Fireworks, parade, footrace to highlight July 4

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth will once again provide the incentive to "Stand Up For America" Friday, with a full schedule of Plymouth-Jaycee sponsored events. They include fireworks at night, a mini-marathon, a parade down Main Street, and a bike-decorating contest.

Kicking off the celebration will be a 10,000 meter (6.2 mile) mini-marathon from Northville Downs to Kellogg Park in Plymouth, beginning at 9 a.m.

Runners will compete for first-place trophies in four categories: male and female overall; youths age 15 and under; and senior, for ages 45 and up.

Water for the contestants will be provided every mile and one half, and split times will be announced for each runner at the halfway point. There will be a car at the end of the pack to assist runners who fall out of the competition.

Registration for the run is at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce or First National Bank of Plymouth, and costs $5 in advance, or $7 the day of the race, payable at Northville Downs at 8:30 a.m. Patches will be given to the first 300 applicants.

A bike decorating contest sponsored by the Jayettes is next on the agenda, beginning at noon in the Kroger parking lot. Judging will begin at 12:30 p.m. for the contest, for kids age 15 and under.

Second City mini-mall struck by unknown arsonist

BY CHAS CHILD

Another mini-mall in downtown Plymouth was struck by an arsonist, police believe.

The Mayflower Beauty Salon in Forest Place Mall suffered about $8,000 damage when someone spread and ignited a flammable chemical in the shop last Tuesday around 9:15, police said.

CAROL DAVIS, above, was unanimously chosen president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at its annual organizational meeting last night. She succeeds Tom Yack. The board also chose Steve Harper vice-president, Elaine Kirchgatter secretary, and Glean Schroeder treasurer.

"It was an arson," said Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall, "no question about it."

In mid-February, gasoline was spread in a number of spots in the Penniman Avenue Shops mini-mall, and the resulting spectacular midnight fire destroyed the 11 shops.

Despite the similarity, the two fires apparently aren't connected, said Hall. "According to the way it was set, I would say 'no' there's no connection," he said. "In this fire, the accelerant was spread in just one shop, as if they didn't want to burn the whole mall down. In the Penniman shops fire, the accelerant was spread in a number of places."

Two alert teenage brothers, Paul and Joe Garon spotted the fire and the Plymouth Fire Department extinguished it before it had a chance to spread to other shops in the mall, said Hall.

The Garons were riding their bicycles in the area when they saw the flames.

It had been burning about 10 minutes before the Garons notified the police, he added. If they hadn't noticed the fire, "the next person to call probably would have reported the whole mall was on fire," said the fire chief.

Pat Hahn, owner of the beauty salon, said her Mayflower customers will be transferred to her other beauty shop in town, the House of Glamour.

Whoever set the fire apparently broke into the salon, said Det. Ralph White, of the Plymouth Police Department. "The firemen who arrived on the scene said the door looked forced open," he said.

"We are investigating and we do have some leads," said White.

Thief escapes with $1,600

A robber escaped with $1,600 in cash from an apartment in Plymouth last week after knocking a surprised tenant to the ground with his fist, police report.

Brian G. Kelly, of 644 Adams, told police he entered his residence around midnight Friday and noticed that the ceiling light didn't work.

Walking up his stairs he was struck across his face and knocked down, police report. The suspect, described as a white male, 6'0", with dark curly hair, wearing a dark t-shirt, fled past Kelly heading northbound on Adams Street, said police.

Sixteen-hundred dollars in cash was missing and the apartment was ransacked, said police. Entry was gained by prying the lock on the front door and the stairway light was unscrewed, police said.

Soda on sale

The Plymouth Jaycettes will feature an unusual refreshment at their annual concession booth at the Fourth of July parade—Dossin's Soda.

The soda will be available only in Plymouth and can be delivered on a weekly basis. Dossin's is planning to use 8 to 10 horse-drawn delivery wagons in the community. A retail outlet will also soon be available.

Daughter kills mother

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

"It is a tragic case," said Detective Larry Patterson, of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, about the murder of a Plymouth Township woman Friday morning.

Dead is Jane McCarthy, 50, 42260 Clemons, Plymouth Township. She was stabbed through the heart by her daughter, Kathleen, 29, who lived at home, and "has a history of mental illness," according to Patterson. The murder occurred at 7:20 a.m. Friday while her mother was sleeping in bed, said Patterson.

According to Patterson, about two weeks ago, Kathleen asked to return to Northville State Home. Her mother, "out of love for her daughter, told her that she would help her through the difficult times," said Patterson.

Thursday night, Kathleen told police that she heard voices "telling her that her mother was in danger and that she could help her by killing her," Patterson reported.

"Kathleen went into her parents' bedroom several times, but couldn't do it," said Patterson.

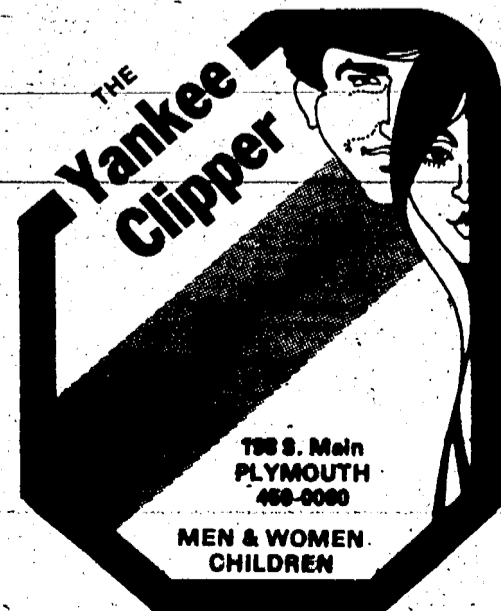

Then, about 7:20 a.m., she put a knife through her mother's heart, he said. Afterwards, she woke up her father, who was sleeping in the same bed, and told him to get the police and an ambulance, said Patterson.

On Saturday morning, Kathleen McCarthy was charged with second degree murder during her arraignment in Wayne County's out-county weekend district court before Judge Michael Russell.

A hearing was scheduled for Monday, July 7 in 35th District Court. Meanwhile she's being held without bond at the Wayne County Jail, M Building Annex, said Patterson.

Funeral services for Jane McCarthy were held Monday at 10 a.m. at St. Kenneth's Catholic Church on Haggerty Road. Arrangements were made by the Larry Griffin Funeral Home in Westland.

Mrs. McCarthy is survived by her husband, James A.; son, James Joseph; daughters, Margaret, Kathleen; and, brother Anthony Maksym.

Farmers Market to open in Canton July 19

BY DAN BODENE

A new site has been arranged for the Canton Farmers Market and tentative plans call for a July 19 opening at the New Towne Plaza parking lot with at least 10 local growers represented.

It was originally planned for the Canton Township Hall parking lot. However members of the Farmland Preservation Committee felt another location would better serve the fledgling project.

David Nicholson, Canton's assistant planner, negotiated for space in New Towne Plaza's parking lot with RAMCO-Gershensen Corp., owners of the property.

Diane Neihengen, a member of the farmland committee, which originated the market concept, listed several reasons for the New Towne location. "We chose the K-Mart lot because of the visibility, to bring more traffic into the plaza to help the existing shopowners, and because the section of parking lot we want for our location is never used."

She said the market would be set up in the parking lot between the K-Mart sign and Pearle Vision, Inc.

Nicholson added, "Since there isn't a grocery on the site or anything else to compete with the farm market, I contacted RAMCO and they agreed (the market) wouldn't hurt and probably would help plaza business."

Neihengen outlined the proposed market, saying, "We want to stress that this is not the kind of market where you will find everything -- it will just have produce grown by Canton residents. There will be absolutely no out-of-state goods."

She said growers participating in the market must be residents of Canton, their goods must have been produced in Canton, and they must assume liability for their products.

Farmers who are already committed to the project have decided on their own to build uniform appearing stalls, according to Neihengen. The stalls will be four feet by eight feet and 36 inches high, painted white, and will have a sign listing the grower's name and address.

Another possibility for the market being discussed by the farmland committee is the inclusion of arts and crafts stalls. Neihengen said no more than 25 per cent of market participants would be crafts sellers, and in addition to requirements for growers, the crafts persons will have to sign a lease with RAMCO and possess a sales tax license. She added that arts and crafts displayed would only be of types which would not compete with those of plaza shops.

Planning for a July 19 opening, the market will be open Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. or until farmers sell all their goods, during July, August and September.

Neihengen was optimistic for the project's success, and plans are already underway for next year's market. She said that area retail greenhouses would be contacted earlier in the spring, at their peak season.

"I think it's a farm service we're providing," she said. "Our long-range goal is for the township to arrange a permanent site so we can have a much larger-scale market."

A handshake

Quick-thinking earns $100 for Garon boys

BY CHAS CHILD

Sharp eyes and quick-thinking earned two Plymouth brothers $100 and perhaps saved the destruction of downtown Plymouth's Forest Place Mall.

Riding around on his bicycle, Paul Garon, 14, spotted what he thought were flames inside the Mayflower Beauty Salon, one of the mall's eight shops.

Investigating with his brother, Joe, 15, he detected smoke, saw some flames, and found the windows of the shop were hot. Quickly the pair sought help and found a Plymouth policecar at the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail.

The Plymouth fire department was called and the fire was extinguished within about 10 or 15 minutes, said Fire Chief Roy Hall.

The Garon brothers "saved the whole building," said Hall. "No way we could have stopped it" if it had been allowed to spread. If it had burned five to 10 more minutes, it would have spread to the roof and other shops, he said.

To show their appreciation, the Forest Place merchants rewarded the Garons with $50 apiece.

Joe and Paul live at 44455 Brookside, Plymouth Township, and will attend Canton High School next fall.

In addition, Nick Aron, owner of the Nawrot Pendleton Shop, one of the mall's stores, gave the mother of Joe and Paul a $50 gift certificate for "raising two fine boys," he said.

Lawyer arrested for mailing chemical bomb to eatery

BY CHAS CHILD

A Canton Township attorney was arrested Monday on charges of mailing a Mace-like chemical to a restaurant in Southfield.

Arrested was Michael J. Blake, who maintains a law office at 45160 Ford Rd., in Canton.

U.S. Postal officials discovered the powdered chemical when several postal clerks were afflicted with severe skin irritation, nausea, and other symptoms while sorting mail, according to a spokesman for the U.S. Postal Service.

The source of the chemical turned out to be a letter addressed to T.G.I. Friday restaurant in Southfield, said the postal official. Inside the letter, besides the toxic white powder, was a sheet of paper with an obscenity written on it, said the postal spokesman.

Fingerprints from both the envelope and the letter were lifted by the postal crime lab in Washington, D.C. And these matched Blake's fingerprints on file with the Michigan State Police, said postal officials. Blake had applied for a concealed-weapon permit, which requires fingerprints, said the postal spokesman.

Postal investigators said Blake had been ejected from T.G.I. Friday on May 4. While leaving the restaurant, Blake allegedly said, "You haven't heard the end of this. You're done," according to a postal spokesman.

If convicted of the crime, Blake faces a maximum penalty of 20 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

He was arrested at his Ford Road office Monday morning and released on a $10,000 personal bond.

The toxic white chemical, called orthochlorobenzylidene melononitrile, is a military version of Mace, used by police to subdue rioters, said the spokesman. The chemical is commonly called CS gas.

Annexation bids nixed

The Michigan State Boundary Commission rejected yesterday two petitions filed by the City of Plymouth to annex a portion and all of Plymouth Township. The action apparently marks the end of a six-year city effort to increase its size at the expense of the township.

The rejections were considered a formality since the City of Plymouth had earlier requested the commission to withdraw the petitions. Despite the request, the commission was required to act on the petitions anyway.

The two petitions and a third, rejected earlier by Ingham County Circuit Court, were filed in 1974.

The commission ruled in any case that one of the petitions, to annex the entire township, was wrongly filed because of an improper legal description. The other petition asked to annex the Hillside Inn restaurant and parking lot.

Twp. seeks new accountants

Plymouth Township trustees will interview accounting firms on Thursday, July 10 and Tuesday, July 15.

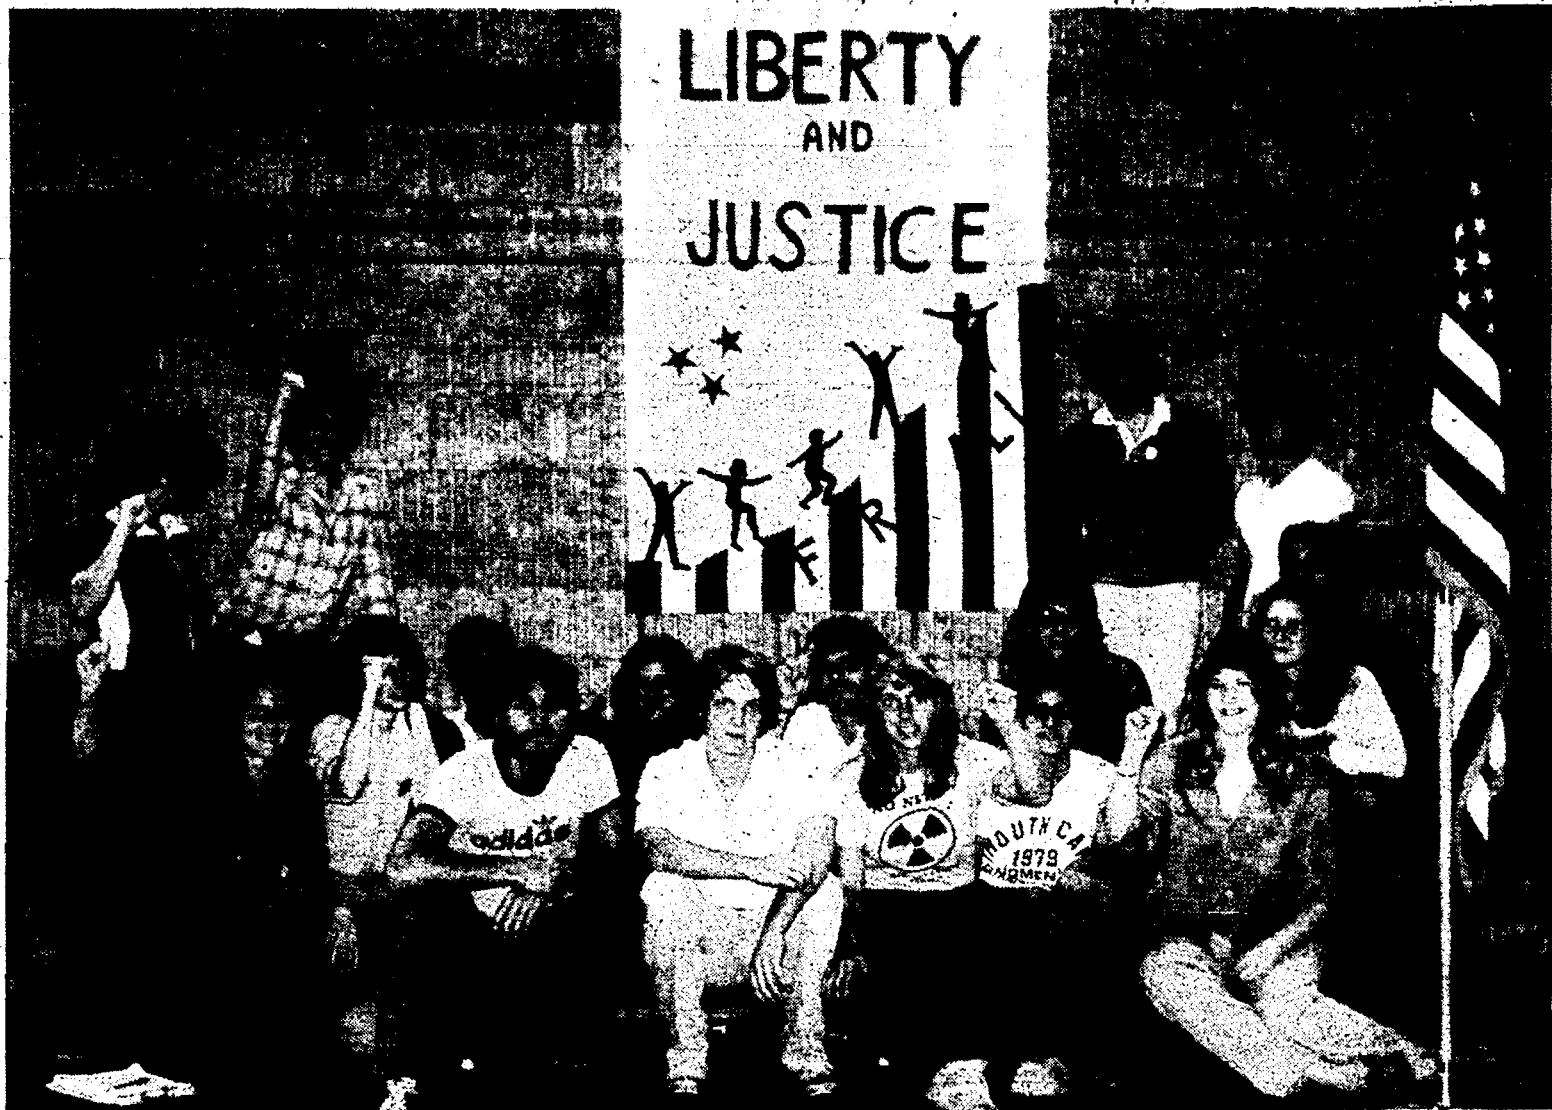

Bids from about seven accounting firms were received at township hall by Thursday's deadline. The firm which receives the bid will be in charge of auditing the township and overseeing the general accounting practices at township hall.

Currently the township is contracted with the firm of Post, Smythe, Lutz, and Ziel, CPA of Plymouth. Its contract expires after the township gives the firm 90-days notice, said Tom Notebaert, supervisor.

Parents find transportation for special kids

A variety of transportation programs are being used to take Plymouth-Canton special education students to area recreation classes this summer.

Dial-A-Ride, Nankin Transit, and parent car pools are being formed to provide transportation for about 60 special ed students who were affected by the transportation cut. Last week more than a dozen parents appealed to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education after the transportation program to various special ed programs was cut.

The busing program was dropped because the district has imposed budgetary cutbacks, which included the transportation program. Also, the programs were non-mandated by the government, said officials.

Canton students have been transported by Nankin Transit at a cost to parents of $1.20 per day, said Del Memering, the mother of a student at Harrison School in Livonia, one of the programs.

For special ed students from the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Dial-A-Ride can be used, she said, at a cost of $11 per week, she added. Other parents have formed a car pool, she said.

In addition to the program at Harrison School, other programs affected by the transportation cut included: the Livonia Skills Center, Vogel Center of Autistic Children, and McGrath School in Wayne-Westland.

Meanwhile, school officials contacted the parents of the approximately 60 students who were enrolled in the four programs. To continue the busing program, school transportation officials said it would cost $149.95 per week for each parent. That cost includes gas, oil, and maintenance bus costs and was figured out at the request of the school board.

"One parent is interested (in the program), but they can't afford it," said Edwin Page, director of special programs and student services. At least one program, Harrison's meets for six weeks, five-days-per-week.

Asked if there was a drop in enrollment in the programs due to the busing cutback, Page said, "I don't know."

"I haven't checked with the recreation officials and others who sponsor the programs," he said.

At least one of the programs involved, at Livonia's Harrison School, is sponsored by the Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, and Northville parks and recreation departments. Almost 30 Plymouth-Canton special ed students are enrolled in that program.

Canton nixes pay hike for attorneys

Last Tuesday night, Canton Township's Board of Trustees voted down a request by township attorneys for fee increases.

The firms of Cox and Hooth of Troy, and Bromberg, Robinson, Shaper, Cohn and Burgoyne of Southfield requested fee increases due to inflation and "a constant increase in the cost of doing business."

Gilbert Cox led the fee increase request for his firm, asking for an additional $10 per hour over his present fee of $60 per hour. Bert Burgoyne requested a new fee of $100 per hour, an increase of $25 per hour.

Township Supervisor Noel Culbert opposed the requests, saying, "I wouldn't consider any increases. It's very rare when Bert Burgoyne does the work (for the township)."

Trustee Robert Greenstein agreed, saying, "I don't think we should be supporting increases for professionals. We've already got serious financial trouble."

Betty Haman, a Canton trustee candidate, disagreed with Culbert and Greenstein. "I don't think (the fees) are excessive. Canton is a municipal client."

Treasurer James Donahue added, "I think the raises were justified for the most part, but maybe we should open up bidding (for attorney services)."

The fee increase proposal was not approved by the board.

IN-SINK-ERATOR GARBAGE DISPOSERS

There have to be good reasons why more In-Sink-Erator disposers are sold and installed every year than any other make. And there are: After all... I-S-E-invented 'em.

The grinding ring, for example, is the strongest made. It's the core of I-S-E disposers along with ISE-made electric motors.

Then I-S-E adds the extra things. A tough polypropylene shield protects against interior corrosion. Automatic reversing action extends the life of the grinding elements. And a Self-Service "Wrenchette" that saves you money. An instant-start capacitor motor lets you start our disposers when they're full.

In-Sink-Erators are also made so that they're quieter to operate... and, easier to install. Plus, there are factory authorized service in more than 1,000 cities if anything ever goes wrong.

So ask for In-Sink-Erator next time. To make your mess less... they make our disposers do more.

Canton mulls new buildings

Projects -- such as a community center or a third fire station -- to be funded under a federal Local Public Works (LPW) grants will soon be considered by Canton's Board of Trustees.

According to Terry Carroll, Canton's grant coordinator, LPW funding under federal Economic Development Administration (EDA) legislation is imminent. He stressed that short response time for submission to the EDA of projects to be funded necessitated a priority list of local works for consideration.

During last Tuesday's board meeting, Carroll submitted a projects list to the board for prioritization.

Essentially compiled from department head recommendations, the list included such items as the multi-use community center, a third fire station, improvements to the water distribution system and street paving.

Asked what types of projects would most likely be approved by the EDA, Carroll replied that buildings would, in his opinion, be high on federal priorities due to sagging housing and construction trades.

Trustee Robert Greenstein argued that such works are not labor-intensive, and a project such as agricultural ditch cleaning would employ more Canton laborers.

Supervisor Noel Culbert suggested combining some of the proposals. Carroll replied that a possible addition to the township administration building for expanded police facilities might be favorably considered if energy-saving measures were incorporated.

Greenstein agreed, adding that the ideal situation would be to completely run the building on solar and wind power sources. He also suggested presenting such a project to the EDA as a model site to increase funding potential.

The board then directed Carroll to formulate two separate lists -- one for structural projects and one for non-structural projects such as street paving or water distribution improvements. The new lists will be submitted to the board for prioritization.

Fidge witnesses shoot-out

"It was duty beyond the call of duty." That was the way Plymouth Township Trustee Lee Fidge summed up her reaction to a shoot-out she witnessed Thursday night.

Fidge had attended a regional meeting of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments in Northland and was returning to her car about 9 p.m. As she was standing beside her car, she heard "firecracker-like sounds and glanced over to see a couple lying on the ground across the street."

Seconds later, Fidge, too, hit the dirt. "I don't remember actually going down, but the next thing I remember is that I was face down on the ground." The action was centered about three cars across from Fidge's auto, where several persons were huddled, she said. Meanwhile, at least a half dozen police cars arrived, she reported and two suspects were shot.

Shaken, Fidge returned home. Walking into the house, she told her husband, Tom, "Would you believe I was in a shoot-out?"

"Well," he replied, wryly. "You said it was going to be rough at SEMCOG."

Fidge said that her back problems flared up again, probably as a result of hitting the pavement so quickly. On Monday afternoon, she said: "It only hurts when I breathe."

In Mayflower Village, Parklane Meadows Twp. homeowners battle over street closings

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

A recent decision by the Wayne County Road Commission may cause new skirmishes between residents of the Mayflower Village and Parklane Meadows subdivisions in Plymouth Township.

The road commission, which has jurisdiction over township roads and streets, decided Thursday to remove the barrier at the intersection of Mayflower and Joy roads and to control traffic through the subdivisions with 'no left turn' signs to be posted at various intersections throughout the subdivisions.

According to John Kinville, county highway engineer, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, which patrols throughout Plymouth Township, will be responsible for enforcing the restrictive signs for motorists. "There'll be heavy enforcement in the area."

Residents of the Mayflower Village subdivision are not happy with the road commission's decision. With these, "I'm sure the residents of Mayflower will be upset," said James Mayo, a spokesperson of the subdivision.

Mayflower Village residents had asked the road commission to close the Joy-Mayflower intersection by placing a barrier there about a year ago, said Mayo. About 95 per cent of the residents wanted it closed because drivers used Mayflower to cut through from Joy road to Ann Arbor road, he said. High school students were drag racing through the sub, posing a safety hazard to Isbister Elementary School students walking to-and-from school, he added.

Meanwhile, last fall, the Plymouth township Board of Trustees passed a resolution asking the Wayne County Road Commission to temporarily extend the closing of Mayflower Drive.

"The road closing (at Mayflower and Joy roads) was effective," said Mayo.

However, after it was closed, residents of the adjacent Parklane subdivision protested to the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees. They said traffic on Gregory Lane has been increased because a barrier was put up to close the Mayflower-Joy roads intersection. In a petition, signed by 81 local residents and presented to township trustees in June, the Parklane Meadows residents said, "This (closure) is a hazard to the residents' safety."

After Parklane Meadows residents complained, the road commission put up a temporary barricade late last fall at the intersection of Albert and Gregory to prevent an increase in traffic on Gregory Lane. Furthermore, Parklane Meadows residents complained that they didn't have easy access to their homes and often had to wait in traffic for at least 20 minutes to get home.

"We don't want to be hindered from going to and from our subdivision," said Thomas Breault, a spokesperson for the Parklane Meadows sub.

Furthermore, in their June petition, Parklane Meadows residents asked township trustees to withdraw their resolution, passed in May, asking the road commission to permanently extend the closing of Mayflower Drive. In addition, they asked that the "only additional signing to be added at Gregory and Joy to permit left turns for residents only."

The real culprit in this traffic problem is the intersection at Joy and Sheldon roads, said Breault. "We have to work with state representatives and road commission to get that intersection improved."

Meanwhile, last Tuesday night, Plymouth Township trustees OK'd writing a letter to the road commission saying, "regardless of any previous stances (by Plymouth Township), the road commission should come up with a solution to the problem."

"The road commission is the expert on traffic problems," said Supervisor Tom Notebaert. "Let them figure out the solution."

Court denies out-county suit

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The Wayne County Court of Appeals has rejected a suit filed by 39 out-county districts, including Plymouth and Canton townships and the City of Plymouth. The suit claimed that apportionment for the Wayne County Charter Commission was unfair and not based on the concept of "one-person, one-vote."

Filed originally in Wayne County Circuit Court, the suit was given to the Court of Appeals about two weeks ago.

According to Patrick McCauley, an attorney who's representing the out-county districts, the case will be appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court. He said he expects to file the case today (Wednesday, July 2) and will ask for "immediate consideration."

"I don't see how Wayne County citizens can approve a charter commission when they won't be equally represented," said McCauley.

Twenty-seven districts will be represented in the Wayne County Charter Commission with generally 12 commissioners representing the out-county districts and 15 commissioners representing the City of Detroit. The suit was filed against the Wayne County Apportionment Commission, which drew up the districts using the 1970 census figures.

The out-county districts seek either to postpone the charter commission election until after the 1980 census figures are released or to weigh each commissioner's vote so that it could equal more or less than one vote depending on the number of citizens the commissioner represented, said McCauley.

The Court of Appeals, with three judges sitting on it, said that the apportionment figures could be used for a decade. Their ruling agreed with a ruling by Attorney General Frank Kelley.

No hike for administrators Twp. employes get 8% pay raises

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth Township employes received an eight per cent raise, retroactive to April 1, from the Board of Trustees.

The pay raise, based on a recommendation from the township's compensation committee, was OK'd last Tuesday night by a 4-3 vote.

However, township administrators, including Supervisor Tom Notebaert, Clerk Esther Hulsing, and Treasurer Joseph West, were denied an increase by the board. Their pay hikes were sent back to the compensation commission for more review.

The compensation commission had recommended that administrators receive a 9.5 per cent raise which would have included any hikes in fringe benefit costs. The increase would have become effective Jan. 1, 1981.

The compensation commission and committee were formed in April to review the salaries of the non-union, non-represented township employes as well as the salaries of elected officials. When considering the salaries of township employes, the group meets as a committee. When considering the salaries of elected officials, the group meets as a commission. The same persons serve in both groups.

According to its guidelines, a raise for elected officials must be approved by at least five members of the seven-member board of trustees.

Hulsing made the motion to accept the committee's recommendation for township employes. It was supported by West.

Three trustees objected, Maurice Breen, Lee Fidge, and Gerald Law. "I don't like across-the-board raises," said Law. Fidge added: "The lower-paid employe is being shortchanged (by using percentage increases)."

Breen objected to percentage increases, saying, "Strict percentage increases create a great inequity for employes."

The motion was approved by Hulsing, Notebaert, West and Lynch with Breen, Fidge, and Law dissenting.

Earlier Breen had made a motion not to adopt the pay hikes for the employes as recommended by the compensation committee. It was defeated by a 4-3 vote in the same voting blocs.

The pay hike for administrators which was linked to their fringe benefits was referred back to the compensation commission for more review. "These phrases relating the pay hike to their fringe benefits make it subject to interpretation," said Breen.

The compensation commission's recommendation on the pay hike for elected officials read: "Salaries of the township's supervisor, clerk, and treasurer should be raised by 9.5 per cent less any appropriate reduction for fringe benefit costs, as prescribed by the Federal Council on Wage and Price Stability."

In effect, the recommendation meant that all increases -- both in salary and fringe benefits -- would add up to 9.5 per cent.

According to township attorney Donald Morgan, the compensation commission wasn't created to determine fringe benefits, only their salaries. The commission can't relate fringe benefits to the increase, said Morgan.

The trustees asked the commission to meet again in order to make another recommendation for elected officials which would not relate officials' fringe benefits to their pay increases. It was expected to be considered by the board at its next meeting July 8.

In addition, the compensation committee will now look at the equity and comprehensiveness of the salary administration and compensation systems, and the adequacy of fringe benefits for non-elected non-represented township employes, including life insurance, pensions, Blue Cross benefits, and longevity pay.

The chairperson of the group is G.J. Bologna and the secretary is Frank Millington.

Plaque ordered

A walnut plaque, with Plymouth Township's logo carved into it, will hang in township hall within the next month or two.

Plymouth township's Board of Trustees approved paying $435.51 to the Best Manufacturing Co. of Kansas City, Mo. for the plaque. It was ordered following last Tuesday night's board meeting and was expected to be delivered within five to six weeks.

Spain is famous for its fine Sherries. These fortified wines range from dry to sweet, providing us with a perfect appetizer, dessert wine, or "sipping wine."

However, if you're looking for fairly inexpensive Bordeaux type white and red wines that taste full bodied and mellow--look for Spanish wines.

Wines from the Rioja have been famous in Spain for two or three centuries and its wines were legally recognized as long ago as 1102 by King Sancho of Navarra. These wines, produced today, are being recognized as a delightful surprise by wine drinkers here in America.

Canton candidates should address real issues

Before candidates for office in Canton start raising smokescreens and flim-flams, I'd like to get the public discussion off on the right foot. Here is a list of issues, by all means incomplete, which the candidates for the Board of Trustees should at least glance off during the course of the campaign:

1) Growth and Land Use. Although the recently passed Master Land Use plan is a good map for the township's future development, growth is not a dead issue. The future of the farmland-preservation program is still up in the air. On paper the program looks good, but still, the township administration has not yet found a source of funds to pay for it. Without compensation for their restrictive zoning, the farmers and landowners in the western half of the township will not be treated fairly.

by Chas Child

2) Township manager. Canton needs a township manager. The township's government has become too big and complex to handle without a trained professional.

Some candidates for the board of trustees favor hiring a manager, and voters should take this into account on election day.

3) Police protection. For its population, Canton has an undersized police department. The force should receive extra funding.

4) Recreation. Hundreds of residents were shut out of the township's softball leagues this summer due to a lack of diamonds.

The board of trustees should move ahead with its plans to expand recreational programs.

5) Firearms for ordinance officers. The board last year permitted township ordinance officers, who enforce local laws not handled by the police (junked cars, weeds, fences, etc.), to carry pistols. The officers don't need guns. Armed ordinance officers needlessly expose Canton to huge lawsuits, should an accident or mistake occur.

6) Industrial development. The township sadly lacks industrial development to ease residents' tax burden. A vigorous program to lure industry to Canton should be pursued.

There are certainly other important issues that need to be reviewed in the upcoming campaign. But these should get the ball rolling.

Retired school employe thanks all for memories

I was sorry to have had to miss the retirement honors given at the Plymouth-Canton Community School Board office recently.

Police work fast

EDITOR:

I would like to commend the Plymouth Police and the County Sheriff for their fast work in locating my ten-speed bike which was stolen from my garage last Friday, June 20.

I am aware of the growing problem of items in the line of ten-speed bikes which are turning up missing right from under their owner's noses, but I believe that in the future with the help of the police departments in the area, the problem will be resolved.

JAMES NASTOFF

This was due to an accident that happened to me.

The past 23 years have been more than just a job to me, it has been a way of life. I feel that I have something that money can't buy. I am richer for the children that have touched my life, the parents who have shared their most precious possessions, the staff members who have been more than just co-workers but very good friends who have shown how much they care, and the administrators who have not just been "the boss," but good friends who have always been there when needed and have shared both the good times and the bad.

To these people, I want to say thank you for making my days with the Plymouth-Canton Community School District something to hold deep in my heart with love and affection. I am most appreciative.

NORA HORN

In addition

by Dan Bodene

After working with several Jaycee chairmen of Fourth of July committees, notably Mike Stankov and Harold Jacobs, I've really come to respect the amount of work they all put in to make the thing a success.

After all, the contests and parade and fireworks are for the whole community, and the Jaycees have given their all to make it the best ever. But I wonder if somehow we don't all take their work too much for granted.

In the course of writing the Fourth of July story, I heard all kinds of horror stories of missed commitments, unanswered inquiries and the lack of sponsorship money.

Bands are paid for appearing. As of press time, three appearing in the parade have no sponsors. Fireworks cost money. But for the grace of Massey-Cadillac, we wouldn't have them again this year. It is now two days before the parade, and Jaycees are still working overtime to find out just exactly who will be in it.

It's a delicate subject, but it really didn't sit too well with me to hear of all the trouble the Jaycees had just meeting parade expenses.

Kudos are in order for all those merchants and citizens who did help out. They, as well as the Jaycees themselves, deserve more thanks than can be expressed here.

Let's hope the same problems are not around to plague next year's parade planning. I know now that none of the Jaycees need those kind of headaches.

Bartold ya'

by Patricia Bartold

Give me another 50 or 40 -- or even 20 years -- and perhaps it will be me.

Last week I wrote a story about high school students who interviewed local senior citizens and then wrote about their experiences. The students have compiled their photographs and writing assignments into a book, "Hello In There." I've read the manuscript and, it's, well, touching, to say the least.

The students haven't glossed over the bitterness, the pain, the discomfort of growing old. They haven't dwelled on it either. Their portrayals strike close to home: We all know someone -- whether grandmother or uncle or friendly neighbor -- who lives in a nursing home.

My grandmother does, and I recall the pain and unrest that touched our family while the decision was being made. Those decisions are never easy. They tear at the conscience, pierce the heart. It seems all too easy to remember the way grandma was and try to push aside the reality of sickness, loneliness, and senility. I'd like to forget those conditions, simply shove them aside. But we can't and so the decisions are made. Now grandma lives in a nursing home near the town where she and grandpa raised my father and my aunt, and the place she called home.

It's hard to visit her these days. It's hard to carve out the time needed to drive there. It's hard to walk in the door and apologize for not coming more often. But those are only excuses and I know that.

Writing stories such as these -- about high school students who have tuned into older folks -- reminds me that I, too, am getting older; someday it will be my turn to wait for others to visit.

Mostly, they remind me that we're all vulnerable to age, sickness, or accidents beyond our control. This feeling of compassion and vulnerability binds us all together.

I must visit grandma soon, for me as well as for her.

EDITOR:

It of course goes without saying that we appreciate the fine story you did on our new publication.

We appreciate even more, the fact that the story on "Conquest" did not run the week before it did.

It is unusual for a local newspaper to write about other newspapers in the area, but yours is an unusual group of journalists.

Not only do you cover your area of circulation very well, but you do it with an unusual degree of 'class.'

We are grateful for your help, and want you to know that. Should this new publication survive the reality of today's uncertain economic conditions, you will have played a large part in such an accomplishment.

Thank you from both Carrie Young and myself.

Blue yonder still wild enough for Andy Smith

'A couple of days ago I hurt my back, and I don't want to get up there unless I'm in good shape.' — Andy Smith

ANDY SMITH of Canton sits in the pilot seat of his Weedhopper, waiting for good weather and a healed back before his maiden flight. The plane, wings temporarily removed for easier taxi maneuverability, was still being broken in prior to the first soaring. With the plane's range of over 100 miles and a cruising speed of 40 mph, Andy says the most fun is how you get there, not necessarily where you're going. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene)

BY DAN BODENE

Andy Smith of Canton will finally be able to fly the way he has always wanted to fly.

Since he was a boy growing up in Canton, the urge has been there, and he did take some flight instruction many years ago. He even built a homemade helicopter from a kit, but as he says, "After 10 hours I turned it over. I found that for every hour of flying time, I had to invest two hours of preventative maintenance. It just wasn't fun anymore."

For the last several years, Andy attended the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) airshow in Oshkosh, Wisc. The show features experimental aircraft from all over the country in designs ranging from kites to racing planes.

At the 1979 show, Andy spotted a design sold in kit form by Weedhopper of Utah, Inc. Several models of the plane were competing in the show and Andy stopped to investigate. It seemed just the type of aircraft he had been looking for and he ordered one on the spot.

"I was one of the first in Michigan to buy

'Weedhopper' almost ready for complete flying trim one," he adds.

The Weedhopper is classified by the Federal Aviation Administration as a hang glider because it has the capability of running launch and landing using the pilot's feet. Therefore, no license is needed to build or fly it. Andy stresses, however, that the aircraft is not just a converted hang glider.

Dual instruction in a normal plane is recommended before actually flying a Weedhopper. Several hours taxi time on the ground is also recommended, to acquaint the prospective pilot with handling characteristics of the aircraft.

Andy recently finished assembling his own plane and has spent a few hours powering around his father's yard across the street from Canton Tractor Sales, Inc. where he works. Due to a large backlog at the company in Ogden, Utah, orders take eight to 10 weeks for an airframe and another 60 days for an engine.

The plane itself is a tube-frame conventional design, with a tricycle landing gear and pilot area slung below the wing. Controls are handled by a pivoting stick arrangement on the right side of the pilot's seat, working flaps and rudder at the rear of the aircraft.

Designed by Weedhopper company founder and airplane designer John Chotia, the plane's engine is a low-rpm 25-horsepower powerplant built on-site in Utah. Weighing slightly more than 30 pounds, it uses a gas-oil mixture stored in a 3½-gallon tank next to the pilot giving the plane approximately three hours flight time per tankful.

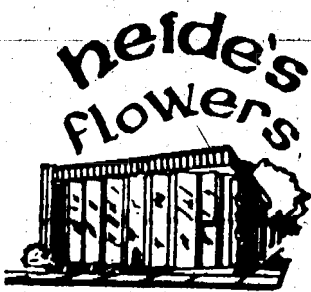

Construction of the plane from the kit is relatively easy, according to Andy. "It takes 40 to 60 hours, with no special tools," he says. "Inside the tube frame is wooden dowelling at frame stress points where tubes bolt together."

Andy has never flown the plane, although his maiden flight is planned for this week. "A couple of days ago I hurt my back, and I don't want to get up there," he says, pointing skyward, "unless I'm in good shape."

There are no hanger fees since the plane can be taken apart in a few minutes, no license fees since it is "foot launched," and no excessive maintenance costs since the plane is of open design and has a minimum number of parts.

And that's how Andy will finally be able to fly the way he has always wanted to fly.

Everyone gets excited about their own vacation, but have you ever found yourself waiting for the day when the boss goes away for a week or two?

It's not that you dislike the person you work for or have anything against him. Just think of the freedom of not having someone looking over your shoulder.

Some businesses run smoother when the boss is gone. Then there are offices where everything seems to go wrong when the boss is out of town.

There's a certain power of being in charge of a situation when you have to make a decision on something while the boss isn't there. However, making the right decision isn't always easy. What would he (or she) do if he were here? Knowing you don't always agree with him, you have to call it as you see it -- then face the consequences.

Since there's so much work to do, you can't take advantage of the situation and leave early or take a long lunch hour. Even if a miracle happened and you did get caught up on your work, you know he would call two seconds after you walked out the door.

One nice thing about making a mistake when the boss is gone is that you have a couple of days to come up with a good story about why the mistake was made. We all need time to come up with a good excuse every once in awhile.

I hope the boss enjoyed his vacation as much as everyone else did. By the time I finish explaining why I did what I did, I'll be ready for my own vacation.

"Antiquarians", a Plymouth Questers group held its first annual end of the year picnic last week. Old recipes were the theme of the picnic which was held at the home of Susan and Win Schrader.

Community Band launches Thursday evening concerts

Summertime band music returned to Kellogg in downtown Plymouth last Thursday. The Plymouth Community Band will now be playing every Thursday evening, starting at 8 p.m.

Next Thursday, July 10, a special event, a "Country Fair," will be held in conjunction with the concert. An exhibition of new cars, featured by Plymouth auto dealers, will be on display.

The concerts also feature another attraction this year: a refreshment booth sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

A FAMILY relaxes with the music.

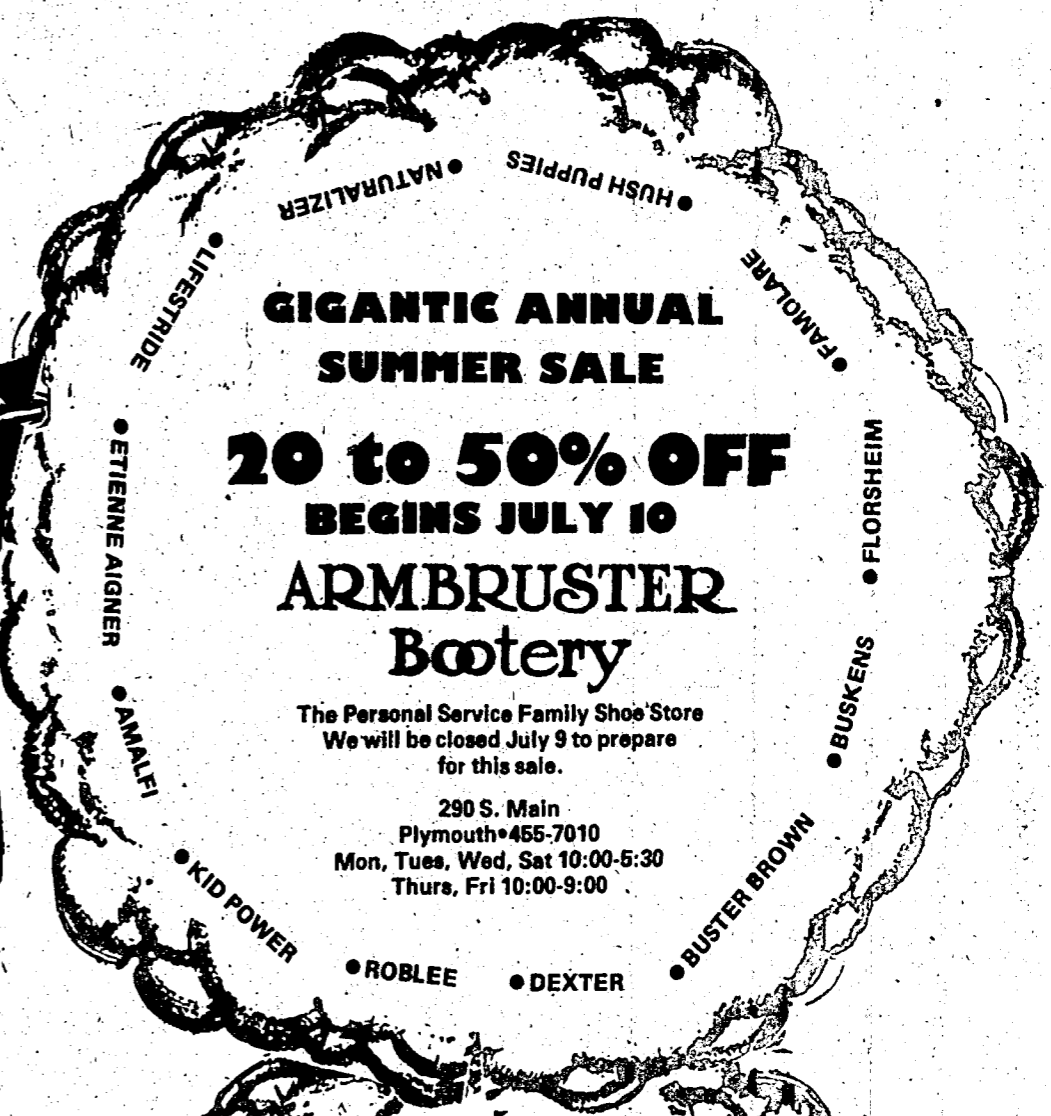

ENJOYING THE CONCERT on the lawn are Mary Ellen Hogg, her mother, Aurelia Hogg, and their dog Barry, a West Highland Terrier.

Educators tapped for seminars

Three Plymouth-Canton educators have received fellowship awards to the Kettering Foundation's IDEA summer-seminar program for administrators.

John Hoben, superintendent of schools, will attend the seminar at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, Cal.; Michael Homes, assistant superintendent of instruction, will attend at Martha Scott College in Atlanta, Ga.; and Patricia Moore, instructor at Pioneer School, will attend at the University of Missouri.

The seminar, with the theme of "Current Issue and Problems of Education: A Search for Solutions", will be held from July 13 to 19. The staff of the seminar include many leaders in the educational field.

It is subsidized by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, with the exclusion of travel expenses. These expenses will be paid for the local fellows out of the Eastern Michigan University Administrative Improvement Grant.

Team was lucky for victims

Richard Jowsey of Plymouth, captain of the Mr. Lucky Fishing Team, skippered his 22-foot fishing boat in a cold-water rescue on Lake Michigan May 11.

Coming in off the lake from the Steel Headers Fishing Tournament between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Jowsey and fellow fishermen Paul and Walt Densmore and Doug Pascoe were radioed by the tournament director to assist in a call for help.

About 50 feet from a breakwall jutting into the lake at Benton Harbor, the team saw a capsized boat with only about two feet of the bow above water, said Jowsey. Three persons were clinging to it, although a fourth had already swum to the breakwall.

Waves on the lake were four to five feet and especially rough near the breakwall, according to Jowsey, and the Mr. Lucky team had great difficulty pulling the victims out of the 43-degree water. "They said the plug blew out of the boat, but it was only a 14-foot boat, overloaded and they were all pretty well sauced up," said Jowsey.

"I wrapped them in a sleeping bag I had in the boat," he said. "One woman was shaking like a leaf. She was definitely in shock -- white as a ghost."

All four of the capsized boat victims survived, although the Coast Guard estimated survival time in the cold water to be only 15 to 20 minutes. The victims had been in the water 10 minutes, there were no life-preservers on board and one individual could not swim.

Jowsey said he later received dozens of calls on his on-board radio congratulating him and his team on the rescue. "We weren't penalized for the extra time coming in from the tournament, either," he said, laughing. "By the way, we came in 24th out of 51 entries."

Scout leader cops highest service award

RODGER KETCHMAN

Cantonite Rodger A. Ketchman, executive engineer at Ford Motor Company, was presented the Silver Antelope Award by the Six State East Central Region at the National Council -- Boy Scouts of America recent annual meeting in New Orleans.

The Silver Antelope is the highest award presented by the region for outstanding service to youth.

Ketchman has helped provide a good scouting program for a number of young people. He has led expeditions to Philmont and South America and has provided outstanding leadership in recruiting and organizing the staff and the individuals necessary to operate a sub-camp in both national and world jamborees.

He received the Silver Beaver Award, the highest Council Award for Scouters in 1966. He is a former District Chairman of Tonquish District.

Pankows' Golden Anniversary celebrated

ELSIE AND CLARENCE PANKOW

Clarence and Elsie Pankow celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 15 at a dinner at the Plymouth Hilton attended by more than 100 relatives and friends.

Helen Sachs of Detroit and William Staman of Sarasota, Fla. were the Maid of Honor and Best Man at the wedding 50 years ago. Both were seated next to the Pankows at the dinner, which was given by Joanne and Gerald Goode of Livonia, the daughter and son-in-law of the Pankows.

Clarence Pankow met Elsie Staman at the Briggs Country School in Livonia. Clarence, who became a tool and die maker, later worked for Ford Motor Co., Townsend-Textron Co. of Plymouth and Dunn Steel before his retirement. Elsie, who was graduated from Plymouth High School in 1921, worked intermittently at the Paul J. Weidman Ford dealership in Plymouth, presently the Leo Calhoun Ford dealership.

Both are now active in church work. For many years Clarence was a leader and past president of the Plymouth Townsend Club. Elsie has been past president of the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society and works as a regular Helping Hands volunteer worker at the Martin Luther Convalescent Home in South Lyon.

EXTERIOR PAINT PROBLEMS

Overflowing gutters can be a serious problem and cause of paint peeling. Two things can be done to correct the problem. The gutters should be made free of leaves and other debris so that they can drain freely. The paint on the siding should be carefully extended to the top of the siding under the gutter. Paint will seal wood if it is at least three coats thick. If there is general peeling near the ground the siding is probably in contact with the soil. The first step in correcting this problem is to get rid of the water or get it away from the house. Latex paint on the bottom five or six courses of siding will help.

Canton to identify historic sites

Old and interesting buildings in Canton will soon be identified for listing in a document that could be used to designate national historic sites and districts.

James Kosteva, township planning director, said that confirmation has been received for a $2,500 grant to survey historical or architecturally significant buildings in Canton.

"It's the first step toward any preservation process," said Kosteva. "First, we need a document of what's out there. We're looking right now — people who own sites or people who just drive by sites should report the addresses of buildings with architectural or historical significance."

Kosteva added that the general focus is on structures built before 1930. He also said that researchers won't trespass on private property. The survey will be conducted entirely from rights-of-way or with the owners' permission.

With a completion target of April, 1981, the survey will include approximately 300 hours of volunteer work. Kosteva said volunteers are needed between July and January to assist in research.

From four to six weeks will then be spent mapping sites with Historical Society assistance. September through November will be devoted to the actual survey. During the winter, an architectural consultant will also be hired to provide additional information on identified sites to round out the proposed survey document.

February will be spent indexing photos and various pieces of information and preparing the final compilation of the document, which will possibly be printed for sale next spring.

Persons interested in helping with the survey can contact Kosteva at 397-1000.

Donating

TO BEAUTIFY SALEM HIGH SCHOOL, the Trailwood Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association has donated $50. "We hope with this contribution that we will encourage the young people of the community to appreciate the beauty of flowers," said a club member. Car - train collide, 1 hurt

David M. Strong, of Livonia, was listed in fair condition Tuesday after a car he was driving collided with a train in Plymouth Township Sunday morning.

His car was traveling west on 5 Mile Road near Ridge, when he struck the locomotive of the train, police said. He failed to heed the bell and lights at the crossing, said police. The accident occurred at 10:55 a.m., according to the report.

Strong was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia where he was listed in fair condition yesterday.

ON SATURDAY, Oct. 18, the Plymouth Community Arts Council will present Karl Haas at Salem High School. The 8 p.m. performance will be presented at PCAC cost as a thank you to the community for the support given the council over the years, said Mary Kenny, chairperson, right. Fireworks, parade highlight festivities on Friday, July 4

Premier event for the day will be the traditional parade, which will begin at 1 p.m. and will feature approximately 100 antique cars, bands and marching units, according to parade finance chairman Mike Stankov.

Grand Marshal for the parade will be Ken Way, city assessor, who will be assisted by Master of Ceremonies Randy Shoemaker of the Jaycees.

The procession will begin at Theodore and Main streets and will follow Main Street to Hartsough, where it will turn east and finish at East Middle School.

Judges will sit in Kellogg Park and consider floats in five categories: best marching band; best marching unit; best adult float; best youth float; and best antique car in several sub-categories.

Bands represented in the parade include the Plymouth Community Band, sponsored by The Community Crier; the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, sponsored by the Ann Arbor Road House; the Windsor Riverside Lions Youth Band, sponsored by Century 21 Realtors; the Flint Music Makers Calliope, sponsored by a Livonia-based news organization; the Northville High School Band; the Farmington Community Dixieland Band; and the Plymouth Community Chorus.

Floats will include entries by the First Baptist Church, the Plymouth Community Family "Y", the Plymouth Theater Guild, the Plymouth Rainbow Assembly, Boy Scouts, Pioneer Middle School and St. Peter's Fellowship Club.

In addition, appearances will be made by U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell, State Senator R. Robert Geake, State Representative Roy Smith, 35th District Court Judges James Garber and Dunbar Davis, Plymouth Township Fire Department, and the Wayne County Sheriff Department Motorcycle Patrol and Mounted Division.

Two marching units, the Canton Chiefettes and the Salem Rockettes, will also join the procession.

Unusual entries in the parade will be a pair of elephants sponsored by me and mr. jones and John Smith Men's Wear, along with roller-skating clowns sponsored by Westchester Square.

Antique cars will assemble in the Kroger parking lot on Main Street at 12:30 p.m., completely separate from the rest of the parade. Antique Car Committee member Greg Ferman said the move was to prevent idling the cars for long periods of time.

Trophies for each category will be awarded after the parade at the band shell in Kellogg Park.

Jaycee Parade Finance Chairman Mike Stankov added, "We want everyone to enjoy the parade 150 per cent, but we want to also stress that we'll operate it on the basis of safety first."

Finally, a tradition of Fourth of July celebrations country-wide will be observed just after dusk over Massey Field on Plymouth Road, at the Plymouth Jaycee Fireworks display, sponsored by Don Massey Cadillac. Parking will be at the Burroughs lot.

To last approximately 20 or 30 minutes, the display cost almost $3,000, most of which was donated by Massey Cadillac. Stankov said that without the Massey donation, fireworks would have again been impossible.

"Shooter" for the display will be Jim Sorgi from Ohio, a professional fireworks detonator. Sorgi also handled the City of Detroit fireworks this year.

All of the various festivities could not have been possible without the assistance of many area contributors, according to Stankov. They include the Plymouth Police Officers Association, Joseph West, Massey Cadillac, the City of Plymouth, the Plymouth Observer, Western Electric, Greg Huddas of Yer Grampa's Mustash, Dr. Greg Ferman, Cale Snieder of Quick Print, S&W Hardware, me and mr. jones, John Smith Men's Wear, Gene Plaunt of Detroit Bank and Trust, Olson Heating and Air Conditioning, Inc., Kal A. and Julia Jabara, Robinson Rental, Jerry's Bicycles and Burroughs Corp.

Also contributing were Plymouth Stamping Division of Eltec Corp., Perry W. Richwine, Lowe & Lewandowski, David McCubbrey, Judge Dunbar Davis, Draugelis, Ashton & Scully, Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, Daly Restaurants, Cadillac Drapery, Gould Cleaners, First National Bank of Plymouth, Sutherland & Yoe, Schrader Funeral Home, Armbruster Bootery, Minerva Dunnings, Forest Place, Sideways, Ann Arbor Road House and the Charter Township of Plymouth.

Twp. aids Sky-Warn project

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees has entered into a $200 contract with the Plymouth Area Reaction team for its Sky Warn project.

The sky warn project uses volunteer spotters, trained by the National Weather Service, to watch for tornadoes in the area. The spotters cover eight tornado watch posts in the western part of Plymouth Township.

Plymouth Township's contribution will help offset annual expenses as well as costs for additional equipment, said Chuck Van Vleck, commander-president of the team.

He estimated that the team needs about $720 for Sky Warn expenses and other additional equipment. He spoke to the board of trustees at last Tuesday's meeting.

"We're pleased with the township's help and hope to get something from the rest of the communities," he said. VanVleck will speak to the City of Plymouth, Northville Township, and Canton Township to secure funds from them, he said. "We want to have enough of a budget to operate next year and, if each community gave $200, we'd be all set."

In addition to the Sky Warn project, the Reaction team also monitors Channel 9, an emergency station. It is monitored by volunteers from 3 to 6 p.m. weekdays, from Friday, 6 p.m. to Sunday, midnight, and on holidays. Currently the Reaction team has 43 members.

For more information about the Reaction team, call Personnel Officer Richard Merrill, 459-3339.

Kids can shoot billiards at Growth Works Center

The Growth Works Youth Center activities area, closed since November 1978, has re-opened due to a federal community development grant administered through Wayne County.

The Youth Center, at 271 S. Main in Plymouth, provides activities such as pinball, billiards, foosball and an arcade. Full-time supervision is provided.

Closed since building renovations began and for lack of staff supervision, the activities area has re-opened due to the grant which permitted Growth Works to hire Don Glasel as activities coordinator.

Glasel, an advertising student from Ferris State College, is working as a summer intern through the Wayne County Office of Manpower Student Program.

Growth Works, an agency of the Plymouth Community Fund, provides educational, employment and counseling activities for area youths.

HILTON AWARDED

The Plymouth Hilton Inn was honored recently by Automobile Club of Michigan for being among the state's finest accommodations. Auto Club's Touring Manager Joseph Ratke presented a four-diamond plaque to John Dithmer, manager of the Hilton.

Sign up for Canton Council

Persons interested in establishing an Arts or Cultural Council for Canton Township can call Noel D. Culbert, supervisor. The council would be responsible for developing programs addressing the cultural needs of the community.

If interested, contact Supervisor Noel D. Culbert, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, Mi. 48188; phone 397-1000.

Canton orders sidewalks built

Canton recently adopted a policy of prosecuting developers who do not fulfill township sidewalk requirements at their building sites.

During last Tuesday's board meeting, Bruce Phillips, director of ordinance enforcement, reported to the board that many developers still have not complied with requests sent out last summer directing them to construct the sidewalks.

The letters came about as a result of a sidewalk inventory, according to Phillips, and most of the developers operating in the township over the past several years were included.

Trustee Eugene Daley said that unless the developers were made accountable for the sidewalks, Canton residents would have to pay for them with a special assessment.

After a short discussion, board members voted to pursue legal measures for developers who continue non-compliance of the sidewalk directives.

Dunkelberger named

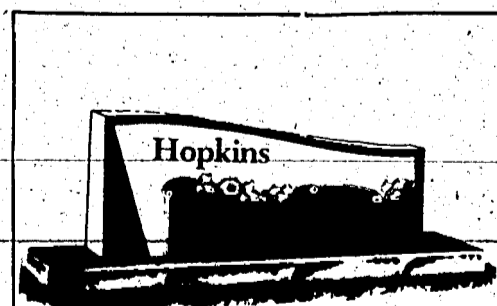

The Rev. Richard C. Dunkelberger of Plymouth has been appointed to the 14-member Health Facilities and Agencies Advisory Commission by Gov. William Milliken. He is executive director of Presbyterian Village of Detroit, Inc., a home for the aged.

His term to the commission will expire in April, 1983.

Lake Pointer gets Twp. pay post

Nancy Grawe of Plymouth Township has been appointed to the township's compensation committee. The group reviews and makes recommendations to the board of trustees on the salaries of elected officials.

Grawe, who will fill the seat from John Kenny, who resigned, is a director of personnel with the Livonia Public Schools. She is current president of the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association and has served on the Advisory Commission for Cable TV.

Caesars, Elks split weekend doubleheader

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton Little Caesars and the Salem Elks battled in a Connie Mack league doubleheader Saturday afternoon. Canton increased its unbeaten streak to eight games in the opener with a 17-4 triumph before Salem came back to win the nightcap, 5-4.

The first game was no contest as Canton pounded out 17 hits off of Salem pitchers Paul Stevenson, John Penders, and Brian Lewandowski.

The Caesars scored twice in the opening inning, four times in the third and twice in the fifth before putting the game well out of reach with four runs in the sixth inning and five more in the seventh.

Jeff Stemberger lead the hitting barrage for Canton with four hits in as many at bats, driving in five runs.

Billy Hanis had three hits for the Caesars and Keith Stone and Al Lipinski two each.

Lipinski went the distance on the mound for Canton, allowing the Elks six hits along with their four runs.

In the second game, a strong performance on the mound by Jim Jimmerson and some clutch hitting by Jim Anderson powered Salem to its come-from-behind victory.

Canton jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Lipinski singled home Don Dreher, who was hit by a pitch, and Stone, who had walked.

The Caesars upped their lead to 3-0 in the top of the third on consecutive doubles by Stone and Dave Meador before the Salem bats came to life in the bottom of the inning against Canton pitcher Dan Funkhouser.

Hsiao Ping got things started with a walk, advancing to second on a single by John Heikowski. Mitch Wilcox brought home Ping with Salem's first run with a single, setting the stage for Anderson.

The Salem senior connected on a three-run homer to give the Elks a 4-3 lead.

Canton tied the game in the fifth on an RBI single by Dreher, bringing home Paul Dobry who walked.

In their half of the fifth, the Elks touched Canton reliever Dave Malek for the winning tally, as again it was Anderson coming through for Salem with a double that scored Joe Garcia, who reached base on a single.

Jimmerson pitched the whole game for Salem, allowing Canton six hits.

"Jimmerson did a heck of a job," said Salem coach Ben Wilcox, whose team is now 6-4 on the season. "Anderson really came through today, as he has been doing all year.

"I have been very content with our hitting, its our pitching that has been suspect. The pitching does seem to be developing now."

"We didn't play badly," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "In the second game we simply ran out of pitching arms. Considering we played five games this week and won four I can't be unhappy."

Last Tuesday Canton knocked off Salem 11-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Lipinski.

On Thursday, the Caesars swept a pair from Redford Bishop Borgess, 11-2 and 7-2. In the second game Canton trailed 2-1 going into the final inning but a three-run homer by Frank McMurray and a two-run double by Dan Smith powered a game winning rally.

"We have been hitting the ball really well, even in the loss we hit the ball hard, it just was always right at somebody," said Crissey.

Both the Elks and the Caesars resume action tonight at home, Canton facing Southfield and Salem hosting Borgess. Both games are scheduled for 6:15 starting times.

Century 21 wins tournament

Defending Plymouth-Canton Softball Tournament champion Massey ran into Century 21 and Wagner Electric last weekend and saw its hopes for another title dashed as it lost to them in consecutive games.

Century 21 and Wagner were pitted against each other in the championship game, but two Wagner errors in the second inning gave Century a 3-1 margin which it held and went to win on 9-4.

Century's Jerry Herbest went 4-4 at the plate to pace the attack. Another Wagner error in the third inning cost the team two more runs. Wagner put together four runs in the third and fourth inning but base hits in the fourth and sixth frames put the championship in Century's hands.

The tournament started as Massey defeated Ventcon, 37-0, and then smashed Vispac, 15-1. Massey picked up a third win over M.B.M., 11-0, paced by a grand slam home run by Cal Glomski.

It was then that Massey faced Century 21 and suffered its first loss, 8-3. The team then went out of the competition with a 5-3 loss to Wagner in its next game.

M.B.M. started the tourney by edging Finlan/Harlow 8-7 and then they defeated Wagner 6-4 before suffering that loss to Massey, which sent them into the loser's bracket.

M.B.M. then handed Finlan their second loss 7-5 before being beaten by Wagner, 7-3, and knocked out of the competition.

Wagner defeated Rusty Nail, 6-4, in their first round outing then went into the loser's bracket with that loss to M.B.M.

In the loser's bracket, Wagner had no trouble with Vispac -- winning 15-1. After that victory, the squad defeated Player's Lounge, 13-12, and knocked off K & C Construction, 6-0.

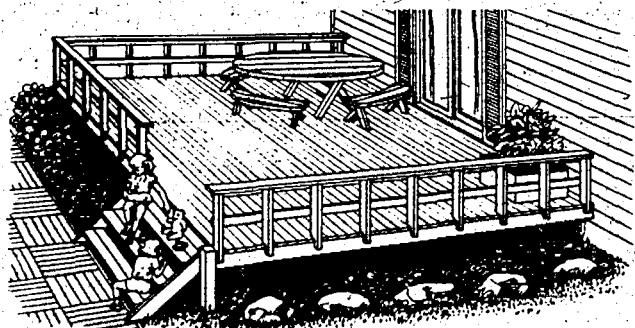

Wagner then avenged their loss to M.B.M. beat Massey 5-3, and fell in the final game to Century 21.

Canton records 10th win

The Canton Mickey Mantle squad kept rolling right along over the weekend, upping its record to 10-0 with wins over Northville Saturday afternoon and Milan Sunday afternoon.

Against Northville, Brian Capnahurst drove in two runs and pitchers Dan Smith and Jack Ford combined to hold the opposing batters in check as Canton won 5-1.

Smith, who gave up only one hit in five innings of work, picked up the victory to raise his record to 6-0 on the year.

The game against Milan was no contest as Canton pounded out 19 hits to win going away, 26-2.

Billy Hanis lead the Canton hitting attack, going 3 for 3 and scoring four runs.

Don Dombey and Steve Johnson each had a pair of hits for Canton also, and Dave Brass had a pair of triples.

Dave Malek pitched the first five innings to pick up the victory, raising his record to 2-0 on the year with relief help from Jamie Chilcoff in the sixth.

Tennis classes at YMCA

The Plymouth-Canton YMCA will be starting its second session of instructional tennis July 21 and will run through Aug. 14.

Each tennis class will meet two hours per week with the participants picking the day (Monday through Thursday).

Boys and girls ages seven to 12 are scheduled to meet 3-4 p.m., while 12-16 year olds can receive instruction from 4-5 p.m. at the Canton High tennis courts.

Adult session are slated for 6-7 p.m. and 7-8 p.m. at the tennis courts at Edward Hines near Haggerty.

The cost is $15 for YMCA membes and $20 for non-members. Joe Brennan will instruct the classes.

Also a MINI-CLINIC has been planned starting July 26 and running to Aug. 16. Each player will meet on Saturday for four weeks.

Adults are scheduled for 10-11 a.m. at Hines Park, while youngsters ages seven to 12 will meet from noon to 1 p.m. and 12-16 year olds from 2-3 p.m. at Canton.

The cost of the mini-clinic is $10 for members and $14 for non-members.

Finally, a competitive clinic for both beginning and advanced players will get underway late in August. The first of two sessions will run Aug. 18-22 and the second will be Aug. 25-29.

The five day class will meet for one week from 3-5 p.m. The second session (Aug. 25-29) will be for ages 10-18 at Canton while the first session will be for adults.

Members will be charged $15 for the class and non-members $20.

For further details contact the YMCA at 453-2904.

Salem Mantle sweeps 3

Salem DiBenio upped its overall record to 8-3 and 6-3 in the Mickey Mantle Baseball League with three straight victories last week.

Salem edged out South Farmington last weekend, 9-7, with a six-run rally in the third inning plus single runs in the first, fifth and sixth frames.

Joe Humphries pitched the victory for Salem and had six strikeouts and six walks. Todd Riedel, pitched the final out for the squad.

In the third inning, Humphries helped his own cause with a solo home run. Frank Mead and Dan Carlson then singled and John Wochuck doubled scoring one run.

Bob DeBenedet then singled in another run, Brian Wallman walked and Keith Ewing singled scoring three more runs.

Salem tallied seven hits in the game while South Farmington had 10 hits.

Earlier in the week, Salem tripped up Northville, 4-1, behind the pitching of Ken Vermeulen and Humphries.

Salem scored two runs in the third inning on a two-run homer by John Blanchard and then added two more in the seventh on singles by Carlson and Ewing.

Northville scored one run in the fourth frame.

Carlson paced the offense for Salem with two of the team's five hits.

Salem also knocked off West Seven last week, winning 11-1.

The story of that game was Salem's 10-run sixth inning after a one-run fifth inning.

In that sixth inning, Mickey Madsen and Mead provided two run doubles and a series of singles accounted for the other eight runs.

Madsen, Humphries and Wochuck each clubbed two hits to pace the winning effort. Salem totalled 11 hits while West Seven had eight.

Bob Culver came on in relief of Vermeulen in the fifth inning to gain the victory.

Salem will play home this Saturday at the Salem High diamond against Westland. Game time is 4 p.m.

Pair win golf league title

Jim Monro and Art Lawrence swept five points from Mike Ryan and Bob White to nail down first place in Canton Parks and Recreation's first eight-week golf league at Fox Hills Country Club.

Monro and Lawrence tallied 29 and a half points to edge out the teams of Dick Kraft and Tony Valenti, and Paul Oberhelm and Mike Moggio by half a point.

Gary Rehberg and Dan Riggs had a two-point lead over Monro and Lawrence going into the final week, but Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets took three and a half points from them to put them in fourth position.

Valenti and Oberhelm turned in the best single rounds of the week as they carded 38's. Kraft and Moggio had 39's.

Canton tennis titles swept by non-locals

Over 60 doubles teams competed in the Canton Doubles Tennis Tournament last weekend in three categories of competition including men's, women's and mixed.

By the end of the tournament non-local netters had grabbed all the top honors, while Cantonites failed to get beyond the semi-finals.

Winning the men's doubles was the team of Todd Beyer and Mark Gonzalz from Wayne and Westland, respectively. The pair defeated Roy Benton and Don Campbell of Ann Arbor 2-6, 6-4, and 6-4.

Beyer and Gonzalz defeated Dave Farmer of Garden City and vic Moccia of Livonia to reach the finals. The score of the semi-final match was 4-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

Dustin Mann and Ted Smith of Canton also ran into Beyer and Gonzalz losing in quarter-final competition 6-1 and 6-2.

Karen Miller and Lisa Bauer of Ann Arbor won the women's class with a 6-4 and 6-1 victory over Kathy Green and Debbie Flood, also of Ann Arbor.

Green and Flood reached those finals with a 6-1, 4-6 and 6-0 victory over Carol Dugan and Kathy Shiek of Canton, while Miller and Bauer defeated Carol Sotola and Lois Beyer 6-1 and 6-1 in their semi-final match.

Todd Beyer and Robin Walker walked away with top honors in the mixed doubles as they knocked off Bob Deyo and Bea Grechcombo of Livonia, 7-5 and 7-6.

Beyer and Walker advanced to the finals with a 6-1 and 6-0 victory over Bill and Debbie Flood.

Football clinic

A four-day clinic for fifth through eighth grade students will be conducted July 14-18 at the Central Middle School football field.

The clinic will put its emphasis on the basic fundamentals of non-contact football and the proper techniques of physical conditioning.

Times will be 9-11 a.m. for fifth and sixth grade students and from 1-3 p.m. for seventh and eighth grade students.

The clinic will be run by former University of Michigan football players Bill Dufek and George Przygodski and special guests Rich Hewlett, John Wangler, George Lija, John Powers, Andy Cannavino and Ron Warhurst.

Each participating athlete is required to wear a t-shirt, shorts and tennis shoes.

Cost is $45 for the four-day session. Register at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation offices at 525 Farmer Street, Plymouth. Deadline is July 10.

For further details, contact the Plymouth Recreation Office at 455-6620.

Softball tourney

The Plymouth Recreation Department is sponsoring the 1989 Modified Softball Tournament for the weekend of July 11-13 with room for 16 teams. The teams must be involved in the MRPA City Modified program.

The entry fee is $100 with the entry deadline set for July 7 at 5 p.m. Once the first 16 teams have been accepted there will be a draw on July 8 at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

For further details, contact the Plymouth Recreation Department at 455-6620.

Soccer at Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College will be the site of the 1989 Wolverine Soccer Tournament set to begin this Friday on the college's several soccer fields.

The tournament will begin at 9 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. Action will resume on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the final playoff games set for Sunday from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The tournament has been opened to girls' teams with ages ranging from 14 years old to 19 years.

Register for Canton Soccer Club

Registration for the fall, 1989 season of the Canton Soccer Club will take place at the Canton High School cafeteria on consecutive Saturdays, July 12 and 19, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Registration fees are $10 for Pee Wees

(eight years and under) and $13 for league play.

For families with two players, the cost is $22 and for three or more players the total cost is $30.

Adults are also invited to register for league games.

G-Senior baseball scores

Two undefeated teams lead the American and National Leagues of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball Leagues' G-Senior program.

The Angels are 5-0 to lead the American League, while the Orioles and Phillies are next at 2-3. The Pirates are in the basement of that league with an 0-5 mark.

The Tigers lead the National League also at 5-0. Second are the Braves with a 3-2 record, while the Red Sox are next at 2-3 and the Dodgers at 1-4.

Last weeks scores were as follows: Angels 22-5 over Pirates and 8-6 over the Phillies; Orioles over Red Sox 18-16 and Braves over Orioles 11-5; Tigers over Red Sox 17-5 and 9-5 over Braves; Dodgers over Pirates 9-8 and Phillies 18-10 over Dodgers.

Begg, Deetz lead senior golfers

After four weeks of league play in the Canton Seniors Golf League there is a two-way tie for first place between Bill Begg and Ralph Deetz. Begg turned in his best round of the year, a 45, to pick up five points and tie Deetz for first with 17 points each. Deetz carded a 47 to also score five points.

Louie Seromik was next in the standings with 16 points, while Marty Schmitz and Jim Graves each have 15 points, Ed Buczek 14, George Nolan, nine, Stanley Stork, eight, and John Husak three points.

Retired golfers win tourney

Carol Rodwell and Sally Rowland tied for first place in the spring session of the Plymouth Branch American Association of Retired Persons (AAUW) Golf League.

The tournament was held at Fox Hills Country Club from May 13 to June 17.

At an AAUW awards ceremony, Rodwell and Rowland were presented with silver engraved plates for scoring the winning 17.5 points each. Rita McClumpha, who won second place in the tournament with 16 points, was presented with a stained glass golf green and tee.

Curiosities

Fast Eddie - Happy Belated Birthday - love your new "punk-rock hair cut."
X-68

Ask Rich Orlandy at the Shirt House
what he knows about Local 1/32.

To the Monday night fun bunch: Tell me not in mournful numbers life is just an empty ad space.

KAREN AND PHYLLIS - The Great Phy
Ed director in the Sky missed you both last week. No excuses necessary, homework coming.

Guinness Book Record Holder Jim Puro will attempt to smash the world record of 500 kisses in one hour at Dearie Days. At the 25¢ Kissing Booth! He is shooting for 1000. Sign up at the gazebo to be included in the record on Sat. July 19th at 2:30 p.m.
Proceeds donated to local charity & beautification of old village.

Designing t-shirts by committee is for the birds. I'M THE T-SHIRT EDITOR and I want hot pink; local 22.

Frisbe contest during Dearie Days July 19th & 20 -- let the family dog try to catch the frisbe.

Willy -- there are reasons for everything.
love, pat

Keith Braun: You're my sweet special someone and I miss you. N.P.

MICHELLE RODMAN -- wonderful graduation party. Congrats. P.S. your card was the best ever.

Curiosities

Mom & Dad, Happy 15th on the 3rd.
Love A. & B.

Ed, Happy Birthday I liked your picture --
I never knew you were ever that young. Tac!

Will the Tanbacks take part in the parade or will it just rain?

Fish -- your Bio-rhythm must have dropped completely off the charts. Or else you have a case of the clutzes.

Dolly you were a great model -- the lavender bridesmaid gown was beautiful -- and I thought it was great fun to be together.
Fran

What sort of individuals would advocate 150 mph speed limits and elementary school viewings of Kubrick films?

Dearie Days - plan on shopping and eating and having a great day or days July 19th-20th. The pony rides are super -- but enjoy the many lovely flowers in old village.

Only Pat Norris knows for sure why she's in here.

What a wonderful job you did Heather with the Pens & Business Cards -- looked great. Aren't you proud of such a great job!

The pumpkin hill garden club will meet
Wednesday, July 2 at noon in the pumpkin patch. New members welcome.

Delicious Banana Nut Cake! Jennie (Create A Cake) my husband appreciated your special treat sent home to him. Thanks -
Fran

Curiosities

SEE YOU IN THE PARADE starting at 1 p.m. down Main St. -- your Wayne County Charter Commissioner. Pd for by Committee Electing Wendover, 44526 Clare Blvd., Plymouth.

JESSICA eats Aunt Leslie's Veal Saute' Marengo, Helen's hamburgers, Nan's oatmeal, Uncle 'Hiya Tiger' Clark's radishes, dad's birthday cake, Orange County Golf Club 'birdie,' drinks Uncle
Bob's wine and Globe Hotel orange juice, plants flowers in the rock garden, discos down with Cousin George and generally has a swell New York time. Thanks all!

THERE ARE TIMES you'd think the place runs better when the shop steward is away
-- until you see the photo-curiosities. You're all fired, signed Local 1/32nd.

S*A*T*I*S*
F*A*C*T*I*O*N!

BILL MARKHAM - happy birthday. Jessica and Ed

JIM & MARY OTTAWAY: many thanks for the inside track to Picasso's exhibition.
It sure is quite a spectacle. Wendover

There once was a lady so GRACEFUL,
Using a side path so resourceful,
Sank down on her luck,
And lost her shoes in the muck,
At the Huron River beach shameful.

Look for that sharp burgandy rag top
July 4th

Ask Chas about his phone calls to the F.B.I.
his questions are very penetrating!

Curiosities

I dream of Renee with the long (long!) hair.

Good work, Monthly Detroiters! Not only was this issue so heavy that it pulled my mailbox off the wall-it then fell through my porch. WHUMP- as we say in the newspaper biz.

Gee, now that we've got all these swell
T-shirts maybe we should start a bowling team or something...

-Jespec Q. Latein

Fireworks??? I thought it was Mt. St.
Tonquish, Plymouth's little-known volcano.

Thanks for the steak dinner, last Thursday,
Mom, it was great. Say "Hi" to Jenkins for me. Mike

Lance Arp has peaked at 30 (but he still plays a mean game of Volleyball)

Will the last people to leave Hudson Mills
Please turn off the lights?
