City OKs bond sale for unified court

BY DAN BODENE

Approval for the bond sale to fund construction of a new 35th District consolidated courthouse was reached Monday night by a unanimous vote of the Plymouth City Commission.

Of class A status and borrowed at approximately 8 per cent if current interest rates hold, the bonds will fund $1,385,000 of construction costs for the proposed courthouse. The structure is slated for construction beginning in early fall, and should be completed by next year at this time, according to City Manager Henry Graper, Jr.

The courthouse will be built on city-owned property will be deeded to the court for $1, a $50,000 payment will be made to the city on the first bond sale.

Technically, the city's Municipal Building Authority is building the structure for the City Commission, which will enter into an agreement with the other three entities (Northville and Plymouth townships and the City of Northville) to operate the building. Canton, also a part of the 35th District, has not committed its support for the project.

Bond payments will be made by the court out of revenues from fines.

Before construction bids for the project can be taken, representatives of the Municipal Building Authority, city, township and court will meet to discuss the architectural process. An architect was to have been chosen by the MBA this afternoon.

Graper said of the project, "All we're doing is making a vehicle available to the court that they don't have. If we didn't build, the court would have to hire a private builder."

Plymouth Township Trustee Maurice Breen commented, "This is an opportunity that every community will gain by. It is encouraging that all the communities show such a spirit of cooperation."

Special ed kids must find own rides to rec programs

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth-Canton parents who want their special education children to attend summer recreation programs will have to provide transportation for them.

More than a dozen parents protested to the Board of Education Monday night after school officials dropped the bus transportation program this summer. One program at Harrison School in Livonia, which has 29 Plymouth-Canton special education students enrolled in it, was scheduled to start today (Wednesday, June 25).

The district, as part of its budgetary cutbacks, however, decided to drop the busing program.

Parents protested the cutback in the transportation program as well as the lack of communication between parents, school administrators, and parks and recreations directors, who sponsor these various programs. Transportation for a total of four programs for special education students was dropped.

Programs affected by the transportation cutback included the Livonia Skills Center, Vogel Center for Autistic Children, Harrison School, and McGrath School in Wayne-Westland. A total of 62 special education students from Plymouth-Canton attend summer programs.

School officials, led by Edwin Page, director of special programs and student services, said the transportation program was discontinued because busing costs were high and the recreation program isn't required by law.

"We would not recommend that school districts, including Plymouth-Canton provide transportation to any programs for handicapped students unless they are specifically required by law," said Page. Other local districts are no longer providing transporta-

Bird thinks he's a dog

BY DAN BODENE

She lives in the back yard but would rather stay in the house, chases bicycle tires, loves to eat sandwiches, comes when her name is called and chases away members of her own kind who stray into the yard.

A spaniel? No, a sparrow.

"Charlene" tumbled out of her nest while still a fledgling almost two months ago, and was found by Sue Srock and Joan Kinnel of Plymouth. They fed her strained baby food and hard-boiled eggs every two hours until she regained her strength and began flying on her own.

Soon after she began flying, she took off from the Kinnel's yard and "the Bird Ladies of Plymouth," as John Kinnel calls them, figured Charlene was gone for good.

Nope. She came back the next day and has been a permanent member of the household ever since. Sue, who lives down the block, comes down to visit Charlene often. She and Joan now feed Charlene conventional bird food, although still by hand.

She stays in the yard, although roosting in the house is her favorite pastime. According to Joan, Charlene is utterly fearless, and loves to "play" with the family dog.

Lots of families have two dogs, but how many have one that can fly?

League sponsors Q&A sessions for candidates

Question-and-answer forums for candidates in Plymouth and Canton townships, (Wayne County Board of Commissioners and the Wayne County Charter Commission races will be held July 23 and 24, both at 7:30 p.m. at the Canton High School Little Theater.

Sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Nov, the forums are intended to acquaint voters with the candidates for each office.

The first forum on Wednesday July 23, will focus on county and Plymouth Township office races. During the first half-hour, candidates for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and Charter Commission offices will speak for two minutes each.

Beginning at 8 p.m., township candidates will be able to speak for no longer than three minutes on a topic related to their candidacy.

Following the opening statements, written questions from the audience will be accepted, and candidates will have a maximum of one minute to answer them. At the end of the question-and-answer period, candidates will have two minutes to make a summary.

The second forum, on Thursday July 24, will be devoted to candidates for Canton supervisor, clerk, treasurer and trustee positions. The program will be divided, with trustee candidates answering questions from the audience during one-half of the forum and all others in the remaining half.

At the end of each question and answer period, each Canton candidate will have an opportunity to give a one-minute summary statement.

To familiarize area voters with the candidates, responses to questionnaires sent out by the league will be printed in The Crier on Wednesday, July 23 in the special PLUS

"The Candidates and the Issues" section.

The questionnaires are composed of a 50-word biographical information section, and three issue questions with a response limit of 150 words for all three.

Plymouth Township and county questions address police, fire and rescue protection levels; the county wastewater treatment plant; and major township issues and problems in the next four years.

Canton questions will seek responses on township priorities; methods to broaden the township's tax base; and utilization of resources to shape Canton's identity.

If unable to attend the forum, candidates may have a three-minute statement read by the moderator.

THE REV. AND MRS. LYNN B. STOUT, seated in the carriage, were surprised Saturday evening by the appearance of a horse-drawn carriage (driven by Rene Griwicki of Northville) at their home. After a trip to Kellogg Park, the couple, who were celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary, were joined by grandchildren Greg Maxey (in Rev. Stout's W.W. I Navy uniform) and Jacky Wallace (wearing Mrs. Stouts's wedding dress). After touring the park, the group travelled to City Hall, where Mayor Mary Childs presented The Rev. and Mrs. Stout with a proclamation from the city. The couple, who founded the Calvary Baptist Church, then attended a party in their honor, where personal letters from President Carter, Governor Millikin and Congressman Dingell were read. Auto dealers organize local sales effort

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The seven auto dealers in the Plymouth Community have joined together to promote a "Buy Hometown -- Buy U.S.A." coordinated car sales campaign.

Organized by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce board of directors and newly-formed automobile dealership chamber committee, the campaign was launched last week to begin spurring new car sales for the local dealers.

Participating in the effort are: Dick Scott Buick, Lou LaRiche Chevrolet, Don Massey Cadillac, Leo Calhoun Ford, Colony Chrysler-Plymouth, Fiesta AMC-Jeep-Renault, and Bob Jeannotte Pontiac.

The unique cooperative effort embracing the various auto company dealers is similar in concept to the cooperative campaign run by the LaRiche Chevrolet and Calhoun Ford, concerns, which are located next to each other, earlier this year. "The Battle of the Dealers" LaRiche-Calhoun promotion attracted national attention for cooperation between competing dealers.

Joining the chamber-inspired promotion for the dealers are the Community Federal Credit Union, the Hillside Inn and the Penn Theatre. In the program, a new car purchased from one of the seven dealers and financed through the credit union, comes with 50 gallons of gasoline, dinner for two at the Hillside and two free theater tickets.

The campaign runs through Aug. 1 and will highlight the July 10 Community Band Concert in Kellogg Park with a Country Fair featuring the auto dealers.

At that concert, the dealers will participate in the program and have cars on display.

Canton indoor rec center delayed

The Center, a long-proposed indoor recreation center planned on Haggerty Road in Canton, was tabled by the Planning Commission Monday night.

Proposed for a site about one-eighth of a mile south of Ford Road on Haggerty, the complex has been considerably downsized by architect Ned Apigian since it was first designed about five years ago.

The complex now contains four movie houses, 18 racquetball courts and 72 bowling lanes. Apigian removed seven tennis court originally included in the plans, as well as three racquetball courts. A number of bars is also included in the plans.

The tight mortgage market forced the downsizing, said Apigian.

The commission delayed a decision on the project because three of the movie houses call for seating less than the 400 minimum required in township's zoning ordinance.

Apigian is requesting the commission to consider amending the ordinance to permit his project, said Canton assistant planner David Nicholson.

Such an amendment must be OK'd by the Board of Trustees, as must be the new plans for the project.

Summer band concerts to start

This Thursday's Community Band Concert in Kellogg Park -- the kickoff for the annual summer series of concerts -- will mark an expanded concept for the events.

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce has joined in participating with the band to add more social and cultural events to the weekly series.

"Our goal is to attract more people to the band concerts and to downtown as well as to provide a social environment," said chamber vice president Betty Stremich.

The chamber will be serving different refreshments -- from fresh fruits, short cake, pie, cake and ice cream -- at each concert. "If we can augment their (the band's) program, 10 per cent of the profits go back to the band to help perpetuate the series," Stremich said.

"This will be just a real social event," she emphasized.

Among the chamber's plans for the concert are a "Country Fair" for the July 10 concert which will feature the Plymouth area auto dealers. Another exhibition is planned for August. (See related story.)

This Thursday's concert will follow the theme of "The Great Outdoors," with the band under the direction of Carl Battishill. It starts at 8 p.m.

Twp. unravels discrepancies in accounts

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Discrepancies -- of as much as $1 million -- in recent Plymouth Township accounting reports have been unraveled and corrected, according to township officials.

The largest discrepancy was a $1,050,481 difference between the general tax account of $2,751,055 on Feb. 29 and $3,801,536 on March 1. That difference was attributed to a simple mistake in copying a line from township accounting books onto the monthly financial report, according to Barbara Pray, a township employe.

Clerk Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Joseph West are directly responsible for the preparation of the monthly reports of cash. Pray works under West's supervision while Pat Messer works under Hulsing's supervision in compiling the reports.

Also, monthly cash reports for various accounts showed numerous discrepancies between balances at the end of the month and at the beginning of the next month.

Those discrepancies were attributed to accounting procedures which used two different sets of figures to compile the two balances. The end of the month balances were computed from records in the treasurer's department while the beginning of the month balances were compiled from bank reconciliations.

Two different sets of figures were used in compiling the reports because the township board of trustees had requested that it receive monthly financial reports at the second meeting of the month -- which was before bank statements were ready for the end of the month figures.

According to Hulsing, a recommendation to give trustees monthly financial statements at the fourth meeting of the month was to be aired at last night's (Tuesday) meeting. By delaying the report for two weeks, employes would be able to use one set of figures for both the beginning of the month and end of the month statements, she said.

Generally, the discrepancies were attributed to interest gained in various accounts or to the collection of tax rolls which showed on the beginning of the month figures.

Pole felled, power cut

A DRIVER JUMPED THE CURB on Burroughs Street near Main early Monday morning and felled a Detroit Edison pole, cutting power for some city homes, police report. Andrew D. Hosey II, of 860 Fairground, Plymouth, the driver, told police his accelerator stuck while driving eastbound on Sutherland. He lost control of his car, crossed Main on eastbound Burroughs, and hit the pole, police said. Hosey, 17, was taken to St. Mary Hospital with reported head injuries, said the report. The accident occurred at 12:15 a.m. (Crier photos by Robert Cameron)

Boundary Commission to hear annexation bids

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The State Boundary Commission will meet Tuesday, July 1 to rule on the legal sufficiency of two annexation petitions filed by the City of Plymouth for areas in Plymouth Township.

The City of Plymouth filed three annexation petitions in May, 1974. On Jan. 3, an Ingham County Circuit Court judge overruled a 1976 decision by the State Boundary Commission which awarded the 41-acre site, known as the Burrough's parking lot, to the city. The Burrough's parking lot is located on the north-west corner of Plymouth and Haggerty roads.

After the decision in Plymouth Township's favor, the city asked the boundary commission to withdraw the two remaining petitions against the township.

"There's no provision in the law for withdrawing petitions after they've been filed," said James Hyde, executive secretary of the boundary commission. Furthermore, the commission is obligated to hear and rule on the petitions, said Hyde.

Asked if the commission would consider the city's move to drop the annexation petitions, Hyde said: "I can't see it being possible that the commission would take that into account . . . However, it's the commission's decision.

"We (the State Boundary Commission) are not interested in going ahead (with the petitions) if the city doesn't want it," said Hyde.

Tuesday's adjudicative meeting will be held to determine if the site descriptions, boundaries, and other legal data on the petitions have been filed properly. If all the descriptions are correct, according to the boundary commission's review, then a public hearing date will be set to rule on the petitions, said Hyde.

The two petitions to be considered Tuesday seek to annex the Hillside Inn Restaurant and parking lot and the entire township. The Hillside is located at 41661 Plymouth Rd.

In its original petitions, the city sought to annex the Hillside Inn and parking lot, Burrough's parking lot, and the entire township. However the boundary commission ruled that the Hillside Inn petitions were not legally sufficient to rule upon and they were refiled, placing them after the Burrough's parking lot, and the entire township.

The petition to annex the entire township will be considered by the boundary commission first on Tuesday. Then it will consider the Hillside Inn and parking lot petition.

Township attorney Donald Morgan and City Manager Henry Graper will attend the meeting Tuesday, according to Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert.

Even if the boundary commission later rules that the city can annex the entire township, such a ruling would not be acted upon by the city, said Notebaert. When the city asked the boundary commission to withdraw its petitions in January, an agreement on annexation was reached between the city and township.

"Morgan was quite comfortable with the agreement that was drafted," said Notebaert. The township expects the city to inform the boundary commission Tuesday that it's no longer interested in pursuing annexation, he added.

The petition to annex the entire township was filed with the boundary commission May 7, 1974. The petition seeking to annex the Hillside Inn Restaurant and parking lot was filed Aug. 22, 1974. Both petitions were filed as cases with the City of Plymouth vs. Plymouth Township.

Mayor Mary Childs; Henry Graper, Jr., city manager; Eldon Martin, mayor pro-tem; and David Pugh, city commissioner. The housing addition will feature a lounge on each of three floors and will extend the existing activity room. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Sign up for July 4 run

Plymouth Jaycees have organized a varied slate of activities for area residents during the Fourth of July celebration.

Leading off will be a 10,000 meter (6.2 miles) run from Northville Downs to Kellogg Park. It begins at 9 a.m.

A bike decorating contest will also be held, sponsored by the Jaycettes on the 4th of July.

Main event for the afternoon's activities will be the traditional parade. The procession will begin on Theodore Street, continue down Main, turn down Hartsough and finish at East Middle School. It begins at 1 p.m.

Included in the parade will be the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, the Windsor Riverside Lions Club Youth Band and the Plymouth Community Chorus. All need sponsors. If you wish to sponsor one of these bands, contact Michael Stankov at 851-8090 or 459-6749.

Finally, at dusk Independence Day revelers will be treated to a Plymouth Jaycee fireworks display, sponsored by Don Massey Cadillac. Parking for the event will be in the Burroughs Corp. lot.

Watch for more details in next week's Crier.

Twp. tentatively approves Ann Arbor Road restaurant

Tentative site plan approval for the construction of a Steak and Ale Restaurant was given by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission last Wednesday night.

The two-acre site for the new restaurant is on Ann Arbor Road next to I-275. The property is zoned C-2 for commercial development.

Maintaining a safe roadway was one of the concerns of the Plymouth Commission, according to Chairperson Smith Horton. "The main problem is safety with the restaurant on Ann Arbor Road next to the I-275 ramp," he said.

However, he added, neither the Wayne County Road Commission nor the Michigan Department of Transportation, which have jurisdiction over the roads raised objections to the restaurant's location. "They'll watch the area and if traffic problems develop, they may post restrictive signs -- such as 'no left turn' signs," he said.

Before beginning construction, the restaurant must get final site plan approval from the Planning Commission. The restaurant may seek final approval at the next Planning Commission meeting on July 16, said Horton.

Canton drops to sixth in residential building

BY DAN BODENE

Canton remains among the top 10 communities in the area based on total residential units authorized, although its standing has dropped considerably for 1979.

According to a report issued by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) on residential construction in southeast Michigan, Canton placed second in 1977, moving into the No. 1 spot in 1978.

However, Canton dropped to sixth place last year with 721 units authorized. Farmington Hills, first in the standings for the year, posted 1,622 authorized units.

Authorized new dwelling units in Wayne County during 1979 decreased by 932 from the previous year. Total new dwelling units in the county for the year were listed at 4,418, down 17.4 per cent from 1978's total of 5,350 units.

Total dwelling units were described as a combination of detached single family units, two-family units and multi-family units minus demolitions.

The decline in new dwelling units in the county began in 1978, with a decrease of 513 units from 1977. The SEMCOG report listed an 8.7 per cent decline in construction between 1977 and 1978 in addition to the 17.4 per cent decline between 1978 and 1979.

SEMCOG also listed the number of dwelling units constructed based on 1979 residential building permits issued. Dwelling units also included single, two-family and multiple family units minus demolitions.

Canton placed first compared to the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township with a net total of 709 units constructed in 1979. Of the total, 661 were detached single family units, 4 were two-family units and 56 were multi-family units. There were 12 demolitions in Canton for 1979.

Plymouth Township listed 181 total units constructed in 1979. There were no two-family units constructed, although 174 single family units and 12 multi-family units were constructed, minus its five demolitions.

The City of Plymouth listed a net total of one unit built for 1979. Although four single family units and two two-family units were built, the city demolished five other dwelling units during the year.

The SEMCOG report covered Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties. Of all seven counties, approximately 6,000 fewer housing unit building permits were issued in 1979 than from 1978, a drop of nearly 23 per cent.

Almost all of the decline occurred in single family units, while the number of multi-family dwelling units authorized by local governments remained almost constant.

Six of the seven counties listed reported overall declines in permits issued.

Justine Barnes, Westland city council member and chairperson of SEMCOG's Housing and Community Development Advisory Committee, said, "One reason for the decline in housing construction is the continuing high cost of home mortgages."

She also stated that the number of permits issued for multi-family units remained relatively constant because much of that type of construction is financed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Carhop robbed

A carhop at Plymouth's Daly Restaurant was robbed of $45 after she delivered a meal to a customer Sunday, police report.

The suspect, described as 18 or 19 years old with dark hair and dark eyes, told the carhop he had a gun and ordered her to hand over her cash, police said. The incident occurred at 12:09 a.m., Sunday morning, police added.

Daly is located at 800 Ann Arbor Rd.

addenda & errata

In a Crier story on budget cutbacks in the June 18 edition, the budget of Canton Township was erroneously reported as running from July 1 through June 30. Canton's budget actually runs from Dec. 1 to Nov. 30 for General Fund, and April 1 to Mar. 30 for the Water Fund.

Twp. expands golf course

Construction has started for the nine-hole expansion of the Hilltop Golf Course in Plymouth Township.

At a special board of trustees meeting last Tuesday, the first phase of the extension was awarded to R.D. Sigler Construction Co. of Novi. Sigler was the low bidder on the project at $121,900.

His original bid of $134,900 was pared down by $13,000 after trustees agreed to buy the culverts included in the expansion work, instead of including them in Sigler's bid. "I think the township can get a better buy on them rather than having Sigler buy them," said Clerk Esther Hulsing.

The first phase of the expansion project includes clearing and preparing the land, developing a pond and stream, mass grading, installing culverts, and preparing areas for greens, tees, mounds, and sand traps.

Sigler said he planned to begin work last week and the project would be completed in mid-August.

Deficit looms

School lunch prices may go up next fall.

That prediction was made by Dan White, finance director, at the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education meeting Monday night. Food costs are escalating, plus the district is facing a $109,145 deficit in the food program this year, he said.

The program, operated by ARA Systems, Inc., is facing a deficit of $50,000 more than was expected, said White. Part of the solution to the problem may lie in increasing the school lunch prices, he said.

Further discussion, he suggested, should wait until the school board's first meeting in August when the food service program will be discussed in depth.

Regional arson squad may be formed

BY CHAS CHILD

The feasibility of forming a regional squad of police and firemen to investigate arson cases is being studied by local officials.

Exploring the idea are representatives from five municipalities: The City of Plymouth, Canton Township, Plymouth Township, The City of Northville and Northville Township.

Under the tentative plan, each police and fire department in the five communities would provide a person for the squad, said Timothy Ford, the City of Plymouth's police chief.

There are numerous advantages to having such a relatively large force available for arson investigation, said Ford. First, evidence of an arson is more abundant and fresher shortly after the fire, he said. Therefore, rather than one or two persons stretching an investigation out over a number of days, it's better to have a large force picking through the ruins immediately, he said.

Rod Cannon, the City of Northville's police chief, said such a task force would have been effective at a recent arson fire at Northville Downs racetrack. "The investigation would have been closed much sooner," he said.

And in Plymouth, the investigation of the February arson of the Penniman Avenue shops would have been more effective with the proposed arson squad, said Ford.

"There are potential federal grants that can be used to fund the program, which we will be investigating," said Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton police department.

The arson force was proposed at a recent conference of police and fire representatives of the five communities, who met to coordinate tornado-siren signals.

The force's implementation depends on whether the various township boards of trustees and city commissions in the communities favor it, said Ford.

Police and fire officials of the communities were scheduled to meet today (Wednesday) to review further training, cost, and implementation details of the proposal.

Service lights the way for local Rotarians in Chicago

Six Plymouth Rotarians and their wives attended the Rotary's 75th Anniversary Convention from June 1 to 5 in Chicago, Ill. where the Rotary was founded in 1905.

Earl West was the official delegate from Plymouth to the convention. He was joined by his wife, Cloc, Bill and Teresa Covington, Dick and Elaine Kirchgatter, Warren and Vivian Bradburn, Bob and Mickey Beyer and Bob and Lou Stremich.

Theme of the gathering was "Let Service Light the Way." Special presentations and workshops were also included. Speakers at the convention, which was attended by almost 20,000 Rotarians, included Rotary International President James L. Bomar, Jr. of Shelbyville, Tenn.; Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the oral polio vaccine; and John W. Mellor, director of the International Food Policy Research Institute in Washington, D.C.

In addition to special celebratory activities, new programs were discussed such as the Rotary Foundation's grants for the Health, Hunger and Humanity (3-H) Program which is currently funding a polio immunization project for Phillipine children.

THE CITY MANAGER PREPARES TO REALLY CLEAN UP, AFTER HIS FIRST FALL FESTIVAL

City cleans up after change of heart

There's a breath of fresh air in the latest news from the Plymouth city manager's office and the city commission.

In contrast to the city's past policy of nickel-diming users of services for fees, the new policy is much more reasonable.

Fall Festival and Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce officials were pleased to learn last week that the city will no longer be charging them for picayune costs associated with those two groups' activities.

For example, the Fall Festival won't be charged for anything the DPW and police crews can perform on their normal work schedules and even the city's garbage collection contractor will donate refuse collection at cost. This is good news indeed.

While there may be extra effort involved on the city's part in staging community events, this is what our tax dollars should be used for.

Former City Manager Fred Yockey was responsible for starting the pay-as-you-go plan for such activities despite the obvious benefit these events provide us all. Hank Graper, the new city manager, and the commission deserve credit for seeing the wisdom of aiding community promotion.

Our hats are off to the city officials for their new direction.

Senseless destruction of lawns angers resident

EDITOR:

The expression "Youth is wasted on the young" hit close to home this morning.

A car came down our street during the night and did a "lawn job" on two lawns -- not the first time for our area.

The word "imbecile" immediately came to mind. Defined by Webster's Dictionary: "a mentally deficient person; esp: a feeble-minded person having a mental age of three to seven years and requiring supervision in the performance of routing daily tasks of caring for himself; fool, idiot," etc.

Part of this definition does not apply as they have the capability of being intelligent. They at least acquired their driver's license.

These persons have been stifled by their parents in not being taught respect for other people, other people's property -- perhaps even lack of respect for their own parents; and most importantly, respect for themselves as a worthy human being.

Youth have sought independence without knowing what to do with it. Independence with no reins or restrictions has become the name of the game. Time has certainly proven this isn't the way. It's a lot easier for "loose" parents to let their offspring have this freedom -- thereby allowing themselves more freedom and independence as well.

To do their "own thing" as it's sometimes phrased. They are raising a group of highly emotionally disturbed persons. A parent's job has never been easy; nor has it always been rewarding, but today's freedom of sex and youthful independence has led to a marked deterioration of morals and lack of responsibility.

I don't blame the imbecile or imbeciles who do this creative undoing of someone's hard labor as much as I do the parents. They should be tearing up their parent's lawns to rid themselves of animosity unknowingly being created by the allowance of self-indulgence and lack of discipline -- even as early as pre-school years. Parenthood is definitely a responsibility affecting not only the family itself, but society as a whole.

Again, what a waste. Not only of creativity, but of money, gas and time. Our society is literally wrenched or drenched (both words are appropriate) by the preference of these persons for laziness, disrespect and loose morals. They go hand-in-hand.

Thank goodness these type of individuals are in the minority, but there's enough of them to be frustrating, frightening and costly to our society.

Keep Canton Merit Commission

According to Canton Trustee Robert Greenstein, a movement to examine the township's merit ordinance for possible revision has apparently died for lack of support. Which is good.

I suspect the real reason for its review was to examine the elimination of the Merit Commission. Which is bad.

The township needs a board to oversee the workings of the personnel director and to approve his recommendations. It's part of the checks and balances of government, and in the area of hiring and firing public employees, those safeguards are all the more important.

I would hate to see the responsibility delegated to one man. The possibilities for abuse are all too evident.

In all fairness, Greenstein did not advocate abolition of the merit concept. In fact, he made it quite clear that the concept was a good one and should not be thrown out with the commission. He said his proposal was only to streamline the number of persons involved in hiring and firing.

While this is a good point, I don't feel that the Merit Commission is a good place to start streamlining. They do not encumber the process, and they do serve an important function.

They make sure that township employees are of the highest caliber possible, and that two people aren't hired to do the work of one. Isn't that part of streamlining?

Grad day ruined

EDITOR:

As a resident, taxpayer and grandparent, I wish to voice an opinion on the graduation exercises held at Salem High School on Thursday evening.

Not only was the evening a complete disaster for the adults attending but it was a disaster for the young people we were so proud of.

Because of the bitter cold, high winds and drizzle, we were forced to leave early and therefore did not have the privilege of seeing our grandson receive his diploma.

Whoever made the decision to hold these exercises outside did a great disservice to all the young people involved. Instead of a day of pomp and circumstance to remember, in reality it was a nightmare to forget.

With Malice Toward None

WENDOVER

If only Madam Rose could have foretold the future of Canton. Of course, even though she was reading palms there at the Canton Fair last weekend, she'd never heard of Canton. But then, she finally, admitted, she wasn't really Madam Rose anyway.

The fortune teller booth is as much a part of the carnival atmosphere as the rides, food booths and the shooting galleries. They all contributed to make this year's Canton Fair the best yet (despite the mud) and a great all-around social and commercial drawing card for the community.

Certainly all those -- the Canton JCs, businesses and officials -- involved in helping Canton whoop it up for a few days can take credit.

Except Madam Rose -- she only takes cash.

The age-old fortune telling hustle is a real temptation to anyone whose life is troubled at the moment or is out for a lark. (You'll have to guess the motivation for myself and that evening's partner in crime, Earl Schabo of Village Fireplace.)

"You will have a long life," began the erstaz prognosticator.

After a few other lies -- and, surprisingly, a startling truth or two -- we got down to the real message of "Madam Rose." If I would just hold the two $20 bills in my pocket with her hand clenched around mine, she'd wish me good luck.

When she took her hand away, she took my twenties too.

I inquired as to why the lucky coin she had me tie up in my hankerchief (which has Richard Nixon on it . . . "He's a good man," Madam Rose lied again) wouldn't suffice for good luck and why it would cost another $40, too.

Her reply was that it was for her "church" and pointed to some cheap table candle with religious art on the side.

For that much dough, I told her, I'd like the answers to some political questions for our newspaper.

"NEWSPAPER?"

Immediately, her mood changed.

Suddenly, she was wishing me good luck without the $40.

She still couldn't muster up any predictions about the Canton political races, however, she did say that everyone would enjoy the Canton Fair.

At least she appeared to be right about that.

We would like to thank Chief Roy Hall of the Plymouth Fire Department for the promptness and efficiency displayed by his emergency personnel, Captain Degen and Attendant Eldridge, on Feb. 26. I sincerely believe that their action was responsible for the positive outcome of the young student, Matthew Klepack. The two men and the department should be commended for such fine service.

Canton Jaycees appreciate support

EDITOR:

I would like to thank the residents of Canton, Plymouth and the surrounding communities for their support of the Canton Jaycees Fair.

A few of you may have felt a few rain drops or experienced muddy shoes and for that I apologize.

Your enjoyment at the Fair is and always will be our main concern. We hope Mother Nature will be kinder to us next year and you will again come out and enjoy yourself.

Growing old both a class and a living experience

FIRST STEP

As I stare at the cold bare stone, my imagination runs wild with visions of spirits roaming dark and isolated hallways. The sign intended to welcome visitors, only fill me with fears of the unknown.

With great reluctance, my hand moves toward the door, my emotions fighting each other, curiosity vs. fear. Finally my heart decides and my feet are dragged across the threshold of a very different world.

It is in this place that I am to meet Alex, a stranger, a man with experience of eighty summers guiding his words. He shall lead me now to understand an alien world, his world, that of a forgotten generation.

Man has always feared those things that he does not fully understand. I am terrified, and yet ashamed because my fear is born from the presence of an eighty year old man.

I touch his hand, and I do not melt. It is warm, just like mine. I begin to see.

He speaks, and though his voice is rough, a clear and loving understanding of the world shines through. He talks only of simple things, trains and farms, but these words bring me closer to the gate. I am looking at this man from the very brink of the gap, hesitant to make the first step.

He looks at me and begins to talk of past experiences, and pleasant memories. He smiles into my heart. I smile back and open the gate. I have begun the long walk across the bridge.

MITCH WILCOX

LOUIS STRAVER

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

It was a close encounter of a new kind when the young met the old for a high school class project. "Before we visited, I was always scared to grow old -- no I'm not," says Sarah Vance, who just finished 11th grade at Salem High School.

"Maybe I'll deal with growing old as well as they did -- or perhaps even better." Although her words sound glib, she speaks softly and with respect.

"Before doing this project, I hadn't thought about growing old, but when I am, I'll want company and people to visit me," commented Krystn Bjornbak, also an 11th grader.

The two students are talking about a project for their Creative Writing Class, taught by Max Gibson. Students interviewed senior citizens at Hendry Convalescent Center and Plymouth Town Apartments, wrote poems, short stories, letters, and biographies about them for class, and, compiled the material for a book. Included is "First Step" by Mitch Wilcox, a piece in which he talks about his fear of growing old.

To be released soon, the 54-page book called "Hello In There" is a compendium of the students' literary endeavors along with photographs of the persons interviewed. In their writing and on film, the students have tried to capture the significance of the seniors' lives and how they feel about growing old.

"What did they learn in the project? "People need companionship," says Sarah. "They need a chance to be needed."

"There's a lot more to growing old than just aches and pains," says Linda Bunyes, also an 11th grader.

Her poem about Karl Malmsten, titled simply "To Karl," begins with this stanza:

"I looked for a friend and I found one in Karl a kind person to be around."

Typical in the book were comments such as this one penned by Paul Novel: "I had not anticipated interviewing such an interesting person as Jane Strachan . . . It was fun to travel through time with her to places and events I've yet to experience." The students found qualities they admired such as Kelly Daley's observation: "I hope that when I'm 75, I can be as open-minded as my new friend Caroline Ling."

But other students saw loneliness, bitterness, and sad memories. "And now, here we are," writes Krystn in her biography titled "Carl."

"You share with us your stories. Though it may sometimes seem that you have a little to live for, you actually have so much. You have your children and grandchildren who all love you and Jesus loves you. Therein lies the key."

"You are an interesting person. You have 84 remarkable years of history inside you. I hope you will let other people know what you know. It is so exciting and so important . . . Thank you and God bless you."

"Hello In There" is on sale at the Little Professor Book Center, 1456 Sheldon Rd., Plymouth, and Plymouth Book World, 2 Forest Place, Plymouth.

How does your garden grow?

Farmers produce food as a means of making a living. Most gardeners plant flowers and vegetables as a landscaping hobby. Then there are those of us who sprinkle a few seeds in the ground and wait impatiently for something green to appear.

While some people are born with a green thumb, there are those of us with black dirt under our nails from digging out the dead plants. I'm not alone in my gardening talents. I've found a coworker who knows almost as little about how to make things grow as I do.

This year when The Crier plowed a staff garden plot, Joyce and I became the perfect gardening team. What one doesn't know about plants, the other doesn't know either.

The first decision was what to plant in our section of the garden. Since we needed something that didn't take a lot of care and hassle, we decided on a pumpkin patch. Just think of all the money we'll save next October when we don't have to drive all over shopping for pumpkins.

Armed with a rake, hoe, and the pumpkin seeds, we headed for the garden. Getting a garden ready is a lot harder than it looks. Finally after reading the instructions, we made five dirt hills and planted the seeds.

After a week of listening to static, comments, and jokes from all the staff, I'm proud to announce that something green is popping out of three of the five dirt hills (those green things aren't weeds either).

I'm not sure which of us planted the hills where the pumpkins are growing, and I'm not going to try to figure it out. I probably planted my seeds upside down, so they're growing down instead of up.

Watch out Charlie Brown, the great pumpkin might make an appearance this year.

Christina Lynn Goodsir of Plymouth received a Bachelor of Science degree in Dance Education from Ohio State University.

Leeann Michelle DeVeto, daughter of Hilliard and Phyllis DeVeto of Plymouth received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Computer Science from Central Michigan University.

Northern Michigan University in Marquette announced the names of students on the winter semester dean's list. Students from Canton and Plymouth are: Doris Dettling of Honey Lane, Karl Gretzinger of Longfellow, Charles Bevelfeimer of Beck Road, Stephanie Hancock of Parkview, James Kabel of McClumpha, Kathleen Kiefer of Greenbriar Court, William Messerly of Ross Street, Gregory Ruhlmann of Ann Arbor Road, and Guy Ruohonen of Albert Court.

Ferris State College in Big Rapids announced the names of students included on the academic honors list. Local students included are: Lisa Hamann of Holmes Drive in Canton; Michael Gilson of Glenview, Joseph Hibler of Cherrywood Court, James Kenyon of Hartsough, Janet Matthews of Brookwood, Kevin Stemberger of Farmbrook, and Timothy Trinka of Irvin Street in Plymouth.

Community survey may continue over summer

A survey of the Plymouth-Canton Community, started last fall by students at the Centennial Education Park, hasn't gotten off the ground yet.

According to Gene Kramer, a sociology teacher, the students have gathered some information, but "it's waiting to get compiled and needs to be put into a format."

Also directing the project is Patricia Reese-Greenstein, school psychologist.

Kramer said he may work on compiling the raw data over the summer.

Sewer pressure causes some problems to back up

BY DAN BODENE

Four months ago Howdy Schryer of Plymouth heard an ominous rumbling from his, er, water closet in his home. Nothing too unusual -- the house is in its middle age.

However, a moment later the toilet flushed all by itself. Backwards.

"It was all over everything. The mirrors, walls, rug, everything," said Schryer.

Shortly before Mr. Schryer's toilet expended itself all over the bathroom, a sewer cleaning contractor was running a camera rig through the sewer outside his home. The camera was sent in to look for blockages, a common procedure in old sewers.

Part of the procedure includes pressuring up the sewer. A side effect of this is that plumbing in older homes with insufficient ventilation backs up until the pressure is great enough to, well, flush the toilets backwards.

"I went in to talk to Mr. Graper, and he was very nice about the whole thing. It was all handled very nicely," said Schryer. City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. added that the damage was paid for by the sewer cleaners, who sometimes do contract work for the city and infrequently run into the type of problem experienced by Schryer.

A dirty job, but someone had to do it.

Serviceman sees three oceans on recent spring maneuvers

Petty Office Third Class William J. Herter, a graduate of Salem High and the son of Janet Elliott, has recently had ample opportunity for fun, travel and adventure in his duty aboard the U.S.S. Ponce.

After deployment in the fjords of Norway for a training exercise, the Ponce visited Portsmouth, London, Stonehenge, Stratford-on-Avon and Plymouth, England; and Edinburgh, Scotland.

Returning to Norfolk, Va. in April, Herter's vessel was sent to New York to participate in Armed Forces Week. The ship and crew were featured on national television.

In May, the ship steamed for the Straits of Florida, where it provided assistance in rescuing Cuban refugees in boats ranging in size from 20 feet to 80 ft. According to Captain C.G. Felkins, commanding officer, the Ponce rescued more than 600 refugees.

Currently, the ship is docked in Norfolk. Herter will be returning to Plymouth on shore leave in July, says his mother.

Conquest offers 'voice' for seniors, handicapped

BY CHAS CHILD

Thanks to two public-spirited local journalists, senior citizens and handicappers in the State of Michigan now have a "voice."

Dennis Fassett and Carrie Young have launched "Conquest," a monthly newspaper devoted to news, comment, and features on Michigan's seniors and handicappers.

Produced in the dining room of Carrie's Michigan Avenue home in Canton, Conquest is now far more a "labor of love" than a money-making proposition.

With only two part-time writers, and no ad salespersons, Young produces the 16-page publication virtually singlehandedly. She writes, edits, lays out the pages, sells ads, helps keep the books, writes headlines, answers the phone, takes pictures, and more.

Despite the work-load, Carrie's enthusiastic about the fledgling publication. "I like this kind of writing," she said. Seniors and handicappers are such good people. They make me appreciate life."

Carrie's former boss at the Wayne-based Associated Newspapers, Dennis Fassett, is Conquest's publisher. Fassett served as editor at Associated, while Carrie was a reporter before she was laid off last year.

"The reception has been fantastic all over the state," said Fassett, who now works for Omnicom, Plymouth-Canton's cable television firm. Before Conquest, "seniors and handicappers had no voice statewide," said Fassett. "The groups were fragmented."

Helping Carrie are two Wayne State University interns, Karl Ann White and Jerry Wildbarn, and a part-time writer, Anne Reddy.

Conquest is distributed to senior-citizen groups, civic centers, handicapper groups across the state, as well as to individual subscribers. In May the press run was 13,000, while the recently issued June edition jumped to 21,000 copies, said Fassett.

"We got into it as a public service rather than a profit center, said Fassett. "At this point, we are interested in simply covering our costs."

Anyone interested in further information on Conquest can contact Carrie Young, 41841 Michigan Ave., Canton Township, 48188, 397-0927.

Historians name three as top artists in Canton

Entries by John Shannon, Doris Graff and Ken Horn were judged as the top three drawings in an art competition sponsored by the Canton Historical Society.

Open only to Plymouth-Canton school students, the contest winners were announced at a society meeting on June 12. Shannon won first prize of a $200 savings bond; Graff was awarded second prize and a $10 certificate, and Horn won third place of a $5 certificate.

The subject of the contest was the society's museum building, the last one-room schoolhouse to teach all eight grades in the county. In 1977 the Plymouth-Canton School system presented the building to the Historical Society.

Shannon's print will be used for a limited issue of framed copies to be sold through the society. In addition, the other winners will be reproduced on items such as stationery which will also be available through the society.

Crier's 'Silver Edition' needs past Fall Fest photos

Do you have any photographs from the past 24 Fall Festivals? As part of its "Silver Edition" Fall Festival issue, to be published on Sept. 3, The Community Crier will include photographs from the past quarter century of The Plymouth-Canton Community's largest annual event. Your photos are eligible.

Please submit photos to Chas Child, editor of The Crier, at 1226 S. Main St., Plymouth, 48170 either by mail or in person during regular business hours. Prints (especially black and white) are best, although slides can also be used.

"The Fall Festival "Silver Edition" will mark the 25th anniversary of the event which will be held Sept. 4,5,6 and 7 this year.

City mulls ambulance hikes

BY DAN BODENE

The City of Plymouth is considering a move to increase the cost of certain ambulance runs in an effort to offset equipment replacement costs without a tax increase.

Fire Chief Roy Hall said that a proposal to increase resident fees for ambulance service from $15 to $90 and non-resident fees from $30 to $140 will help fund new rescue vehicles. He characterized the present equipment as "badly in need of replacement."

A new ambulance costs $45,000 to $50,000, according to Chief Hall. In addition, overtime costs needed to man the fire station when an ambulance leaves the city adds another $20,000 per year to the total cost of ambulance service.

Currently, the city responds to approximately 600 calls per year, of which nearly 350 require transportation to a hospital. Only transportation runs are billed to the patients.

Chief Hall added that the proposed fees are in line with minimum charges made by private ambulance companies. City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. said, "If insurance companies are willing to pay a private company (those amounts) to offset equipment costs, we would like to charge the same fees."

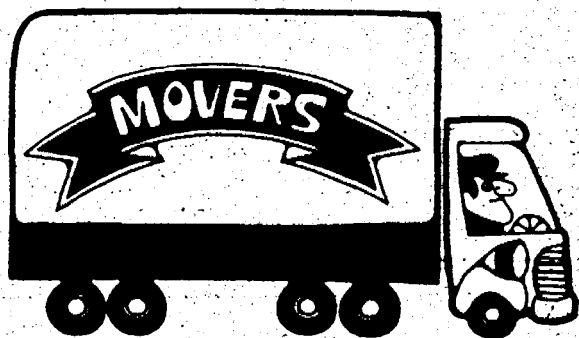

According to Chief Hall, "chances are, insurance will pay for most of the cost."

He also added that "if a person was uninsured, or could not pay the bill, I don't feel the city would pressure them into it." Graper said he concurred with Hall.

Presently, ambulance fees are billed to the individual. Under the new fees, the individual would still receive the city's bill and be responsible for collecting an insurance claim.

However, Chief Hall said the possibility of directly billing the insurance company is being investigated.

The proposal will be discussed at the July 7 regular City Commission meeting.

McMurray named to state small business council

Frank A. McMurray, Sr. of Canton has been named by Governor William Milliken to the State Small Business Conference Executive Council.

McMurray is one of 11 members of the council, which will work with the Michigan Department of Commerce in sponsoring a State Small Business Conference early next year.

Milliken said the council will provide a forum for state-wide small business operators. "In addition to highlighting issues and insuring full participation of the Michigan small business community, the Executive Council will provide the legislature and me with an agenda on behalf of small business in Michigan," he said.

CEP graduates celebrate their new freedoms

REBECCA LONG, Canton's senior class president

Canton High

Heralded as the "Class with class" by Principal Kent Buikema, more than 450 Canton High School graduates received their diplomas at the commencement ceremony held last Wednesday evening at the CEP stadium.

It looked all day as if the event might be forced inside because of rain, and heavy storm clouds were visible when the graduates entered on to the field.

The bad weather passed over, however, much to the chagrin of everyone including Father Frank Lymon who closed his invocation with the words "and please don't let it rain."

Senior class advisor James Kaiser expressed his gratitude for being able to work with the Class of '80 and Executive Forum Mayor Sondra Gillon reminisced over the past four years of high school and speculated on what to look forward to in the future from the Class of '80.

Class president Rebecca Long then addressed her peers, expressing the need for the Class of '80 to become involved in trying to solve the world problems that currently exist. She said that, with its accomplishments in high school, the Class of '80 has the potential to be very influential.

Buikema credited the seniors for their outstanding contributions to Canton, and presented the "Class with class" to receive their diplomas.

School board members Thomas Yack, Stephen Harper, Carol Davis, and Flossie Torda handed the diplomas to the graduates, who were introduced to the audience by Canton faculty members Elizabeth Carlson and Brian Schwall.

Following the ceremony, the graduates set sail to their caps to begin the post-commencement celebration.

CANTON seniors spell out "80" during graduating ceremonies.

RECORDING the great day on film.

A SALEM senior prepares to receive his diploma

Salem High

The 500 plus Salem High School 1980 graduates were literally "swept away" by Thursday's Commencement ceremony at the CEP stadium.

Bitter winds and light occasional rains did not make for the best conditions for the event, but the rain only dampened the caps and gowns of the class of '80, not its spirit.

Following the invocation by Father Jim Jagieski, Salem senior class president Mary Beth Szilagyi addressed her fellow classmates.

She emphasized that although this year's graduates are entering a world with many problems, the spirit and drive shown by the class of '80 in high school gives them the potential to help change things for the better.

Salem Principal Bill Brown praised the class for outstanding achievements in all areas of high school activities, including academics, music, and sports.

Following his speech, Brown presented the class of '80 to receive their diplomas.

After Salem faculty members Scott Beaman and Samuel Daas introduced each graduate to the family and friends in the large audience in attendance, they were handed their diplomas.

Presenting the diplomas were school board members Thomas Yack, Richard Arlen, Elaine Kirchgatter, and Sylvia Stetz.

As the line for the diplomas got smaller and smaller, the pace got faster and faster, as everyone hoped to avoid being caught in what looked to be a large storm rolling in from behind the west.

When the final name was called, the caps went sailing into the sky and everyone rushed home, to the senior party -- anywhere to get out of the cold.

WSDP names new directors

WSDP, the Centennial Educational Park's student-staffed radio station recently held its annual banquet to commemorate another season of educational broadcasting. Along with the presentation of student awards, WSDP student directors for 1980-81 were announced.

The new directors assume responsibility for the operation and staffing of WSDP until June, 1981. The directors for 1980-81 are as follows: Co-Program Directors --

Although WSDP will be off the air until resumption of broadcasting on Sept. 4, the directors will be working together during the summer months to prepare for station auditions in the fall, and other activities.

During the first week of the fall semester, any CEP student may apply and audition for a position at WSDP radio. Auditions are open to anyone, no experience is necessary, and parents of all students who may be interested are encouraged to watch for more news about auditions at the beginning of the 1980-81 school year.

Parents protest transportation cut

tion, he added.

However, most parents in the audience objected. "It (the Harrison School program) is an on-going program -- more than simply recreation," said Dan Collins, a Plymouth Township resident and teacher from Livonia. "Handicapped children need a socialization program," Collins, who is the father of a handicapped student, said. He also disagreed with Page, saying that other districts provide buses for the programs.

"To our children, this is not a recreation program. It is an integral part of their education to be able to be with their peers and learn ways in which they can be accepted by society. It is an excellent program in which they can learn even though to most other people it is called recreation," said Del Memering, the mother of a student at Har-heard through word-of-mouth that the buses were discontinued," said Collins.

"I regret the fact that we can't do it, but unless we can come up with about $15,000, the district simply can't afford it," said Supt. John M. Hoben. Dale Goby, director of transportation, has said bus costs were about $12,467; however school officials were unsure whether that cost included bus costs for all four programs or simply the Harrison School program.

"Day-to-day program throughout the district have taken proportionate cuts," said Hoben, while defending the cutback.

To solve the problem, the board passed a resolution for administrators to investigate transportation costs for summer special ed programs by developing a specific fee per child.

Furthermore, the district won't assume any costs, including tuition and fees, for non-manadated programs and parks and recreations programs will not get financial support or services from the district for these programs, the resolution says.

Trustee Steve Harper dissented, saying that the district "should have agreed to provide a portion of the cost. They (the parents) discovered it late in the game and I'm concerned about that."

At least one of the programs involved, at Livonia's Harrison School, is sponsored by the Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, and Northville parks and recreation programs.

Twp. OKs new industrial park

Construction of an industrial park at Five Mile and Sheldon roads in Plymouth Township has been given the initial go-ahead from the Plymouth Township Planning Commission.

Proposed by the Morgan Development Co. of Livonia, the site for the complex is the southwest corner of the intersection. The development is estimated to cost $300 to $500 million and could house 130 businesses.

The Planning Commission approved the tentative preliminary plan design at its meeting last week.

A traditional wine bottle holds about ¾ litre or ½ gallon. That means you can serve approximately six 4 oz. glasses of wine from one bottle.
 New litre bottles are now on our shelves. They hold about 1½ pints. You can serve approximately 6 glasses at slightly less than 5 oz. each.
 Remember: When serving wine use a larger glass, fill it only ¾ full or slightly less, so that you can conveniently swirl the wine and fully enjoy its bouquet. When we say use a large glass, we mean an 8, 10 or 18 ounce glass. The bigger the bowl the better!

Graper gets $750 bonus for service

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. has been awarded a $750 bonus gift by the City Commission for his service to the community.

Mayor Mary Childs said the bonus was given to Graper under the merit program for all city employees.

"The Commission felt that in the time Mr. Graper has been here, he has accomplished so much and done so much for the city that he deserved the gift," added Mayor Childs. "It was for a good job."

She stated that the bonus came from merit program funds.

Twp. jumps on convention wagon

Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees gave $750 to a committee that will promote the Plymouth community during the upcoming Republican National Convention to be held in Detroit.

The promotional committee, sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and headed by Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper, is soliciting funds from all local businesses, clubs, and organizations.

The money will be used, among other things, to welcome and entertain the Massachusetts delegates to the convention, which will be staying at the Plymouth Hilton Hotel.

Ground broken for new church

Turning the first shovelful of earth, Building Committee Chairman Joseph Farhat broke ground recently for the Faith Community Church's new location on Warren just west of Canton Center.

Members of the church's building committee are Linda Ammon, Barbara Crum, Phyllis and Joseph Farhat, Craig Fleming and The Rev. Darryl Bell.

The building will be a 5,400-square-foot wood structure, including a sanctuary, nursery, kitchen, classrooms, fellowship hall and offices. By Christmas, the congregation expects to move into the building.

Currently, the congregation meets at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth.

Canton delays townhouse construction

A request to rezone property at the north-west corner of Sheldon and Warren roads has been tabled by Canton trustees pending further discussions with the developers.

The request would rezone the area from R-4 to R-6 to allow construction of a proposed group of townhouses.

During discussion of the proposed rezoning, Trustee Robert Greenstein said, "My concern is that the zoning plan is only good to protect the township if it is not amended. The burden of proof originates with the developer. If the township amends the ordinance frequently, a court will look at those actions and decide that (the ordinance) isn't binding."

Although the township and county planning commissions approved the project, additional objections were raised by local homeowners led by Mike Plunkett, who said, "there have not been adequate environmental or traffic studies made." He also mentioned dust from present traffic as a problem, and that instances of breaking and entering in the area have increased.

After a presentation by one of the architect of the development, Township Planner James Kosteva stated that under the present zoning, the area was "not very developable." He said that a realistic figure of about 115 single dwellings could be constructed on the property.

Although the commissioners agreed that the development was esthetically pleasing, most were hesitant about rezoning the area without a written guarantee that the proposed townhouses would be built. Although Pascouau said that the development would be completed as proposed, he added that a written guarantee "is not how business is done."

Greenstein suggested a lawsuit be filed, and a consent agreement be reached between the township and developer -- a short procedural move because it is unlawful to conditionally rezone.

A spokesman for the developers, Henry Pascouau, Jr. of Bloomfield Hills outlined the proposed construction, saying, "We are quality conscious. The location is prime -- there is a need for quality. We will use private capital for the project, and can start now with your approval."

Schools borrow $11.7 million

National Bank of Detroit was awarded the Plymouth-Canton school district's $11.7 million tax anticipation note by the school board Monday night.

Borrowed at 5.67 per cent interest, the tax note is necessary because the school district won't receive taxes until January, say school officials.

Four bids were received, with NBD's bid as the lowest. NBD has been awarded the district's tax note for the last 10 years, according to Supt. John M. Hoben.

It's 'West We Go' for local girl scouts

Seven Plymouth-Canton area Girl Scouts will attend scouting programs in Wyoming, Colorado and Texas.

Shenary Adams, Ellen Seery and Juli Ann Silber will attend "Ho! West We Go!" at Girl Scout National Center West near Ten Sleep West, Wyo. The national event, for girls 13 to 18, features backpacking, photography, horseback riding and archaeology.

Adams, who recently completed eighth grade at West Middle School where she is secretary of the school Advisory Council, is a member of Cadette Troop 626 in Plymouth. She will attend from June 20 to July 4.

Seery, of Cadette Troop 348 in Canton, will participate from July 6 to 20. She has completed seventh grade at Pioneer School where she plays soccer and is a member of the yearbook staff.

Silber will attend the event Aug. 7 to 21. She has completed eighth grade at Pioneer School, where she is on the swim team, Drama Club, band and orchestra. She is also a member of Cadette Troop 626 in Plymouth.

Kelly Tucker and Lisa Kiel, both juniors at Salem High, will participate in "Hi-A-Wak-A!" at Rocky Mountain National Park. The event is sponsored by the Mountain Prairie Girl Scout Council of Greeley, Colo.

Scouts aged 15 to 18 will backpack along hiking trails in the park.

Kiel is a member of the Ski Club, a Red Cross lifesaver and on the honor roll. Tucker is a member of the varsity volleyball team and is also on the honor roll.

Both will attend the event from June 17 to July 7.

Karen Mosti and Vicki Monk will go to San Antonio from July 29 to Aug. 13 to attend

"Why Texans Stand So Tall," sponsored by the San Antonio Area Council.

Mosti, of Senior Troop 501 in Plymouth, is a junior at Salem High and on the National honor roll. She is also a member of the Canton Dance Program.

Monk, a freshman at Pioneer School, is a member of Cadette Troop 346. She is on the school band and orchestra and attends religion classes.

Twp. deputies called 123 times

Wayne County sheriffs responded to a total of 123 crimes and offenses in Plymouth Township during May, according to a report submitted by Senior Detective Sue Murray to trustees.

Wayne County deputies started patrolling in Plymouth Township during the first week in May after a contract for police services was signed.

In her first monthly report to trustees, Murray also said 16 casualties and injuries were reported, 52 traffic accidents, 350 traffic citations, and 247 general police services were rendered.

Achievers honored

Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan has announced that two area Junior Achievers have been named "tops" in their respective areas.

They are: Rosemary McGettigan for President of the Year, and also for Outstanding Businesswoman of the Year; and Pualine Doohan for Secretary of the Year. Both winners are from Plymouth, and will represent the Southeastern Michigan Junior Achievers at the National Junior Achievers Conference in Bloomington, Ind. in August.

Elks ripped in a pair of weekend doubleheaders

The Salem Elks of the Connie Mack Summer League played against non-league opponent Ypsilanti Sunday and were defeated in the baseball doubleheader 8-3 and 10-6.

In the first game, Salem had four hits compared to Ypsilanti's nine, as starting pitcher Joe Humphries took the defeat. He hurled six innings and received relief from John Penders.

Salem scored single runs in the first, fifth and sixth innings. In the first, Mitch Wilcox singled and Greg Etienne doubled him home, while in the fifth inning, John Hetkowski singled, stole second base, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored on an error.

In the sixth inning, Brian Lewandowski walked, stole second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kevin Merrill.

Etienne paced the Elks offense with two doubles and one RBI.

In the second game, Ypsilanti scored three runs in the first inning, one in the second and six in the sixth, while the Elks tallied three in the second, two in the third and one in the sixth.

"They beat us with that rally in the sixth inning," said Elks coach Ben Wilcox. "Bill Culver, our starting pitcher, was tired so we went with John (Penders) and Ypsilanti unloaded on him." Ypsilanti batted around the line-up and had six hits including two home runs.

The Elks first three runs came in the second inning when Dave Slavin was hit by a pitch, Lewandowski singled and Penders walked. Hsigo Peng then walked with one runner scoring and Hetkowski hit a grounder to second base that got through on an error scoring the other two Elk runners.

In the third inning, Etienne singled, Slavin singled, Lewandowski doubled scoring one run and Jim Jimmerson hit a sacrifice fly scoring the other.

Hetkowski doubled home Humphries in the sixth inning for the Elks final run.

In the second game, Etienne had two hits, while Lewandowski paced the attack with three hits.

"This game was set up by Coach Brian Gilles some time ago and even though they are in a different program we figure the more work we get the better off we'll be," said Wilcox. "We felt we got a good workout on Sunday."

The day before, the Elks also had a two game set with Southfield in a Connie Mack League doubleheader. Southfield won the first game, 5-2, and the Elks won the second, 13-4.

In the first contest, the Elks scored two runs on seven hits and had one error. Southfield tallied seven hits also and had two errors.

Penders took the pitching loss. He pitched six and two-thirds innings and received relief from Jimmerson in the final frame.

The Elks scored their two runs in the second inning when Lewandowski was safe on a fielder's choice, Peng was safe on an error, Merrill singled home one run and Hetkowski singled in the other.

Southfield scored one in the third inning, two in the fourth and two in the sixth.

"The difference in that game was the innings we left people on base. In the third inning we stranded three runs runners, in the fourth two runners, in the fifth two runners and in the seventh one runner," said Wilcox. "That's the tale right there."

"We were hitting in that first game but everything we hit was at somebody. In the second game we hit to the gaps more effectively," continued the coach.

In that 13-4 victory, the Elks tallied 13 hits and held Southfield to four.

Ken McDonald pitched all seven innings for the Elks, struck out three and walked four for the win.

Salem scored five runs in the first inning, four in the fourth, two in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Merrill had three hits in three trips to the plate to pace the attack, while Etienne, Wilcox and Lewandowski each had two hits. Jim Anderson clubbed a three-run homer in the fourth inning to aid the attack.

Earlier in the week, Jimmerson pitched a one-hitter against Lathrup as the Elks won that game, 10-0. Jimmerson hurled the entire game, walked three and struck out seven.

Etienne had three hits, while Slavin and Anderson added two hits apiece.

The Elks play Redford Union tomorrow at Capital Park in Redford. Game time is 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, the team will battle Canton's Little Caesars in a doubleheader at the Salem diamond. Game time is 10:30 a.m.

Football sign-up

Plymouth-Canton Junior Football Association will be accepting applications for the 1980 football season (boys ages 9-13) on June 28, Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, 574 S. Sheldon Road, Plymouth.

Registration cost is $30 per player with a $10 Raffle Refund offer. Bring a birth certificate. If you are not able to attend registration, call Mrs. Brand, 459-6347; Mrs. Pilot, 459-0344; Mrs. Timmerman, 455-8306 to make arrangements to register at a convenient time. Boys age 12-13 are needed.

Pair lead league

Dan Riggs and Gary Rehberg scored only two points out of a possible five from Bill Lindley and Bruce Watt but were still able to stay in first place in the Canton Fox Hills Men's Golf League after seven weeks of action.

With just one week left in the first eight-week league, the pair hold a two-point margin over Art Lawrence and Jim Monro, who swept five points from Dave Shirk and Chip Glover.

Paul Oberhelm turned in the best round of the week as he carded a 37, while Larry Salde and Bruce Martin both turned in 39s.

All-star tourney matches local junior teams

All-star teams from the National and American Divisions of A League and B League of the Plymouth Canton Junior Baseball League held a tournament last weekend and the National teams captured three out of four games.

In game one, Division I of A League, the Nationals won 14-2 behind the strong pitching of Paul Makara. Even though he hurled just three frames Makara kept the American team hitless and struck out seven batters.

Joey Andrus hit a two-run homer and Tim Halmekangas hit a solo home run to pace the Nationals 14-hit attack. The American team went hitless until the sixth inning and put together its two runs on five hits.

Members of the winning National team included Tom Kenyon, Rick Stone, Curtis White, Chris Hayosh, Andrus, Kevin LePlante, Louis Evans, Mark DeVergilio, Makara, Dave Victorine, Marty Tungate, Greg Penfield, Bob Hopper, Halmekangas, Steve Kovich, Dan Nash, Kenneth Stoll and Andrew Flowers. Ed Abbott managed the team.

The American team included Tom Mundinger, Gerald Cannod, Mike Tanner, Chris LaBond, Ken Joswiak, Scott Steiner, Brad Swain, Walter Bartels, Scott Bozyik, Alan Matthews, Dennis Robak, Louis Stockwell, Alan Brown, Bryan Drewry, Robert Swykert, Tim Birely, Jeff Lyle and Jeff Brand. Ed Bozyk managed the squad.

In game two, it was members of Division II of the A League and again the Nationals were victorious. The final was 7-6.

Jeff Rummel was the winning pitcher. The Nationals gained seven runs on 12 hits including a solo home run by Duane Bennett.

Paul Swartzinski added three hits for the Nationals, while Dan Young and Jamie Brusa had two hits each.

The American squad was hitless through the first three inning then they scored five runs in four runs in the fifth with Kris Solak hitting a three-run homer. They added one run in the sixth inning and one in the ninth for six runs on six hits.

In the first game of the B League all-star doubleheader, the West Division of the national League beat the East Division of the American League 14-6.

The West Division of the American League came back in the second game to beat the East Division of the National League 10-4.

Salem Mantle team wins

Salem's Mickey Mantle squad of the Northwest Suburban Mickey Mantle League completed its second week of action last weekend with two victories over Catholic Central, 2-0 and 7-0.

Although the two teams played two games, only the first was considered a league match, while the second was a scrimmage, according to Salem coach Joe Carlson.

Joey Humphries and Bill Culvert combined on the mound for Salem in the first game to pitch a two hitter. Salem had eight hits.

Tom Yakas knocked in both Salem-runs in the fourth inning with a single. John Blanchard and Frank Mead had reached base with a single and double, respectively. Yakas was the only batter with two hits for the squad.

Ken Vermeulen and Blanchard combined in the scrimmage game to take the pitching victory. Culvert had three hits to power Salem's offense.

The team's record is now 5-3 overall and 3-3 in the Mantle League.

Earlier, Salem defeated Windsor Athletic, 4-2, behind the two-hit pitching of Culvert. He went the distance in that game, struck out four and walked two batters.

Salem scored one run in the first inning and three more in the bottom of the sixth to take the win. Windsor tallied two in the fourth.

Mickey Madsen, Pete Steyaert and Blanchard each had two hits to pace Salem's effort that day. Steyaert also had two RBIs.

Deetz ends tie in Senior's league

A six-way tie in the Canton Senior Golf League was broken last week as Ralph Deetz took over first place all by himself by picking up five points and shooting the best round of the week at 45.

Bill Begg came in with a 49 for second place, while Louie Seromik was also tied for second with 12 points.

A cool deal and a sound investment!

Install a selected Whirlpool central air conditioner before summer and we'll add a Magnavox stereo system for just $20 more.

Air conditioning costs can account for a large portion of your electric bill during the summer season, so it makes good sense to replace your old, inefficient air conditioner with a new Whirlpool central air conditioner or heat pump before the summer heat's on. And to emphasize what a sound investment a Whirlpool central air conditioner is for your home this summer we'll throw in a Magnavox Component Stereo System† for just $20* more, if you install your new Whirlpool air conditioner before July 25, 1980. That's a cool deal if there ever was one!

Basically by Ken Voyles

It may be a little bit early in the summer for this but now is as good a time as any to release the general information on tickets, game times, passes and other information dealing with varsity sporting events starting early in September at both Salem and Canton high schools.

A general information sheet made available from the office of John Sandmann, athletic director for the two schools at CEP, containing information on starting times, tickets and passes, prices and telephone numbers.

It runs like this -- starting times are 7:30 p.m. for varsity football games and 4 p.m. for junior varsity games; 4 p.m. for both boys and girls tennis (girls in the fall); 3 p.m. for both boys and girls golf (boys in the fall); 7 p.m. for both boys and girls swimming (girls in the fall); 6 p.m. for girls junior varsity basketball and 7:30 p.m. for varsity; 6:15 p.m. for boys junior varsity basketball and 7:45 p.m. for varsity.

Baseball will start at 4 p.m. on weekdays and 3 p.m., doubleheaders and noon for Saturday games. The softball teams also run on the same time schedule.

Boys and girls track start at 3:30 p.m. with field events and 4 p.m. for running event, while volleyball gets under way at 7 p.m. as does gymnastics. Finally, wrestling starts at 6:30 p.m.

Student tickets for football and basketball are sold in the building the day of the contest and student and adult tickets can be purchased at the Plymouth Trading Post for all home football and basketball events.

Both football and basketball games will be $2, while students can obtain a yearly pass which entitles the bearer entry to all home athletic events. The price is $10.

Varsity Club members can purchase the same type of yearly pass for $5.

All passes will be sold in the athletic office at Canton and Salem high schools. Passes will become available on or after Aug. 25.

Other ticket information for separate sports runs as follows: for football single game prices are 50 cents for elementary students, $1 for middle or high schoolers and $2 for adults. Adult season pass is $6.

Elementary students can also get in single basketball games for 50 cents each, while the middle and high school students still pay $1 and adults $2. Adult season pass for basketball is $11.

For the rest of the varsity sports the ticket prices for individual games is the same, $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

A season pass for wrestling is $3, for girls basketball $7, for volleyball $4, for gymnastics $3.50, and for boys and girls swimming $5.

Tournaments and invitationals are not affected by the above prices. They will be priced on an individual basis and passes are not honored at the special events.

For further information, the phone number is 453-3100, extensions 302 and 287. The Salem coaches office is ext. 247, while the Canton coaches office is ext. 323.

After reading over the above information its easy to see why athletic sporting events have their worth. The prices are fair for the strong level of competition that transpires at most events and for the parents its a good time to support their son's and daughter's high school, be it no more than sitting in the stands and giving vocal support to the teams.

The school year just ended and here we are looking ahead to that time again.

Auto racing provides new twist in a busy life

BY KEN VOYLES

Variety is the spice of life and, in auto racing, it's a fact of life. The sport features both the professional and the amateur racer, a wide variety of courses, and a wide variety of racing vehicles.

Most people are only familiar with a few styles of racing such as stock cars or Indy racers and yet amateur racing comes in many colors and gives the average person a chance to participate in a sport that lives up to its dangerous reputation.

Auto cross racing or solo racing is just one type of amateur racing and yet again it is probably the most unique. In auto crossing, cars run on closed course one at a time against an electronic clock. Victory comes with the fastest time in a particular class.

For local Plymouth merchant Don Kobeck auto crossing has become his sport since he tried it back in 1975. Kobeck is a member of the SCCA (sports Car Club of America) which sponsors races from April to October every year.

There are 14 different classes in auto crossing with the difference coming in engine size and whether or not the car is a stock car or a prepared race car. Stock cars are every-day vehicles which have met a few specifications for the racing, while prepared cars are more or less racers.

"I started what we call auto crossing after I became a member of the SCCA where my interest was first generated. I ran a couple events with an MG Midget and became addicted to the sport," said Kobeck.

Since then Kobeck has won his racing class just once in 1978 and has failed to reach the national competition although he has competed in divisional competition each year.

In the Detroit area, there are 10 racing clubs with affiliation to the Detroit Council Sports Car Clubs Championship Events which in turn is regional representative of the SCCA. Each club sponsors one event every other weekend until the divisionals start in late August.

According to Kobeck, roughly 70 to 100 drivers participate in each event as they vie for the best times in each class.

The courses vary with each racing weekend and can be from a 45-second course to a one minute and a half course.

"The longer the course the greater the challenge," said Kobeck. "We get to run a course four times during the event so that by the time you get to your last run you know the course well enough, hopefully, to be competitive."

And competitive it is. For example at the club's Memorial Day Classic, Kobeck clocked 44.345 seconds for third place in his class and yet the winner timed only 44.269.

"You can lose by a hundredth of a second and the difference in times between each fastest growing forms in the country. It's inexpensive and yet it gives drivers a chance to test their skills on various courses" Kobeck said. "Last year there were almost 400 cars at the national event."

To reach the nationals, a driver must qualify with a strong showing at the divisional races. Columbus, Ohio will be the scene of this year's divisional competition.

Getting involved in the sport is easier than it would seem. The best thing to do, according to Kobeck, is to bring your car out to an event and if it passes a routine technical check then you can race.

The check is to see that the mechanical end of the vehicle is in good shape. The club checks tires, brakes, steering and other areas of possible breakdown while racing.

For the driver, all that is needed is a helmet and seat belts. "We also have a drivers' school at the beginning of each season and we encourage anyone to come out and give it a try."

"The sport teaches a person what you know your car can or cannot do. It's high speed driving that stresses skill," continued Kobeck.

Kobeck uses his Colt as a regular family car and he and his son, Don junior, do all work on the vehicle.

Kobeck is a man of many things. Not only does he race and run a business but he and his wife Barbara also edit the year round SCCA magazine for this area, "Open Exhaust."

The magazine puts out 12 issues and has a circulation of 585. The Kobecks took over the editing position at the beginning of this year because "we figured we would do it as well as the other guy."

The husband-and-wife team collect articles for the magazine as well as write, edit and layout each issue. "Sometimes we put the magazine together at the store," said Barbara Kobeck. Son Don helps in the art department.

Between the store, the racing and the editing job, the Kobecks are a busy family.

"We will continue to be editors of the magazine for two years, then someone else will take over," said Kobeck.

He would like to get more involved in sports rallies such as Michigan's Press On Regardless. That style of racing involves real cross-country driving down old logging roads and other man-made courses.

"That would be some kind of challenge. I have been thinking about trying it for next year but who knows? I like solo driving, it gives a person a chance to see what he or she can do without endangering any others or yourself really."

"We have had more bruised egos and bruised cars than any real accidents," Kobeck said.

The next major event for this area will be Aug. 17 when more than 200 drivers from across the country will turn out at the GM Proving Grounds for a weekend of racing. The club's hotline number is 288-0926 or 644-5788.

class is also very close. My car, a 1980 Dodge Colt, can run the course almost as quickly as some of the prepared racers," Kobeck said.

The fastest run of that Memorial Day was in Class AMR at 37.923 seconds in a racing-prepared Corvette.

Each course is marked out in rubber pylons and can be no wider than 10 feet. The cars usually travel at speeds of 45 miles an hour and, as Kobeck says, there is more skill involved than speed.

"Our class is always very competitive. We use a regular economy box because it gets much more expensive with the prepared cars," said Kobeck. "My car can still compete with a Corvette on a lot of the course we run."

The club tracks include, the GM Proving Grounds, Washtenaw Community College, Ford World Headquarters, Willow Run Airport and Macomb Community College.

This weekend the cars will take over Macomb Community College for the club's next event.

Our type of racing is considered one of the

Schattenhelm

John William Schattenhelm, 84, of Ypsilanti Township, died June 18 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Funeral services were held June 21 at Schrader Funeral Home with The Rev. Geary F. Bird officiating. Burial was at Grand Lawn Cemetery.

He is survived by sisters-in-law Marie Schettenhelm of Milan and Frances Schettenhelm of Dearborn Heights; nieces, Ernestine Lunsford of Ypsilanti, Virginia Swieczkowski of Dearborn Heights, Betty Judge of Plymouth, Agnes Dikeman of Ann Arbor and Ruth Schettenhelm of Dearborn Heights; nephews, Myron Schattenhelm of Milan, Fred Schettenhelm of Milan and William Schettenhelm of Saline.

Memorial contributions can be sent to the heart fund.

Butzky

Betty June Butzky, 54, of Canton, died June 18 at Beyer Hospital. Funeral services were held June 21 at Lola Park Evangelical Church with The Rev. Edward Zell officiating. Arrangements were by the Casterline Funeral Home. Burial was at Glen Eden Cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, Wilford; sons, Karl of Garden City, William of Belleville, David of Ann Arbor and Eric of Canton; sister, Dorothy Sweder of Westland; brothers, Charles Buttermore of Northville, Francis Buttermore of Redford Township, Alvin Buttermore of Canton, Ralph Buttermore of Plymouth and Victor Buttermore of Lakeland, Fla.; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Butzky was a member of the Lola Park Evangelical church in Redford.

Coonan, U.S. customs officer

Leo F. Coonan, 82, of Plymouth, died June 18 at St. Mary Hospital. Funeral services were held June 21 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church with The Rev. Francis C. Byrne officiating. Arrangements were by Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; daughters Catherine, Margaret Churchman of Plymouth, Eileen Faunce of Canton, Mary O'Sullivan of Warren, Alice Fedewa of Plymouth; 20 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Coonan was a U.S. Customs officer for more than 35 years and a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, where memorial contributions can be left at Mass offerings.

Volunteers raise more than $8,000 for Cancer

About 796 Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township volunteers canvassed their neighborhoods in April during the American Cancer Society's residential crusade.

Mrs. John Pattain, community chairperson, coordinated the Plymouth drive which raised $1,624. The 1980 goal for Plymouth is $2,200.

Dorothy Wright, community chairperson, coordinated the Plymouth Township drive which raised $3,156. The 1980 goal for Plymouth Township is $3,700.

Lyla Whipple, community chairperson, coordinated the Canton drive which raised $3,409. The 1980 goal for Canton is $4,000.

Society funds are used to support community education and patient service programs as well as research. Currently ACS has over $1 million invested in cancer research projects and Wayne State University, Michigan State University and University of Michigan.

Cantonites aid in weight loss

Sharon Edwards, Petrel Jill Orwin and David Scott of Canton were among 22 Michigan Bell staffers to help a friend lose 30 pounds and help two health agencies carry out their work.

They pledged a donation to the two agencies upon the stipulation that co-worker Fredricka Birch would take off the weight. The weight loss was a gain for the American Diabetes Association and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive-United Way Agency.

Taylor talks about TAG

A staff development workshop for the Plymouth-Canton School District is being held this week at Canton High.

Led by Roger Taylor of Educational Consultant Associates, an independent consultant, the workshop will feature topics such as identification techniques, creative problem solving, interdisciplinary curriculum units and moral decision making.

Fifth-four teachers from the school system will attend the workshop, primarily held to work on strategies for gifted and talented students. One of the objectives of the program is to formulate a three-year plan for gifted and talented children in the schools.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND PLANNING COMMISSION JOINT MEETING, JUNE 10, 1980

All members of the Township Board of Trustees; six of the nine members of the Planning Commission and staff members of the Wayne County Economic Development Commission were present.

The staff members of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation explained the role of the W.C.E.D.C. in security funding for projects in the Township and the role of the local bodies in approving the proposed projects. Questions raised by the members of the Township Board of Trustees and the Planning Commission were answered.

APPROVED,
Thomas Notbaert, Supervisor

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,
Esther Hulsing, Clerk

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS CITY OF PLYMOUTH

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Tuesday, July 1, 1980 at 7:30 p.m., a public hearing will be held to consider the following:

Appeal Case No. 80-8 Mrs. Pearl Katkowsky, of 26620 Farmbrook Villa, Southfield, MI, requests permission to operate a flea market at 873 N. Mill Street, adjacent to the pet supply store, located in a B-2 General Business District, which is in conflict with Chapter 52, Zoning, Article IX, B-2 Central Business District, Section 5.142 (12)(b) & (c) and Article X, B-3 General Business District, Section 5.149, Para. (13).

Section 5.142 (12)(b) & (c) state: "(b) All business, servicing, or processing except for off-street parking or loading, shall be conducted within completely enclosed buildings. (c) Outdoor storage of commodities shall be expressly prohibited."

Section 5.149, (13) states: "Storage of materials or goods to be sold at retail provided such storage is within a building or is enclosed as not to be visible to the public from any abutting non-industrial district or public street."

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of said hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals, prior to rendering its decision.

Gordon G. Limburg
City Clerk
