Parade, poem ready to mark Memorial Day

Plymouth's annual Memorial Day parade will start at 10:30 a.m. Monday, march down Main Street, and finish in Kellogg Park with ceremonies and speeches honoring those who died for our country.

Marching in the parade will be the Veterans of Foreign Wars Color Guard, the CEP Marching Band, other school bands, boy and girl scouts, and other groups.

After the parade, Mary Beth Bologna, a 12th grader at CEP, will recite "Flanders Field," a poem remembering the fallen soldiers of a World War I battle.

Other speakers are scheduled to address the crowd during the final ceremonies, said Parade Marshal Don Totten, of the Plymouth VFW post, which is sponsoring this year's parade.

The parade will start behind Central Middle School. About 1,000 persons are expected to watch, according to Plymouth police.

Supervisor race heats up

BY CHAS CHILD

Robert Greenstein has announced he is a candidate for supervisor of Canton Township, the job he held from 1974-76.

Currently a trustee, Greenstein said his "proven" leadership is needed to face "the very hard times" Canton will suffer "in the near future."

"Unless something is done, we are irrevocably headed toward a depression as bad as the Great Depression of the 1930s," he said.

Greenstein sharply criticized current Supervisor Noel Culbert and the previous supervisor, Harold Stein. "I believe that the last two administrations of this township have provided endless duplication, indecision, and poor judgment wherein millions of dollars have been spent on ill-advised, improper or thoughtless projects and that we can no longer afford such governmental excesses and failures," he said.

Although he said he's running strongly on the leadership issue, Greenstein added that he wants to continue his efforts to preserve the township's remaining farmland.

Recent attempts to find funding to preserve farmland have been thwarted by interference from Culbert, he charged.

With Culbert as supervisor, "We've had no management of resources," said Greenstein. "Culbert has avoided issues and refuses to tackle anything of significance."

Greenstein, who said he will take a substantial pay cut from his current law practice earnings, was asked if he would be satisfied with the current salary of the supervisor, $27,000. "I think the supervisor's job is harder than the governor of Michigan's job because he's so accessible to the people," he replied. "You couldn't pay the supervisor sufficiently if he is doing a good job."

If elected, Greenstein said he would give up his law practice and devote all his time to the supervisor's job, which will have a four-year term.

He added that he is seeking the job reluctantly. "After months of soul-searching and thought" he threw his hat in the ring, he said.

"I would have preferred to be a trustee with a qualified supervisor," he said. Since no one qualified, according to Greenstein, is apparently going to run, he decided to seek the office.

Culbert has announced he will run for re-election, and Stein said Monday that he is leaning toward entering the race.

Stein beat Greenstein in the 1976 primary election and fought off Greenstein's write-in effort in that year's general election. In 1978 Culbert defeated Stein in the primary, and in a replay of two years earlier, overcame Stein's write-in campaign in November.

All three will seek the Democratic nomination for the post. So far, only former trustee Jim Poole has said he may seek the Republican nomination.

Veterans honored

TO REMEMBER those who made the supreme sacrifice in defense of their country, Al Heindryckx, post commander of Plymouth's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6695, plants flags at Riverside Cemetery Saturday. Further ceremonies to honor our war dead will be held at the annual Memorial Day parade Monday in downtown Plymouth. (Crier photo by James Keenan)

School board candidates to speak at LWV forum

The public is invited to Candidates' Forum, sponsored by the local League of Women Voters, on Tuesday, May 27 at Pioneer Middle School at 7:30 p.m.

Five out of the seven candidates who are running for two posts on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will present statements and then answer questions from the audience. Attending the forum will be Glenn Schroeder, Richard Arlen, James Steffen, Dannie Holyoak, and Flossie Tonda.

Candidate James Sinclair will send a statement to be read at the forum because he is unable to attend. The seventh candidate, Emil Hagopian, will not attend the forum.

Candidates' Forum is designed to help acquaint voters with the candidates before the district's June 9 election. The league does not support any candidates, but aims to distribute information about them, said LWV spokesperson Cynthia Fasalow.

School candidates mull fate of ESY, administrators

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Should school board members be re-elected to finish programs they've worked on in the Plymouth-Canton district? Should the ESY (Extended School Year) program be expanded? Should cuts be made at administrative levels rather than inflating the teacher-student ratio?

These questions and others were discussed at an informal candidates' forum Monday night. Sponsored by the Bird School PTO, the forum drew five of the seven candidates for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Two seats will be decided in the district's June 9 election.

Attending were: Flossie Tonda, an incumbent in the race from Canton; James Steffen, a two-year resident of Canton; Glenn Schroeder, a Plymouth Township resident who served on the Citizens' Bond Advisory Committee; Dennie Holyoak, a Canton resident since last summer; and, Richard Arlen, an incumbent who lives in the City of Plymouth.

Two candidates -- James Sinclair and Emil Hagopian, both of Plymouth Township -- did not attend the forum.

After giving a brief sketch of themselves and their reasons for running for office, the candidates fielded questions from the audience.

Asked what steps the schools can take to minimize the tax increase for home owners, candidates said:

To stay even with inflation, the school district has to start cutting (programs), said Arlen. Even with higher assessments on homes, the state aid formula for schools is figured so that districts don't receive all the money from higher assessments, he said.

The proposal on the June 9 ballot to let the district levy its authorized millage rate is designed to keep the district's budget where it is now, responded Holyoak.

Schroeder favored expanding ESY. "It's been a reasonable success in this community," he said. He also was in favor of grade realignment to ease the space crunch at the high schools.

Taxpayers are tired of having millage and bond proposals on the ballot, said Steffen. "They have to be convinced that money isn't being wasted."

Tonda made a bid in favor of the $11 million bond proposal on the June 9 ballot. It's "a bare necessity," she said. "We could do without some, but it'll hurt us in the long run. If you vote against it, we'll manage. If you vote for it, kids will have things a little better," she said.

When cuts are made, will upper management be reduced in addition to inflating the student-teacher ratio?, asked a member of the audience.

Tonda responded by saying administrators aren't paid too much money, if their salaries are compared to persons working in industry. "The board will have to decide (on cuts)," she said.

"Savings will have to begin at the administrative level," said Steffen. School officials must convince taxpayers that they're doing the best they can for the money available, he added.

The board has tried to set up a "foundational plan" over the past two years to deal with accountability, said Arlen.

The first thing to reduce is administration because it doesn't build cars, responded Schroeder. "But I'll scrutinize it closely. I don't know (all) the answers."

"I'd be the last one to reduce teacher-student ratios in the classroom," said Holyoak.

Asked how passage of the Tisch Amendment would effect the schools, many candidates disapproved of it. "(If passed,) it would be disastrous for the schools," said Schroeder.

"I don't think the voters are foolish enough to pass Tisch," responded Steffen.

Tonda recommended voters learn what amendments their representatives to Congress and the state houses favor. "You should find out," she said. "These are the people who spend your tax dollars."

City Commission due to ratify police, fire pacts

BY DAN BODENE

Police and fire department contracts were expected to be ratified at last night's Plymouth City Commission meeting after months of controversy.

A police settlement was reached Friday. However, neither City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. nor Plymouth Police Officers Association representative Mike Gardner would disclose the exact settlement until the contract was ratified by the City Commission.

The firefighter's contract was settled after only 19 hours, said Graper. It stipulates an eight per cent pay increase per year over three years, with an additional $150 added to each of the captain ranks.

In addition, several other contract provisions were proposed for firefighters, including an additional one-half holiday, an additional vacation day, food allowance increases, short and long-term disability benefits and increases in sick leave days.

Graper said that before ratification, the firefighters contract may undergo minor language changes.

Graper said he was happy to reach a settlement to the contracts, adding, "I had to work within the parameters that the City Commission had established. I think that the police bargainers had to reach a point where they negotiated all they could, and had to decide whether they would go to arbitration or not."

Gardner seemed satisfied with the settlement, saying, "At a point between the city and union (offers), we left off. We are quite satisfied with the results. It's fair for the union, and it's fair for the city."

Although both contracts were similar in terms of pay increases, negotiations between the city and union bargainers progressed very differently.

Graper explained that in the case of the firefighters' contract, he had been involved in the talks from the beginning. Police labor negotiations had begun many months earlier, and continued between the union and a series of city representatives ending with Graper.

Prowler strikes

Residents of the Mayflower subdivision in Plymouth Township should be aware of a purse snatcher on the prowl, according to Senior Detective Sue Murray of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

According to the detective, three homes on Mayflower Drive were broken into during the late-night early morning hours last Wednesday.

The thief would enter by breaking through a window and then search for cash in ladies' handbags, reported Murray. After taking the cash, the burglar would dump out the rest of the contents, said Murray.

The specific locations of the thefts were not released because residents fear retaliation, said Murray. She advised residents to keep doors and windows securely locked, particularly at night.

Bands to jam for dystrophy

The second annual Muscular Dystrophy Association Volunteer Jam will be held Sunday, June 1.

Featuring eight country-rock bands, the jam will be held at the U.A.W. Hall, 48055 Michigan Ave., Canton, from noon until 1 a.m. Tickets are $3 per person with children under 13 admitted free.

Among the bands which will play are the Lone Star Revue, Johnnie Dee and Mystery Train, Larry Lee and Gold Country, Randy Jack West Grand Blvd., Jack Mollette Boarderline Express, Canton Kitchen Band, Gary Tuttle and the Hombres, and Kelly Hall Southbound.

Last year's jam raised $4,700 and 100 per cent of the money was donated to muscular dystrophy drive, says Gary Roberts, a jam organizer. Bands, food, beverages, fliers, and tickets have been donated, he adds.

Advance tickets can be purchased at the U.A.W. Hall or Canton Vac-n-Sew, 41500 Ford Rd., Canton.

City gives owners 2 weeks to tear down burned Penniman walls

BY CHAS CHILD

The City of Plymouth has given the owners of the burned-out Penniman Avenue Shops until May 27 to tear down scorched walls that may fall and cause more damage.

If the walls, on the east and west sides of the former shops, are not razed by then, said City Engineer Ken West, the city will seek permission from 35th District Court to tear them down.

Cited for violating the city's building ordinance were the owners of the former shops, Rod Cannon and City Commissioner David Pugh, and William Morrison, of Morrison, Stanwood, and Polak, an accounting firm. Morrison's building shared a wall, now damaged, with the ruined shops.

Why haven't the walls, which were damaged more than three months ago in the Feb. 16 fire, been torn down before now?

The problem apparently lies with a complicated dispute between the insurance companies of Morrison and Cannon and Pugh.

West said Morrison's insurance company claims that his wall can be reconstructed and doesn't need to be torn down. He added also that there's a dispute between Morrison's and Cannon and Pugh's attorneys over the legal rights of their shared wall.

The east wall in dispute is shared by Morrison's building, yet rests on Pugh's and Cannon's property, which is apparently causing some of the legal problems.

"In the meantime we're left with the hazard," said West. "We're concerned that a real strong wind will blow over the walls and create a domino effect," damaging surrounding businesses.

Also, Morrison's damaged building is termed an "attractive nuisance," said West. "Kids are going in there," he said.

"The wall will either be repaired or rebuilt," said Morrison. He is waiting for the results of stress tests and other engineering data to make a decision, he added.

"I have a feeling we'll have some direction within 15 to 30 days," he said.

THE CITY of Plymouth may have to go to court to get this wall, the east side of the burned-out Penniman Avenue Shops, torn down. City Engineer Ken West believes it's a safety hazard, but a legal and insurance hassle is delaying its demolition. The wall is shared with the building of Morrison, Stanwood, and Polak, an accounting firm. Bricks from the wall are continuing to fall, said West. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Citizen says Canton fire vehicles need rust repair

BY CHAS CHILD

A citizen who investigated the condition of Canton fire department's equipment said, "almost $1 million worth of equipment is ready to fall apart."

Tim Orbacki, a Canton mechanic, said the fire trucks and rescue vehicles are badly rusted. Only one of the department's vehicles had been rust-proofed, he said.

The Board of Trustees, which heard Orbacki's report last Tuesday, appointed him to inspect the vehicles after one trustee received an anonymous letter from a fireman saying that the oil of one vehicle was long overdue to be changed.

Despite Orbacki's charges of neglect, he said he did not want to blame only Mel Paulun, Canton's fire chief.

"The chief asked for a mechanic for a number of years," Orbacki said in a letter to the editor of The Crier and to the board of trustees. "With budget cuts, red tape, what could he do? Come to every board meeting and yell and drop his books to show his temper or isn't his word-of-mouth or reports submitted enough? Apparently not."

"If a mistake was made, share the blame, you're only human. Be honest, but don't put the blame on Chief Paulun, that's passing the buck."

A mechanic was hired by the township's Merit Commission in April, but was fired after two weeks for incompetence, said Trustee Robert Greenstein.

After Orbacki's report, the board authorized the following steps:

- 1) the purchase of new chassis for the department's two rescue vehicles, at a total cost of $40,000.
- 2) appoint a second in command at the department to be in charge of vehicle maintenance. "The chief is overworked," said Supervisor Noel Culbert.
- 3) undercoat all fire vehicles.
- 4) improve training of fire department personnel.

5) update maintenance record-keeping procedures.

Greenstein, who received the anonymous letter from a fireman, said he also received reports that training records of Canton firemen have been falsified.

Chief Paulun said last Tuesday that he would prepare a report on these charges at a later date.

As for a fire-truck mechanic, the township administration is negotiating with Jim Lee, a mechanic who worked on the vehicles part-time, to hire him full-time.

The mechanic who was hired last month to work on the vehicles was fired because he improperly changed the oil on some of the vehicles, said Canton Personnel Director Dan Durack. He was chosen from a field of 17 candidates after both written and oral interviews, he said.

"It is hard to understand," said Durack. "He had good recommendations."

"I'm concerned that this never happen again," said Treasurer Jim Donahue. "Is any disciplinary action necessary?"

"We have to have written reports to proceed on this," said Larson.

Orbacki replied that his report would be submitted in writing to the board this week.

Twp.'s Notebaert hit for unapproved expenses

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth Township trustees criticized township administrators, particularly Supervisor Tom Notebaert, at last Tuesday night's meeting for not getting board approval on some projects for the renovation of township hall.

The board was reviewing expenditures for the renovation of the Teledyne Building, adjacent to the current township hall. About $94,000 was allocated last fall for the renovation project before construction was started.

"There are several items here -- totalling more than $3,600 (in one case), which were not approved by the board," said Trustee Barbara Lynch. "We should have gotten board approval for them (before they were started.)"

Last year when the project was approved, there was a motion that no funds were to be appropriated without the board's approval and a prior purchase order, she continued.

Notebaert responded: "There was no intent to bypass the board. We wanted to use the workers when they were here and we saw some small projects that needed to be done."

Furthermore, he added that some "emergency work" was authorized for the workers and "I don't know whether it (the work) would be considered part of the Teledyne renovation."

Lynch and Trustee Lee Fidge estimated that the construction project was about $6,000 over its cost because of the unauthorized bills.

Trustee Maurice Breen predicted that there may be some switchovers to make when the auditors work on the Public Improvement fund because some work was done on township hall in addition to work on the Teledyne renovation project.

Clerk Eather Hulsing defended Notebaert saying, "I don't think you (the trustees) should be too alarmed at some of the over-run."

"Yes, some of the work needed to be done," agreed Lynch, "but at some point the supervisor should have given a report on the status of the project."

"I felt the jobs were important," said

Notebaert. Hulsing supported him, saying, "What's been done has made the building (township hall) more habitable."

"They were necessary expenses," added Notebaert. Fidge countered his statement: "The board hasn't denied necessary expenses, but there have been some bills paid without board approval."

Fidge made a motion, supported by

Lynch, to have the township attorney and auditor write an opinion on whether the expenses were proper and from which fund those bills are to be paid.

The motion was passed by the four trustees, Breen, Lynch, Fidge, and Gerald law with administrators Notebaert, Hulsing, and Treasurer Joe West dissenting.

Local tornado warning procedures explained

What should you do when you see a bad storm is approaching and you hear sirens blasting?

Take cover, advises Canton Chief of Police Jerry Cox. The City of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth townships all follow similar procedures to warn residents of a possible tornado.

A tornado watch means weather conditions are favorable for producing tornados. Residents should be aware of possible high winds, hail and rain. Keep your radio or TV on to stay abreast of weather developments, says the Plymouth Area REACT team.

A tornado warning means a tornado has been reported in the area and take cover. The City of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth townships sound a long, continuous blast to warn residents of the danger after receiving the warning from the National Weather Bureau of another reliable source.

In Plymouth Township, firefighters sound a three-minute wavering blast, says Sgt. Randy Maycock. In addition, a tornado spotter is sent to M-14 and N. Territorial Road to watch for funnel clouds.

In Canton, a three-to-five minute continuous tone is sent out from three places, the DPW yard at Geddes Road, Fire Station No. 1 at Canton Center and Cherry Hill, and Station No. 2 at Warren and Haggerty, says Cox.

In the City of Plymouth, a siren blasts continuously for three minutes.

If you hear the blast, you should go to a safe shelter, says Cox. "There are too many times in which the first thing people do when they hear the blast is run out to their sidewalks to see what's going on," says Maycock.

Instead, the REACT team offers this advice:

"In your home, the basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under sturdy furniture if possible. In homes without basement, take cover in the center of the house on the lowest floor in a small room such as a closet or bathroom.

"In a mobile home, go to a prearranged substantial shelter. If no shelter exists, lie flat in a nearby ditch or depression and hold onto something in the ground. Do not remain in the mobile home and always take shelter up wind.

"In a car, travel at right angles to the tornado's path. If there isn't time to drive away from it, get out of the vehicle and into a basement or ditch, up wind from the car.

"At work or school, follow advance plans to move to interior hallways or small rooms on the lowest level. Avoid areas with glass and freespan roofs.

"In open country, get into a sturdy building if possible or lie flat in a nearby ditch or depression and hold onto something on the ground. Make sure you are up wind from any vehicle or loose materials.

When the weather has cleared, all three communities sound at least one short, one-minute blast. Plymouth and Plymouth Township emit three blasts with a short interval between each blast; Canton sounds one minute steady tone.

"This system is designed as a warning system for residents," says Cox, "but it won't fulfill its purpose if people don't understand it."

For more information about tornados or if you'd like to become a tornado spotter, you can call the REACT team at 453-7377 or 427-3351.

District GOP to meet

The county convention of the Republican Party for the Wayne County 2nd Congressional District will be held on Wednesday, May 28, commencing at 8 p.m., at the Liberal Arts Theater in the Liberal Arts Building of Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Rd., Livonia.

The precinct delegates elected at the Presidential Primary on May 20 from precincts in the Wayne County portion of the Second Congressional District, City of Plymouth and including Plymouth Township will convene to elect delegates and alternatives to the Second Congressional District Convention and to the Republican State Convention.

Interested citizens may attend. Parking is available in the Schoolcraft College south parking lot.

Bus drivers OK pact

Plymouth-Canton schools' bus drivers ratified a new contract by a 71-16 vote Saturday. The district's bus drivers have been working under a contract extension since last summer when their former contract expired.

The agreement has not been ratified by the Board of Education; it's expected that the board will vote on the package at its next meeting Monday, June 9.

Alice Horstead, chairperson of the drivers' negotiating team, did not want to release further details about the agreement until after the board takes action, she said.

Kite flying postponed

The Canton Kite Flying Contest, scheduled for Saturday, was postponed because of rain.

It's been rescheduled for Saturday, May 24 at 11 a.m. at the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

Awards will be given for the best design and highest kite flier. The contest is sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department. For more information, call 397-1000.

A three-year contract with the Plymouth-Canton Association of Office Personnel was ratified by the school board.

Members of the union had ratified the contract agreement several weeks ago by a vote of 58-12.

The new contract calls for a 23 per cent increase over the next three years, and some improvements in dental insurance, said Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations.

Furthermore, he added that a COLA formula used previously has been dropped, but increases were added into the hourly rates for secretaries.

Canton fair set

The Canton Jaycee Fair is scheduled for June 11 through 15 at Ford and Lilley roads.

The fair will feature numerous rides, food, a pancake breakfast sponsored by the Canton Boy Scouts, a bigger tent than last year, and more.

Further details, not available now, will be printed in The Crier in upcoming editions. For more information on the fair, call Jaycee Tim Orbacki.

Will Twp. ask for bond levy?

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Will Plymouth Township voters be asked to approve a bond levy to pay for future water and sewer projects?

That question was raised at last Tuesday night's board of trustees meeting. Thomas Hollis, water and sewer superintendent, compiled a list of seven projects to extend or repair sewer lines in some township subdivisions.

In his letter to the board, Hollis outlined three alternatives for funding the projects, estimated to cost about $649,500. They are: to add the project costs onto the current millage being levied; to increase water and sewer rates to create money to pay for the project; or, to use existing water and sewer funds.

According to Clerk Esther Hulsing, the Water and Sewer Department has about $2,239,000 in current assets. Of those funds, about $271,000 has been allocated for the expansion of the Water and Sewer Building.

Hulsing favored using the surplus funds in the Water and Sewer Department rather than placing a bond proposal before township voters. "I have no enthusiasm for selling a bond issue now. I'd rather use surplus funds," she said.

Hollis, however, favored taking the proposition to the voters. "It would be fair to everyone concerned to add it to the present millage for debt service," he wrote in his letter. Currently, the township levies 1.9 mills in its debt retirement fund. "We would have to campaign to the people so we could solicit their support of the program," Hollis' letter continued.

Supervisor Tom Notebaert supported increasing the water and sewer rates. It would be less expensive because there would be no interest rates to pay back (if a bond proposal was passed), he said.

"And, if it doesn't pass, would you raise the rates anyway?" asked Hulsing. "Good luck in selling it . . . I don't think you'd get it."

Increasing the rates would be like going through the back door (to raise funds for the projects), said Trustee Barbara Lynch. Then, she added, selling a bond "would be hard."

A rate increase, however, over the next five years wouldn't be "that significant," said Notebaert.

The question was referred to the water and sewer budget hearings which will be held soon, said Notebaert.

The construction projects include some which would extend lines in the western section of the township as well as projects which would replace some older water mains in the Plymouth Colony subdivision.

Ford's in race

Congressman William D. Ford, whose district includes Canton Township, has announced that he will seek re-election this year to a ninth term.

First elected in 1964, Ford is chairman of the Higher Education Subcommittee, ranking member of two important Committees -- Education and Labor, and Post Office and Civil Service -- and a member of the Democratic House leadership, serving on the Steering and Policy Committee and as a national whip.

Canton fire chief protests 'false' accusations

EDITOR:

As you know, on Tuesday, May 6, at the Canton Township regular Board meeting, I was confronted for the first time by the contents of an undated and unsigned letter in the possession of Trustee Robert Greenstein. Essentially, the letter falsely accused me of laxity in the maintenance of motor vehicles entrusted to my care.

Subsequently, I have admitted to the board that maintenance records should have been better kept. I view my position as fire chief, entrusted with the responsibility of heading up Canton's Fire and Rescue Department covering 36 square miles and serving approximately 50,000 people, would not allow me to be less than candid about my own shortcomings. The cost of repair to the engine is question is approximately $450.

The anonymous letter writer, however,

I... should be extended both the decency and courtesy of being confronted with accusations (signed or unsigned) prior to disclosure at open meetings.

-- Fire Chief Mel Paulun

said, "His usual tactics of unwillingness and procrastination towards spending money for maintenance are costing thousands of dollars in the long run."

I am sure you are all aware, since 1974 I have repeatedly appeared before this board and requested the services of a full-time mechanic for our fire and rescue vehicles. In fact, if you will recall, I have a full report on Oct. 9, 1979 documenting my need for a mechanic and again cited that one of his duties would be to keep complete maintenance records for all vehicles.

Loyalty, it seems to me, should extend downward as upward. I have, after all, served this township as an employe for 18 years and for seven years before that in a volunteer capacity. We, the department heads, may not always be right, but certainly we deserve the opportunity to check our records and prepare for answers to the board at public meetings attended by the press.

As you all know, these matters made the front page in the local papers and were personally embarrassing to me and my family.

Finally, I would like to state my sincere appreciation for the support I have received from the board members and other members of the community and the best way for me to show that appreciation is to continue to do the best job I can.

MELVIN O. PAULUN

Paulun 'shortchanged' by Board of Trustees

EDITOR:

My name is Tim Orbacki. I have been a resident of Canton Township for five years. I am active in the Canton Jaycees and a member of the Recreation Advisory Committee in Canton. I try to attend as many Township Board Meetings as possible to stay aware of what is going on in our township.

On May 6, a letter was sent to a trustee about conditions of a rescue unit. After much heated debate, a committee was formed to see if the charges were true. As a interested citizen with knowledge of automobiles, (working for Chrysler Corporation for eight years, repairing trucks, cars, vans, RV units) I volunteered my time.

I can now honestly say that it was a mistake. People can't face the truth in our local government. They're afraid if an outsider starts asking questions about some facts or problems. The first thing they do is go form their little groups to find out what they can about the person asking questions and rip them apart so they get discouraged.

'I can only say I hope none of you use this as a political tactic in this year's election.'

-- Tim Orbacki

It's like a "family affair" in Canton Township, no matter how much a citizen does to help this township, as soon as one thing comes up that he or she sees that it is not right. It's best to keep your mouth shut and overlook it because they will just tear you apart publicly and privately.

On May 6, 1980, I told the board and everyone there that I would find out the facts and report back to them which I did verbally on May 13, with a written report due on May 20.

The rescue unit (Chevrolet) was neglected. One Ford has had rust in many areas. The other Ford truck no one liked to use do to the fact that the Chevrolet was a better handling truck. The Ford was involved in an accident last year. It was hit by a gravel truck and fixed to a certain point. Anything hit by an object that big isn't going to be in good shape like it was before.

I guess you could say the fire chief (Mel Paulun) should know what is going on in his department and the conditions of his trucks. I agree. He does and has informed the board and previous boards in writing a number of times.

Why did it take 10 months to hire a mechanic? What about last year? Trucks costing $38,000 - $175,000. One mechanic and one helper for approximately 60 cars (police, building, DPW, ordinance, and supervisory).

No one can say that one man can do all that plus 14 trucks at the fire department and do a good job of preventive maintenance. There isn't even a hoist to raise the vehicles in the present DPW Building. You are working under primitive conditions as it is now. You work on your back with jackstands and hydraulic jacks holding the vehicle up. The work takes twice as long to do because of that.

The chief asked for a mechanic for a number of years. With budget cuts, red tape, what could he do? Come to every board meeting and yell and drop his books to show his temper or isn't his word-of-mouth or reports submitted enough? Apparently not. He gave reports on vehicle cost and down time, to justify the hiring of a mechanic.

I tried as a citizen to inform you that you're going to cost the taxpayer more in the long run by not fixing them. Diesel engines and all equipment has to be maintained full-time. The board has to know these conditions existed and if they didn't then somewhere there isn't any communication in a vital area of public safety.

These problems just didn't happen over night, they have been here for a couple of years. With the increase in runs, fire and rescue is taking its toll on our trucks without good maintenance done on a daily basis.

If a mistake was made, share the blame, you're only human. Be honest, but don't put the blame on Chief Paulun, that's passing the buck. Better yet I'll take the blame. I'm strong, I'll survive, but will you if honesty isn't shown in the matter? I can only say I hope none of you use this as a political tactic in this year's election. The fire department doesn't need political tactics, they need equipment that is in good running shape 24 hours a day.

The Chief doesn't need any more promises about getting some mechanic to work on the trucks. He needs a good qualified body today and a budget that allows for good equipment without cuts.

It's time for a change in our local government. Citizens don't need to be talked about behind their backs when they are trying to help. That just discourages them and others from helping out and there is not too many that want to help now because of past actions to them, just like, this happening to me.

I stand behind Chief Paulun, he has been short changed for a number of years in a number of areas other than this matter. Facts speak for themselves.

Let's work together to solve these problems rather than ripping people apart in public. Action is better than words, but then again, it's only May.

Schools' lack of credibility clouds June election

EDITOR:

The Plymouth-Canton school district has a credibility problem that virtually insures the defeat of the June 9 ballot.

We have heard somber rhetoric about how our failure to pass the bond and millage proposals will lead to a "silent erosion in the quality of education in Plymouth-Canton over the next few years." That's a little like yelling "timber!" 30 minutes after the tree has fallen. We already have an erosion in the quality of education.

The teaching of stringed instruments is all but laid to rest. Some folks don't consider music to be part of basic education, however every culture has had some form of music.

Neither do we have as a part of basic curriculum foreign language at the elementary level, where language is most easily learned. It isn't part of the curriculum at the middle school level either. In fact we don't even have a basic district-wide curriculum for several disciplines -- and the teachers must share this failure equally with administration.

The economy is poor; it is a bad time to go to the public with a request for more money. Worse, the public isn't convinced that the increase is necessary. When times are financially bleak, the usual thing is to pare down, cut off frills, cut out excesses, figure out what is basic and go for a no-nonsense approach. The Plymouth-Canton school district may feel that it has explained why this bond money is necessary, but the public is genuinely distressed by the lack of real information about why the money is needed and how it will be allocated.

The first major misunderstanding is over the EMS (Energy Management System), an issue that keeps popping up in the bond proposals but is never carefully explained. I'd like a thorough explanation of what the EMS is, who will install it, who will monitor it, how long it will take to become operational once it is installed and why we are being asked to purchase a piece of equipment with a five to seven year pay back when most businesses aren't interested in anything with more than a two year pay back.

I'd also like to see some cost comparison figures where an EMS is in operation so that I could look at the amount of energy used prior to the EMS and the amount used after an EMS has been installed.

In an official hand-out called "Information for June 9, 1980 Election," there is a breakdown of total monies projected by building. Under Allen Elementary School, there is a projected amount of $281,000.00 needed. Part of that money is earmarked to reconstruct a damaged portion of the roof. I would appreciate an approximate figure for that roof repair. Instead we are told that there can be no approximations since that cost is determined by bid, etc.

community opinions

An approximate cost is not a final figure. We understand the actual cost may vary, but we'd still like a ballpark figure so that we could determine the amount available, approximately, for the other proposed items.

Nobody who has been involved with the Plymouth-Canton school system to any degree will deny that monies are needed desperately for maintenance and repair. Central Middle School is a prime example of an old building needing serious renovations.

It is suspected that the electrical wiring in Central is woefully below code requirements, dangerous maybe. And yet without additional money that faulty wiring will continue to exist. Let's hope that fire drills are frequent because one day they may need a genuine evacuation.

Eriksson, Field and Hulsing were each down for $106,000 in the March bond proposal, the projected amount to be used for (1) the Energy Management System and (2) to provide for the further improvement in their acoustical condition. In the June bond proposal, the amount projected for each school is $98,000 with no change in the items for which the money is to be used. That represents an $8,000 cut in the proposed expenditures for each school, or a total of $24,000 for all three schools. Is that because less improvements will be made in the "acoustical condition?"

Personally, the only improvement in the acoustical condition of those three schools that would satisfy me would be walls and doors. The "open classroom" is a concept whose time is, as it should be, largely past.

Obviously our present board is not responsible for all the design mistakes in our buildings. One can only hope that the present board will profit from past mistakes should we ever build new buildings. In the meantime, we have some serious needs in the district that are being obscured by such things as the EMS. I'm going to have to be convinced that the Energy Management System is a top priority before it will get my vote.

Right now people are concerned with basic education, and I hope, with basic safety. If the June 9 bond proposal fails, I hope the board will pare its budget further, communicate the real and genuine need for new roofs, roof repairs, rewiring etc., and try again in September. I hate to keep saying no, but I'm not convinced this district needs the $11,000,000 it is asking for -- at least not for all the items proposed.

Child's play

Fire dept. charges are political football

Cantonites concerned about the poor repair of the township's fire vehicles should take the news stories with a grain of salt.

Not because it isn't important. But because it's an election year. The issue has turned into a political football.

Rather than shoulder at least part of the blame for the rust on many of the fire and rescue trucks, some trustees have looked upon the issue as a way to grab some free headlines, particularly Trustee Robert Greenstein.

The fact is, Chief Mel Paulun has informed the board many times that he needs a mechanic for the fire vehicles.

The board did authorize a mechanic late last year. After months of testing, the township's Merit Commission chose a mechanic who started in mid-April. Unfortunately, it turned out he didn't even know how to change oil properly, according to the township's personnel director, Dan Durack.

How the commission and other township officials could spend months choosing someone who couldn't change oil is astonishing.

So as Tim Orbacki, a citizen who investigated the fire vehicles' condition, said, Chief Paulun shouldn't shoulder all the blame.

The board failed to listen to Paulun when he requested a mechanic for years, said Orbacki. The righteous indignation of persons like Greenstein, fall a little flat, therefore.

Perhaps Paulun should have been insistent with his requests. He might not be under the cloud he's under now if he'd come to the board with a bit more flag-waving and desk pounding. Yet the trustees and the administration didn't go out of their way to listen, either.

Privacy essential for union talks

A contract between the City of Plymouth and its police was hammered out -- just as it should have been -- behind closed doors last week.

After months of anguished namecalling and emotionalism, City Manager Henry Graper and Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) chief Carl Parsell, met in Graper's office last week to agree on a contract.

The pact means that arbitration between the city and police has been narrowly avoided since both sides had said they were headed there.

Congratulations to Graper and Parsell for getting the talks back on track -- now the business of law enforcement can resume in Plymouth as it ought to be. The ill feelings created by both sides during the past months, can hopefully, now be forgotten.

There is a lesson to be learned from the affair as well. Public namecalling and bloodletting has no place in producing a good labor union settlement. Such business should be handled by the two parties quietly locked in a room somewhere, not by standing on soap boxes in front of City Hall.

W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Tailpipe, muffler graveyard

MUFFLERS and tailpipes along the side of the Sheldon Road crossing of the C&O Railroad testify to the sham of the railroad's calling it an "improved" crossing. Although a steel plate system was installed to replace the previous wooden ties crossing, poor maintenance has left the tracks a constant hazard to automobile traffic. Many of the metal plates are loose and sagging. (Community Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Thanks to teachers, kids get head start

Teaching responsibility to a three-or-four-year old is no easy task.

At the Headstart program, that's what teachers and moms aim to do. Teaching responsibility is one of the program aims; Headstart has enrolled about 60 youngsters this year.

Headstart in Plymouth-Canton has a dual role: to teach both youngsters and their moms.

Meeting one morning each week, the children work in one room, the moms in another classroom at Central Middle School.

While moms are learning about nutrition, health, and child management skills, the youngsters work on skills suited to their ages. On Monday morning, during playtime, one youngster was pouring sand into a pail; another was climbing the wooden tower in the middle of the room.

After cleaning up their toys and playthings, the children settled down for a story. It was about a child who met a stranger. The moral was simple: "Never go into anyone's car if you don't know him. Sometimes strangers try to trick children," says teacher Mary Lou Boyd.

Evelyn Courson, a Plymouth resident, describes her and her daughter, Angie's, involvement in Headstart: "The program has probably done more for me than Angie.

"It's helped me learn how to criticize without condemning, be more understanding, and not to expect too much from her," she says.

Asked if the program works, she replies, "Oh, heavens, yes -- so much."

The Headstart program is currently recruiting for students next year. To be eligible, three or four year olds must come from a low-income family, that is, a family of four with an income of $7,450 or less. Also, handicapped or foster children are accepted into Headstart programs without any regard to their parents' income status.

On Monday morning, the children were preparing for their "graduation" June 2. Then they'll be given diplomas and graduation hats.

The federally funded program also provides dental and physical care for youngsters. They're weighed and measured at the beginning and end of the program and eat a good breakfast there. Then, in groups of fives and sixes they go to brush their teeth.

Asked if there were some children who qualified for the program, but weren't enrolled, Wilma Arnold, program co-ordinator, said: "Yes.

"Those are the moms and youngsters we want to reach for next year's program."

For more information on Headstart, call 453-8889.

ARMED WITH paste, Garrett Thompson starts his project during playtime.

Helping CLIMBING INTO the tower with the help of teacher Mary Lou Boyd is Chris Boyd, a Headstart student.

tell it to Phyllis

If you've ever had a secret desire to be the star of the neighborhood, I've learned how to gain everyone's attention without even trying.

Race your kid to the park and have a couple of neighbor kids tell their mom and dad, "something must be wrong -- Ronnie's mom is running out to the park."

Honest I was only jogging with the kid -- just trying to run off a few of those extra inches. (The only other time the neighbors have seen me move that fast is when the kid fell out of the tree.)

Once I made it to the park and had everyone's attention, (unfortunately I didn't realize it at the time) I tried playing on some of the equipment. How long has it been since you tried grabbing the bars over your head and swinging from one to the other with your hands? I couldn't even make it to the second bar, and what was really embarrassing was falling down when all I had to do was stand up to reach the ground.

All the little kids were totally amazed at my inability, but I simply told them I had more weight to swing than they did. Besides I think most of them are half monkey anyway.

I declined the offer to try the new tunnel slide with the excuse I didn't want to break it, actually with my luck I'd get stuck in it. Can you imagine the feeling of claustrophobia, as you tried to explain to the rescue squad how you just happen to be in the kids' tunnel slide?

All the new apparatus is great. The kids love the climber, but as for me I guess I'm old fashioned -- I love the swings and sand box.

With all the kids playing on the new equipment, it leaves the sand box free for me and my tonka trucks, pail, and shovel. You can do a lot of thinking in a sand box, or let your thoughts wander as you glide through the air on a swing. What's even better you don't attract nearly as much attention.

Girl Scouts elect new Council board

At the 22nd Annual Meeting of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, several Plymouth-Canton residents were elected to Council positions.

Elected to the Valley Council's Board of Directors for a three-year term were Martha Bentley, Kenneth Hulsing, Kay Williams and Timothy Yoe, all of Plymouth. Jeanne Yoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Yoe, was elected as a Girl Advisory Board Member for a one-year term.

Following the business portion of the gathering, Plymouth and Canton girls were honored for their work in scouting. Joanne Morse of Plymouth was awarded the Adult Appreciation Pin as Area Association Chairman of the Plymouth-Northville-Canton area. She has served on numerous committees as well as coordinating special Girl Scout help where needed.

Girls honored were First Class Scouts Laura Taylor, Susan Morse, Melinda Paul, Kelly Tucker and Lisa Kiel, all of Plymouth.

Chris Ringes, Amy Knickerbocker and Karen Mosti of Canton also received their First Class rating, which is comparable to Eagle Scouts in Boy Scouting.

Arts council awards students

Joan Englehart and Jan Gattoni were installed as president and vice-president, respectively, of the Plymouth Community Arts Council at its annual luncheon held Friday, May 16.

Retiring President Nancy Sharp announced the two new officers, as well as Treasurer Mary Rose Hausman. Sharp will now serve as secretary of the organization. New board members include Joyce Dean, Therese Gall, Janet Campbell, and Susan Schrader.

Student Fine Arts Awards were also presented at the meeting, and were made to Shawn Bazzell of East Middle School for piano; Annette Bryce of Central Middle School for drama; Kevin Crysler, Steve Culver and Julius DeChavez of Pioneer Middle School, all for art; Carter Etienne of Pioneer Middle School for creative writing; Michele Harrison of West Middle School for colonial crafts; Holly McGuire and Tim Sabados of Central Middle School, both for art; and Kevin Ping of Central Middle School for French horn.

White wines are the true summer wines. Usually, they are light in taste, fresh and fruity. They go well with picnics, outdoor dinners and light summer meals. Soave, of any brand, is an excellent summer wine as is Macon. For picnic wines, especially picnics by the shore where seafood may be served, muscadet and sancerre are quite good. Why not try some of the other summery whites as well, such as chenin blanc, sauvignon blanc and fume blanc. Of course, to say that whites are especially nice for summer does not mean they are not good other times. Whites are a delight all year round.

The CHEESE & WINE BARN, 515 Forest Ave., is always in season for providing the beer and wine for a nice summer picnic, as well as, a cozy evening by a winter fireplace. Open daily 10-6, Friday til 9. Tel. 453-1700.

Canton mulls one-mill tax increase for roads

BY CHAS CHILD

Canton voters may get a chance to vote on a one-mill levy to pave roads in the township. The Board of Trustees argued the pros and cons of the proposal at last Tuesday's meeting and referred the matter to the township attorney.

Before it decides to put the millage on the August primary ballot, the board wants the attorney to make an opinion on two questions:

1) Is it possible to assess only homeowners in the eastern half of the township, and exempt farmers in the west who would not benefit from the improvements; and

2) If the township helps build roads, will it become a target of lawsuits from persons injured on them?

Supervisor Noel Culbert, who proposed the one-mill, five-year levy, said the Wayne County Road Commission, responsible for paving Canton's roads, is extremely low on cash.

"There is no money from either the state, federal, or local governments to pay for the improvements," said Culbert. "I request we put it on the ballot to let the voters decide."

Trustee Robert Greenstein opposed the request. "It will tax the farmers who have no desire for these improvements," he said. Greenstein is the township's farmland preservation director.

Also, even if the township helps pay for the roads, the road commission will still control their safety features (such as signs), he said. This, the township could be sued by an accident victim as a result of something over which it has no control, he said.

Finance Director Mike Gorman said he learned at a recent municipal-affairs seminar that suits against municipalities over bad roads are increasing.

In any case, the millage should not go before the voters, Greenstein added. "We were elected to explore these issues," he said. "The citizens don't have the information to make this decision."

"We could exclude the farmland," replied Treasurer Jim Donahue. But I have faith in the people to decide what's best for them. They should have the right to decide."

Before the board puts it before the voters, it should be "familiar with the issue, that is legally secure," said Greenstein, recommending that it be referred to the township attorney.

Gales go 'round the world

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

If Robert Gale has a dreamy, far-away look in his eyes, perhaps he's thinking of the trip he and his wife, Janice, will be taking.

Tentatively scheduled to take off in June, the couple plans more than a simple vacation: They're going around the world.

"This two-year trip will be an opportunity," says Gale, a boyish-looking first grade teacher at Farrand School. "We don't want to wait until we're old and crippled. After all, we're both in good health -- why not take advantage of that?"

Months of preparation have gone into the trip already. "It's a headache," says Gale. For example, who does your income tax while you're gone? Who looks after your property? Or what about insurance?, he asks.

These questions plus others have had to be dealt with and solutions found. The trip has meant thinking ahead -- down to every last detail.

In addition to taking in the sights and sounds of foreign countries, Gale will also use the trip as a boost for getting his doctorate from the University of Michigan in elementary comparative education.

The trip will focus on questions such as: What is the emphasis of primary education in other countries? Is it elitist or public?

Are family units stronger than those in the United States and how does that effect schooling?

During their travels, the couple will rent villas, stay with friends, and rent an apartment. They'll travel by air, sea, and sometimes over land. One of the most important rules they're following is: Each takes one carry-on bag and one suitcase which means the luggage should never be too heavy to carry.

Flags OKd

Canton merchants have received permission from the township Board of Trustees to fly flags during a special sale June 13, 14, and 15.

Gary Roberts, of Canton Vac & Sew, is organizing the sale to boost Canton businesses. The board of trustee's permission was necessary to fly the flags due to the township's sign ordinance, which prohibits such flags.

"Everyone's welcome to join the sale," said Roberts. "We want people to know the merchants care about Canton." For more information, call Roberts, 453-2105.

Food connoisseur samples school lunches

review

BY DAN BODENE

... and pay special attention to the texture of the foods. We find that this plays a great part in the overall judging."

What had I gotten myself into now? Spread out in front of me were 15 small cups of things my mother made me eat when I was younger, before I started using my paper route money for Big Macs, String beans and peas. Ughh.

However, it was all for a good cause. Dan White, executive director of food services for the Plymouth-Canton school system, had planned a food-tasting seminar at Canton High School with the help of Paul Seidel, school district manager for ARA Systems. Seidel was in charge of purchasing foods through ARA, a multi-billion dollar corporation which handles food services for groups as diverse as the Olympic teams, the Houston Astrodome and the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Grumblings had been heard about the quality of the lunches being prepared in the schools. White and Seidel thought it would be helpful if students, parents and the press were invited to participate in the food-tasting process that school food service managers had used for years to determine what brands to buy.

And so there we all were, scattered about the cafeteria with judging sheets in one hand and spoonfuls of apple sauce in the other. Also on hand for the seminar were a registered dietician and a chef, who would be preparing our samples. A CHEF?

I had to admit, the presentation looked great. Buffet style, just like in a real restaurant. All the trays of food were numbered, and we all were instructed to make sure to keep our sample numbers straight to judge them fairly.

I assembled my vegetables first, figuring I could always knock back the taste later with fruit cocktail.

All of the beans tasted the same to me. The peas were a little different, and No. 3 got my vote. I also liked the No. 2 corn sample. Everybody likes corn, and it created the most serious debate of the evening at that point, however, No. 3 seemed to be the crowd favorite.

I went on to the fruits as planned. This was the toughest section of the judging for me, because everything tasted so sweet. True to the advice, I concentrated more on texture in my evaluations of the peaches, pears and fruit cocktail. Apple sauce was trouble. How much texture can there be in apple sauce? In desperation, I pulled out all the stops and chose with my eyes closed.

The last section included the meats, both hamburger and hot dogs. I had heard rumors of inclusion of the dreaded turkey dogs into the competition, and I was determined to give them a fair shake in judging.

Therefore, to save them for last, I tackled the hamburger patties first. Both raw and pre-cooked samples were provided. That is to say, the samples were all cooked, but the pre-cooked patties had been prepared once and heated again for the judging. All the hamburger was ground beef, and all exceeded the state requirement for content of at least 75 per cent beef and 25 per cent filler. Our samples were 80 per cent beef, 20 per cent filler.

Although my taste buds had been somewhat numbed by massive doses of fruit syrup, I managed to give my endorsement to hamburger sample No. 1. I thought all of the hamburger patties were fairly consistent in texture, although variances in color were much greater.

With that part of the judging over, the moment I had been waiting for arrived. I was determined to ferret out those turkey dogs and see if they were really as bad as I'd heard.

The hot dog samples were arranged in the trays like cocktail wieners, skewered with toothpicks. Back and forth I went, trying several of each type. As I reached the point of hot-dog overload, I stumbled upon two particularly noxious samples. And I was not alone. Both the types I vetoed received an almost universal panning by all my colleagues as well. Sated, I returned to my seat.

Seidel then presented the brands and prices of our mystery samples. As it turned out, I picked the middle of the road, price-wise, for all the vegetables. The crowd favorite, No. 3, was the cheapest by far for the schools. It was the government brand, and is supplied to the schools for only the cost of shipping.

Firmly establishing my position as a gourmet, I consistently picked the most expensive brands of fruits. It seemed that texture had also become a matter of price, at least for dessert.

I also took the prize for the hamburger judging, by picking the most expensive sample. Pre-cooked, I decided, was definitely the way to go. Maybe the hamburger chains really did have something going for them.

Ah, the hot dogs. My favorite, as it turned out, is the currently purchased brand. And yes, we all had no trouble identifying the turkey dogs. Although cheapest by far, it is easy to see that should there ever be a turkey dog uprising in the schools, the parents will stand behind their children.

City merchants reorganize

At its meeting last Tuesday, the Retail Committee of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce announced it was being-restructured into a Central Business District Association.

"We're not breaking away from the other two areas in town (Old Village and Ann Arbor Road), we're hoping to establish a coherent organization," said Mike Ball, chairman of the retail group who was stepping down.

The retail committee had formerly represented all three shopping areas of the Plymouth Community and at one time was headed by three co-chairpersons -- one each from the different areas. The Old Village Association is a separate organization for merchants and residents of that area of town, but has often worked with the chamber on promotions.

Elected officers of the new CBD group are: Sharon Pugh, president; Rex Tubbs, vice president and advertising coordinator; Nancy Ball, secretary; and Scott Lorenz, treasurer.

Pugh invited all downtown merchants to join in the group's planning "whether they're members of the chamber or not."

The members present established Aug. 1 and 2 as dates for Sidewalk Sales and established a committee to plan dates for other upcoming promotions. On next month's agenda for the group will be a discussion of Sunday and Thursday evening hours for businesses.

Leonard Evans, president of the chamber said the board of directors of that group is "pleased with this direction" in changing to a CBD group.

Salem blanks Northville 7-0

Salem's baseball squad readied for its pre-district baseball game this Friday with Walled Lake Western by defeating Northville last weekend, 7-0.

Pat McNamara was the star of that contest for the Rocks. He not only pitched a two hitter with 17 strikeouts, but he also had two hits and two RBIs.

Salem scored three runs in the first inning when Mitch Wilcox was safe on an error, John Hetkowski hit into a fielder's choice and McNamara doubled him home.

Mike Woodard then singled in McNamara and Greg Etienne hit into an error with Woodard scoring on the play.

The Rocks added four runs in the fifth frame when Wilcox walked, stole second, and McNamara doubled him home. Jim Anderson then singled home McNamara. Woodard walked and the two runners moved to second and third on a wild pitch. Dave Slavin then hit into an error with both runners scoring.

"Pat was just super against Northville. He mowed them down every time they came to bat," said Salem Coach Brian Gilles.

The Rocks will face Western in that Cont. on pg. 27

Rain dampens Salem's effort at track regionals

Salem's boys' track squad competed at the Class A regional competition at Livonia Churchill last weekend and, even though the Rocks did not score a lot of points, they had several strong performances, during the rain-soaked event.

Bob Pittaway battled the rain and the competition for Salem's highlight of the day when he won the discus championship with a toss of 152 feet for the second year in a row.

John Froozan was fourth in the shot put with a throw of 40 feet six inches. According to Salem coach Gary Balconi that mark was short six inches from qualifying him for state finals. Only the top three places qualify for that meet.

Dave Skone was fourth in the pole vault with a leap of 12 feet three inches, while Leigh Langkabel was sixth in the 440-yard race with an effort of 51.1 seconds.

Salem's 440-yard relay team of Greg Lipka, Pittaway, Jim Spooner and Scott Bublin won their heat with a time of 44.9 seconds, Cont. on pg. 27

Gorecki reaches state track finals for Canton

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Liz Gorecki, a senior on the Canton girls' track team, was the lone Chief competitor to advance to the state finals May 31 in Grand Rapids. She placed second in the discus, with a toss of 103 feet five inches, at Saturday's regional competition at Churchill.

Michelle Perrot was the Chief's only other point earner at the competition, won by Ann Arbor Huron. She placed fifth in the 3,200 meter run with a time of 12:23.2.

Other bright spots for Canton, although not in the top six places, were the performances of hurdler Mary Fideler and the 440 and 880 yard relay teams, each of which recorded their best times of the season. The 440-team of Fideler, Leann Wheeler, Diane Durocher, and Jill Pedersen was clocked at :56.6 and the 880-team of Fideler, Durocher, Gorecki, and Collene Crissey recorded a time of 1:57.9.

Durocher also did well in the field events, registering her best throw of the year in the discus of 90 feet four inches.

Last Tuesday Canton dropped a Western Six league meet to Walled Lake Western, champions last year, 61-21, in a contest that was halted with five events to go because of rain.

Gorecki set a new school record in the discus, breaking her old mark with a throw of 106 feet four inches to place first in the event. The Chiefs other first place finish was recorded by Crissey in the mile run with a time of 6:06.7.

Placing second for Canton, 3-3 in the league, were Gorecki in the shot (31-6) and Brenda Bigelow in the high jump (4-6).

"We're progressing at a pretty good speed as far as our times go," said Canton coach Bob Richardson. "We are gearing toward the conference meet that is coming up soon."

The Western Six league meet, with Farmington Harrison as the host school, is one week from today.

Salem girls compete at track regionals

Rain was the order of the day at the Class A boys' and girls' track regional at Livonia Churchill last weekend. The Rocks women tracksters came away from the event with 29 points, four more points than the team scored last season.

"I was really happy about our performances. We did better than last year and all the girls that ran for us ran well," said Salem coach Scott Kurtz.

Ann Meixner highlighted the Rocks' day with a first place in the 220-yard hurdles. Meixner clocked 31.1 seconds. Carol Lindsay was sixth in that event with her best time this year of 32.7 seconds.

Cindy McSurely was second in the high jump for Salem when she cleared four feet 11 and a half inches. She placed second.

Ruth Sample was fourth in the 3,200 meters with her best outdoor time of 12:15.

Salem's mile relay crew of Meixner, Lori Grissom, Lindsay, and Linda Lybarger was fourth with an effort of 12:17.

Carin Ford finished fifth in the shot put for the Rocks with a toss of 31 feet. Ford has thrown 36 feet during the season according to Kurtz.

"Ann Meixner ran really well for us. She finished eighth in the 110 hurdles and it shows what kind of athlete she is when she can come back and finish first in the 220-yard hurdles," said Kurtz.

In their final warm-up before the regionals, the Rocks faced Dearborn in the dual meet and lost. Dearborn had 74 and a half points, while Salem had 48 and a half.

"We had some good competition against Dearborn. We set six records including two school records so we didn't have too bad a day," said Kurtz.

Ford set a new school record in the discus with a toss of 93 feet 10 inches, while Meixner won the 220-yard hurdles with a school record time of 31 seconds. Lindsay was third in that event for Salem with a time of 32.7 seconds.

Lybarger set a sophomore record in the 220-yard dash with a time of 27.4 seconds good for second, while Liz Carlson set a freshman record in the event with a 28.4 effort. Carlson finished third.

McSurely set another freshman record with a five foot leap in the high jump good for third.

Mark Kowalczyk finished first for Canton in the 100-yard dash (:10.7), as did Scott Hand in the 880-yard run (2:07). Pole vaulter Randy Lee was the Chief's other first place finisher, clearing 10 feet six inches.

Gaining seconds for Canton were: Dan Inloes in the 880-yard run (2:09.0); Kowalczyk in the 220-yard dash (:24.3); Mike Swisher in the 440-yard run (:54.7); Steve West in the mile run (4:51.2); the 880-yard relay

Chiefs upset in Monday's doubleheader

With possession of first place in the Western Six league race within their grasp Monday, the Chief baseball team came up flat in the second game of a doubleheader against league foe Walled Lake Western and lost 3-1 after winning the first game 5-0.

Northville, in first place going into the day's action, was upset, and a win in the second game would have put Canton in a tie for the lead, but the Chiefs could manage only two hits, in the first inning, and let slip away numerous scoring chances throughout the game.

"I am very disappointed and upset," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "We had the chance for the lead in the league, which is what we have all been working all year towards achieving, and we did not have the intensity to win, which is something that we (coaches) can not install in them."

Dan Funkhouser took the loss for Canton, running into problems in the fifth inning when after two were out he walked three straight hitters and gave up a solid single that scored two runs.

In the opening game, Al Lipinski tossed a three-hitter for the Chiefs to keep his record spotless.

"Al and Steve Gray, who got on base six times and played well in leftfield, were the two players who played really well for us," said Crissey. "It is just terribly disappointing when you put in as much time as we do into baseball and then come up flat in a crucial game."

Chiefs drop league track meet

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Hurdler Dan McGlenn set a new school record last Tuesday in the 120-yard high hurdles, but it was about the Canton boys' track team's lone bright spot as the Chiefs dropped a 87-46 decision to Walled Lake Western. The team fell to 1-3 in the Western Six league race and 2-6 overall.

McGlenn's time of 15.3 broke the old school record in the 120 high, and he also finished second in the 330-yard low hurdles with a time of 1:40.4.

Meixner also won the 110-yard hurdles, 16.4 seconds, while McSurely was third, 16:7 seconds.

Lybarger then set another sophomore mark in the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.9 seconds for first place.

Beth Hoerner clocked her best time this season of 5:42 for second in the mile.

Meixner, Lindsay, McSurely and Jenny Gray won the 880-yard relay with a time of 1:53.

Lybarger won her third event of the day with a victory in the 440-yard dash, 63.8 seconds, while Lori Grissom was second at 67 seconds.

Marcy Cranger was third in the half mile, 2:34.4; Sample was second in the two mile, 12:27, while Pam Hodge was fourth with a time of 13:23.

Meixner, Grissom, Lindsay and Lybarger were second in the mile relay with a time of 4:17.

Rocks split in league softball competition

The Rocks split a pair of Suburban Eight League girls' softball games last week with Allen Park and Livonia Bentley.

Salem handed Allen Park an 11-6 thrashing. The Rocks tallied 11 hits with four errors, while Allen Park had three hits.

Jill Goodrich started the game for the Rocks and hurled the first four innings. During that time, she struck out four, walked one and gave up two hits and two earned runs.

Denise Zonca completed the contest for Salem. She struck out one batter, walked six and gave up one hit and three runs.

Salem scored one run in the second inning when Nan Horwood walked, stole second and came home when Jenny Papap singled.

In the third inning, Salem added three runs. Horwood singled home Laura Arnold. Sue Evans then scored on an error and Stacy Nicolini brought in Horwood with a single.

The Rocks scored four more runs in the fourth inning when Kathy Gardner singled, Bonnie Southerland walked and Kelly Strautz singled in Gardner and Arnold singled in Southerland.

Strautz scored on a bad throw on Arnold's single and Sue Evans hit a sacrifice scoring Arnold.

Salem added one run in the fifth when Papa singled, stole second and scored on Gardner's single.

In the seventh inning, Gardner scored for Salem when Strautz hit into an error. Strautz then stole second went to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

"Allen Park really isn't challenging team but they improved quite a bit. Still we got the chance to use our people who don't play much, from the bench," said Salem coach Livi Way.

Gardner was 3-4 at the plate, while Papa had two hits as well as Horwood. Horwood also scored twice.

Way was also pleased with the Rocks defensive efforts even with four errors charged to the team. "They were more physical errors than mental mistakes," said the coach.

Against Bentley, the Rocks were simply out-hit according to Way. Goodrich pitched the entire game and gave up nine hits, while Salem had five hits.

"Jill did a nice job for us. She threw 93 pitches while the Bentley girl threw 72. Jill has been working hard on her pitching with the end of the year coming," said Way. "I think she might have grooved the ball too much against Bentley."

The Bulldogs scored two runs in the third inning, four in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Salem opened the scoring with one run in the first inning when Horwood tripled and Gardner singled her home. Bentley came back with two runs and then the four in the fourth.

"That inning really hurt us. We were in the game until then," Way said.

The Rocks other run came in the sixth when Horwood again tripled and Gardner hit a sacrifice fly to right field.

Salem netters get rough draw, falter at regional

Salem's tennis squad went to its regional competition at Trenton last weekend and, because of the luck or bad luck of the draw, the Rocks faced the top players in the competition in the first and second rounds.

"It was an extremely tough day for us," said Salem coach Tom Williams. "Our group was unlucky in the draw and we had to play the top cedes right away. It was unfortunate that it happened, I think we could have done better."

"Ann Arbor Huron was definitely the best team there. They are tops in the state," continued the coach.

Huron won the competition and Trenton was second. Those two clubs qualify for the state meet.

Salem's No. 1 singles player Dick Cooke was injured so Paul Horton started at that position for the Rocks. Horton played Mike Bollo from Trenton and was defeated in the first round, 6-0 and 6-1.

Scott Crispo won his first round match at second singles beating Joe Young from Temperance Bedford, 6-2 and 6-2.

Crispo was then beaten by John Lazera, the No. 2 cede from Huron, 6-0 and 6-4, in round two.

Jeff Howell, Salem's third singles player, also won his first round. Howell defeated Jeff German of Lincoln Park, 6-0 and 6-0.

John Baxter, the No. 4 cede at third singles, defeated Howell in the second round 6-2 and 6-2. Baxter is from Ypsilanti.

Dave Goodsir was defeated by Sherwyn Mistry in his first round match for the Rocks. He lost 6-2 and 6-1 at fourth singles.

Blake Lundberg and Craig Baker played the No. 2 cedes team from Trenton of Desana and Gambino and lost in that first round match, 6-2 and 6-2.

Bob Jarvis and Doug Baker played the No. 1 cede at second doubles and lost in two sets, 6-4 and 6-2. Jarvis and Baker faced opening round match.

John Wimmer and Jack Thomas defeated Prill and Cooke of Taylor Truman in the first round, 6-4 and 6-4, and then lost to Garbinski and Solano in the second round, 6-1 and 6-1.

"There was quite a lot of good tennis that day. I think we played well but had the draw against us," said Williams.

The Rocks also defeated Allen Park and Livonia Bentley last week in Suburban Eight League matches. Salem won both matches by 6-1 margins.

Against Allen Park, Crispo played first singles and defeated George Pinkons, 6-0 and 6-1, while Howell lost at second singles to John Frosheson, 6-0 and 6-2.

Goodsir won third singles, 6-1 and 6-2, over Mark Johnson and Doug Baker won fourth singles over Gary Wagner, 6-0 and 6-4.

Lundberg and Craig Baker defeated Greene and Greene, 6-0 and 7-5, while Jarvis and Horton won second doubles 6-4 and 6-2, over Didrick and Donovan.

Wimmer and Thomas defeated Ketzenberger and Bukre for Salem's final points. The pair won the third doubles match, 6-0 and 6-2.

Against the Bulldogs of Bentley, Cooke was defeated at first singles, 7-6 and 6-3, by Pete Fayroian, while Crispo won second singles, 6-0 and 6-4, over Scott Niland.

Howell won third singles, 4-6, 7-6 and 6-1, over Duke Roth and Goodsir won fourth singles over Todd Ingram, 7-6 and 6-0.

Lundberg and Craig Baker defeated Schwartz and Smith, 6-3 and 6-3, Jarvis and Doug Baker defeated McDonald and Roth, 6-4 and 6-1.

Rob Rowland and Horton teamed up at third doubles for Salem and they defeated Ross and Earll, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-4.

Salem is 10-3 overall in dual competition and 6-3 in the league.

The Rocks face Livonia Bentley at home at 4 p.m.

Canton wins 4 games in 5 outings

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Four wins in five games last week, including a doubleheader sweep of Western Six foe Farmington Harrison and an opening-round state playoff win over Southfield, has to have made Canton baseball coach Fred Crissey a happy man.

Friday and Saturday the Chiefs also made an impressive showing at the Midland tournament, defeating Midland, ranked number four in the state in Class A, 8-2 before being edged by Bay City, 4-3, to bow out of the tournament.

Against Midland, junior Jerry Norgren pitched a complete game for Canton despite struggling throughout the game. Norgren gave up four hits and a total of eight walks over the seven innings, but managed, with help from the Chief defense, to get the important outs when in a jam.

"Jerry struggled, but he pitched a pretty strong game," said Crissey. "Our defense played well throughout the two games."

Al Lipinski drove in two runs in the first inning for Canton and the Chiefs struck for four more in the second on a three-run double by Steve Schumacher and a sacrifice fly by John Matthews, both just back in the lineup after suffering injuries.

In the second game of the tournament, Canton led 3-2 going into the sixth before Chief pitcher Dan Smith, who worked the first six and one-third innings before being relieved by Dan Funkhouser, gave up a double, triple and a sacrifice fly as Bay City won, 4-3.

Guy Kananen drove in two runs for the Chiefs and Al Lipinski, who scored twice himself, scored the other.

Last Thursday Canton advanced to the second phase of the state playoff system by beating Southfield, 4-1, in pre-district action.

Lipinski started on the mound for Canton and raised his record to 5-0 on the year, not giving up a run until the seventh inning when, one strike away from a shutout, he was touched for a home run by the Southfield batter.

"Al has been very tough on the mound all year long," said Crissey. Lipinski gave up just four hits and struck out eight batters while keeping his earned run average at an impressive 1.0 per seven innings of work.

Canton scored once in the fourth on a single by Frank McMurray, a sacrifice bunt by Steve Gray, and a single by Matthews, and twice more in the fifth on a single by Billy Hannis, a walk to Schumacher and Lipinski, and Gray, driving in one run, and a single by Paul Dobry.

The Chiefs added an insurance run in the seventh on a walk to Schumacher, a sacrifice bunt by McMurray, and a single by Gray.

To start off the busy week, the Chiefs kept their hopes for the Western Six league crown alive by sweeping Farmington Harrison, 9-4 and 6-1, having to rally in both

Chief netters split 2 matches

The Canton tennis team split its league meet competitions this past week, losing to Farmington Harrison 5-2 last Wednesday and defeating Walled Lake Western 6-1 Monday afternoon.

Against Harrison, Bob Adams, at No. 4 singles, defeated Rick Covan 6-4, 3-6, 10-8 and the No. 3 doubles team of Grant Crago and Steve Jones knocked off Rakfi Nanoukian and Mike Corey 3-6, 6-4, 6-0 to score Canton's team points.

It was a different story against Walled Lake Western, as all of the singles players for Canton and each doubles team except the No. 3 team emerged victorious.

At No. 1 singles, Bob Young handled Mike Sacco 6-4, 6-3 and in the No. 2 singles position Kreg Kinnel beat Stu Chura 6-1, 6-2.

Adams won his No. 4 singles match with Jim Beshears, 6-4, 6-1 and teammate Kevin Johnston knocked off Buck Trombley 6-1, 6-1 in No. 3 singles action.

In regional action last Thursday, Canton netters advanced no further than the second round, picking up six team points, to bow out off the state competition.

"We did well at the regionals and in our league meets as far as our individual playing is concerned," said Canton coach Jim Hayes, whose team is 9-5 overall and 4-5 in the league, good for third place. "I am very pleased."

Chief softballers impressive in state play

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton girls' softball team opened the state playoff competition in an impressive fashion Thursday by clubbing Redford Thurston, 17-2, and swept a double header with Farmington Harrison, 11-2 and 12-1, Wednesday to raise its overall record to 12-1.

The pre-district game with Thurston couldn't even be described as a contest as the game was called via the "mercy rule" (a team leading by 10 or more runs by the end of five innings).

Vicki Skeen then was safe on a bunt single, scoring Schipani, before Vicki Cavallo walked to drive in Krashovetz. Joni Sommerville executed another bunt single to drive in McKinley before Marianne Pink, the ninth batter in the inning, tripled to drive in three runs.

After Thurston took a 1-0 lead at the end of the first inning, Canton sent 17 batters to the plate in the second and before the fiasco, which included an astounding eight walks, four in a row, an error, and only six hits, was over the Chiefs had scored 13 runs.

Cindy Stevens, Pam Schipani, Jean Krashovetz, and Marlene McKinley, the first four batters, walked, scoring one run, before Cathy Campbell popped out, Stevens and Schipani then walked again, followed by a single by Krashovetz, a walk to McKinley, and singles by Campbell and Skeen, good for six more runs, before the inning ended.

Canton picked up four more runs in the top of the fifth on a sacrifice fly by Pink that drove in Cavallaro and a bases loaded double off the bat of Krashovetz that brought home three runs.

Pink pitched for Canton, giving up three hits and five walks while striking out five Thurston batters to raise her record to 8-1 on the year.

"It was simply no contest," said Canton coach Max Sommerville. "Their pitcher was very wild in the second and we took advantage of our scoring chances."

Against Harrison, Pink pitched the first five innings of the 11-2 win and Cindy Sovine the first five innings of the 12-1 victory, both pitchers being relieved in the sixth by Pearlle Cunningham, promoted from the junior varsity, who picked up a pair of saves.

Stevens had a good first game for Canton, going 4 for 4 with two runs batted in while scoring one run herself.

The Chiefs resume state competition Friday at home against Livonia Franklin, with the game time not yet determined.

team of John Tarr, Ken Jayroe, McGlenn, and Kowalczyk (1:34.1); and, Jack Pacente in the two-mile run.

Placing third for the Chiefs were: Ted Toll (shot put and discus); McGlenn (high jump), Barron Smith (two-mile run), Tarr (long jump) and Dan Malin (330-yard low hurdles).

At Saturday's regional competition, Canton was unable to score any points but got season-best performances from Hand, Swisher, West, and Brian Rogers.

Hand recorded a time of 2:06 in the half-mile run, Swisher a time of :53.4 in the quarter-mile run, West a time of 4:45 in the mile-run, and Rogers was clocked at :57.0, in the quarter-mile run.

"We just had a bad day at the regionals," said Canton coach Mike Spitz. "We'll just have to come back strong and do well in the league meet."

The Chiefs, who face Waterford Mott this afternoon at 4 p.m., compete in the Western Six league meet a week from today at Mott.

Basically by Ken Voyles

Various thoughts for a week.

HAVE FINALLY REALIZED the importance of junior programs for youths of this community.

Right here in this community much is expected of these programs and though the work put into them is mostly volunteer much is realized. It is the realization that the kids need programs like this that has kept the area from stagnating.

Sports are not earth-shattering happenings or have the impact of news events and yet the spiritual center of this town comes from hard work and with hard work comes hard leisure.

Although the community puts much value in those programs for the youths not everything is realized, such as what happened when Canton Recreation Director Mike Gouin put before the Canton Township Board several alternatives to improve Canton's softball fields.

Those alternatives included a lighted field to cost $40,000 and a request for several other youth fields at $6,000 each.

The staggering figure met no joy from the board and was turned down. The feeling was if the money wasn't spent on a lighted field it shouldn't be allocated for other projects either.

It wasn't a surprising reaction but nonetheless it hurts the Canton community with a bitter sting.

The board seems to be torn between what is needed and the fact that the community, as well as other communities, needs to tighten its belt and cut out waste.

Gouin's reaction was one of disappointment for all the people in the programs.

"We wouldn't be losing anything but we wouldn't be gaining any new people to our programs and there are a lot of people we would have to turn down," said good for third place overall.

Phil Anderson reached the semi-finals in the high hurdles for Salem with a time of 15.6 seconds, while Lipka and Pittaway both reached the finals in the 100-yard dash, but failed to place.

Canton baseball team wins

games.

In the first contest, the Chiefs trailed 2-1 in the fourth inning before erupting for five runs and a 6-2 lead. Smith went the distance for Canton to pick up the win.

In the nightcap, Funkhouser turned in what Crissey described as his "best performance of the season," giving up just three hits as Canton won, 6-1.

The Chiefs scored five runs in the bottom of the sixth, with the help of key hits from Jeff Stemberger, Kananen, in a pinch-hitting role, and Dave Malek, to break up a pitchers' dual and give Funkhouser the cushion he needed.

Afterward, Crissey said it was one of the most courageous performances he has seen from a Chief club, as Canton was playing without the services of four starters, right-fielder Matthews, shortstop Schumacher, catcher McMurray, who had to settle for the designated hitter role, and first baseman Dave Meador, the only injured Chief (concussion) who has not since returned to the lineup. Crissey expects Meador to sit out the rest of this week at least before coming back.

Canton, 5-2 in the Western Six, faces league foe Waterford Mott this afternoon at 4 p.m. and resumes state competition against Farmington sometime at the end of the week.

The alternatives will come up before the board sometime in June and in between-time Gouin will be studying the cost problems closely.

Sports programs are not a waste and though things such as lighted fields are quite expensive and a luxury that may not be needed, the area still needs to expand its programs and benefit as many youths as possible.

Gouin. "We are beyond our capacity in some areas and the rejection is like rejecting people who wish to participate in sports programs." * * * * *

COACHES ARE THE most important chain we have in getting the varsity sports results and when that chain breaks down it becomes quite a chore for all concerned.

Such happened last week when Canton's baseball coach Fred Crissey failed to return Mike Henshaw's phone call, which he said he would do.

At the time, last Monday, the sports section was in the process of being completed and we needed the coach. Needless to say the sports staff was not thrilled at Crissey's silent manner and was prepared to strike back.

It wasn't until the next day at Canton's doubleheader that Henshaw found out Crissey's side of the story.

Two Chiefs had been hurt on the day Henshaw called and Crissey helped his players to the hospital where he forgot to call the paper. His apology to Henshaw was accepted and situation cleared up.

This little incident, trivial as it may seem, brings up the role of the coach as public relations man as well as coach.

The coaches must interact with this sports department for the best coverage, it is as simple as that.

Salem runners at regional

Jeff Haertel ran his personal best of 4:40 in the mile for the Rocks.

"I think the jumpers were hurt most on a day like it was at the regionals," said Balconi. "We had some nice races from the team. In terms of the competition we did well."

Earlier in the week, the Rocks were defeated by Dearborn, 82-48.

Pittaway won the discus for Salem that day with a throw of 139 feet 11 inches, while Froozan was third at 135 feet seven inches.

Froozan was also second in the shot put with an effort of 46 feet nine inches.

Dave Argonis won the long jump with a leap of 19 feet eight inches, while Rob Neu was second at 19 feet seven inches.

Scott Fuller was third in the high jump at six feet, while Anderson was third in the high hurdles with a time of 16 seconds.

Pittaway won the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.25 seconds, while Lipka was third at 10.5 seconds.

Haertel was second in the mile run, 4:37.5, and second in the two mile, 10:23.4.

Langkabel won the 440-yard race with a time of 52 seconds, while Bublin won the 220-yard race, 23.5 seconds, and Chris Kopach was third in the half mile, 2:09.

Steve Schafer, Langkabel, Pat Tortorra and Pittaway combined to win the mile relay with a time of 3:37.3.

Salem runners

Lisa Myaraski was third in the discus, 79 feet seven inches, Diane Perpich was third in the long jump, 13 feet 10 and a quarter inches.

Ford was also first in the shot put with a toss of 31 feet one inch.

Salem faces Dearborn Edsel Ford there tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

Salem golfers make state competition at Brighton

Salem's golf squad finished second at its Class A regional last weekend at Burrows Farms Golf Course.

Farmington Hills Mercy won the competition with a 362 score while the Rocks had a score of 393. West Bloomfield was third with a 402.

The Chiefs of Canton were 15th out of the 20 teams with a total of 454 points.

The Rocks qualify for the state competition to be held at Burrows Farms near Brighton June 2.

Lisa Marino was low on the day for Salem with 90, while Meg McGee had 98, Nancy Stevens 99 and Carol Ross 106.

During the previous week's play, the Rocks won three matches. Salem defeated Canton, 184 to 205; they defeated Saline with 194 to Saline's 215; and, they knocked off Willow Run in a seven-hole competition that was totally one-sided to the Rocks favor.

"It feels good to go to the state competition. The girls showed that they could do it at the regionals," said Salem coach Jim Stevens.

The Rocks have their final dual meet tomorrow at Willow Run. Match time is 3 p.m. Salem is 9-1 in competition this year.

Salem diamondmen split

pre-district at 4 p.m. at Western's home field.

Earlier in the week, the Rocks were defeated by Allen Park 6-3 in a Suburban Eight League tussle.

Jeff Primeau took the defeat. He pitched the first six innings, struck out 10 and walked five, while Jim Jimmerson hurled the final inning for the Rocks.

Salem scored two runs in the fourth and one in the sixth inning.

In the fourth frame, McNamara and Anderson singled. Woodard then scored one run with yet another single and Anderson scored on a dropped fly ball hit by Slavin.

Woodard then added a solo blast for Salem in the sixth inning.

Against the Bulldogs of Livonia Bentley, the Rocks were leading 4-1 in the fifth inning when Bentley added three runs. The game ended in a 4-4 tie as rain forced the premature ending in the fifth inning.

"We out-played them but they got those three runs in the fifth inning. We should have won the Bentley game," said Gilles. "We weren't ready to play against Allen Park."

Salem had seven hits and Bentley had three. McNamara pitched the entire game for the Rocks and had three strikeouts.

Salem scored three runs in the first inning when Hetkowski and Wilcox were both safe on errors, Anderson walked and Slavin hit a two-run single. Anderson then scored from third base when a pick-off attempt went wild.

In the fourth inning, Etienne singled and Brian Lewandowski doubled for Salem's other run.

"It wasn't a great week for us but we are still half a game up in the league," said Gilles.

The situation might change some, however, as the Rocks battled Belleville yesterday with the need to win both games.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES -- REGULAR MEETING May 13, 1980

The meeting was called to order by Supervisor Notebaert at 7:30 p.m. followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. All members were present.

Mrs. Fidge moved approval of the minutes as corrected in regards to Item No. 2, No. 2 that the management letter will be spread across the minutes and printed in the next printing of the minutes as a correction and approved with that stipulation. Supported by Mr. Breen. Ayes all. It follows:

TO THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

We have examined the financial statements of the Charter Township of Plymouth for the period ended December 31, 1979, and have issued our report thereon dated March 21, 1980. As a part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the Township's system of internal accounting control to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards. Under these standards, the purpose of such evaluation is to establish a basis for reliance on the system of internal accounting control in determining the nature, timing, and extent of other auditing procedures that are necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements and to assist the auditor in planning and performing his examination of the financial statements.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal accounting control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instruction, mistakes of judgment, carelessness, or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends upon segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management either with respect to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statement. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions and that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our examination of the financial statements made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, including the study and evaluation of the Township's system of internal accounting control for the period ended that was made for the purpose set forth in the first paragraph of this report would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system because it was based on selective tests of accounting records and related data. However, such study and evaluation disclosed the following conditions that we believe to be material weaknesses or matters which warrant your attention.

I. Water and Sewer Fund

A. Rate Study

The Water and Sewer Fund is currently showing a trend of decreasing gross profit margin on water and sewage sales and net income. In order for the Board to feel satisfied that proper rates are being charged for responsible management of the enterprise fund, we suggest a thorough rate study be conducted to develop required rates on the basis of the "utility" approach vs the "cash needs" approach.

II. General Operating Fund

A. Bank Accounts

In our review of cash accounts and related bank reconciliations, we noted the following exceptions:

- 1) Interest earnings are not recorded timely in the accounts,
- 2) The Tax Collections was not reconciled at December 31, 1979.
- 3) Interest is not being allocated to funds entitled to retain interest earnings. Example: Debt Service Fund, Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

B. Cash Receipts

We noted in our review of cash receipts the following procedural deficiencies.

- 1) Cash register voids on misrings are not always clearly identified and approved by an official of the Township. All voids should be clearly identified and approved by the Treasurer or his designee. In the absence of both, the Supervisor or Clerk could approve the void.
- 2) The daily cash reports are not signed by the preparer. We suggest that all void rings be approved by a Township official or their designee and daily cash reports be signed by the preparer.

C. Cash Disbursements

In our review of a sample of cash disbursements, we noted the following weaknesses.

- 1) Some checks are prepared without proper supportive documentation.
- 2) Lack of evidence that the mathematical accuracy of vendor invoices has been checked by the Township.
- 3) Lack of clear policy on who should approve vendor invoices for payment causing inconsistent procedures being followed. The fundamental issue here is should each department head approve their respective vendor invoices.
- 4) Paid vendor invoices are not always "canceled" or other wise marked "paid". This could lead to the possibility of double payments. We suggest the entire cash disbursements questions be studied and sound procedures developed to achieve the objective of strong internal control. Further, the procedures be written and made part of a complete accounting procedures manual for the Township.

D. Purchase Order System

In our review of a sample of purchase orders, we noted the following deficiencies.

- 1) Purchase orders are not always used.
  - 2) The majority of our sample revealed the purchase orders were "confirming", that is, prepared after the goods, services, and the related invoice was received.
  - 3) They lack sufficient data to accomplish the internal control objectives.
  - 4) Several contained inaccurate data as to the quoted price and vendor invoice price.
- We suggest the Township study the purchase order system and implement necessary changes to arrive at a proper balance of cost and related benefits.

E. Payroll

In our review of Payroll, we noted that employee personnel files are not complete. Several files in our sample do not contain all information as required by Board policy.

We suggest that employee personnel files be reviewed and updated to contain all information and forms to comply with Board policy.

III. Trust and Agency Funds

A. Reconciliations

During our review and examination of the Trust and Agency Fund during the current year, we noted that a proper reconciliation of the fund was not done. Balances kept in the Treasurer's office were not in balance with the accounting department and an overall verification with the building department for bonds and the other deposits is not being done. We recommend the establishment of the following procedures to alleviate the present reconciliation problems.

- 1) Detail general ledger balances kept by the accounting department should be reconciled monthly with the subsidiary records kept by the Treasurer's office.
- 2) A monthly report (similar to the one currently being used for permits) should be made by the building department on applicable categories of deposits to provide a tool for accounting and the Treasurer's office to reconcile differences timely.
- 3) A complete reconciliation of the building bond and tree fund moneys outstanding should be made between the Treasurer's Office and the building department. Once this has been achieved a new procedure should be adopted, as outlined in item 2, to maintain the accounts in good order.

4) Outstanding balances in the accounts that are not of a current nature should be checked into and handled accordingly to the findings of the examination.

Once all deposits are properly accounted for and identified by source we recommend the Township consider computerizing all Trust and Agency Funds by several classifications and specifically identifying all sources within each classification. This could be achieved either with the existing mini-computers or with a service bureau.

The foregoing conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of audit tests to be applied in our examination of the financial statements, and this report of such conditions does not modify our report dated March 21, 1980, on such financial statements.

We appreciate the opportunity to discuss these recommendations with you and would be happy to assist in their implementation to the extent appropriate.

What a Sensational Birthday week -- Nancy & Dolly you absolutely overwhelmed me! Chuck, Dennie, Larry, Nancy, you all surprised me so much with that great Birthday Song in Geneva's Bridal Shop and then lunch at Hillside Inn where Betty out did herself with those heavenly fruit salads -- all in all my best Birthday -- Love Fran.

You will note that it is Rebecca-Carroll that so professionally represents the Mayflower Optical Shoppe Ltd., an error by Fran on the name.

Curiosities

Debbie, J. Iki -- all the designs are great. When can we start placing orders?
Phyl

Hoorah, Hoorah, the 21st of May
Outdoors necking starts today!

THANK YOU Maureen, Melissa, Graham and Ryan for the Muppet record logn. My dad likes Kermit and Rolph doing, "You can't live with 'em and you can't live without em." Jessica.

LAKEPOINTERS: welcome your newest neighbors Sallie, Chris and Ted Roby.

NEXT TIME the tornado alarms sound, Ross and Rob, seek better shelter than an overgrown bush -- but don't climb a tree!

LJ thanks for the records back, but I don't recall having "Cat Scratch Fever."

DID EARL SCHEIB help Reef?

WATCH FOR THE DEBUT of The Plymouth-Canton Community Guide next week. What a book! After weeks of long hours for The Crier staff -- it's almost here.

X-66, you can count on our vote.
Kristie & Tim

Happy Birthday Craig, once again you've become of age.
Love, Mom, Dad, Dave, Ellen

No I am NOT tacky, but I am TACI.

THANKS to the driver of Plymouth-Canton BUS NO. 46 for stopping her bus and explaining to a small boy in Brookside Village the dangers of chasing a ball when cars are coming.

Dave Jones (temporarily in OV): Just because it worked for the Bird, doesn't mean it'll work for you...Get well soon!

I KNOW all the pages were sent up, but now I'm missing a keyliner! You don't suppose.....

Ron: Quit letting your assistants dummy the ads!

Ronald: Thanks for the help & moral support during Guide production. Ronald.

Watch this space for an important message that says, "Watch this space for an important message."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ANDREW -- Love
Mom, Dad, Grandma Billy and Moooo!
