizer from Sunflower Subdivision running for a trustee's seat, said his street had been cleaned. Another resident said some of his complaints had been fixed, another, Ken Palabbio of Spinning Wheel in Sunflower, "came to thank the board. My street is a hustle and bustle of activity. Two weeks ago, it was a sea of mud."

Contract OKd

Canton Township and Canton Firefighters Union Local 2289 adopted a three year contract last week.

Canton Trustees unanimously recommended approval of the contract.

"The contract is fair and equitable both to the township and the firefighters association," said negotiations attorney Edward Ott.
