BY CHAS CHILD
Bert Burgoyne, Canton Township's attorney, contributed $1,000 to the re-election campaign of Supervisor Harold Stein and his slatemates, according to campaign financial records.

Required by state law, the statements filed at the City-County Building in Detroit also reveal that a number of developers and realtors active in Canton contributed funds to the United Democratic Club of Canton which endorsed and supported the campaigns, of Stein. Treasurer Anne Bradley and two candidates for trustee, Frank McMurray and Robert Schaetzl, in the Aug. 8 primary.

The house builders who contributed to the club include: James S. Bonadeo of Bonadeo Construction; Mark Dembs, of Dembs Building Co.; Kim Wilkins of Amurcon Corp.; Howard Binkow of Republic Development Corp.; L. Cervi of Cervi Home Builders; and Alan Lederman of Almar Homes.

Other developers who donated to the club are: Ned ing The Center, a $5 million recreation complex slated for Haggerty Road; Ara Gholdoian, an architect and developer active in the township; and Claude Howard, a realtor in Canton.

Bonadeo, Lederman and Cervi contributed $200, while Dembs, Binkow and Apigian each gave $125. Gholdoian contributed $50, and Howard added a total of $325.

Howard gave twice according to the statement. A $200 donation was listed under Claude Howard, while another $125 was listed under Howard & Howard Real Estate. Both contributions listed the same address, 8625 N. Wayne in Westland.

Besides Burgoyne, three other persons who do business with the township contributed to the United Democratic Club.

Ralls & Hamill, an architectural firm in Livonia which was recently awarded the contract to design Canton's new DPW building, contributed $50. Canton Resident Robert Wade, of Wade & Trim Associates, the township's

Township races Headlee for sewers

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The Plymouth Township Board is in a race to push through legal nicities required for the proposed $3.1 million westward extension of the Byron Creek Sewer.

Competing with the board are both the possibility that the Headlee tax limitation plan is approved by Michigan voters in November and rising costs.

According to Dick Brender, engineer for the project, and other bond and financial consultants, passage of the Headlee tax limitation plan would mean few, if any, municipal bonding projects would be approved by the state's Municipal Finance Commission in the next two years.

Extension of the sewer has been planned for the past 10 years by the township, which is now under court order to install westward sewers even though township voters rejected the idea in August (as they have before).

In the decade the plan has been discussed, the cost of the project has risen dramatically and is currently increasing about 1 per cent per month, Brender estimated.

At a special meeting Monday, the township board heard that although the original bond issue was approved for $2.8 million, the cost of the project will now probably be $300,000

Fund sets kick off

The public is invited to help kick off the Plymouth Community Fund Drive at the Pride and Spirit dinner on Sept. 25 at the Mayflower Meeting House.

The cost of the dinner is $10.50 and to attend, call 453-6879.

Representatives of government, schools, churches, service organizations and business and industrial leaders will attend the affair.

A STUDENT PILOT WAS UNHURT after he crash-landed this Cessna 152-II trainer Saturday afternoon at Mettetal Airport in Canton. "He got nervous during landing. It could happen to anybody," said Joel Zachrich of Plymouth Aero, the owner of the craft. The student pilot, Jim Seymour of Garden City, was flying alone at the time of the accident, and had been soloing before. The Federal Aviation Administration is still investigating the crash. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler)

Will Plymouth double parking fines?

A plan to double Plymouth's parking-violation fines was tabled by the City Commission Monday night, pending further comparison with other fine rates of surrounding cities.

Under the proposed schedule, fines for violations which could cause hazards were increased the most. Parking in front of a theater exit, fire escape and emergency exit doubled from $5 to $10, and the fines jump from $7 to $20 in each case if they aren't paid within 14 days.

Police Chief Tim Ford compared Plymouth's rates, which were established in 1967, with two other cities - Ann Arbor and Livonia - to help prepare the new fines.

But City Commissioner

James Houk said two comparisons weren't enough, adding that he couldn't read the Xerox copy made of Ann Arbor's fine schedule.

"When we wrote the rates in 1967 we looked at four cities," said Houk. The new

Canton rattler hunted

Neighbors, police officers, and firefighters searched unsuccessfully Saturday and Sunday for the poisonous rattle snake that bit a four-year-old Canton township boy on Friday afternoon.

Darold Hocking of Fellow Creek Apartments, 44547 Savory Rd., was listed in stable condition on Saturday in Detroit Children's Hospital following treatment of the right thigh bite.

Canton police officers and the animal warden will continue checking the area periodically, but some officers say the snake may have moved out of the area.

Thomas Rumsey of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources advised area residents to use caution while walking in unfamiliar areas and to look carefully before stepping while walking through marshy areas.

The snake is believed to be a Massagua rattler, the only poisonous snake in Michigan.

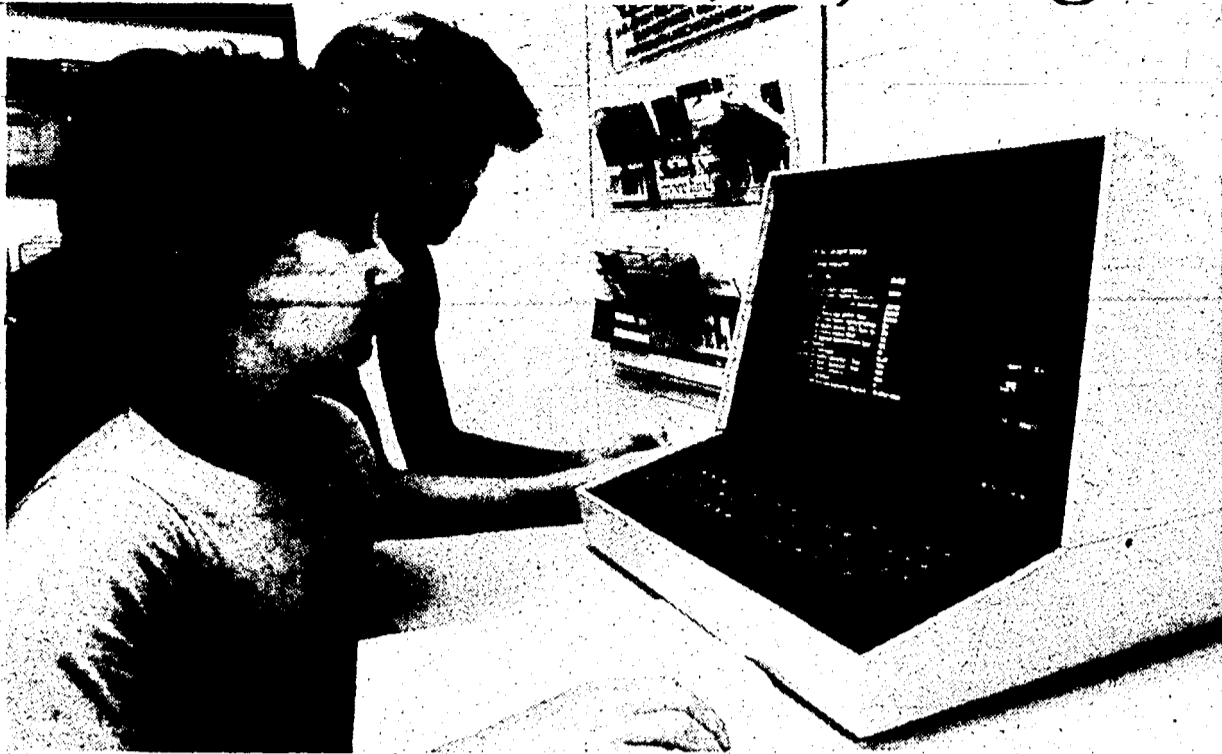

rates will probably be approved at the commission's next meeting on Oct. 2.

City Attorney Charles Lowe said higher fines will "deter people from disobeying the parking law. We have our share of scofflaws."

"Our present rates are significantly lower than Ann Arbor and Livonia," said Ford, explaining the increases. "Also we're running low of our present tickets, and will need to print the new rates on the new tickets."

Some other fines that are proposed to go up are: expired meter, from $1 to $2 (after 14 days, from $3 to $5); and parked over 48 hours, from $5 to $10 (after 14 days, from $7 to $20).

Salem receives $13,000 grant for career center

CHECKING OUT THE OPTIONS. Two students from Canton High School, Todd Bergman, seated, and Jack Ford, standing, are running a program with the Michigan Occupational Information System (MOIS) to explore their options for a career in flight training. The MOIS computer is a forerunner for a national system with access to information from the entire country. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD
Ken W., a 1978 graduate of Salem High School, wanted to study music at Michigan State University (MSU). His parents didn't have enough money to send him to college, however, so gradually Ken stopped talking about studying music.

Two weeks ago, while talking to a friend's father, Ken was asked why he wasn't going to college. They started discussing Ken's options.

Today Ken has registered for classes in music and general studies at Schoolcraft College and he is working and living at home to save money. He hopes to attend MSU in a couple of years.

Students like Ken need to explore their options more thoroughly, said Harold Gaertner, director of career and vocational education for the Plymouth-Canton schools.

"This story illustrates the need for a career education resource center to help students focus on the options available to them after graduation," said Gaertner.

Salem High School recently received a $13,000 grant to set up such a center for students, according to Gaertner. The center will house books, tapes, audio-visual materials and counselors in a special room near the general counseling area.

The center will be oriented toward helping students choose the occupation best suited for them, and then preparing the student to get a job in that area, said Gaertner.

Featured at the center is the MOIS computer terminal which will enable students to analyze their interests and develop a plan of classes at high school. Two other terminals are currently being used at Canton High School and the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth.

The center should be in operation by Oct. 1, and the money for the grant is spread over a three-year period, according to Gaertner.

Salem High School was one of 18 Michigan high schools to receive such a grant, said Gaertner.

City to suck leaves Oct. 9

The City of Plymouth will begin the annual pickup of leaves throughout the City the week of Oct. 9, 1978. Officials ask that residents place their leaves by the curb in the street and only leaves placed in the street will be picked up.

Also residents should place their leaves at the curb as soon as possible so they can be removed prior to any accumulation of snow.

There is no set pick-up schedule when trucks will be in your area, although an attempt will be made to collect leaves from every area of the city at least once a week.

During the week of Nov. 27 trucks will make the last pass throughout the city. Thereafter, residents will have to bag any leaves for their regular refuse pickup.

Hoben, Livonians will discuss leasing schools

PG. 3

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: September 20, 1978

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD
Plymouth-Canton School Supt. Mike Hoben will talk to Livonia school officials about leasing at least one junior high school and one elementary school in their district, Hoben announced at a Board of Education workshop Monday night.

both located on Hix Road. Some Livonia organizations are already talking about renting or leasing their schools, said Hoben, and he urged initiating a discussion between the two districts soon.

Hoben said legal questions about cross-district busing must be explored fully before any action is taken.

"We'd limit ourselves to talking about schools located on the edge of the Livonia district so that we don't have to bus our students a long distance," said Hoben.

Leasing schools from nearby districts is one alternative to dealing with a soaring student enrollment expected to reach 19,444 students in 1983-84, according to projection figures released from Hoben's office.

Furthermore, Hoben would talk specifically about James Russell Lowell Junior High and Washington Elementary School

City junket cost $3,355

Six of seven Plymouth City Commissioners and three appointed city officials returned this week from the Michigan Municipal League meeting on Mackinac Island which they attended at a cost of $3,355 to the city.

Mary Childs, Jim Houk, Mark Wehmeyer, E. W. Martin and David Pugh; City Manager Fred Yockey; City Clerk Paul Brumfield; and City Attorney Charles Lowe. City Commissioner Beverly McAninch did not attend.

Some of the group spent three nights, and some two nights, at the annual convention on the island.

Among the topics discussed at the meetings were the tax limitation proposals on the Michigan November ballot. "We got a great deal from it," Yockey said of the conference.

Attending were Mayor Tom Turner; Commissioners

Canton eyes 4 mill tax to save open lands

A four-mill request to preserve open and farm land in Canton was scheduled to be placed on the November ballot by Canton Board of Trustees last night.

If approved, funds raised by the four mills will purchase development rights of the land. Under the program, the landowner will still hold the title to his property, but could not develop the property or sell to a developer.

Although four mills will be requested, they will not be needed for the whole program which is expected to last 20 years.

For 11 years, the full four mills will be required, according to township estimates, but it will drop to three mills in 1990, two in 1993, one in 1997 and 0.5 in 1998.

The request will raise the tax limitation of five mills established by state law for charter townships to nine mills. And the money raised for the program - an estimated $16 million - will be included in the general fund of the township.

Over the 20-year period, the average tax rate will be 3.25 mills. But planners estimate that within eight or nine years, the program will actually reduce taxes in the township. With development barred in about 5,000 acres the western half of the township, taxpayers would not have to provide sewers, schools and many other costly services in the area.

Money saved by this would be greater than the millage raised to buy the development rights, planners say.

M-14 opening put off again

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The opening of M-14 expressway connecting Ann Arbor and Plymouth will probably be delayed until next spring, according to one Wayne County highway official.

The new expressway, which runs through both Wayne and Washtenaw counties, will open after crews in Wayne County finish paving their six-mile stretch of highway.

Washtenaw County crews finished their six-mile section of the road in Aug., 1977, said Ed Rohaz, district construction engineer for the Washtenaw County project.

"Wayne County crews are building in urban areas requiring more bridges, overpasses, and underpasses," said Frank Simmons, administrative assistant for the metro district of the Michigan Dept. of State Highways and Transportatation.

"Crews must also stay clear of existing power and sewer lines in populated areas," Simmons said, in explaining why construction in Wayne County has taken more time.

Washtenaw County crews were building in rural areas and construction problems were less complex, said Simmons.

Meanwhile, Wayne County highway engineers are trying to finish paving and undercutting before cold weather hits.

"Only God knows the weather and if the temperature drops below 40 degrees, we're going to have a hard time finishing the paving before winter," said Simmons.

Four miles have been paved, but the western end of the road and the undercutting and paving on the eastern end of the road must be finished before the project is completed, said Simmons.

Undercutting means filling wet lowlands with sand to absorb some water before paving the highway.

Total cost of the new expressway is about $150 million, said Simmons.

Bradley joins write-in

Canton Treasurer Anne Bradley, defeated in the August primary, announced last Thursday that she will try to keep her seat with a write-in campaign in November's general election.

"I don't believe that my two opponents have the interest of the whole township in mind," she said. "I feel I've done a good job."

Bradley was defeated in the primary by Democrat Maria Falkiewicz. Jim Donahue won the Republican nomination.

"It was a difficult decision for me," said Bradley. "My husband had been ill lately, but when his medical tests came in earlier in the week indicating he was OK, I decided to go ahead with the write-in."

She said she believes she can win in November because many persons failed to go to the polls. And those who did vote, neglected to cast ballots for supervisor or treasurer.

"I received so many calls after the primary from people who thought I was a shoo-in, and so didn't bother to vote for me," said Bradley.

Bradley was elected two years running on a slate with Supervisor Harold Stein. Stein, who lost the August primary too, said last Monday that he will mount a write-in campaign in November.

"I support Harold 100 per cent," Bradley said.

Project concept OK'd

The "concept" of a 9-story apartment and office complex on the Burroughs Parking Lot has been unanimously endorsed by both the Plymouth Township Board and its planning commission.

Specific details on the $19 million proposal have not come before either the board or the planning commission, pending a change in the township's "mid rise" ordinance.

The project would be built on a five acre parcel west of Haggerty on Plymouth Road which is currently in dispute between the city and the township. The Michigan State Boundary Commission has approved annexation of the lot to the city but its formal transfer is tied up by court proceedings.

Plymouth Township planners are reviewing the ordinance governing mid-rises which currently allows such buildings only next to expressways.

Endorsement of the proposal "in concept" allows the developers, Group Four, to proceed with financing

Canton to buy 3 helicopters for police, PR

BY CHAS CHILD

The purchase of three helicopters was approved by Canton's Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

In storage in Arizona, the two-seated craft are available at greatly reduced prices through a federal government surplus program.

The choppers could be used for police surveillance, during weather emergencies, and for public relations work, said

Supervisor Harold Stein.

Although the board voted 6-1 to fund the purchase, it is not certain that Canton will buy the whirly-birds. "Only if we find that they are in good condition will we spend the money," Stein said.

Stein and local helicopter expert Barney Stutzman will travel to Arizona to inspect the craft for possible purchase.

Trustee Lynne Goldsmith, who voted against the buy, objected to Stutzman's offer to help purchase the choppers. "Does Stutzman train helicopter pilots, and does he work on them as a mechanic? People who stand to gain should not inspect them," she said. Stutzman operates a helicopter company at Canton's Mettetal Airport.

"I realize it's not politically smart for me," said Stein, who recently announced he will mount a write-in campaign for supervisor. "But this is the tool of the future whether you want to recognize it or not."

The supervisor said that he did not want to start a helicopter program immediately. "I'm trying to look into the future," he said. "If we want a program in a number of years than we can fund it."

To inspect, ship and purchase the three choppers will cost around $3,500, while the retail price of one craft is $45,000, Stein said. Also, there are only 300 such helicopters left in the surplus program, he said.

"Once these are claimed, there won't be any left. We would be derelict in our duty if we didn't take advantage of this opportunity," said Stein.

"In the long run, it will cost a lot of money," said Carol Bodenmiller, a candidate for trustee. She said maintenance, insurance, pilot training and equipment for the craft would be too expensive.

Stein said, though, that the federal government permits local governments to sell the choppers after five years if local officials decide they don't want them.

A motion by Goldsmith to rescind a resolution made by the board last year to purchase the helicopters died for lack of support from another board member.

Stein, Anne Bradley, John Flodin, Brian Schwall, Eugene Daley and Bob Myers all voted "yes" on the purchase.

Stein's original proposal to buy six choppers was not acted upon.

Schools will offer sex ed classes

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Family planning, human reproduction, and venereal disease prevention may be taught in the Plymouth-Canton schools starting next year, said Mike Homes, assistant supt. for instruction.

Enrollment is voluntary in these courses and parents must be given the opportunity to review the course contents and inspect the materials to be used, according to Harry Salsinger of the Wayne County Schools.

Homes said a local advisory board including parents, students, clergy, health professionals, and educators would be set up to review the course contents and materials.

Sex education teachers must complete at least two college courses in human sexuality, family planning or reproductive education or complete a 20-hour course in sex education sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Teachers must also have a valid Michigan teaching certificate in health education and have taken courses in biology, psychology, anatomy, physiology or related fields.

School administrators must also decide whether to adopt state guidelines or local guide-

I wish to publicly express my thanks to two Plymouth Township civil servants who earned my highest respect in a recent family emergency.

We taxpayers sometimes take our civil servants for granted and never fully realize their value to the community. It's really too bad we need to face an emergency before we learn to appreciate the benefits our civil servants provide.

Canton copters need 2nd opinion

Canton Township's planned purchase of three helicopters is easy to poke fun at, but a serious point was ignored by the Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

A local helicopter expert who stands to gain from a chopper program in the township will decide whether the surplus machines are in good enough condition to buy.

Barney Stutzman, owner of Hi-Lift Helicopter Co. at Mettetal Airport in Canton, has volunteered to travel to Arizona with Supervisor Harold Stein to inspect the three craft.

The township would certainly invite bids on contracts to train the pilots and repair the helicopters, but Stutzman would be in an excellent position to make such bids.

Without questioning Stutzman's integrity — and we aren't — it is not proper to ask anyone in that position to decide on the helicopters' mechanical integrity.

At the least, another qualified helicopter mechanic should make the trip too. Another plane fare out to Arizona would add little to the price of a program which may end up costing a lot more if Canton ever decides to put the choppers in the air.

Child's play

By
Chas
Child

In politics, it's rare when matters are set down in black and white. That's why it's eye-opening to take a close look at the financial statements of the candidates for public office in Plymouth and Canton townships recently filed with Wayne County.

First, why did Canton Township's attorney, Bert Burgoyne, contribute $1,000 to keep Supervisor Harold Stein and his slate in office?

There's nothing illegal about it, but the citizens tend to be forgotten when there's such a cozy link between the township's elected and hired officials.

Burgoyne isn't the only one doing business with the two townships who contributed to candidates' campaigns.

Dan Ross, who contracts with Canton to manage Fellows Creek Golf Course and has a similar agreement to operate Hilltop Golf Course in Plymouth Township, donated to Stein's election coffers and to the campaign of Lee Fidge, who ran unsuccessfully for Plymouth Township Clerk.

Robert Wade, a resident of Canton, contributed to the Stein slate. His firm, Wade & Trim Associates, is the township's planning consultant. Ralls-Hamill, a Livonia architectural firm which works for the township, donated money to Stein.

Out-of-town money played a big part in the campaign, also.

The Stein slate again topped the list in this category. A number of major home builders, who have a lot to lose if a growth-control candidate gets into office, donated considerable funds to the United Democratic Club of Canton which supported Stein, Treasurer Anne Bradley and two trustee candidates, Frank McMurray and Robert Schaeztl.

In Plymouth Township, virtually all of the contributors to successful trustee candidate Gerald Law were his relatives, from Livonia.

Despite the questionable contributions, the old adage "money talks" got mixed reviews.

The two top spenders in the Plymouth Township trustee race, Barbara Lynch and Gerald Law, both won, as did Esther Hulsing who outspent Fidge in the clerk's race.

But in Canton, the big spenders — the Stein slate — all lost, and the top vote-getters in the trustee's race — Robert Greenstein and Carol Bodenmiller — both reported spending under $500.

W. EDWARD WENDOVER WITH ALICE

TOWARD NONE

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Someone has to run Plymouth Township's Hilltop Glen Golf Course.

Who that someone is will depend on the outcome of negotiations and bidding for a new contract to operate the course. But whoever it is that gets the contract — unless the township wants to jump into the parks and recreation business with both golf-shoe-clad feet — it is clear, that person will be a business partner with the township board.

And as such, it behooves both the licensee and the township to work amicably together.

The petty, personal bickering between the current licensee, Dan Ross, and Plymouth Township's Recreation Committee Chairman Frank Millington, is less than anyone would expect to see from grown men.

Ross also runs Canton's Fellows Creek Golf Course under contract.

Both Ross and Millington have the same goal — providing top notch recreation by improving what was a deteriorated facility. But the two just can't get along.

And their bickering now stands in the way of continuing the township's program.

Maybe the solution is to throw both Dan and Frank into a large garbage can, slap the lid on quickly, and beat on the sides a few times. No doubt a winner would emerge.

But the loser would be the township.

The solution to the problem is to see Ross and Millington come out shaking hands. Maybe Ross won't bid on the new contract and maybe he will, but won't receive it. Millington is leaving office in November. Even though, that could mean neither man will be involved with the Hilltop issue much longer, they both still have many useful ideas to contribute.

The township can only benefit from these two antagonists mending their differences and working together to further Hilltop's role in serving the community.

City deluged by paperwork following flood

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: September 20, 1978

To prepare for another emergency, like the flood that hit the City of Plymouth in the spring, city officials were swamped with another flood — of paperwork.

Not ordinary paperwork, but good, old fashioned, bureaucratic nonsense. Part of the emergency preparedness plan required by county officials and approved by the City Commission Monday night reads: "Release crisis information planning (CPR) and community shelter planning (CSP) EPI materials during RECON 3 preattack phase. Continue information releases through RECONS 1 and 2.

All this for just a flood? Yes and no, according to city officials.

An emergency plan on file is required to insure emergency aid funds after disasters, said Mark Wollenweber, assistant to the city manager.

City trees are here; apply before Oct. 1

Plenty of trees are still available from the City of Plymouth for planting, but residents must apply before the Oct. 1 deadline.

The south side of the city has been scheduled this fall for the planting but residents throughout the city may apply.

Given a tight deadline to write the plan, the city simply borrowed Wayne County's plan, which is a complete blueprint written during the Cold War to survive a nuclear attack.

"It's something from a TV show or an old movie," said Wollenweber. Included in the plan are such things as an Emergency Preparedness Coordinator, Emergency Operations Center, Emergency Operations Plan, Emergency Preparedness Public Information Officer and an Assistant Emergency Preparedness Preparation Public Information Officer.

If the Russians ever do attack, another plan calls for Plymouth's citizens to travel to Findlay, Ohio while the city's DPW equipment will be sent to Midland, said Wollenweber.

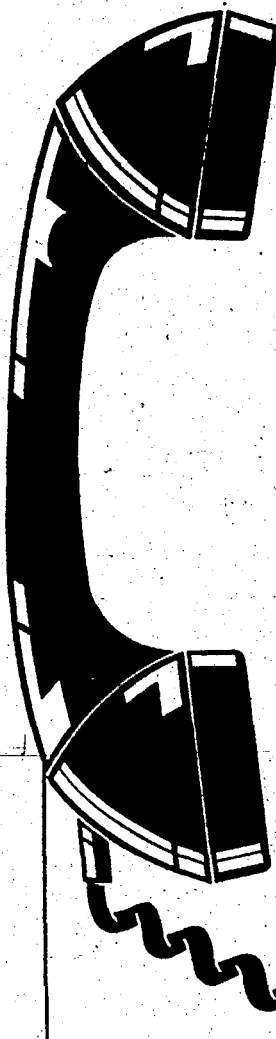

"Findlay is a distribution center for Marathon Oil Co., while Midland has Dow Chemical Co.," said Wollenweber. "The citizens are also supposed to have stickers on their cars to identify them when they get to Findlay, yet we've seen no stickers."

"We definitely need a plan to take care of things like the recent flood, and after we're done with this, we'll sit down and come up with a simple, useful plan," said Wollenweber.

Today's energy-efficient heat pump keeps heating costs from going up the chimney.

In the old days you had to stay close to the hearth to keep warm because most of the heat from a blazing fireplace went right up the chimney. Even with today's modern furnaces, some of the heat goes up the chimney and is lost outdoors. Not so with a heat pump.

Now the energy-efficient heat pump can keep you warm in winter by moving natural heat always present in the outdoor air inside your home.

The heat pump is generally the most energy-efficient way to heat homes, apartments, offices and commercial buildings because it makes good use of natural heat. During periods of low temperatures supplementary heat is added automatically.

In summer the heat pump saves on cooling costs, too, because it's also an energy-efficient air conditioner.

So consider a heat pump for your next heating system — because using natural heat is a natural way to conserve energy and to keep heating costs from going up the chimney.

For more information on the heat pump, call or stop in at any Detroit Edison Customer Office.

Save where it really counts.

Plymouth pilot builds plane

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

If you own a Volkswagon, you may be able to sprout wings and take to the skies.

That's what Donald Moore of Hines Court in Plymouth hopes to do in converting an old Volkswagon engine to fit the frame of the two-seater airplane he is building.

"I've got a 60 or 65 horsepower engine that will hopefully attain a speed of 140 miles per hour," said Moore.

Moore had all the engine parts reground and cleaned before he started working on making the conversions to an airplane engine. A larger cylinder head was installed, the alternator and starter were remounted, a new exhaust system was put in, and the carburetor was changed.

But one thing will not change. The airplane engine will start with the same VW key that owners use to start their cars.

Building the plane started three years ago and its parts gradually emerged from the basement to form the shape of an airplane in the garage.

On a warm sunny day, Moore pulls the uncompleted plane onto the driveway.

The Rand KRZ model plane has been built entirely by Moore. He sanded the wings by hand to contour their angle to the sleek design he wants.

The frame is wood and covered with an epoxy-fiberglass material, and Moore estimates the total weight of the plane will be about 500 pounds. It has been checked periodically by inspectors from the Federal Aviation Agency to insure the quality of the building materials and design for safety.

Moore must also log 75 flight hours before he can take passengers in his airplane, according to FAA regulations.

Since he started, Moore has worked about 1,500 man-hours on the project and he says, "building this plane is just a hobby for me and something I'm interested in." Total cost of the plane is estimated at about $3,500.

Moore is aiming for a first-flight debut during the summer of 1980, but he must install the instrument panel, gas tank and seats before flying. He also has to paint the exterior of the plane.

He said he's spent hours trying to decide which colors and designs to paint on the body. His wife's initials will be included in the FAA registered letters emblazoned along the side of the plane.

Will his wife be the first passenger?

No, Moore said she doesn't like to fly in such small aircraft.

the Crier's friends & neighbors

SPROUTING WINGS. Even with the engine mounted, Donald Moore of Plymouth admits he isn't ready to fly the friendly skies yet. Moore, seated in his homebuilt airplane, is aiming for its ' first flight during the summer of 1980 after the gas tank, instrument panel, and other "necessities" have been installed. (Crier photo by Patricia Bartold.)

Smokers: clinic will help you stop

Canton High School will host a "Better Living Seminars" smoking withdrawal clinic Sept. 18-22.

This program is based on the Public Service Five-Day Plan to stop smoking developed by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church and will be held in the school's Little Theater. Cancer Surgeon Dr. Arthur Weaver will head a group of several professionals who will be donating their services for the free five-night seminar.

Dr. Weaver is Associate Professor of Surgery at Wayne State University and is noted for his fight against tobacco.

He attributes the high success rate of these programs to the combined attack on both the physiological and psychological aspects of the tobacco addiction. Each of the five evenings will be filled with lectures, audiovisual presentations, and group interaction.

No registration is required for this clinic. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. each evening at the Canton High located on Canton Center Road just South of Joy Road.

The sounds of a cluck-cluck here and a cluck-cluck there can be heard around town, and even a few chicken feathers have been spotted drifting through the air as the City of Plymouth prepares for its third annual Fowl Festival.

Most trainers are already vigorously training their fair, feathered friends. Hope runs high in many training camps that their chicken will (for one reason or another) glide the farthest to win the flying contest.

A certain bird from Penniman Avenue told me that Scarlet O'Chicken plans to enter the race to rebuild Tara and Feathers. I also heard that she has invited a few celebrities, who just happen to be "my dearest of friends," according to Miss Scarlet. The guest list includes Mike Gable, Annette Leigh, Jean Dehavenland, Jim Olivier and Pam Priskey.

Her trainer was heard sighing, "I sure do hope Miss Scarlet takes this race seriously, Lord knows we could use the prize money."

For those of you who haven't entered the chicken flying contest, there's still time. The contest is Sunday, Oct. 1, and the Chamber of Commerce will be happy to furnish a chicken, so stop by their office to register.

The National Organization of Women (NOW) recently held a leadership conference at Schoolcraft College. Nan Frost-Welmers, President of Michigan NOW was the main speaker at the workshop. Attending from the Plymouth-Canton area were Betty Kelley, Mary Jo Durivage and Mary Ann Pinkerton.

The Plymouth Symphony Allergo Group is planning its annual fall fashion show-luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club, on Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 11 a.m.

The fashions will be furnished by Jacobson's. Tickets are $8 and may be purchased at Book World in Forest Place Mall, or by calling Jan Gerish at 455-0375 or Sally Petersen at 420-0724.

Darlene Spooner and Barbara Brewer are co-chairwomen for the fund raising project.

Plymouth Ex-newcomers Club (former Plymouth Newcomer members) held their first meeting of the year recently. Many couples activities and interest groups are planned for the upcoming year. Ladies and couples bowling, gourmet, bridge, pinochle, book club and out-to-brunch are just a few of the interest groups offered.

For more information about the club and their activities call Connie Polonyi, membership chairman, at 420-0250 or Marue Biggs, vice president at 455-6682.

Melba Kubat, parent advisor and trainer for the State Michigan Association For Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) will be guest speaker at the Sept. 20 meeting at 7:30 at Pioneer Middle School.

The MACLD meeting is free and open to the public. The local chapter is dedicated to finding and helping children with hidden handicaps

Schools commend pair for helping

Two persons were cited for special commendations by the Board of Education Monday night.

Clifford Thomas, a father, "volunteers about one-half hour each morning to organize about 140 kids who are waiting for buses at the Honeytree apartments," said Carol Davis, board member. She commended him for his unusual efforts and helpfulness to the children.

Third-graders at Eriksson Elementary School are scoring about one-year head of the national average, and Davis praised the efforts of reading specialist Linda Clinard at Eriksson. Davis cited scores of 4.3 and 4.9 averages for third-graders at Eriksson on standardized reading tests.

Salem senior named top business woman

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

At 17, Lisa Cunningham of Plymouth Township is already a winner.

Cunningham was recently named Junior Achievement Business Woman of 1978 for southeastern Michigan, and she's already looking forward to her fourth year in JA with more responsibilities and fresh ideas.

She'll work for a JA service club to help other JA officers iron out difficulties they have with their company and project.

Her JA Center Manager, Larry Sinkovich, expects her to do the kind of job she's done in the past. "Lisa's an enthusiastic, dependable worker - if you tell about something that needs to be done - you can depend on her to do the job and do it well," said Sinkovich.

Cunningham competed against about 3,000 other candidates from a seven-county area through a series of tests, on business knowledge, JA knowledge, speaking ability, poise, and personality to win her title.

JA is a non-profit organization that forms companies of about 15-20 high school students.

The company, operating with an advisor, sells stock, selects a product to manufacture, sets up production lines, and distributes the product.

Last year, Cunningham's company manufactured variety boxes for storage and they were sold for $5 each. Cunningham, president of the company, sold more than $100 of merchandise and was named runner-up for Salesperson of the Year for southeastern Michigan.

Cunningham is a senior at Salem High School and hopes to attend Purdue University or Michigan State University to study print or broadcast journalism.

Salem student cut

A Salem High student was cut in the arm with a pocket knife last Tuesday in what a State Police investigator termed as a "smart-alecky argument."

The victim tried to intercede in an argument between two other students when he received the cut which required five stitches, police said.

"It wasn't a real fight," said a police spokesman. "No fists were thrown."

As of Monday, no charges had been pressed, said police.

Three earn MSU degrees

Three residents of Plymouth recently graduated from Michigan State University. They are K. P. Foersterling of 1416 Palmer, Nicky Stoyanoff of 11300 Asoen Dr., and Mary E. Zeiler of 41350 Ann Arbor.

Foersterling received a bachelor of science degree in retailing clothing and textiles, and Stoyanoff finished a master of arts degree in communication. Zeiler received her bachelor of arts degree in philosophy.

Twp. seeks bids for golf course

Plymouth Township is seeking bids for the operation of its Hilltop Glen Golf Course.

In a special meeting Monday afternoon, the board voted unanimously to seek bids for the golf course operation on an open basis.

At the last regular meeting (held last Tuesday, Sept. 12), the board discussed a proposal by Trustee Frank Millington and Treasurer Joe West listing several specifications for bidding.

Monday, the board voted to remove many of the specifications and will thus leave those items up to the interested bidders.

One of the stipulations removed was a minimum bid, originally proposed to be $35,000 per year or 28 per cent of the gross, whichever is greater. Plymouth Township's accountant, Harvey Ziel, said, "I don't think the operation could pay $35,000."

Also removed from the bid requirements was a length on the lease.

The current contract with Dan Ross for the golf course expires Oct. 31.

At the next meeting Tuesday, the board will release invitations to bid in their final form.

Discussion of the new Hilltop contract at last Tuesday's Plymouth Township Board meeting became somewhat heated.

Ross and Millington exchanged accusations and Millington resigned from working on contract details when, because of a misunderstanding over the charge from the township board, the board questioned the format of the proposed contract specifications.

"I'm thoroughly disgusted with this," Millington said after the board questioned whether the proposed specifications were completed enough to use for bidding purposes. "I'd like to be relieved of the job."

Ross, who had said he would bid on renewing his contract, said he was no longer interested following his exchange with Millington.

Plymouth-Canton Community

pull-out map

THIS TOPOGRAPHIC MAP is taken from four larger quadrangle maps, showing The Plymouth-Canton Community, prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey.

Revised in 1973 from aerial photographs, these maps were originally compiled by the U.S.G.S. and the State of Michigan from 1966-67 aerial photographs and 1968 field surveys.

Faintly shown here are lines marking land contours and elevations. (These lines show well in the originals.) Darker areas show higher density development.

Originals of the maps, which are printed in full color, and a pamphlet describing topographic maps is available from the U.S. Geological Survey, Reston, Va. 22092.

Copies of these maps are also available for use at the Dunning-Hough Library.

The Monsoon season is upon us, and with it the prospects of indoor recess and a wet walk home from school. That leaves it up to lunch to brighten up the day.

Home-made chicken noodle soup looks like just what the doctor ordered at Erikkson on Monday...however a glance at other menus reveals some gloomy combinations. "Hot Tuna Burgers" at Field on Monday, (no, it's not a punk rock group,) and "Pizza, green vegetable" at Tanger on Friday may not exactly turn on the sunshine.

Ken, the UPS man, will lead Fowl Festers

KEN GARRETT with Joan Gerigk, Beverly Goss and Larry Janes, when they broke the news to him. (Crier photo)

The suspense is over. Yesterday, the identity of the mystery Fowl Fest parade marshal was revealed.

Much to his surprise, Ken Garrett, the friendly United Parcel Service delivery man for downtown Plymouth, has been named honorary marshal for the third annual Fowl Festival.

Garrett will lord over the festivities on Sunday, Oct. 1 when 150 representatives of the Gallus Domestica will wing it down Main Street following the zany parade.

Chicken challenges are already flying fast and furious -

- will the chickens do so well?

Winners from the past two years, Dumb Cluck (1976) and The Barnyard Bomber (1977), are expected to face stiff competition from many entrants using out-of-town chickens this year.

The Crier Flier is in training at a chicken farm outside Ionia under tight security. His predecessor last year received the same vigorous physical training but was believed to have been harmed psychologically by stable-mate Bionic Bird which was trained to whistle the Col. Sanders theme song night and day.

Last year's winner, B.B. for short, was a favorite of the crowds except for those umbrella-less spectators standing directly under his path to the roof of the Kresge store.

Entries to this year's flying contest are starting to roll in rapidly at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office - possibly excited by the new $100 prize which will be given away for the best float this year for the first time.

Much interest has also been shown, say Fowl Fest Co-Chairfolks Joan Gerigk and Kirk Lorenz, in this year's third prize for the flying contest - a weekend at the home of a Fowlerville Jaycee.

The co-chairfolks reminded prospective entrants that only the first 150 entries will be accepted this year before the cutoff.

It's honey dipped.

Students learn civics from League

PG. 17

PROMOTIONAL FOR ELECTION DIRECTIONS. League of Women Voter representative Michele Howard and Starkweather teacher Dick Johnson gauge the reactions of Diana Presley as she peruses the voter pamphlet Election Directions. Brice Cranston is seated on the right peering over her shoulder. Election Directions is part of a voter-education guide by LWV. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

Students in Plymouth-Canton can learn a lot about America's political process, thanks to a booklet distributed last week by the League of Women Voters.

It began in the LWV education committee. Someone said, "Wouldn't it be a great idea to actually teach kids why and how people run for public office and how you go about electing them?"

Michelle Howard, Betty Vance, Ruth Vogler, Linda Lynch, Vickie Strimmle, Claudia Jacquest, Jackie Westbay, and Kathy Prince put their heads together and came up with a rough draft of their ideas.

Not only did they want to inform, they wanted the kids to have fun learning it. They wrote a booklet that follows the election process from the time a person decides to run for election, to the procedures that must be followed, to the time of election day. Then the booklet instructs what a voter must do in order to vote.

After writing the booklet, they prepared a supplemental teachers' packet with suggested activities and games, crossword puzzles, and word find quizzes which the teachers can use.

This spring they then approached the teaching staffs in Plymouth-Canton, Northville, and Novi, who responded enthusiastically and suggested fifth graders would be perfect for the material.

Boots Gravengood, a professional illustrator, donated her time to the cause and illustrated the material for the League.

As we all know, all great ideas need money to make them become realities. The League had the core idea, one booklet, one teachers' packet, all beautifully illustrated, and thanks to Meijer's Thrifty Acres, it had the money to produce it.

Last week, the dream became a reality through the ingenuity of some caring women, donation of talent, and generous funding of a major business in the area.

Life saver coming

The Vial of Life program, aimed at providing emergency medical aid for senior citizens, will be starting soon in the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

In the program, seniors' medical information recorded on an information sheet is inserted in a vial which is then taped to the interior of the refrigerator.

During a medical emergency, personnel called to the home note the Vial of Life sticker on the outside of the refrigerator and respond according to the information on it.

Anyone desiring to join this effort should contact Florence Griggs, 453-2816 or Mary Ellen McKercher, 455-4539, or the fire departments in both the city and township.

Firefighting becomes family affair

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON. Steve and Ron Wood team up as a father-and-son duo the Plymouth Volunteer Fire Department. The son, Steve, says that his father's long-time experience with the fire department influenced his decision to join the roster. (Crier photo by Phyllis Redfern.)

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN
The City of Plymouth Fire Department has a new father and son team. Ron Wood, who is starting his 20th year on the volunteer force, was recently joined by his son, Steve.

"If he's a chip off the old block, he'll be a damn good fireman," said Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman.

Ron, a school teacher in South Redford, started as a volunteer fireman in Lansing Township while attending Michigan State University. After graduation, he and his wife, Kay moved to Plymouth and he joined the volunteer force here.

Asked if his father wanted him to join the force, Steve said definitely. "If it wasn't for him, I wouldn't know the first thing about the fire department."

"We won't be working side by side," said Ron, "but it wouldn't really make any difference if we were." Ron is an engineer, while Steve is a firefighter.

Ron said he got started as a volunteer fireman because, "everyone has a niche in life to help others." He added that there was a certain amount of excitement involved.

Steve, who went out on his first run last week, admitted to being nervous at first, "but I'm sure I'll get over that."

Steve lives at home with his parents and his sister, Julee who is a junior at Canton High School. He is working part time in Old Village and taking law enforcement classes at Schoolcraft College. His goal is to someday work with the U.S. Secret Service.

Schools to count for aid

Fourth Friday count should level off at about 16,100 students, Supt. Mike Hoben estimated at a Board of Education workshop Monday night.

Hoben expects the figure to stabilize before the fourth Friday count which will be used to determine the amount of state aid allocated to the Plymouth-Canton school district.

This figure includes about 220 adults attending adult education programs and some preschool-age children and senior citizens in other programs.

Libraries' hours extended

Salem and Canton High School libraries will extend service hours beginning Monday, Sept. 25.

The longer hours are in recognition that the growing school population is placing a great strain on the community's public library, as well as that the school libraries' resources deserve greater use, according to CEP administrators and librarians, and community education directors.

The following schedules will be in effect for the first semester:

Monday - Thursday: Salem and Canton open until 4 p.m.

Evening hours: Salem only Monday 7-9 p.m. Canton only Tuesday 7-9 p.m.

This program aims to serve both the regular school students and students in the evening classes as well. Students' parents are welcome to come in also.

The service will be evaluated at the end of January to determine if there is a continued or even possibly an expanded need.

planning consultant firm, donated $125.

Also, Plymouth Township resident Dan Ross who was awarded the contract to manage Fellows Creek Golf, which is owned by the township, contributed $125.

Burgoyne's donation was by far the largest listed in the statements, which cover the period from Aug. 28, 1977 to Aug. 28 of this year.

At that time, the United Democratic Club showed that it spent $9,823.94, and received $9,422.

The individual statement filed by Stein reveals that he contributed $488.74 of his own money to his campaign.

In contrast, Stein's victorious opponent for the Democratic nomination, Noel Culbert, listed total expenditures in the campaign of $2,737.82, and receipts of $2,590.45. Culbert himself donated $1,541 of that total.

Culbert's other contributors were: Ernie Thornton, a Canton junk dealer who gave $250; Lori Roberts, wife of Gary Roberts, a candidate for trustee, who donated $150; Peter Ventura, 30499 Plymouth, Livonia, $100; and Robert Zschak, 19468 Fitzgerald, Livonia, $50.

The third candidate for supervisor, Republican John Longridge, filed a statement which indicated that he spent less than $500, and thereby is not required to list those who contributed to his campaign, and his expenses.

Larry Bowerman, an unsuccessful candidate for trustee, was the only other person who reported spending more than $500.

Bowerman spent $809.42 of his own money in his total of $999.42 received. His other contributors were Catherine Prince, 44154 Leeann, Canton, $75; Bruce Patterson, 42479 Redfern Dr., Canton, $33.17; Jeffrey Goldsmith, 43951 Bannockburn, Canton, who is the husband of Canton Trustee Lynne Goldsmith, gave $26.87; and James Lewandowski (no address listed) donated $50.

A number of politicians contributed to the United Democratic Club. U.S. Rep. William D. Ford gave $177.50, while State Senator William Faust added $40, and State Rep. Tom Brown donated $197.

J.R. Killeen, Wayne County Clerk, contributed $20, and Deputy County Clerk Orville Tungate, of Plymouth Township, gave $25.

Aloysius Suchy of Northville, who waged an unsuccessful campaign for 35th District judge, donated $40 to the club, as did former Canton Supervisor Phil Dingeldey.

Other contributors to the club include: Ralph Burch of Canton, $32; Richard Kirchgatter of Gyde Road, $25; Richard Palmer of Warren Road, $50; Hulendale Management Co. (no address listed), $440; Bruce Young of Michigan Avenue, $40; Robert

Twp. rushes sewer projects before voters decide fate of Headlee

Although the board must gain approval from Wayne County and the State of Michigan for the project once again because it decided to fund the project under a different public act, keeping the same dollar amount would expedite matters, Brender and other consultants said.

"We don't have any time to waste," Brender said. "If Headlee passes, bond counsel has a very dim outlook that there would be any municipal bond issues for a couple of years."

Robert Hammill, whose firm is serving as bond counsel on the project for the township, said all county and state approvals of the bond issue must be completed by Dec. 22 to beat the Headlee tax limitation. If that date is not met, and "Headlee passes, the sale an completion of the bond issue is delayed and perhaps destroyed," Hammill said.

In light of the advice not to change the amount of the bond issue, the board voted four to three Monday to proceed with the issue at $2.8 million. Supervisor Tom Notebaert, Clerk Helen Richardson, Treasurer Joe West and Trustee Frank Millington favored the issue while Trustee Lee Fidge, Maurice Breen and Richard Gornick opposed the motion, as they have opposed related action in the past.

The board then voted to make up the difference in additional costs from the township's Water and Sewer Department Building Fund, which has a balance of some $386,000. Mrs. Richardson cast the lone dissenting vote in the six to one tally, saying she opposed using a fund which is earmarked for the water department to build its own facilities.

Brender also cautioned the board that in order to expedite the project, construction bids are not being taken before selling bonds - which is not the usual practice. That means that the cost of the project could prove to be even higher.

On Monday, the township board also learned that some $114,500 in charges will be accrued even if the bond issue is not successfully completed and the board agreed to begin paying those obligations.

City speeds bond issue

A bond sale for 1978 street resurfacing in Plymouth will be rushed in order to beat the Dec. 22 deadline set by the Headlee tax limitation amendment if it passes in November.

The city clerk's department decided to hurry the bond application after meeting with George Stevenson, the city's bonding attorney.

If the bonds aren't delivered by Dec. 22, they must be approved by a vote of the citizens.

Dump trucks bought

Bids for two dump trucks, the calendar and annual report, Growth Works's roof repair, street and sidewalk repair, and rock salt were approved by the Plymouth City Commission Monday night.

The dump trucks will be purchased from Leo Calhoun Ford for $18,042, including a trade-in on the other trucks totaling $6,350.

Graphics Communications was awarded the contract to print the calendar and annual report for $2,460.

D.H. Hancock Roofing and Construction of Canton will repair Growth Works's roof for $10,204, and the Mattioli Cement Co. of Southfield will fix holes in the city's streets and sidewalks for $34,063.

The Morton Salt Division of Chicago was awarded a contract to provide 1,200 tons of salt to the city of $16,824.

Also, two bids to build a Gazebo in Old Village were rejected as too high.

Chicken flying OKd

The Plymouth City Commission gave official permission to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to hold its annual Chicken Flying Contest on Oct. 1.

Chicken flying will start immediately following the end of the parade, which starts at noon.

ADVANTAGE OF LARGE MORTGAGE

When buying a home, should you strive for a low down payment with a commensurately large mortgage loan? Here's what some experts say about the value of a large mortgage.

The higher interest charge is offset somewhat by a higher tax deduction. The money that would have been put into a larger down payment can be used for other income-producing investments. Finally, it's cheaper to borrow mortgage money than any other kind. And you certainly may have to borrow for autos and college tuition if you are an average American.

Chiefs scalp Annapolis, 14-0

BY PATTY RADZIK
Scoring two touchdowns in the second half, the Canton football team chalked up its second victory Friday night by defeating Dearborn Heights Annapolis 14-0.

The points didn't come easy though. "We didn't do so well in the first half," Coach Dave Schuele said. "The second half we toughened up. We had our problems, but we ran at them."

Canton seemed to have everything under control while possessing the ball in the first quarter. That is, until the Chiefs were assessed a 15-yard penalty. "We looked good until that penalty," Schuele stated. That incident took some spirit out of the Chiefs, and it showed going into the second quarter.

Annapolis started a drive which concluded on Canton's own 14-yard line. In scoring position, Dearborn was slapped with an incroachment penalty which saved the Chiefs.

Fifty seconds before half-time festivities were to begin, Annapolis brought on their field goal kicker.

As time ticked away, the ball was booted into the air, only to be abruptly stopped in flight by the arms of Bill Van Hurst.

At half time, Schuele told his players, "if we beat them off the line, we can beat them, period."

Following coaches' instructions, the Chiefs found themselves minutes later in scoring position.

The drive started on Dearborn's own 42 yard line when the punt to Canton trickled out of bounds. Rusty Mandle was the key to the drive, as quarterback Scott Dawson handed him the ball five times in a row for a gain of 34 yards.

The sixth time Mandle got the ball, he breezed over the goal line for the Chiefs' first score of the game. The extra point attempt was blocked by Dearborn's Jim Scott.

The third quarter started off badly for both teams, as the

Kick KO's Dearborn in last 15 seconds

Hanschu FG lifts Rocks to win

BY ERIC OLSON

It's the big play and you call it. Here's the situation: the score is tied 7-7 with 15 seconds left in the game. It's fourth and one yard for a first down, nine yards for a touchdown, and remember you have not completed a pass yet in several attempts.

Well, if you called for anything other than a field goal you were wrong - at least this time. Even though it is a high school game and high school kids are not suppose to be able to kick field goals, that is what Salem Coach Tom Moshimer called for against Dearborn in the waning seconds of Saturday's game.

Rich Hanschu's kick split the uprights and had 15 yards of distance to spare. The kick gave the Rocks a come from behind 10-7 win.

"He's an excellent kicker, but the funny thing is that our offense made a mistake on the play before," said Moshimer. "We wanted to run to the middle to set up for the field goal, but we got stuck kicking from the left hash mark."

The Rocks controlled the game on the field and the battle of the statistics. They out gained Dearborn on the ground, 275-61, and had a wide edge in first downs, 16-3.

However, Dearborn took an early 7-0 lead on its first possession and held that margin until the fourth quarter. Dearborn drove 55 yards in eight plays on the straight ahead running by fullback Mike Kazanowski, who scored on a five yard run, and a 28-yard catch and run by Russ Haller.

The Rocks had several scoring chances in the first half, but were never able to push a score across. Twice Salem got inside the Dearborn 10-yard line only to stall and lose the ball on downs.

In the second quarter Salem did not allow Dearborn out of its own half of the field or a first down.

"I've got to credit the defense with an outstanding job," said Moshimer, adding, "their one goal line series in the fourth quarter gave us the momentum for our offense. The offense did the job when it had to though."

The third quarter was one of exchanging punts as neither offense could put a drive together.

However, with 1:44 remaining in the third quarter, Salem got the big break that it needed - a fumble deep in Dearborn territory.

Salem golfers now 2-0

BY ERIC OLSON

"We are the hottest team in the state," said a happy Bob Waters, Salem golf coach, after two wins in the opening week of the season.

On Monday the Rocks won the Brighton Quadangular Meet for the third year in a row with a score of 317 and on Wednesday they trounced North Farmington 153-165.

Brighton was second in the quad meet with 322, Dearborn third with 324, and Dearborn Riversidé last with 360.

"This is our best start in years," said Waters.

Low scorer for Salem in the quad meet was Craig Stevens who fired a 77. Blake Lundberg followed with a 78 and Rob Jarvis and Ed Thomas each carded 81s.

Stevens shared low score honors with Lundberg in the North Farmington match as they both shot 37. Jarvis has a 38 and Eric Heigt a 41.

"It's been the steadiness of Stevens and great improvement of Lundberg, Jarvis, and Thomas," said Waters of the reason for the team's fast start.

Last Friday's meet against Northville was cancelled and will be made up Friday.

Salem swimmers sink in opener

BY PATTY RADZIK

A 118-54 loss to West Bloomfield may indicate a sour performance on the part of the Salem girls swim team, but in truth they swam quite well. Two school records were broken, which qualified the achievers for the state meet.

Finishing first in the 200-yard individual medley, Sarah Stanwood swam a record time of 2:19.7. Co-captain Sue Sparling came in fifth in the same event. Her time was 2:44.2.

Stanwood also tucked the 100 butterfly under her cap with, a first place time of 1:05.1. Junior Sue Evans took fifth place with a 1:19.7 time.

Sharon Ross's swim in the 500 freestyle earned her a spot in the record books with a time of 5:32.7.

"We swam one of the best dual meet teams in Michigan," Coach Chuck Olson said of their opponents from West Bloomfield. "We didn't swim that bad. I was pleased with the times, but not too pleased with the score," he added.

Ross and Stanwood were keeping busy as they later teamed with Linda Wachna and Kim Coates to stroke to a second place finish in the 400 freestyle relay event. Their time: 4:15.2.

Ross also took home second place in the 200 freestyle, while Coates finished fifth in the same event.

The trio of Jill McCann, Sue Sparling and Kelley Siebert touched the side in 2:12.7, good enough for third place in the medley relay race.

McCann, the 1977 backstroke league champion, swam to a 1:06.9 time in her favorite event. She also stroked to a second place spot in the 50 freestyle.

In the 100 breaststroke, Kim Coehler and Laura Perpich touched two seconds apart to finish fourth and fifth.

Diving competition found the Rocks doing fairly well. Natalie McClumpha scored 150.55 points to claim second place. Cathy Radgedens came in fifth with 94.7 points.

The girls' next meet is tomorrow in the Salem pool. They'll be going up against a tough Ypsilanti team. The first splash can be heard at 7 p.m.

"They have really good people as far as qualifying for state goes. They have a lot of depth," Olson commented about the upcoming meet.

"It'll be a difficult meet for us, but not as difficult as the last one," he added. "Hopefully we can put something together and start winning."

Salem's record is now 0-1.

Canton wins two

The Canton girls basketball team picked up right where they left off last year as they opened the 1978 season with two convincing wins.

With almost every player back from last year's 20-1 record it's no wonder that the Chiefs are off to a fast start.

"I'm looking for another very good year," said Coach Mike McCauley.

Last Tuesday they whipped Ypsilanti 60-25 and on Thursday they bombed Franklin by 50 points, 83-23.

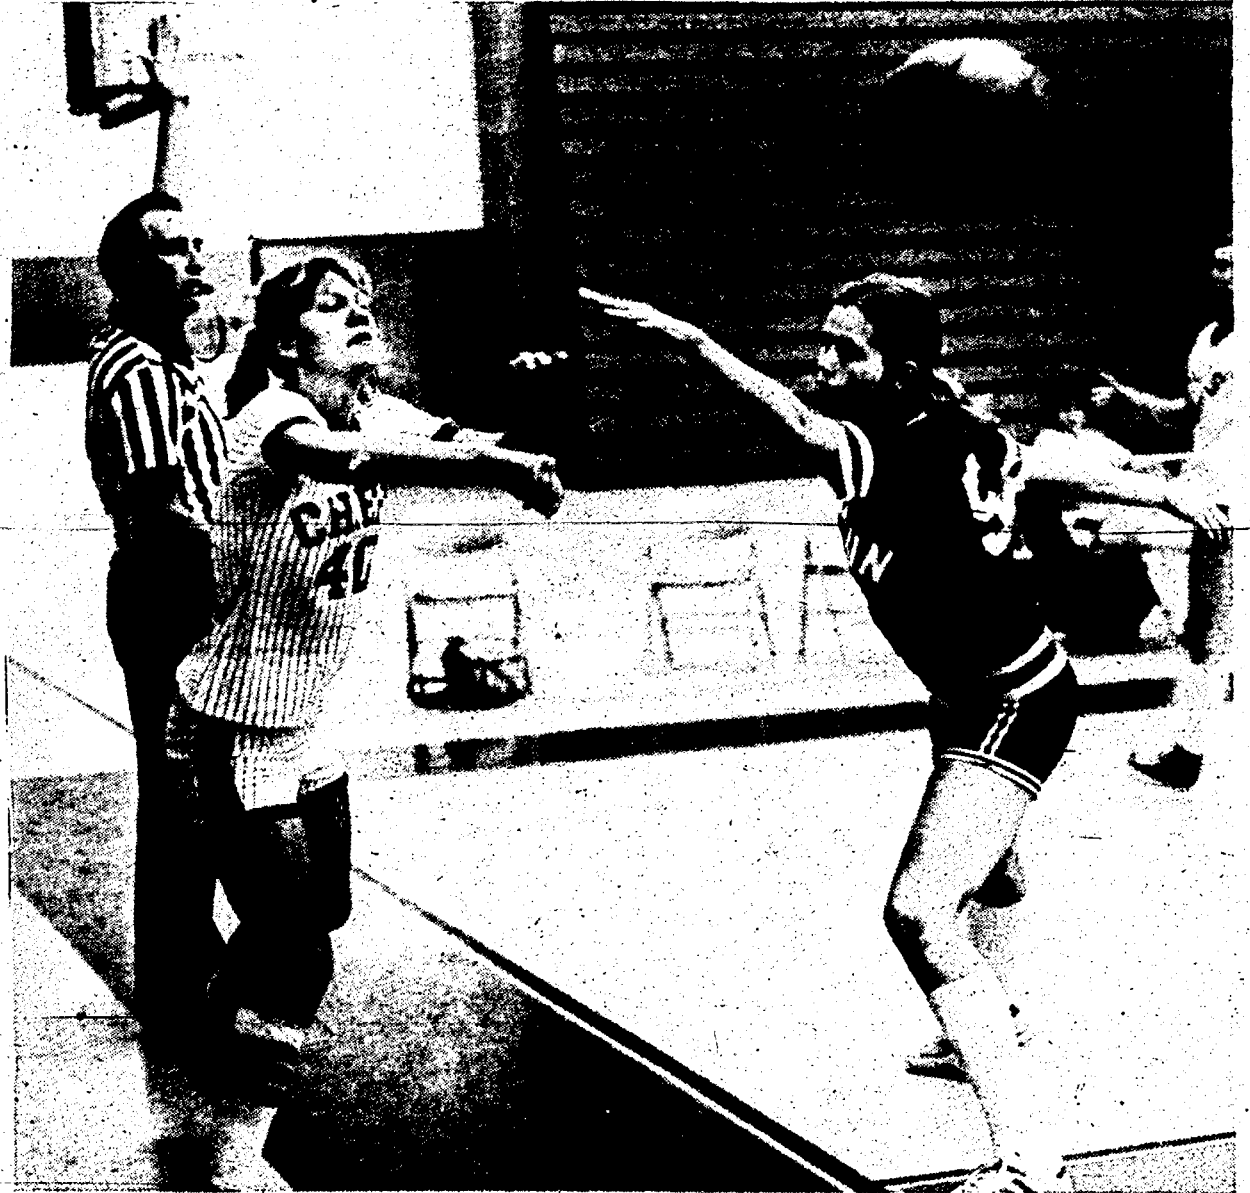

Outscoring Ypsilanti by a 15-4 margin in the first quarter the contest was never in doubt. In the second half the Chiefs enjoyed a 33-13 advantage.

Cathy Pike was top scorer with 16 points and Kelly Heaton was the only other Chief in double figures with 10.

Jill Pederson added nine, Donna Malke, eight, and Ezzie Pasek, six.

Against Franklin, Pike was again the top scorer with 20 as Canton roared to an 18-4 first stanza lead and a 40-15 half-time edge.

Balanced scoring was provided by Heaton, Laura Butler, and Vicky Cavallaro as they each tallied a dozen markers.

Salem cagers blast Raiders

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The Salem Rocks blasted the North Farmington Raiders off the court Thursday night by a score of 80-10. "Their team just wasn't very good," said Coach Bob Bluhm after the game.

The Rocks ran the Raiders up and down the court controlling the ball throughout the game and taking every opportunity to drive in and set up for an easy toss in. But if the victory seemed easy, the Rocks weren't lackadaisical.

"It was a team effort tonight," Co-Captain Nan Hor-wood said. "We all played together," she said.

Co-Captain Erin Moore, playing forward, lead the team with 16 points, guard Horwood and guard-forward Doris Hoelscher drove in 10 points, and forward Diane Goodrich scored eight points.

The Rocks also out-rebounded the Raiders by sharing 52 while the Raiders only captured 18. Taking rebounds for the Rocks were Goodrich, Moore, and Pat Weidman.

The Raiders scored most of their points off the free throws given them after the Rocks had fouled. The Rocks made 14 fouls during the game and Raiders made 13.

This was the second victory for the Rocks this season after winning their opener against Walled Lake Western on Tuesday, Sept. 12 by a score of 64-33.

Co-Captain Erin Moore, scored 17 points to lead the Rocks, Pat Weidman scored 12 points, and Diane Goodrich drove in 11 points for the team.

Next game for the Rocks will be their first league game of the season against Belleville tomorrow night at 4 p.m. at Belleville.

Rock tankers seek league championship

BY PATTY RADZIK

"We have the makings to recapture the league championship." Those enthusiastic words are from Salem Girls Swimming Coach Chuck Olson, as he looks forward to the 1978 season.

Returning to try to make the final outcome a good one are senior captains Sue Sparling and Laura Perpich. "They show good leadership," Olson commented. "They are very versatile swimmers and can swim all the strokes," he added.

Having to maintain a record of two dual-meet losses in the past two years is a very difficult task. However, Olson has a couple of girls in mind whom he thinks will provide that extra push to keep the victories going: 1977 backstroke league champ Jill McCann and sophomore Sarah Stanwood, the 1977 league champ in the 1500-yard freestyle.

"Things are going good," Olson stated. "Practices are working out very well. The attitudes are good. We are a good team as far as sticking together goes."

An important part of the 32-member team is the divers. This year only two girls are returning to do their daily routine of jumping, flipping, twisting and turning off the diving boards — junior Natalie McClumpha, whose sister Amy held a top position on the boards last year; and sophomore Patty Larson.

"They have a lot of ability," Olson said. "I look for a challenge for the league championship. We've never had a diver get the league championship. We'd like to have it."

Salem's toughest opponents according to Olson, will be Stevenson, Northville, Ypsilanti and West Bloomfield, whom the Rocks will open their season against tomorrow night, there at 7:30. "They are the toughest team we have on our schedule, and we have a very tough schedule," Olson said.

The following meet will have Salem competing in their home pool. The visiting team will be Ypsilanti, with competition beginning at 7 p.m. on Sept. 21.

A final note: Two of Salem's top swimmers in 1977 have moved on to bigger and better things since graduating last year. Twin sisters Marion and Sue Stanwood have found an open door in the world of sports. Marion Stanwood is now swimming for the University of Michigan, and also qualified for the Junior National team over the summer. While her twin sister Sue is running cross country for Hillsdale College.

Rock netters take two

BY PATTY RADZIK

The Salem Girls tennis team began its season on a good note last week as it defeated both of its non-league opponents.

In the season opener, the Rocks left the Chargers with nothing to do except watch themselves go down the drain, as their winning efforts demolished the Chargers from Churchill.

The four singles players, all tennis veterans, won their matches with superior experience and finesse.

Becky Crespo at No. 1 singles won handily 6-3, 6-3. Kathy Horton, in the No. 2 spot won easily 6-1, 6-0. The three and four players, Betsy Moon and Renee Braun, also had no problems in picking up victories.

Salem won the match 6 to 1, with the only defeat falling upon the doubles team of Laurie Smith and Beth Maggio. They lost 5-7, 1-6.

The other two doubles combinations of sisters Lynne and Sandy Hathaway, and Kathy Somers and Vicki Sterling picked-up easy victories.

The Rock junior varsity also played well. Victors included singles players Karen Maggio and Lisa Miyasaki, and doubles partners Kathy Weber and Julie Koziski.

On Friday, the four singles players again came through with easy victories, only allowing Thurston two victorious games.

The No. 1 doubles team of the Hathaways were not so fortunate. They lost a hard-fought match 4-6, 6-4, 7-6 (5-4). "They lost mostly because the No. 1 singles player for Thurston had knee trouble and was playing doubles. That girl was their ball seesawed back and forth, trading possessions. Canton put their heads together, with Jay McKinley doing the thinking when he intercepted a Dearborn pass with just 42 seconds left in the third.

A lot of things happened before Canton obtained the ball to set up another touchdown. Canton was called for clipping while Dearborn was punting to them.

The Chiefs held Annapolis to a total of three yards on one next drive and Jay McKinley intercepted a Dearborn pass with 42 seconds left in the quarter.

Canton made their move in the fourth quarter. But the Chiefs no sooner began a drive than it appeared to be over.

Losing three yards on a tackle and eight more when Dawson was sacked, the situation looked grim.

However, with 5:41 left in the game, with a third and 20 problem on their hands, Mandle caught a 20-yard pass from Dawson, and ran an additional 10 to set up for some more points.

Mandle carried nine more yards, then scored his second touchdown of the night, slipping past the Dearborn defense. A two-point conversion was successful, and Canton led 14-0 with less than a minute left to play.

Annapolis was forced to pass long in the last seconds and one was picked off by Jay McKinley, his second of the night, to end the threat.

The crowd counted down the seconds, and Canton won its second game of the season.

"We had a good night," Schuele said. "I'm very happy. We're all happy. I was very pleased with the outcome."

The Chiefs will be trying for number three this Friday, as they take on Northville at home. Kickoff time is set for eight o'clock. "Northville is a very tough team, even though their record doesn't show it," Schuele said. Northville's record is 0-2, but still Schuele looks for a very tough game.

Canton vs. Salem... ...it's a natural

BY ERIC OLSON

Salem and Canton should play each other in football?

The game is an obvious natural rivalry (on which football tradition is built) that could be the biggest sporting event of the year in Plymouth.

It would be like the Michigan - Michigan State game or the UCLA - USC game. And the winner would get to keep a trophy for a year. Maybe it would be called the Plymouth Rock.

In cities like Detroit and Flint the city series games are the most important ones. Many times teams that have mediocre seasons can still gain great satisfaction by winning the city championship.

Suppose a year ago that the last game of the year was Salem and Canton. Salem coming into the game 8-0 and Canton 0-8. Somehow Canton gets so fired up that they upset Salem.

Bingo! Even though Canton ends the year 1-8 they have still had a great year just because they beat Salem. And for Salem their 8-1 mark loses much of its glitter.

It would give both teams something to shoot for no matter how bad the season had been up to the "game."

Last second FG wins for Salem

When quarterback Steve Mills was pressured into pitching the ball halfback Mark Sadowski could not find the handle and Rock Jim Anderson recovered at the Dearborn 20 yard line.

Six plays later Kris Kappler cracked over from the four to make the score 7-6 and Hanschu's conversion tied it.

Salem's offensive drive that led to the winning field goal started on its own eight yard line and spanned nearly six minutes.

There were some key first downs made along the way: fourth down and inches at their own 40, third and one, third and two, and third and five. All the first downs were made on the ground.

The Rocks had a first and 10 on Dearborn's 15 yard line with 58 seconds left in regulation time, but three straight running plays picked up seven yards and chewed up 43 seconds.

Enter Hanschu.

Salem plays its first away game Friday against Allen Park which is 1-1 on the year.

Harriers sixth

BY ERIC OLSON

Fall is here and it means more than just football is here. Cross Country is also here.

The Salem and Canton cross country teams had their first big meet of the year, the Schoolcraft Invitational, on Saturday and Salem placed sixth and Canton took 14.

Pacing the Rocks was Paul Hess who 14th in a time of 16:53. He was followed by teammates Dave Rubadue (35th in 17:33), Dave Truesdale (37th in 17:46), Kevin Waara (54th in 18:05), Jeff Haertel (56th in 18:06), Chris Whitaker (68th in 18:23), and Todd Curtis (121st in 21:07).

Northville was first in the meet and Wayne was second in the 19-team field.

"I was a little disappointed that Hess didn't finish in the top 10 but we did finish a little higher as a team than

I had expected," said Salem Coach Scott Dunson.

Dave Spitz was Canton's top runner as he clocked in at 17:24 good for 26th place. Dan McGlenn and Dave Talaga came in 10 seconds apart with McGlenn taking 65th in 18:20 and Talaga 74th. Randy Hannels (80th in 18:38), Rob Fletcher (82nd in 18:41), and Scott Hand (85th in 18:45) rounded out the field for the Chiefs.

In their first meet of the year, a tri-meet between Salem, Canton, and Stevenson, Salem was second with 39 points and Canton last with 60 points. The meet was held last Tuesday at Cass Benton.

Hess was the individual winner in a time of 17:03 and Dave Rubadue was fourth in 17:25 over the three-mile course. Spitz was the best for Canton as he was seventh in 17:47.

Rocks net victory

whole team," said Coach Janet Lawson.

Up from junior varsity were the possessors of the No. 2 doubles spot, Kathy Somers and Vicki Sterling, and they won their match 6-1, 6-1.

The third doubles team, Kathy Weber and Julie Koziski, won by the same score.

The junior varsity squad played only doubles in their match. All four of the Rock teams won easily. The victors included Beth Maggio and Laurie Smith, Sue Koziski and Beths' sister Karen, Sue Sudendorf and Sue Dobble, and Jeanne Poole and Beth Miller.

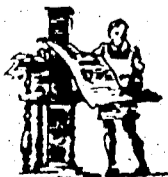

"It was almost a clean sweep in both of our matches," said Coach Janet Lawson. "There really was no challenge," she added. "Our only challenges will be coming from Dearborn, Ottawa Hills and Bentley," Lawson said.

The girls take on Bentley today at home on the CEP tennis courts. Salem has never lost to Bentley. Match time is 4 p.m.

The Ottawa Hills match will also take place on the home courts, tomorrow, at 3:30. Ottawa Hills is from Toledo, Ohio.

"I'm very happy with our start," Lawson commented. "I just hope we can hang in there and keep winning."
