School boundary changes made one more time

BY DAN BODENE

Changes to the changes to the changes to the present boundaries.

That's what Plymouth-Canton School Board members settled on Monday night, as the next step to arriving at a stable distribution plan for area students. Another forum is scheduled for tomorrow night, at 7:30 p.m. in the Phase III building at CEP.

After endorsing a new boundary plan in January, no. three of seven originally proposed by Ecosystems, a consulting firm which presently plots bus routes for the district, board members collected more data during four public forums held Feb. 16 to 19.

During a board workshop on Mar. 3, the board approved several changes to Plan III. These changes included:

*An area from a point at Edward Hines Drive and Northville Road, north on Northville Road to Schoolcraft, east to west of Hammill and south to Edward Hines and west to the starting point would change from Tanger to Farrand.

*An area from a starting point at North Territorial and Beck, south on Beck to Powell, west to 48400 between Beck and Ridge, north to North Territorial and east to the starting point, would change from Farrand to Bird and from Central to West.

*Canton Country Acres (Foxborough) would change from Field to Miller.

*Cherry Hill Orchards would change from Eriksson to Field.

*An area from Saltz and Morton Taylor, south on Morton Taylor to Cherry Hill, west to Sheldon, north on Sheldon to south of Fair Oaks, east to east of cavalier and east on Saltz to the starting point, would change from Miller to Eriksson and from Pioneer to Lowell.

*An area from a starting point of Morton Taylor and Ford, south to Saltz, west to just east of Oakview, north to Ford and east on Ford to the starting point would change from Lowell to Pioneer.

*An area from a starting point of Cherry Hill and Lilley, south on Lilley to just south of Kingsway Court, west to Sheldon, north to Cherry Hill and east to the starting point would change to East Middle School from Lowell.

*An area from a starting point of Joy and Lilley, south on Lilley to Warren, west to Sheldon, north to Joy and east to the starting point would change from West to Central.

*An area from a starting point at Joy and Sheldon, south on Sheldon to Warren, west to Canton Center, north to Joy and east to the starting point would change to West from East.

*An area from a starting point at Ann Arbor Trail and Main, south on Main to Joy, west to Sheldon, north to Ann Arbor Trail and east to the starting point would change from East to West.

*Fellows Creek Apartments would change from Central to West.

*An area from a starting point at Ann Arbor Road and west of I-275, south on I-275 to Ford, west to Lilley, north to Mill, north on mill to C&O Railway, south along the railway to Ann Arbor Road and east to the starting point would change from Central to East.

Happy 100th Birthday

CELEBRATING HER OWN CENTENNIAL on March 5 was Mrs. Adelaide Duffy of Canton, a resident of Whispering Willow Manor. Born in 1881, Mrs. Duffy grew up on a farm in Monroe County, marrying Charles Duffy in 1913. She has two children, Patrick of Redford and Elenore of Oakland, Cal. Spending most of her life in the Detroit area, Mrs. Duffy moved to Whispering Willow Manor in 1972. Best wishes and many happy returns! (Crier photo by Dan Bodene)

Sheldon road project to get Spring start

Sheldon Road between Joy Road and Ann Arbor Trail will be the scene of a five-lane road construction project this spring Wayne County Road Commission officials revealed last week.

The $2.559 million project is slated to start as soon as the weather breaks, said Lou Sugo of the Wayne County Public Information office.

The mile and one quarter section of two-lane road will be repaved and widened to five lanes, including a center turn lane. The road is now 22 feet wide and will be widened to 62 feet.

The Road Commission has been surveying the section of road and issuing updated drawings showing the improvement, said Mark Hammar, assistant City of Plymouth engineer.

Kensington Construction Company, of Novi, has been awarded the construction contract, said Sugo, and the entire project will be done in cooperation with State Highway Department officials and the Federal government.

Local traffic will be maintained throughout the construction except for one 45-day period when a culvert will be installed at Tonquish Drain. During that time drivers will still be able to enter the road, but will not be able to traverse it from end to end, said Sugo.

Completion is slated for Nov. 1.

Group home meetings set

Two public meetings will be held to discuss adult foster care homes in the Plymouth-Canton Community, one on March 12 and another on March 23.

The first will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, 45201 North Territorial (one mile west of Sheldon) on Thursday, March 12 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be to discuss a proposed home at 741 Beech Court in Plymouth.

The second meeting will be held in the Canton High cafeteria, on March 23 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. Sponsored by Canton homeowner associations, the hearing will be held to discuss Canton foster homes and will be attended by Supervisor Jim Poole, according to organizer Gary Donahue.

Both meetings will be open to the public, and will be attended by personnel from the Northville Residential Training Center and the state Department of Mental Health, respectively.

Secure Your Future NOW IS THE TIME

PREDICTION:

30% Profit Returns Within Next 12 Month Period • Gold & Silver Markets Are At A 2 Year Low

Dear Friends & Neighbors

It is my earnest opinion that now is the time for all to consider investing in Gold & Silver. The markets are at a two-year low with nowhere to go but up!!!

Gold & Silver offers a Triple Investment versus only one when you buy C.D.'s, Stocks, Bonds, Money Market Certificates, Etc.

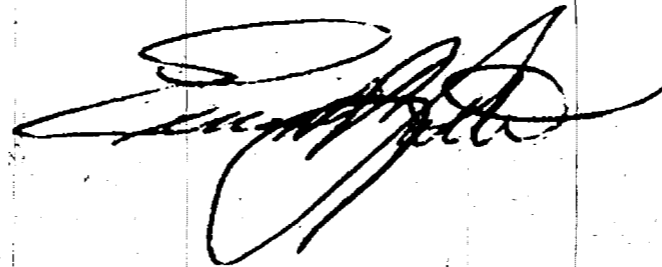

1. Gold & Silver Must go up.
 - A. Simple Inflation alone will force up the markets.
 - B. Silver manufactured usage yearly is higher than what is mined. We are running a yearly deficit.
 - C. Gold is regarded as the only true money in the world—always in great demand.
2. Gold & Silver (Hard Money) negates inflation (and always has).
 - A. 300 ozs. of Gold 30 years ago would buy a house—300 ozs. of Gold today would buy the same house.
 - B. 2,000 face in Silver Coin would have bought a Cadillac in 1970—2,000 face in Silver Coin today would buy the same Cadillac.
3. Gold & Silver is the only hedge (along with Collectibles) against economic chaos.
 - A. It's possible that a Silver dime would feed you for a day if our economy reaches chaotic conditions (as many predict it will).

I am not writing this only as an effort to sell Gold & Silver at a profit. I sell quite a bit anyway. I sincerely believe that the Citizens of our community have a tremendous opportunity to make a greater-than-inflation return on their money as well as secure themselves in our difficult times. It doesn't take a lot of money to start—$100.00 up to whatever. Get in the habit of protecting and investing in your future weekly, monthly or yearly.

Occasionally I'll devote this advertising space to messages and opinions on topics and issues of concern to all. Your comments and feedback are welcomed.

Call to set up private consultations if needed.

Sincerely,

Ernest R. Latter

School board petitions deadline is April 6

Interested in running for a Plymouth-Canton School Board seat? The deadline for turning in petitions is April 6.

Any Plymouth-Canton School District resident can run for the four-year board seat presently held by vice president Stephen Harper, which will be filled in the upcoming June 8 election.

Harper said he has not yet decided whether to run for re-election.

Petitions are available at the school board office at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth, and completed forms having at least 28 valid signatures should also be turned in there. April 9 is the last day on which potential candidates can withdraw from the ballot. Petitions must be filed by 4 p.m.

The regular school election will be held on June 8. Voters can go to the polls at their regular school election voting districts.

For more information, contact the board office at 453-0200, ext. 422.

School budget shows red

Plymouth-Canton School Board members unanimously adopted the schools' mid-year financial report Monday night, detailing a budget of $816,525 more than projected revenues.

The projected deficit on the mid-year report is actually $13,475 less than on the original budget, however.

Raymond Hoedel, assistant supt. for business, said the improvement was due to two main goals -- monitoring of purchases, both by building administrators and the schools' purchasing agent; and overall control of the budget.

Power to speak to Plymouth Chamber

Members of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will hear Philip H. Power at the March 17 caucus luncheon at Hillside Inn. The meeting is set for 11:30 a.m.

Power will speak on "Cable TV and its impact on future communications."

Power is owner and chairman of the board of Suburban Communications Corporation, with several subsidiaries including the Observer & Eccentric newspapers. He has leased a channel from Metrovision Cablevision in Redford ownership but is not on the air there yet.

Plymouth-Canton saw the debut of its first commercial cable television on Feb. 20 when Eagle-Vision -- a joint cooperation effort by The Community Crier, Associated Newspapers and Eagle-Vision, Inc. -- went on the air on cable channel 9. It telecasts local news items.

GUIDE'd tour is Saturday

For 200 lucky folks, the next two Saturday mornings will be a crash course into local points of interest.

The first annual GUIDEd tour of The Plymouth-Canton Community will be held on Saturday mornings March 14 and 21. Both tours have been pre-registered to absolute capacity on a first-come basis and those registered are being notified by mail and by phone.

The tours are sponsored jointly by The Community Crier (in conjunction with the publication last week of the "'81 Guide to The Plymouth-Canton Community"), the Plymouth and Canton Jaycees, Canton Township, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Featured on the three-hour tours will be local governmental, educational, recreational and commercial points of interest, St. John's Seminary (which is hosting a coffee break halfway through the tours), and other noteworthy sites both famous and infamous.

Because of the requests for registrations, future years' tours will be planned to accommodate more people.

A feature of the improved budget will be that work will soon begin on roof repairs at Central Middle School, Hoedel said. Bids for phase one of the construction are already out, he added.

A significant improvement was listed in the operation of the district's food service program, according to Daniel White, executive director of finance. The net loss in February was $2,000, he said, an improvement of $19,000 over January's loss. The only reason the food service program didn't break even in February was due to the Feb. 12 snow day, White said, when the labor cost was paid although no revenues were collected.

Local revenues increased, according to the mid-year budget revision, mainly due to income from investments. Property tax revenues from the city and two townships are behind last year's rate, however.

Other gains were noted in state revenues, which increased $84,000, and in federal programs, mainly due to a $220,000 Alternative Education Grant.

County revenues were down by $2.5 million due to reduced state special education categorical funding. Although the county reimburses "center" programs, Plymouth-Canton is a non-center program and will probably not be recompensed for the approximately $831,000 it contributes to center programs.

General Fund expenditures are up, by $14,601 over the original estimate. Gains were noted in costs of pupil service, instructional program, maintenance and operation. Project Fund costs were also up, by $264,857 due to the Alternative Education Grant.

Additionally, the projected fund balance at the end of the budget year will improve by $13,475.

Senator gets opinions

BY DAN BODENE

Several Plymouth-Canton residents voiced their concerns to U.S. Senator Carl Levin on March 7, during one of a series of public hearings sponsored by Levin throughout the area.

Held at Livonia City Hall, the hearing opened to a standing-room-only crowd, and came shortly after Levin met with several local government officials. Trustee Loren Bennett represented Canton at that meeting.

"People are mad," Bennett said, "and they want to let their elected officials know it. I thought it was a good meeting with Senator Levin, although I didn't expect this many people at the hearing."

Questioned by Bill Brown of Plymouth, Levin said he was opposed to de-regulating natural gas prices. "The truth is, prices are artificially created by OPEC (Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries)," he said. "De-regulating gas is also highly inflationary."

George Illingsworth of Plymouth voiced his support for the SEMTA Dial-A-Ride program, saying, "Dial-A-Ride means independence for many." Earlier, Levin assured the crowd that according to Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, funding from the program was not likely to be cut due to a recent state supreme court decision upholding title transfer fees, which support Dial-A-Ride.

Paul Nastoff of Plymouth asked whether federal employees would "share the burden" placed on the Social Security program, and was told by Levin a series of congressional recommendations would be forthcoming in April. Levin explained he was in favor of placing federal employees, who now have their own retirement program, in the Social Security system providing they are "grandfathered" into it. "We can't take away what they worked for," he said.

Sue Illingsworth questioned Levin as to the inequality of Michigan's return from tax dollars sent to Washington, and was told "Things will get worse."

Levin said taxes will hit hardest in industrial states. "Cuts are based on poverty. People may not make as much money in Mississippi, but their cost of living is not as high, either. We're net losers in the defense budget, too. Increases in the defense budget won't help Michigan -- it's going to help states building ships, planes and the ones with the defense contracts."

Hockey mentor cited in quarrel

Thomas M. Lazuka, of Allen Park, was given an ordinance citation Saturday morning after he had to be forcibly removed from the Plymouth Cultural Center Ice Arena.

Lazuka was coaching a Lincoln Park hockey squad in the playoffs of the State Midget A Hockey Tournament at the arena.

Lazuka was using abusive language toward referee Michael Donnelly and although Donnelly warned him several times he kept it up. Donnelly finally threw Lazuka out of the game. He then went into the stands where he continued his loud yelling.

Donnelly finally requested tournament officials to have him removed from the arena. He refused and the Plymouth Police were called in. He was then taken from the arena by police officers and charged with disorderly conduct.

GOP Club to meet

Canton Republican club will meet Wednesday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Canton Fire Station No. 1 at Cherry Hill and Canton Center Road.

On the agenda at the membership meeting is election of officers and adoption of by-laws.

A nominating committee has put together a slate of officer candidates. Named by the committee are Jim Steffen, president; Dick Kirchgatter, vice-president; Tony Campagna, treasurer; Leonard Wilhelm, recording secretary; and Barb Brenner, corresponding secretary. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

Guest speaker will be Bob Law, executive assistant to Governor William Milliken. He will discuss the governor's economic development and high technology revitalization plan for 1981.

through 1976 issues are on microfilm at the library, "The collection will be current soon," according to Crier Publisher W. Edward Wendover. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Area show to feature quality antiques

Interested in early, museum-quality antiques? Eric and Carol Nordell of Countryside Antiques in Plymouth are sponsoring just the show for you.

The first semi-annual Olde Inn Antique Show will be held on March 21 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on March 22 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Dearborn Inn at 20301 Oakwood Blvd. in Dearborn.

According to Carol Nordell, the show is situated at an area landmark and will offer museum-quality antiques from 30 prominent midwestern dealers from eight states. "We felt there was a great need for an antique show of this calibre in the Detroit area," she says. "One in which the patron can feel confident that he is purchasing guaranteed quality antiques exhibited in conducive surroundings."

At the show will be a selection of American and English 18th and 19th century formal period and country furniture, samplers, quilts, folk art, baskets, early woodenware, primitives, stoneware, hooked rugs, hand-wrought iron and many other items.

Specific items include Windsor chairs, a Pennsylvania pewter cupboard, 1720 stretcher-base table, Amish quilts, 1800 walnut dry sink with two candle drawers, pie safes, 1834 Connecticut deerskin-covered trunk and a cherry Hepplewhite splay-leg nightstand.

Included in the $2 admission price, on Saturday, will be three antique seminars in the General Dearborn Room at the Inn.

At 1 p.m. on Saturday will be a talk on "Fact and Fancy: 200 years of American Quilts," by Mary Kay Davis, an instructor at Greenfield Village. At 3 p.m. J. Jordan Humberstone, also an instructor at Greenfield Village as well as an appraiser and antique consultant, will speak on "American Folk Art." Humberstone will also address an "Introduction to American Furniture" at 7 p.m.

A champagne and hors d'oeuvres preview reception will be held on March 20 at the Inn, from 8 to 11 p.m. for those persons requesting reservations. The preview reception tickets will cost $10 for single and $20 per couple, and may be ordered by calling 420-3237.

Schoolcraft schedules spring registration for gifted students

Spring registration for children ages 7-14 in talented and gifted classes at Schoolcraft College will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. March 24 in the Administration Building on campus.

The College is offering 10 classes, nine for academically and gifted children and one for their parents entitled "A Potpourri." The classes are in art, astronomy, biology, computer programming, conversational French, Spanish and German, and math.

The class for parents will focus on their role and provide a better understanding of the nature, needs and characteristics of the gifted child.

Spring classes run for eight weeks, March 30 through May 23. They will be taught during the late afternoon, early evening and Saturdays on campus and at the Garden City Center.

The program's coordinator, Robert W. Burnside, said that certification of the child's status as talented and gifted is required for registration. "We will accept either the child's school principal's or parent's signature for this," he said.

Tuition and fees for residents of the College District range from $41.50 to $46.50 depending on the class. Non-residents costs range from $52 to $57.

To relate pioneer life

Members of the Plymouth Historical Society will hear Sanford Burr of Plymouth relate early life in the Plymouth area at the March 12 meeting of the Society. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Burr has researched the life of his great-great-grandfather, Samuel Lyndon, who came to the Plymouth area in 1826.

He will relate the family history and display some of the family heirlooms which have been handed down through the generations.

Nowakowski

Peter Andrew Nowakowski was born March 5, weighing in at eight pounds, two ounces.

He is the son of Matthew and Christine Nowakowski of Plymouth Township, and the grandson of Mrs. D. Nowakowski of Pompano Beach, Fla. and Mr. and Mrs. C. Cook, Jr. of Warren. Peter also has a sister, Emily.

He will speak on "Language Based Learning Disabilities."

shop meeting set for Thursday, March 12, at West Middle School Cafeteria in Plymouth. The meeting will run from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The discussion will center on whether townships in Michigan are fully availing themselves of new options to best meet the needs of their citizens.

Members have been filling out answers to consensus questions for presentation at the meeting dealing with LWV support for present form of township government areas, whether townships with large populations and large tax bases should be required by law to change to a city charter type form of government and questions on alternative financing and taxing power for townships.

Muscular Dystrophy fund drive to start

The Muscular Dystrophy Association's annual "Shamrocks Against Dystrophy" drive will be held this year from March 12 and 19. Local teens will be covering the Plymouth-Canton Community between these dates. Contributions are appreciated.

For more information, or for those who want to help with time or gift, please call Chris Clements at 453-2913, or Keith Hay of the Muscular Dystrophy Association at 381-3838.

Livonia to host 1981 Special Olympics

Organizers for the 1981 Wayne County Special Olympics are gearing up for this year's extravaganza.

This year's Special Olympics will be hosted by the Livonia Civitans and are scheduled for Churchill High School.

The 1981 program will kick off Saturday, April 11, with gymnastics and bowling. Then on Friday, May 1, comes track and field and swimming.

To handle the participants will require 600 volunteers as huggers, scorekeepers, timekeepers, life guards and judges. Preliminary indications are that over 1,200 entrants will be participating.

Those interested in helping out as volunteers should contact Lou Mair at 422-4814.

Lecture series is set

A series of lectures will be presented at Canton High's Little Theatre this spring by the Centennial Park Chapter of the National Honor Society as a part of its Community Speakers Program.

The programs are open to the public without charge although donations will be accepted.

The first lecture will be 7:30 p.m. March 12. The program will be a debate, "Concerning Nuclear Power" with Steve Freedkin, a former director of the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan. He will take the anti-nuclear position, while a representative from Bechtel Power Corporation of Ann Arbor will take the pro-nuclear position.

On April 2, at 7:30 p.m. the lecture will be "Political Conditions in El Salvador and Other Latin American Nations" with Kenneth Langton, Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan as speaker.

A musical recital will be on tap for the third program May 7 at 7:30 p.m. Mark Thrasher, a graduate of Salem High now attending the University of Michigan on a music scholarship, will give a special performance and lecture entitled "New Trends in Sax."

The final lecture will be June 4 at 7:30 p.m. and will be called "Some Thoughts from Life." Jim Burnstein, local free-lance writer, will read from some of his own works which include articles in the Detroit Free Press and scripts for various television shows.

With Malice Toward None

Is cable television really going to sweep into Plymouth-Canton this year?

From the 550 subscribers currently hooked up to Omnicom Cablevision in Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville and Northville Township, how many homes will be on line in the next year?

From the four public access and two commercial cable stations currently offering some varying information on the screen now, how many will there be by next year?

From the several regional and national stations currently available on Omnicom, how many will there be within the next year?

Right now, cable television is a big question mark here.

It's a hot issue besides.

You'd think that since we're operating the first local commercial cable TV station (Eagle-Vision on Cable Channel 9), we'd have some of the answers to those questions and some insight into the issues.

But we don't. If you read Phyllis Redfern's column last week in The Crier you'd realize that our understanding of cable TV is barely at the "Dwell Mode, Field Zero, Disk Edit, Diagonal Line Feed, and CNTL A" (Those are just a few of the mysterious symbols we use to put the local newsbriefs on the air.)

As explained by Dave Willett, who owns Eagle-Vision and the Associated Newspapers in Wayne (The Crier's partners in operating Channel 9), "Cable could be a dead end or it could be a way to expand our ability to communicate tremendously."

So we have to rely on what others say to answer the cable TV revolution and what it might mean for The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Perhaps a more positive feeling about the future of cable is given by Denny Campbell, general manager of Cable Channel 13, (which is not yet on the air). "We're offering a new and exciting way to get local communications," he said.

Denny's station is owned by his brother, Chris Campbell (who you may recognize as Bob Seeger's bass guitar player -- a local musician who hit the big time) and they're intent on producing high quality programming for Plymouth-Canton-Northville.

Channel 13 hopes to broadcast talk shows, special features and (like Eagle-Vision) a daily newscast. The Campbells are nearing completion of a modern recording and filming studio on Joy Road in Canton as the station's headquarters.

Poor Denny was only slightly miffed, when, after months of planning and dreaming (much of which he had shared with Crier staffers) we beat him on the air. Friendly competition on the airwaves will go a long way towards helping local cable viewers get all the information and entertainment they need.

The third local commercial station is owned and operated by Omnicom Cablevision itself. Program Director Hugh Jencks envisions Omni-8's programming to include: local business spotlight, a Plymouth history feature, specials on such area features as Fall Festival, Plymouth Symphony concerts, Canton Country Fest, Christmas activities, July 4th parade, groundbreaking of note, and the chicken flying contest. Some school student shows are also anticipated.

Like our station, Omni-8 also foresees coverage of major news events and public meetings as well.

"The tip of the cable iceberg hasn't and won't be appreciated until area and local programmers are on the air," Denny Campbell explained.

For a while anyway, those of you with cablevision will have to bear with us as we learn how, in a different manner, to provide the information we're accustomed to providing. We don't expect to be as polished as Walter Cronkite (at least we don't have to compete with him any more) so we aren't going to try to pass ourselves off that way.

If even David Lehrer can talk for five minutes into the wrong camera on the nationally-shown MacNeil-Lehrer Report, we're entitled to the many on-the-air foul-ups you'll undoubtedly see on our local programming.

It takes time for us to learn how to use the computer that controls cable TV. We no sooner learn one part of it, when the darn thing breaks down. "As of Friday . . . the following channels will be off the air until next week due to a computer failure," read the message on cablevision all last weekend.

"These things take time," explains Pete Newell, president of Omnicom.

From his standpoint, the holdup has been getting enough subscribers on the system to get things rolling.

Newell and Jencks are the ones with most of the answers and the insight into the issues.

The problem, Newell says, is getting cable in.

First to award a franchise to Omnicom, the City of Plymouth is approximately 90 per cent wired and subscribers are now being added at a rate, Newell says, that will hit 200 to 250 new homes per week.

Plymouth Township can "look towards the fall for final completion," the Omnicom Prez says, while Canton, which currently has 12 cable subscribers, will have cable in before the ground freezes next fall.

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

For the past few weeks many residents in Plymouth, Plymouth township and Canton township have voiced opposition in varying degrees and in various forums to the group home concept.

Opposition is understandable, for group homes represent a relatively new approach to taking care of the mentally and physically impaired.

Some look upon group homes as a threat to property values. Others are concerned that group homes represent a danger and a menace to neighborhoods.

That's why it was timely that the Rev. Robert Perske, a nationally recognized authority in the field of mental retardation, dropped in Friday night on his way to a day-long workshop at Divine Child High School in Dearborn. The workshop was sponsored by several Detroit area ministerial and church lay groups.

Rev. Perske has been working, researching and lecturing on the group home concept for many years. In the conversation Friday night he shot down a lot of the myths and arguments presented by those who oppose introducing such group homes into the residential neighborhoods.

The bullets he used were facts, figures and case histories collected from all across the country and put together in a book, "New Life in the Neighborhood."

Rev. Perske cited a study made by John Wolpert on group homes for the mentally retarded, an investigation of neighborhood property impacts.

In that study of 754 group homes in 42 communities, Wolpert's research showed that the presence of group homes had no impact on property values at all.

"The proximity of a house to a group home had no effect on the market value, even homes next door to group homes did not decline in value," Wolpert maintained.

Some of the study's other conclusions were that there was no evidence of neighborhood saturation, group homes looked like any other houses in the neighborhood, the functions of the group home was inconspicuous and the group homes had a better appearance than the average home.

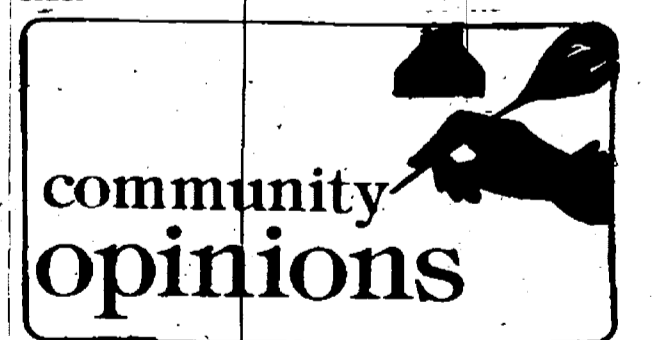

Rev. Perske also cited the result of interviews with 158 people living close to 87 group homes. He reported that 29 per cent of those interviewed were warmly involved with their neighbors who were handicapped. Sixty-two per cent were neutral. Only nine per cent seemed a bit distant and fearful and none were openly hostile.

"There are a lot of fears out there that are unfounded," Rev. Perske said. "It is just a question of throwing aside the myths in order to accomplish an improved way to care for and educate human beings so that they can contribute and participate in a better life."

After talking to Perske, it was evident that the group home concept is the best way. It is less costly, more productive and certainly a lot more humane to care for people in this manner than to stack them away out of sight and mind in some institution.

Those who are expressing open opposition to group homes should not be so set in their own minds that they won't listen to the other side.

EDITOR:
Our compliments to you and your cohorts on the publication of The Crier '81 Guide. You must be experiencing a special feeling of accomplishment of a job well done.

Indeed, the civic pride of the communities of Plymouth and Canton surely are soaring to see, all laid out so attractively, the businesses, the services, the cultural activities that make them outstanding in the county and a good area in which to live and work.

The cover picture was well chosen and well done.

Thank you for our copy of The Crier and the '81 Guide.

School lunch gets gripe

EDITOR:

How about spaghetti with pork sauce? Next year? Who are you kidding?

They're getting it now. Beef-O-Roni is Pork-O-Roni! All this month is pork. How about tacos? They are made with pork. Hamburg is mixed with soybean filler. Fine and good, but I think parents should know what their 85 cents is paying for.

Most of the time hotdogs are turkey franks or chicken franks.

We don't need ARA or satellite. We need the school food service to get back to cooks in the lunchroom.

If your child is in grade school and buys his or her lunch, say on hotdog day, and he buys an extra hotdog as he goes through the line it's 55 cents extra. But if he finds out he's still hungry after eating lunch and goes back for a hotdog, it's 90 cents.

They used to get two tacos. Now they get one.

I'm thinking of the child allergic to pork and the parents think he or she is getting beef.

The only way we will get rid of ARA and satellite lunch system is by parents speaking up.

CONCERNED PARENTS

Many questions unanswered

EDITOR:

Like many people, I did not speak at the school district's recent public forums. Many of us listened, either in person or at home. I would hate for the school administration to do another instant analysis of our silence, as is done with bond failures, and state that people did not speak because they were basically happy or satisfied with Plan III.

I did not speak because I felt the board had closed its mind to other proposals. I believed the forums were basically a boundary hearing as to the specific details of Plan III -- 10 children from here or a group from there. When people spoke to the larger issues -- the cost of ESY vs. portables, the loss of 9th grade program, the loss of 6th grade program, the loss of middle school concept, the West proposal, and the study of split shifting the high school, the Board became defensive and dogmatic.

But a common theme from the citizens became apparent. Where is the board's research? Where are the cost analysis? Where is the data? On what information is this decision based? How do you know your figures are correct?

When I spoke to a Board member prior to the public forums about the West Plan, she said to me, "Where were you a year ago when we made these decisions?" I had answered then that I was at West where we had written to the Board supporting other plans than grade realignment.

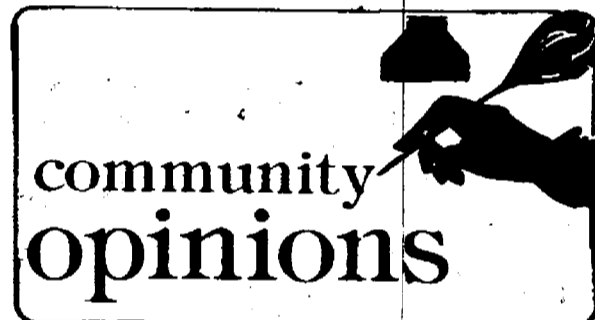

But, now, my question to the board is this. Where were the public forums a year ago when these decisions were made? What effort did you make to get widespread public input on these very dramatic program changes?

And, even if the public forums had been held last year, I doubt very much that the outcome would have been different. It is my opinion that the board, with the exception, of course, of Mrs. Tonda, receives nearly all its information and guidance from the superintendent, rarely questioning or looking themselves for alternate solutions or proposals.

This citizen and taxpayer often wonders why the board does not totally delegate their authority to the superintendent and dispense with the majority of their board meetings.

Canton library is appreciated

EDITOR:

It is a pleasure to have your library open and available for the children of Eriksson. They have come to school with many stories of how nice the public library is and how everyone is so helpful.

I especially would like to compliment Mrs. Bohrer, the children's librarian. She has been so helpful with the children and was kind enough to come here to Eriksson and tell the children some delightful stories and explain the function of the Canton Public Library.

I have called her a number of times with special reference questions and she never hesitated to research the answers and return the call. She has made resources available to me for my media center.

I appreciate the cooperation between our libraries and hope I may assist your organization as you have me!

Rescue unit gets vote of thanks for quick response

EDITOR:

Although I have repeatedly heard many sincere compliments on the efficiency and the sympathetic attitude of our rescue squad, I had not, until today, been a witness to its truly outstanding service.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Garnet Hawes, one of our residents, suffered a heart attack and rescue was summoned. From the first moment of their prompt arrival until our resident was delivered into the care of St. Marys Hospital personnel, the two firemen were untiring in their efforts to save Mr. Hawes. Unfortunately, this was not to be, but the firemen spared no efforts in their vigorous attempt to preserve Garnet's life.

I feel that we all owe a tremendous debt to our fire department, both for past services and more importantly, for the knowledge and assurance that competent assistance is just a phone call away.

glimpse at yesterday

DO YOU REMEMBER the fire that left this devastation along the railroad tracks near Main Street in the City of Plymouth about 1935-1940? These photographs of the charred remains were supplied by Hazel Markham, but neither she nor city fire officials could recall the details of the blaze. Former Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman thought the fire might have been at the old Daisy Warehouse or the Century box plant but couldn't be sure. Readers with information on the fires should please call The Community Crier at 453-6900.

Group homes are supported

EDITOR:

"Ignorance is not bliss, ignorance is pathetic..."

I am saddened by the response of a well educated segment of our community in response to a proposed foster home for the retarded. People are still equating the term "retarded" for "disturbed" rather than "slow development."

Neighbors are worried about the effect of retarded adults on pre-schoolers; did they ever stop to think it might be a tremendous lesson in compassion and an educational opportunity to teach about ill effects of prejudice and that differences exist in human beings.

As for property values. In my opinion Plymouth Opportunity House serves as an example of a facility increasing the aesthetics of a neighborhood. Furthermore, most people will not even be aware of the residents as they go about their daily routine.

My sister, Terry Jergens, moved into Plymouth Opportunity House in August after 20 years in a state institution. The tremendous progress and the level of independence she has attained, along with her increase of self-esteem, has been extremely heartwarming to our family and all who know her. And as a teacher for 12 years of the trainable mentally impaired, I can attest to the fact that normalization has to be modeled and taught.

Yes, some behavior may seem a little different, immature, or bizarre at first, but give these people a chance to learn, develop, and grow away from the confines of an institution.

I have seen for myself how the foster facility becomes in fact a "home" in the truest sense, the residents "brothers and sisters in the spirit."

Please give the Beech Court house the same chance to meet challenges as Plymouth Opportunity House. We will be a "richer" community because of it.

Irked by Smith reprimand

EDITOR:

We have arrived at a point that is both unsettling and downright dangerous. To illustrate, I'll use two points:

1. In the 25 Feb. Crier, Dr. John Telford was quoted in reference to West Principal Bob Smith, "His position (in the P/C schools) is as a line officer. He provides input at the proper time, but the supervisor and the board make policy. It's a philosophical argument. He perceives himself as a policy maker, when he is a policy implementor."

2. At the 26 Feb. PCSC meeting, Mr. Tom Yack made an admittedly biased presentation on the negative effects of split sessions at the CEP. His rationale for not studying split sessions is that there are too many unknowns.

Looking at point one, certain words come to mind:

a) Democracy -- from the Greek words people and to be strong to rule. Government by the people; government in which the supreme power is retained by the people and exercised by representation as in a republic.

b) Repress -- to check; curb, press or crush back down or out; quell, suppress; subdue.

Is the Board of Education representative when they refuse consideration of new ideas? The Board of Education is the ultimate policy maker, and I believe that if we get down to brass tacks, Mr. Smith is a policy implementor -- right along with Dr. Telford, Dr. Homes, Mrs. Spaniel and Dr. Hoben, who are hired by the Board of Education. Are we to believe that as concerned parents, teachers and building administrators we are denied the right to express our concerns openly and forthrightly? And who decides what time is proper and what remarks are appropriate?

Fencing is a sport with a definite point

BY DAN BODENE

Mention fencing, and one either thinks of the barriers that enclose back yards or of Errol Flynn backing up a staircase with Basil Rathbone in pursuit, rapiers slashing.

In reality, fencing is an old and traditional sport that is not only widespread in the United States, but growing in popularity.

In fact, an area fencing club was forced to move to Plymouth three years ago to take advantage of better facilities. The Cavalier Fencing Club, which originated in Livonia, now makes its home at Field School on Tuesday nights, according to Bruce Davis, a long-time member and instructor.

Davis holds impressive credentials in the sport -- he was the NCAA national foil champion in 1957 and 1958, an All-American fencer from 1957 to 1959 and is a member of the Wayne State University Hall of Fame.

He is modest about his accomplishments. "He never tells about those things," says wife Ruth. "I usually have to mention them."

Davis was a student of Bela deTuscan, credited with bringing the sport here in the early 1950s. During his military service Davis fenced in the "Border League" in Texas against many Mexican teams, before returning to Wayne State to learn under the tutelage of Istvan Danosi.

A Hungarian "maestro" of fencing like deTuscan, Danosi is still Wayne State's fencing coach and has been responsible for training several U.S. Olympic fencing teams. Davis, in fact, was once selected as an alternate for an Olympic team.

Along with Peter Barrett, Peter Becker and Eileen Roths, Davis teaches fencing using what he calls a non-traditional method -- more one-on-one instruction versus the established method of two lines of students practicing the same moves at the same time.

Essential to any mastery of the sport is good physical conditioning, Davis says. Although at first glance more a matter of control rather than strength, looks are deceiving -- fencing is extremely strenuous and is rated second or third of all sports in terms of actual caloric burnup, according to Davis.

Three types of weapons are used: the foil, a "point-thrust" sword with a flexible blade, used as a starting or teaching weapon; the epee, traditionally a "dueling sword" with a more rigid, triangular blade; and the saber, a slashing, cutting and point-thrust weapon, also with a more flexible blade.

Each weapon has a particular style of use according to its characteristics. The foil, for example, has a smaller "bellguard," or wrist and finger protector near the grip, and so the fencer is required to use more wrist control to fend off a thrust. Targets when fencing with a foil include the torso from neck to crotch and the back from the waist to neck.

The epee, which was traditionally sharpened on all three sides of the blade (although no longer), was originally intended to draw blood -- so in a match, the entire body is a legal target area.

Although the thickness and width of the saber blade has been reduced over the years to add speed to its use, the weapon can be used for slashing and cutting as well as point-thrusting. Target area for the saber includes the whole body from the waist up.

Fencing strategy is developed according to each of these target considerations, in addition to that of the individual opponent. Davis says he is more of an intuitive fencer, but the best competitors also analyze movements of their opposition to determine any weaknesses there.

Matches are played out on a regulation size mat, or "piste" and last between five and seven minutes -- in mostly furious activity. A strict etiquette is followed, from the opening salute to the judges to a handshake on the match's conclusion. To stop the action, for example, a competitor must either raise a hand or foil or stamp the mat with a foot -- the match director will not recognize any other attempt to halt the swordplay.

Most tournament matches are now electronically scored, using weapons with spring-loaded tips which are wired into a scoring machine via a cord threaded through the fencer's vest. Davis related a story about a Russian Olympic fencer who, under intense pressure to win, rigged his weapon to score using a secret switch on the weapon.

Cavalier Club fencers do not usually use the electronic equipment, however. Judging is done traditionally, with a match director, who determines "right of way" in an attack and watches the overall conduct; and judges who watch for specific violations.

Control is the watchword in fencing matches, Davis says. Competitors must learn where their blades are and where they will hit -- often, the function of the director is to stop a match when fencers are so carried away they move too close to each other. That is when a blade may break and injure a fencer, Davis adds.

To prevent such injuries, fencers wear masks constructed of heavy mesh and jackets of heavy duck cloth or canvas which come in a variety of thicknesses. Davis prefers a heavier jacket because of his mastery of all three weapons, two of which allow cutting movements.

Although Cavalier instructors can loan equipment for a short time, they encourage fencers to purchase their own once they decide to stay with the sport. "We have very limited equipment," Davis says, "but we are unlike other clubs in that we charge no fees at all."

Davis calculates a foil now costs from $12 to $15, a mask may cost from $15 to $20, and jackets go for $25 and up depending on the weight. A pair of tennis shoes round out the gear needed for the sport.

Cavalier welcomes new members, of both sexes, Davis says. Currently listing about 20 members, the club's turnout on any given Tuesday night rarely exceeds eight or 10, thus allowing more personal instruction.

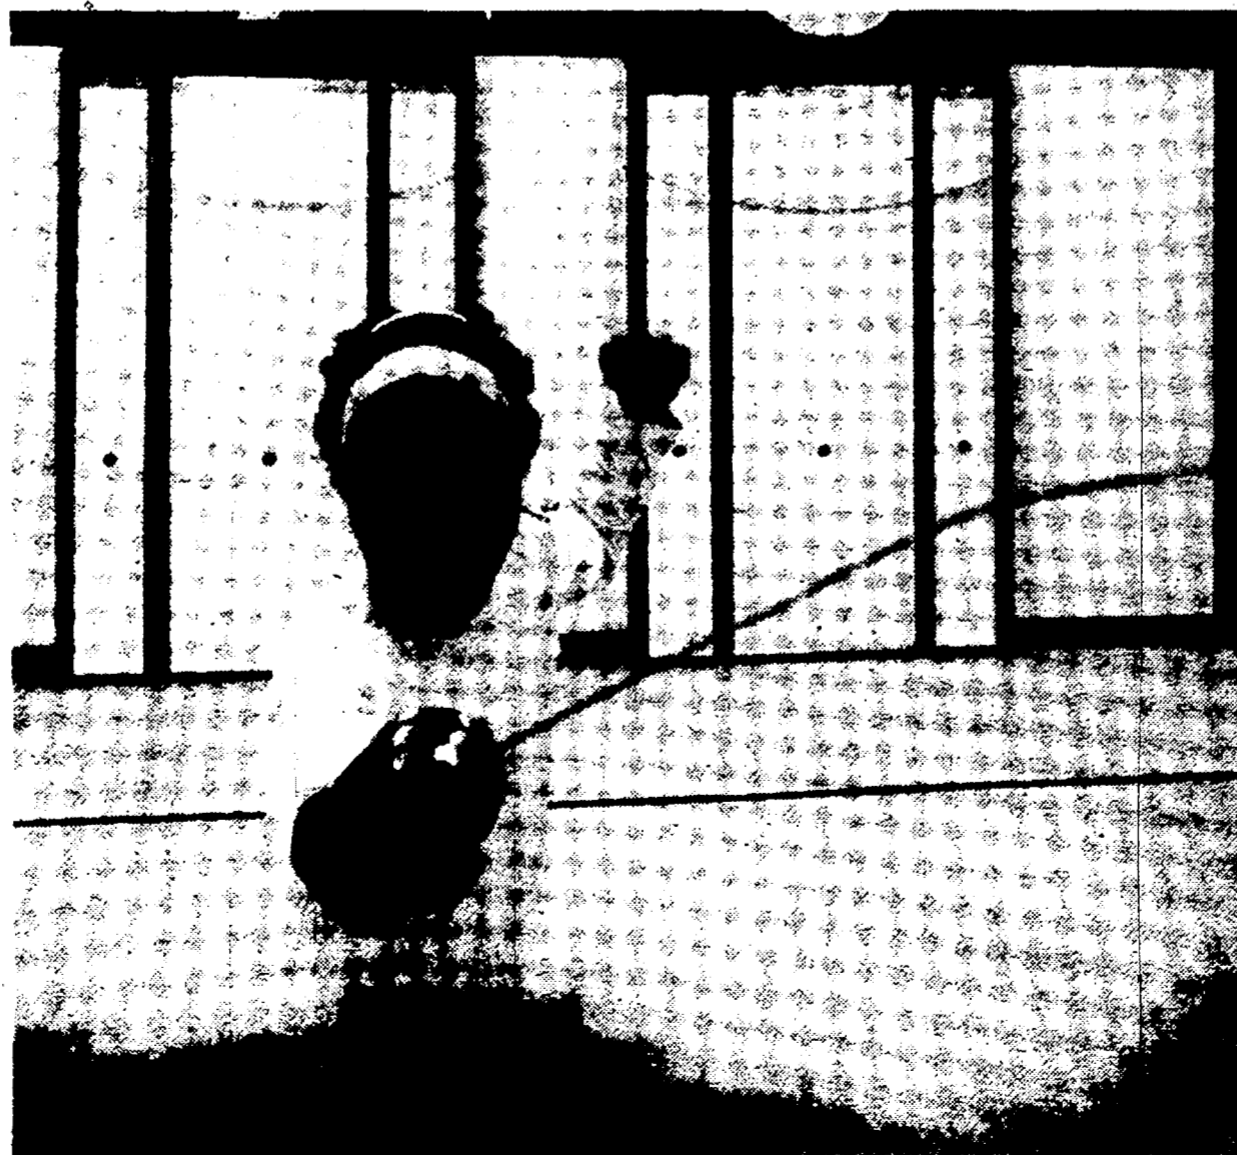

A traditional sport, yes. A strenuous sport, yes. A relatively inexpensive sport, yes. But sadly, perhaps, there isn't much opportunity to back up stairways with Basil on the attack.

THRUST AND PARRY are basic moves in fencing, which demands concentration as well as good reflexes. Due to quick bursts of activity, fencing is actually one of the more strenuous sports and affords an excellent opportunity for rigorous exercise.

THROUGH THE MASK, this is the view which confronts a fencer during a match. Protective equipment such as a heavy canvas or duck jacket, gloves, mask and blunt-tipped weapons are as essential as skill in the sport.

tell it to Phyllis

Everyone knows a woman has to carry a purse or handbag of some kind. After all, where else would you put all those little necessities of life that you never know when you might need?

No matter how large or small a purse is, it's amazing how much junk you can squeeze into it. On a good day a normal purse can hold a wallet, kleenex, glasses, lip stick, comb, check book, two packs of gum, 15 paper clips, three notebooks, a bottle of aspirin, a spool of thread, 23 pens and pencils, 500 notes (on separate scraps of paper) and that's not counting the keys and nail file that you can never find.

Getting a new purse or wallet is agony. You have to examine it and check out all the pockets and compartments before you decide what should go where.

I've spent years searching for the perfect wallet and still have yet to find it. I love all those little see through window things. They're great for pictures, credit cards, and check cashing cards, but what about the all important driver's license? No matter how much you push or try to fit it in, a driver's license won't go into most of those plastic see through things.

It's frustrating when you have to search through one section for the right check cashing card, then have to dig through another section to see where you stashed the dumb driver's license. I understand not wanting to show off the ridiculous picture on the thing, but it would be nice if it fit in the same place with everything else.

Changing purses is a real riot. There are women who have a purse and shoes to go with every outfit. God only knows how they keep up with what's in which purse. I can never find my keys in the one purse I have.

As a person who doesn't change purses often, I make it a rule to try to clean the thing out about once a month. You never know what might be growing in there, and besides it gets so heavy I can hardly pick it up.

You can always tell when a favorite purse has been around for awhile. Not only is it worn around the edges with a handle hanging on by two threads, but it has that stretched out look.

Men are the first to laugh and make fun of a woman's purse, but have you ever heard them ask a woman to carry an extra pack of their cigarettes in her purse, or ask to borrow something a woman has stored somewhere in there? Come off it you super machos of the world, you're just jealous because you don't feel comfortable carrying a purse.

Mary Bammel of Canton was listed in the 1981 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. She is a student at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Randall Rienas of Lindsay in Plymouth was named to the Dean's List at Western Michigan University. He is a junior majoring in Education.

Western Michigan University recently announced the names of students receiving degrees following fall semester. Students from Plymouth are: James Tomlinson of Holbrook, a Master's of Arts; and Barbara Croci of Nantucket, a Bachelor's of Science.

Winners of the 1981-82 Recognition of Excellence Awards have been announced by Eastern Michigan University. To win the $1,000 scholarship a student must have earned a minimum 3.5 grade point average in high school or community college and demonstrate outstanding leadership.

Students from Canton who received the award are: Timothy Backiel of Lancaster Court (Divine Child High School); Kathleen Brophy of Princess Drive (Canton High School); Gerald Grady of Jennings Court (Canton High School); Eric Ley of Geddes Road (Belleville High School); and Diane Palewoda of Applewood (Salem High School).

Plymouth students receiving the award are: Nicole Cheek of Mellowood (Salem High School); and Wendy Pearson of Napier Road (Canton High School).

Community Arts Council to offer fine arts awards

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will again sponsor their "Student Fine Arts Awards" for students at the Middle School level.

The purpose of these awards is to encourage further study in the student's particular area of interest, such as drama, vocal music, music composition, sculpture, creative writing, painting, crafts, dance, photography, etc. A total of $500 will be divided among qualified applicants.

The deadline for submitting applications is Thursday, April 2. Applications are available in all Plymouth-Canton middle school offices.

Logo winner

MICHAEL O'BRIEN, a fifth grader at Eriksson School, is the winner of the 1981 Student Artfest logo contest. Shown here with his art teacher, Kathy Nyhus, O'Brien is the first person to have a design chosen for the event, which premieres this May. He was also honored at Monday night's Board of Education meeting for his design, chosen from more than 100 entries. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Changes define indefinite school boundaries

Arbor Trail and Beck, south on Beck to Ann Arbor Road, west to Ann Arbor Trail, east to the starting point would change from Central to West.

*An area from a starting point of the C&O Railway and Ann, south on Ann to William, east to Harvey, south to Church, east to Main and south to Ann Arbor Trail would change to West from Central.

These changes to Plan III were further modified Monday night in three main areas.

First, an area from a starting point at Ann Arbor Road and Ridge, north on Ridge to Powell, east to Beck, south to Ann Arbor Trail and west to Ann Arbor Road would change from the Plan III configuration of Farrand, to Bird and West.

Next, an area between Pinetree, Joann, Ann Arbor Road and Dorian would change back to Smith, from Bird.

Finally, a "package" of areas including one beginning at Joy and Main, north on Main to Ann Arbor Road, east to Mill, north to Ann Arbor Trail, east to a line between Gold Arbor and Southworth and south to Joy would change to Tanger; an area bordered by Edward Hines to the north, I-275 to the west, Eckles to the east and Ann Arbor Road to the south would remain unchanged from its present Tanger boundary; and an area bordered by Joy to the north, I-275 to the east and C&O Railroad along to Haggerty to the west would also remain unchanged from 1980-81 Tanger boundary.

District administrators were also directed to investigate switching Plan III boundaries for Hulsing and Gallimore.

Treasurer Glenn Schroeder disagreed with the changes, however. "I think we should go with the boundaries we have now," he said. "I think we have a decent plan, and I hate to start chipping away at it."

Board members unanimously voted to accept Plan III as revised by the March 3 workshop and Monday's meeting, and to present it at the Thursday, March 12 hearing, at 7:30 p.m. in the gym of the Phase III building at CEP.

Interested persons can also listen to the hearing on WSDP-FM, 88.1 radio, the School District's educational radio station.

Shenanigans

1981 Plymouth Community Arts Council
FOLLIES

March 13 and 14 - 8 p.m.
Plymouth Salem Auditorium

Now that's entertainment.

Once every two years, the Plymouth Community Arts Council sponsors its own version of a vaudeville review -- the Follies. This year, the theme of all the outrageousness is aptly titled 'Shenanigans.'

Ordinary folks from all walks of the Community have been slaving over a hot stage for weeks in preparation for the show, which is directed by show-biz veteran Ed Horner. From costumes to cast party, the whole affair is a golden opportunity for local talent to get some greasepaint in their blood.

Really a 'show within a show,' according to chairman Jan Gattoni, the revue centers around the recurring antics of the stage manager and a scrubwoman, who introduce each act as well as creating their own scenes.

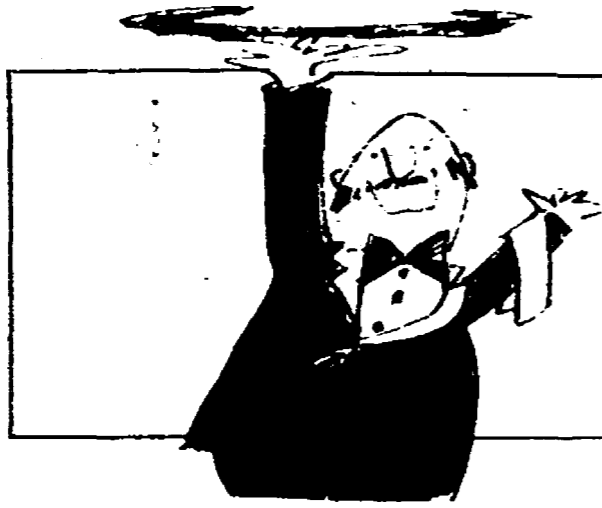

Among the acts are full-blown dance and vocal routines, comedy skits, musical productions and many, many others.

Each one of 200 persons involved in the show is eager to strut their stuff for the Community, so the time is now to reserve those seats -- advance ticket sales only.

Going for $6 for main floor and $3 for balcony seats, tickets are now available at Plymouth Furniture from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays.

For more information on the show, call the PCAC office at 455-5260 between 9 a.m. and noon on weekdays.

See you at the show.

Certificates of Deposit are one very real way that Plymouth's Bank can help you plan for tomorrow today. Starting at $500, they pay a highly competitive interest rate and are F.D.I.C. insured. With amounts over $5,000, interest may be paid monthly by check or added to your account.

Money Market and 2 1/2 Year Variable Rate Certificates. Money Market Certificates match the average rate of 6-month U.S. Treasury Bills and require $10,000 minimum 6-month deposit. Variable Rate Certificates (from $500) pay a fixed yield 3/4% below 2 year government securities with interest compounded continuously.

To learn more about Certificates of Deposit . . . or any of the savings programs Plymouth's Bank offers . . . stop by either office. You'll find it a wise investment.

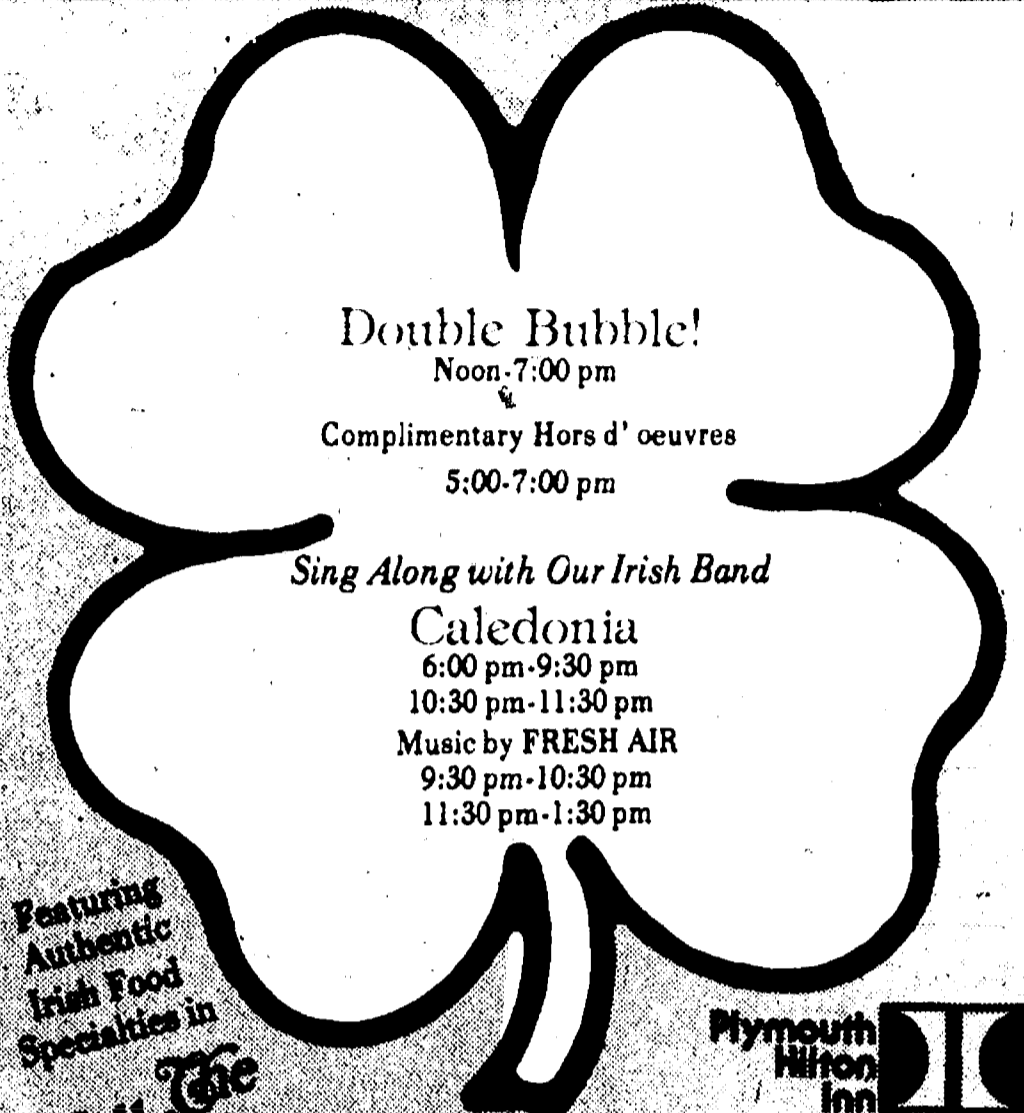

Federal Regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal on any time savings or certificate.

Symphony shines with modern, classical fete

BY REEF MORSE

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra departed from its usual Sunday programming to present a modern work by Paul Creston, sandwiched in between the more classical overture to the opera "Oberon" by Carl Maria von Weber and the "C-Major Symphony" by Franz Schubert.

The Creston work, entitled "Fantasy for Trombone and Orchestra" was written in the 1940's and was first performed in Los Angeles. Last Sunday's performance featured Dennis Smith, who is Associate Professor of Trombone at the University of Michigan School of Music.

The piece is quite difficult and is a good vehicle for demonstrating the range and musical subtleties of the trombone. It is written without pauses, although it has an obvious slow-fast-slow cadence.

Mr. Smith gave a good performance and responded to the audiences' applause with an encore of "Oh Danny Boy". These two pieces contrasted well and one was left with a better appreciation of the trombone as a solo instrument.

The Oberon Overture, written in the 1820's, opened the concert. The Overture is essentially a thematic synopsis of the opera orchestra, it is a difficult selection because of its length and its heavy reliance on the string sections throughout the entire piece.

The Plymouth Symphony gave an enjoyable and powerful performance and deserved every bit of applause they received. Everything about the performance was precise, strong, and accurate. Only in the fourth movement were there any obvious flaws and those were clearly due to exhaustion.

Although the entire orchestra deserves praise, the individual performance of Kristy Meretta was outstanding and added a special note to the general joy of the symphony.

STORY HOUR at Smith School on Mar. 2 was the tale of "Madeline," by Ludwig Bemelman. Helping to recreate the story of the famous French girl were "nuns" (from left) Hazel Gibson of Plymouth Book World, who sponsors the story hours, Aiden Brodick and Pat Atchinson. and moves along quite quickly. It is joyful and entertaining music and served well to warm up the audience and the orchestra.

The second half of the program was a splendid performance of Schubert's "Great" Symphony in C Major. Schubert finished this masterpiece in the late 1820's, only a year or so before his death at the age of 32.

To call this symphony "Great" is no understatement. It is symphonic music on a grand scale. This work is broad and full; something is happening all the time. Themes and counterthemes pop up and are developed by various instruments in rapid succession and often several are heard together. For the Local couple celebrate 50th

Erwin and Gertrude Kersten celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at the Plymouth Elks Lodge 1780. The party was hosted by John and Helen Kersten, of Canton, Stewart and Kathy Israel, of Canton, Ronald and Mary Kies, of Elmhurst, Ill., and Larry and Paula Kersten of Elkhorn, Neb.

Erwin Kersten worked for the city of Detroit for 44 years before retiring in 1969. Both people were instrumental in starting the Senior Elks Club at the Plymouth Elks Lodge in 1970.

They have 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Livonia wins hockey tourney Plymouth 4th

Livonia defeated Fraser 3-2 in the finals of the State Midget A Hockey Tournament at the Plymouth Cultural Center Sunday.

Livonia won the game when Marty Hussey scored in overtime. Livonia had reached the finals with a 9-5 win over Jackson.

Fraser defeated the Plymouth-Canton squad 10-2 to make the finals. Plymouth is sponsored by Realty World, William Decker Inc.

Sam Barrie and Tom Smith tallied the two Plymouth goals in that game with Fraser.

Plymouth started the tourney with an 8-5 win over Lincoln Park on Thursday. Saturday, Lakeland defeated Plymouth 4-2.

Plymouth then came from a 4-1 deficit to beat Jackson 6-5 and advance to the game with Fraser. Marc Hollowood opened the scoring for Plymouth, but then Jackson tallied four goals.

Brian Hodge got Plymouth back to 4-2 with a goal, but then Jackson scored again to lead 5-2. John Sule then scored for Plymouth and Larry Figurski collected two goals before Hollowood tallied the game winner at 4:12 of the third period.

Chief swimmers swamp Western 6 foes to win league

BY PATTY RADZIK

The Canton swim team put the finishing touches on an outstanding season Friday by winning the Western Six League Meet held at Farmington Harrison High School.

The Chiefs tallied 362 points in the victory, followed by Northville in second place with 245 points; Livonia Churchill in third place with 229 points, and Harrison in fourth place with 167 total points.

Canton ended the regular season with a 8-3 overall record, and won the Western Six League crown, staying undefeated, 6-0.

All of the Chiefs' swimmers made it to the finals after Thursday's preliminary round of action in which Jim Luce broke his own freshman record in the 100-yard breaststroke race with a time of 1:06.6.

Luce placed second in the same event in the finals with a 1:06.8 timing.

"It was a great meet," Canton coach Bill McCord commented. "I wasn't sure we would win by as much as we did. Almost everybody finished with his best time."

"The divers were amazing," McCord continued to say. Steve Gaggi won the diving competition, scoring 284.1 points. Craig Vandenburg, a freshman only into his third week of diving, placed sixth with 192.7 points.

Bob Simrak, Luce, Ron Hurley and Pete Stern combined talents to win the medley relay race in a time of 1:45.4.

Hurley went on to win the 50-yard freestyle race with a 23.5 timing. Pete Sickles finished fourth in the event with a score of 25.2.

Hurley also captured first in the 100-yard butterfly race with a time of 56.7. Joe Gibbons followed in fourth place with a 1:04.5 timing.

Simrak won the 200 IM with a time of 2:09.1, and Joe McBratnie placed fourth with a 2:20.8 timing. Simrak also finished third in the 100-yard backstroke race with a time of 1:01.0. Sickles came in fifth with a time of 1:07.1.

John Simone placed third in the 200-yard freestyle event with a time of 1:58.5. Tom McKercher finished fifth with a time of 2:02.0.

Pete Stern came in second in the 100-yard freestyle race with a 50.9 timing, and Simone placed second in the 500-yard freestyle event with a time of 5:23.1. Freshman Scott Simons finished fourth in the 500-yard race with a 5:47.0 timing.

Canton won the second relay race with a time of 3:34.2. Simone, Stern, Gibbons and Sickles swam in that event for the Chiefs.

Canton, Salem spikers end year with losses at districts

The season ended Saturday for both the Canton and Salem volleyball teams at district competition at Ann Arbor Huron High School.

The Chiefs won their first round match with Ann Arbor Pioneer 15-10 and 15-5, and advanced to the semifinals where Bedford dropped Canton 15-4, 7-15 and 15-9.

"Bedford was a good team," Chief coach Cyndi Burnstein said. "In the first game we were asleep or something. We just could not get the first pass up."

Burnstein used various line-ups throughout the tournament, and a change of the roster in the second game helped Canton. "The combination wasn't right in the first game. I changed the line-up in the second game, and we beat them."

Debbie Dickinson was given credit by Burnstein on having a good game offensively for the Chiefs.

"We played better in the third game than the first," Burnstein commented, "but Bedford played better."

Rena Edwards also was praised by Burnstein for her performance throughout the day. "She was great. She was all over the place making saves."

Salem lost in the first round to Ann Arbor Huron 13-15 and 9-15.

The Rocks could not hold up against Huron's three power hitters. "Huron's a good team," Salem coach Cathy Himes said, "the kids played well."

Local squads win honors in PCJBA cage finals

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association completed its 1980-81 season last weekend with finals in five different boys and girls leagues.

The Jets dumped the Angels 34-26 in the finals of AA Girls League.

In the B Girls League, the Apollos defeated the Nets 23-10. The Apollos reached the finals with a 22-11 win over the Stars, while the Nets made the finals with a 22-9 win over the Dolphins.

The Gophers defeated the Wolverines 52-32 in the finals of the AA Boys League. The Gophers beat the Wildcats 54-42 to make the finals and the Wolverines beat the Badgers 45-36 to make the finals.

In the A Boys League the Royals came out on top 45-33 over the Pistons in the finals. The Royals had beaten the Lakers 51-35 and the Pistons had beaten the Chargers 41-28 to reach the finals.

The Pistons edged the Warriors 53-51 to win the AAA Boys League. The Pistons beat the Suns 65-58 and the Warriors defeated the Jazz 57-52 to reach the finals.

League team sign-up

New teams wishing to participate in the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department Adult Softball League can register from March 16 onward. Teams returning from last year can register any time.

Cost for women's slow pitch team is $300, while men's slow pitch is $390 and men's modified softball is $360. There will be eight women's teams, 24 men's slow pitch and 16 modified teams this year.

For further information call 455-6620.

Chief gymnasts falter in league meet

Canton placed first in only one event and lost a bid for the crown, finishing second in the Western Six League Gymnastic Meet at Walled Lake Western High School Friday.

Laurie Beale was the Chiefs' lone top prize winner, placing first in the floor exercise with a score of 8.65. Laura Michalek came in third with a score of 8.3, and Linda Beale finished fifth with a 7.85 scoring.

Michalek placed second in the vaulting event, scoring an 8.3. Laurie Beale came in fifth with a 7.9 score.

Michalek and Laurie Beale tied for second place on the uneven bars, both scoring a 7.85.

A dispute over scoring arose after Laurie Beale placed fourth on the balance beam with a score of 7.55, and Michalek finished fifth with a score of 7.45. "They were the poorest scores judged all night," Canton coach John Cunningham remarked. "They were not good scores for the routines that were done."

Laurie Beale topped all Chief performers in the all-around scoring with a mark of 31.95. Michalek came in third with a 31.90 mark, and Linda Beale placed fifth overall with a mark of 29.20.

"We did alright across the board," Cunningham said. "We did terrible in two events, and good in two events, but Northville did good all-around."

Canton had two falls on the uneven bars, and five-tenths of a deduction was made for each, which in the end, decided the meet.

The Chiefs enter Regional competition Saturday at Ann Arbor Huron High School.

"Looking back to last year," Cunningham said, "we peaked at regionals. If we have a peak night this year, we will finish in the top five; which place it will be I don't know. I am optimistic."

Salem, Canton cagers make league squads

Junior Mike McBride and senior Mike Sharp were named to the first and second teams all-Suburban Eight last week.

Canton's Sean Houle and Dave Malek were selected to the Western Six All-League teams. Senior Houle made the first team, while senior Malek was picked for the second team.

McBride was named to the first team along with John Hollis and Dave Rucker, of Dearborn, Toby Puffer, of Dearborn Edsel Ford and Jon Kilger of Livonia Bentley.

Sharp made the second team with Reggie Grantham, of Belleville; Tom Bowel, of Allen Park; Bob Schudlich, of Dearborn; and Paul Wyendorf, of Edsel Ford.

CC to host more hockey

The Plymouth Cultural Center will host the 1980-81 Bantam A State Hockey finals starting tomorrow and running through Sunday.

Eight teams from across the state will participate in the competition. Teams include Plymouth, Dearborn, Taylor, Grosse Pointe, Flint, Farmington, Ann Arbor and Livingston County.

Tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. Plymouth will play Grosse Pointe, while Dearborn will face Ann Arbor at 8:30 p.m.

On Friday, Livingston will face Flint at 6:30 p.m. and Farmington will play Taylor at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday will be a full day with eight games slated. The first, at 8 a.m., will match Ann Arbor and Grosse Pointe; the second will match Plymouth and Dearborn, at 9:45 a.m.; the third will match Livingston and Farmington, at 11:30 a.m.; and the fourth game will match Flint and Taylor, at 1:15 p.m.

Evening games include Plymouth and Ann Arbor at 3:30 p.m., Grosse Pointe and Dearborn at 5:15 p.m., Taylor and Livingston at 7 p.m. and Farmington and Flint at 8:45 p.m.

Sunday games will be at 10 a.m., noon and 6 p.m. for the finals. Tickets are $2 for adults or $8 for a tournament pass, $1 for students (8-18) or $4 for a tourney pass and children under eight free.

Jr. baseball registration

There will be two more days of baseball registration for the up coming Plymouth Canton Junior Baseball League baseball season.

This Saturday and March 14 will be registration dates at Canton High's cafeteria from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. All boys and girls who will be seven years old on or before July 31, 1981 and no older than 17 years old on or before July 31, may register to play in the program. Proof of age is required.

The PCJBL reserves the right to limit the number of players on a team in each age group. If more players register in an age than playing facilities permit, players will be selected on a first register, first play basis.

A new softball program for girls 7-10 years of age has been implemented for this season, replacing the T-ball program. Cost for the girls softball is $14 for ages 7-10, $18 for girls juniors, 10-13 years old, and $20 for girls seniors, 14-17 years old.

Cost for boys programs is $14 for ages 7-8, $18 for both 9-10 year olds and 11-12 year olds, and $20 for both 13-14 year olds and 15-17 year olds.

Umpires, managers and interested adults are also needed for this season. Anyone interested can sign up at the registration or call Rich Madsen at 420-0223.

Rock cagers edged by Wayne in district action

BY KEN VOYLES

"If they did one thing better than we did, it was rebound the basketball," said Salem basketball coach Fred Thomann after his squad dropped out of the district competition Thursday.

The Rocks fell 47-43 to Wayne Memorial in the second round game of the series and ended their season. Salem compiled a 13-9 mark (including post season games) and 8-4 in the Suburban Eight League for third place.

The other factor contributing to the Rocks defeat was Wayne's William Hargrove. He sank 10 free throws without a miss for the Zebras, including six in the final two minutes.

Paul Horton opened the Rocks scoring with a bucket at 7:34 then Dave Houle added one at 6:28 to tie the score 4-4 in the first quarter.

The Rocks came up dry for the next five minutes, while Wayne pushed ahead 12-4. John Cohen tallied one free throw at 1:11 to break the Salem slump and he was followed by Dave Miller with a bucket at 35 seconds and Mike McBride with a basket at the buzzer. The score at the end of the first period was 12-9, Wayne.

The Rocks overcame that three point difference late in the second quarter. Houle started the Salem's second quarter scoring with a basket at 7:29. McBride scored at 6:40 to give Salem at 13-12 margin. But the Rocks went cold again for over two minutes and Wayne jumped back on top 18-13, before Mike Sharp scored for Salem at 4:32 and McBride at 3:22 to close to 18-17.

Cohen tallied at 2:41 and McBride closed the Rocks' first half with a bucket at 44 seconds to tie the score 21-21.

"I thought early on we played a little tentatively," said Thomann. "We just didn't play tonight.

"Mental preparation for a game like that is a hard thing to define," he continued. "Because one guy is ready doesn't mean his buddy is."

McBride scored five points, Cohen added four and Miller scored two points to push the Rocks ahead 32-29 by the end of the third quarter.

Sharp opened Salem's scoring in the final quarter with a basket at 6:47 and two free throws at 5:29 to give Salem a 36-33 margin. Salem didn't score again until 3:09 when McBride picked up a bucket. Houle had fouled out at 3:22 and Wayne went ahead 40-38.

Sharp added two more free throws for the Rocks at 2:23 to tie the score 40-40, but then Wayne scored four points to lead 44-40.

Cohen hit one free throw at 1:14 and Sharp scored a bucket at 39 seconds, before fouling out, to close to, 45-43, but Wayne got two free throws from Hargrove with 10 seconds left to close 47-43.

"They gave us pressure at the perimeter and packed it up inside. We struggled offensively tonight to make the right offensive adjustments," said Thomann. "Their game plan was sound, although I think we could have done something more if we had recognized the adjustments."

McBride paced the Rocks on offense with 15 points, while Sharp collected 10. Cohen scored eight points, Houle and Miller had four and Horton two.

PC Cruisers suffer defeat to Milan

The Plymouth-Canton Swim Club (Cruisers) was defeated by Milan last week 317-203. The Cruisers will close out their dual meet season, before the post-season championships begin with a game March 16 against Ypsilanti at home in the Salem pool.

The 11-12 year-old girls 200-yard medley relay squad of Michelle Stackpoolé, Cindy Elliott, Lori Shaffer and Kathy Kennedy clocked 2:19 to win that race for the Cruisers.

Jim Casler, Steve Swartzinski, Mike Harwood, and Chuck Eudy won the boys 13-14 year-old 200-yard medley relay with an effort of 2:04.5.

Stackpoolé, Elliott, Shaffer and Kennedy teamed for first in the girls 11-12 year-old 200-yard freestyle relay with a time of 2:01.9.

In individual events, B.J. Bing scored the only Cruiser first-place she won the 13-14 year-old butterfly with a time of 1:10.2.

Theresa Shaffer was second at 1:15.2 and Kim Vesnaugh was third at 1:23.

Other individual efforts included Kellie Adamczak second in the girls eight and under butterfly, 20.4 seconds; Scott Swartzwelter, third in the boys 9-10 race, 38.2;

Erin Olson, second in the girls 9-10 race, 38.3; Don Harwood, third in the boys 11-12 race, 33.7; Lori Shaffer, second in the girls 11-12 race, 33.2; Kennedy third, 33.5; and Mike Harwood, second in the boys 13-14 race, 1:07.

Salem gymnasts 5th at Sub 8

The Salem gymnastics squad ended the season Thursday by finishing fifth in the Suburban Eight League Meet at Dearborn Edsel Ford High School.

The Dearborn Pioneers won the competition with a score of 92.3 and Belleville finished in second place with a score of 91.8. Trenton came in third with a 85.65 score, followed by Edsel Ford with a score of 72.5 and Salem with a 59.8 score.

Beth Sieracki placed highest for the Rocks in the vaulting event, scoring a 6.15. Mary Cooney had a 5.25 score.

Germaine Mason scored a 5.0 on the balance beam, and Darla Doumanian scored a 4.85 in the event.

On the uneven bars Sarah Rubadue scored a 5.05, and Doumanian finished the event with a 4.3 scoring.

Beth Delbeke scored a 5.80 in the floor exercise, and Sieracki had a score of 4.80.

Orthopedic injury seminar draws locals to Canton

BY PATTY RADZIK

Connie Whittington, an Orthopedic Nurse Specialist from Atlanta, Georgia, was the guest speaker at a seminar held at Canton High School Saturday.

Approximately 50 persons attended the one day workshop entitled "Triaging Orthopedic Injuries in the Neighborhood", conducted by the Plymouth Registered Nurses Association in co-operation with University of Michigan Continued Nursing Education.

The program was designed specifically for the nurse, who is often a contact person when an orthopedic injury in the neighborhood occurs, but was also geared toward informing parents and athletic coaches as well.

Whittington is one of six nurses working for an orthopedic surgeon who is one of the team physicians for the Atlanta Falcons football team. Her duties include everything from assessing patient's injuries in the office, to applying casts, to providing patient education. Her responsibilities to the football players are no different from the ones she handles on her regular job.

The objectives of the seminar were to provide information on types of injuries such as sprains, strains, fractures and dislocations and how to treat them, as well as how to identify different injuries commonly occurring in various athletic activities.

Various topics were covered during the seven and one half hour program, which centered around the basic principle of informing and educating people on how to take care of themselves.

"Sometimes people only hear part of what a doctor tells them," Whittington commented. "More programs need to be set up to inform people-nurses, because they are resources in the neighborhood."

The first part of the meeting included discussions on physical fitness and American lifestyle; treatment for sprains, strains, fractures and dislocations; and techniques for splinting.

The second part of the seminar revolved around discussions on bursitis and growth plate injuries in children.

The third part of the program involved back injuries, exercises for basic stretching and strengthening, followed by a discussion on injuries commonly incurred by runners; mainly stress fractures and shin splints.

The fourth and final section of the seminar dealt with common orthopedic injuries to the knee and orthopedic surgical procedures.

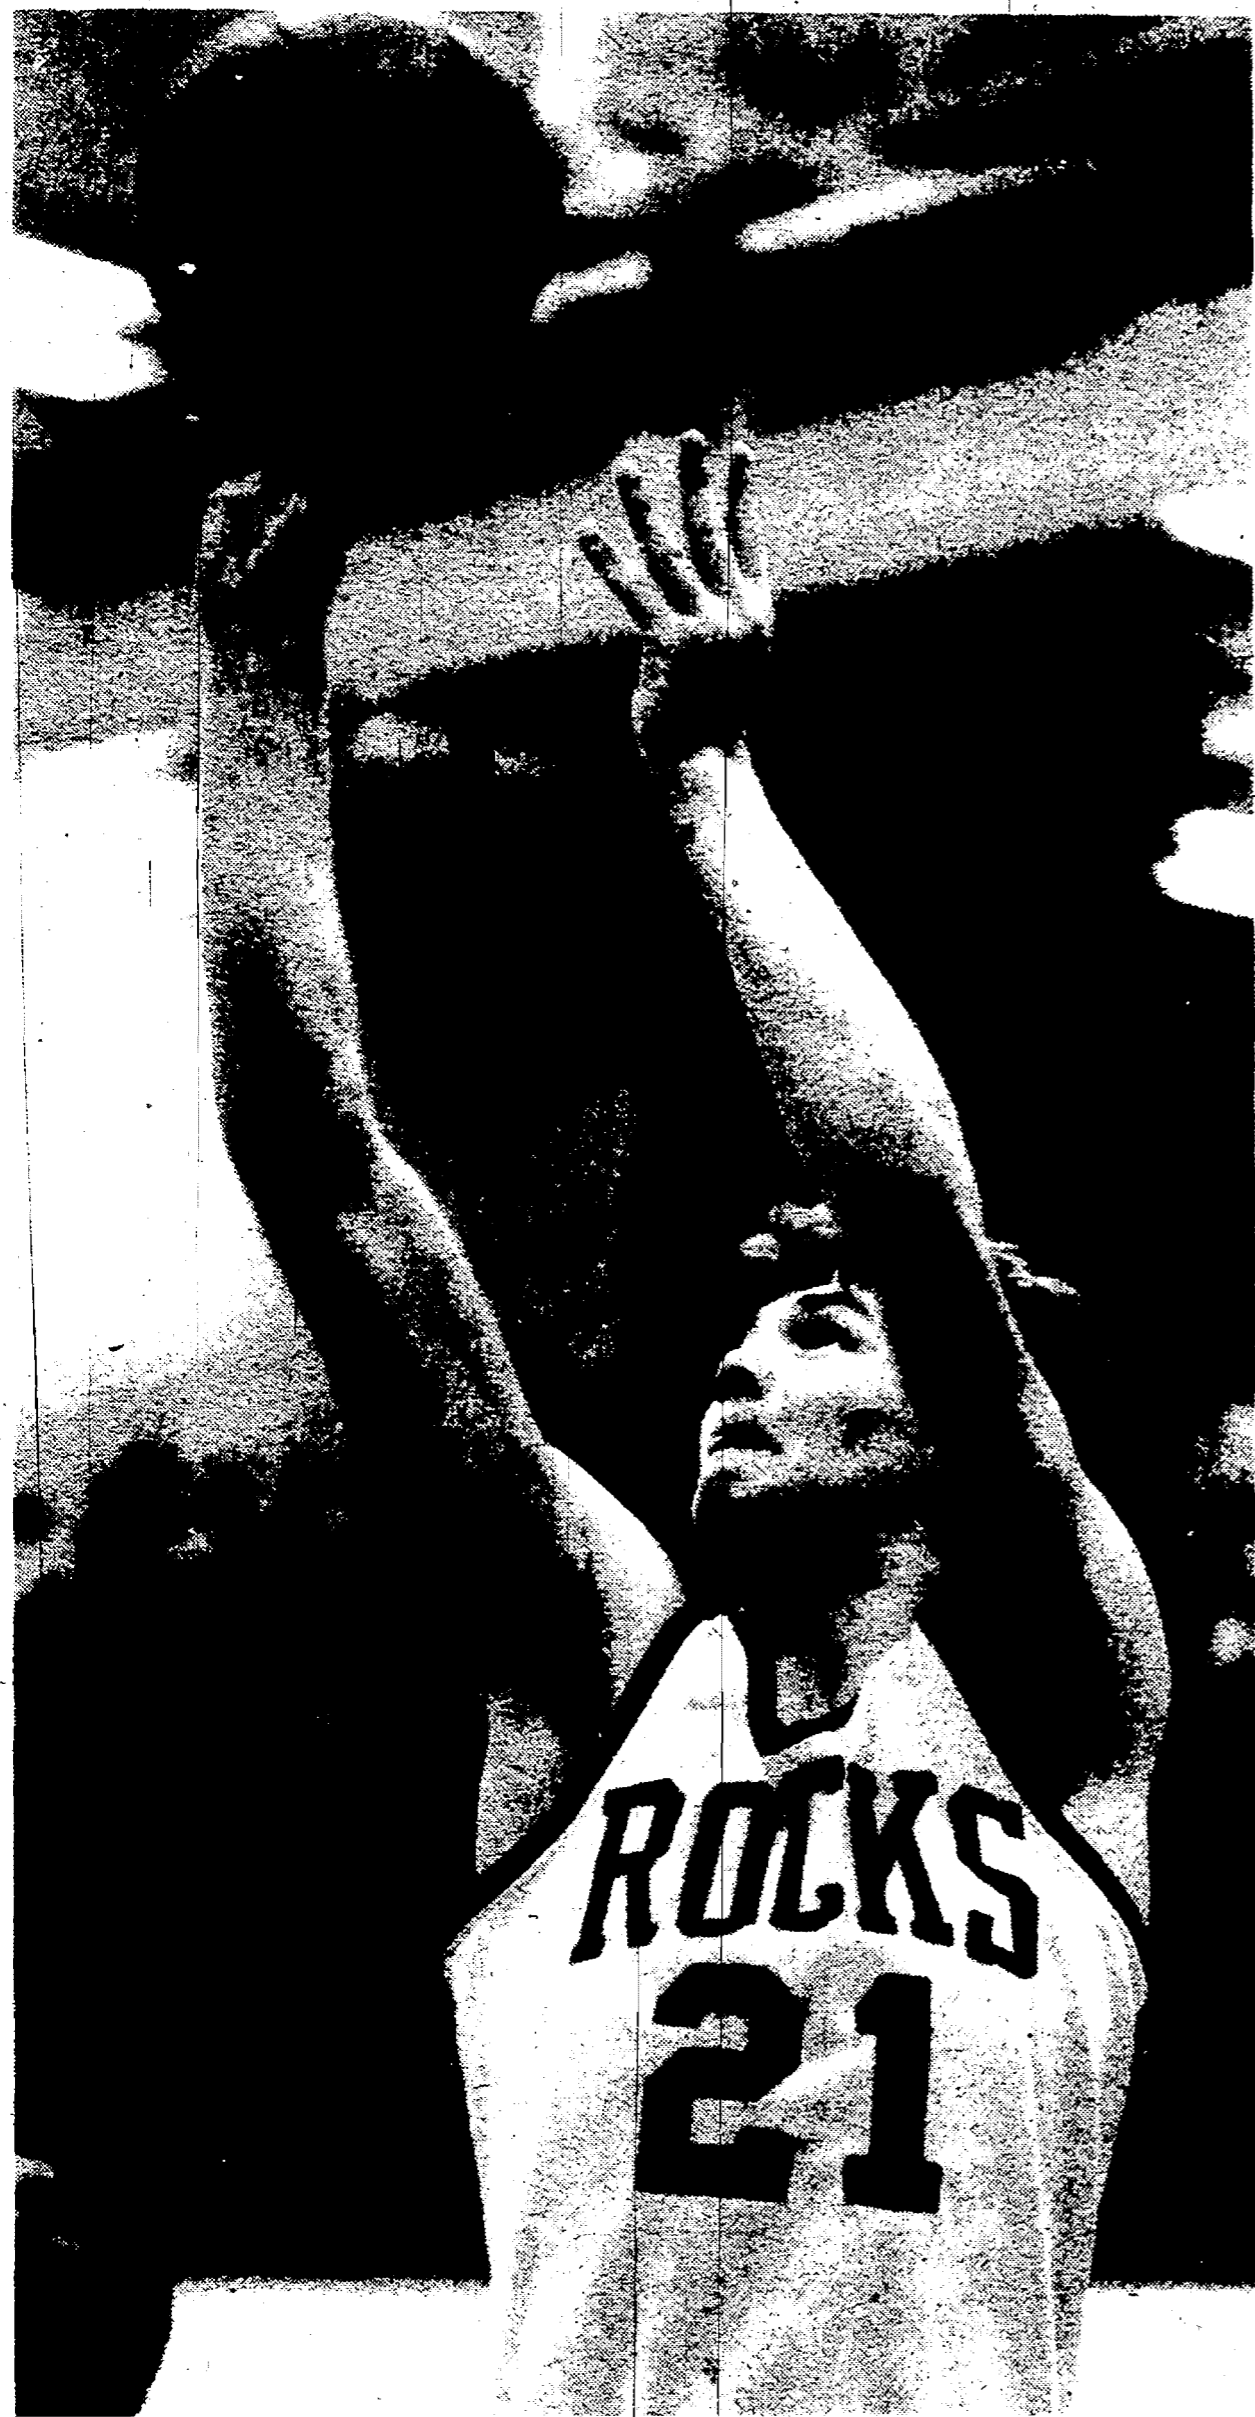

Whittington used her dealings with football players as a common ground for explaining different injuries to the knee. She often sits down with players and views films showing them why and how they got injured.

Knee injuries are especially common in the sport of football. "So many football players get hurt because their cleats get planted in the grass when they get hit," Whittington explained.

The knee is the largest and most complex joint in the body. Operations are being performed with increasing numbers to repair torn ligaments and cartilage.

Arthroscopic surgery is a revolutionary new surgical technique being used today to detect the extent of injuries to various joints in the body. It permits the examination of all the joint structures and in some instances, cancels out the necessity of major surgery. In the last year and a half, Whittington has assisted on over 300 of 750 arthroscopes performed in the office in Atlanta.

Ross makes division finals

Sharon Ross, of Canton, will be among the Oberlin College girls swim team members to compete in the AIAW Division III championships March 12-14 at Coe College in Cedar Rapids Iowa.

Ross qualified for the AIAW meet last weekend while helping the Yoefish to a third-place finish in at the OASW III championships.

Ross made a strong showing in her first college championships when she, beat national standards of 18:33.57 and 5:02.25 in the 1650 freestyle and 400 individual medley races, respectively.

Ross clocked 18:24.39 over the longer distance and 4:58.45 for the individual medley, setting school records in the process. She was second in the 1650 and third in the 400 race.

Ross also took thirds in two other individual events. She set another OC record in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:30.45 and completed the 200 butterfly in 2:23.58.

Puckett beats Express

Puckett Heating defeated the Canton Express 89-79 last Thursday night in he Plymouth Adult Basketball League.

Pat McKendry kept the heat on for Puckett as he hit for 25 points, while Dan Moore added 25 also, including 13 free throws. Dennis Johnson was high scorer for the Express with 27 points.

A show down for the league title will take place at Central Middle School at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. McAllister's will face Rusty Nail 76ers in that game. If the 76ers win there will be a three-way tie for the championships with McAllister's and Mayflower Hotel.

Local Civitans have uphill fight for BMX track

Basically
by Ken Voyles

The Plymouth Community Civitans have been trying for almost a year to bring a safe bicycle moto cross track to the community. Its efforts have gone unrewarded so far as local governments and school administrators have not been impressed with the need for one.

There are questions about safety, noise level and costs, say local officials. Yet the Civitans have made the track a pet project and would be responsible for building and maintaining the moto cross track.

Local bicycle riders abound. They can be seen on streets or back lots trying to practice their new and fast growing sport. Between events, (few and far between), the riders have to practice. Some do it in their homes, some find dirt byways of the community and others bounce up subdivision curbs.

The Civitans would like to solve some of the worries that people might have with young riders by building one track to be used for practice purposes and for holding a few moto cross events.

Mike Caffrey is the leader of the Civitan's push for a BMX track and he finds local governmental reaction disturbing.

"We went to the school administrators first last spring and they listened to us good, but that was all, just listen," said Caffrey. "They said that they had to build a water retention field behind the CEP complex to make it.

"We offered to build it along with the track but they said no," he added.

There are plenty of activities in this community for boys and girls and outlets abound, but communities have to keep in step with the new and upcoming sports and take them into consideration as well.

This sport is very new, but there are several examples of a good program, for example one BMX built in Woodhaven last year.

Caffrey and the Civitans also felt ignored by Plymouth Township officials last fall when they went to them with a proposed plan for a small piece of property in the township recreation park at McClumpha and Ann Arbor Trail.

According to township supervisor Maurice Breen, the township board was approached sometime last October (when Thomas Notebaert was supervisor and Breen a trustee) but that the board was not interested because of the proposed location in the recreational park.

"We didn't think very much of their choice of the township park. Our information was that there is a great turnout at these events," said Breen. "Like any recreational item this would have to go through all the zoning procedures. I have not strong feelings one way or another about this but I wouldn't be in the forefront pushing this."

Breen added that people tend to react to something like this when its in their backyard. He then said he would go along with the track in the township if it were built in the "boondocks."

Buy why hide the track or support for the Civitan effort?

No public monies would be used for the track. The Civitans would build and raise the funds for the whole concept. Caffrey said much of the material and labor needed could be received from people willing to donate their efforts.

Now it's up to somebody in the community to help the Civitans find a piece of property on which to construct their track.

The club's final hopes seem to lie with the City of Plymouth. A local investor has looked into purchasing a piece of city owned property called the Six Mile Well.

The 10-acre property has a dump on one side and backs up to the Phoenix Correctional Facility in Northville Township. Its failure to pass perk tests indicate little or nor real value in residential property.

The city has repeatedly said the land is worthless to them and yet bickering over the terms of a contract for the sale has caused a big snag in the process.

According to Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper Jr. the land was appraised at $30,000 before percolation tests were conducted. When those tests revealed that only a small part of the land was useable for home building the value dropped considerably.

"The city isn't that interested in selling. The fact that the land might be given to the Civitans and used as a track doesn't enter into the decision," said Graper. "Right now we are trying to get a response. We think he's still interested, but we have to wait for his response."

"We are anxious to find out whether or not the investor will pursue the matter. Why not sell the land cheaply? The commission has said that the land is worthless. It wouldn't be worthless to us," Caffrey said.

A decision is needed now by the commission or the track will have to seek other property. To get sanctioned by the BMX governing body the track must be constructed before the start of outdoor racing season in May.

The Civitans concept of the track would be a place for weekend riding and with two or three racing events throughout the summer.

A house on the proposed site would be converted to a shelter and staging area for the riders. One third of the property is fenced in and Caffrey said that tentative plans have been drawn up with the track situated inside the fenced area so that the track can be closed off when there is no supervision available.

Why the stalling? The difference in interest rates is minimal and almost petty. Since the Civitans can use the 'worthless property' it should be turned over to them.

Another solution might be to get the city directly involved and then it wouldn't have to sell the land. A partnership, with the Civitans managing the land on a lease won't be dangerous to the city.

Instead it might prove that somebody gives a damn about the youth of the community.

Rehabilitation important says Falcons' Whittington

When a knee injury occurs on the playing field for example, Whittington recommends that all activity be stopped, and ice be applied immediately to the affected area.

If surgery is performed, Whittington advises that rehabilitation be started right away.

"I come into the recovery room and ask the patient to flex his leg just a bit. It hurts like hell, but if the patient does not start to rehabilitate right off the back, he will resist for days, and the longer you wait the more muscle mass you lose."

"If the patient starts doing leg lifts in the recovery room, he will have no trouble getting back into shape later on."

After surgery the patient will be in the hospital for 4-6 days, and will wear a long leg cast for ten days.

However, new treatment is being tested around the country in sports clinics, which involves the use of a cloth brace.

The cloth braces have hinges on them and are much lighter and more comfortable to wear. The brace costs $350, but cuts out two to three months of rehabilitation.

Physical therapy is an important part of recuperating from knee injuries. Weights are used and swimming, a stationary bicycle and whirlpool are also effective forms of therapy for injuries to the knee. "When treating a knee, the goal is to restore a pain-free, strong knee," Whittington said.

community deaths

Ingall

David Stanley Ingall, 63, of Plymouth, died March 5. Military funeral services were held March 7 at Schrader Funeral Home, directed by the Plymouth VFW Mayflower Post No. 6695. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Anne Louise; son, David Lawrence Ingall; daughter, Marie VanVleck; brother, Lawrence; sisters, Fran McGlone of Oregon, Emily Schafer of Ohio, Harriet Ackerly of Florida and Martha Ellenwood of Monroe; and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Ingall served in the U.S. Army during World War II under General George Patton in the European, Mid-Eastern and African campaigns, and was wounded in North Africa. He was awarded the Purple Heart, bronze Star, Legion of Merit and many other special service commendations. In 1942, he appeared on the cover of Life Magazine.

Mr. Ingall also worked for Michigan Bell for 40 years as a PBX installer and was a member of CWA Local No. 4015, the Telephone Pioneers of America. He was also a member of the Disabled American Veterans and a charter and life member of the Plymouth Mayflower VFW Post no. 6695, where memorial contributions can be sent.

Proctor

Eldon J. Proctor, 56, of Angeline Circle in Livonia, died March 2 in Ann Arbor. Funeral services were held March 4 at Plymouth Church of the Nazarene with The Rev. Carl R. Allen officiating. Schrader Funeral Home made the arrangements. Burial was at Wixom Cemetery.

He is survived by wife Gloria Steward, mother Lottie Proctor of Wixom, brothers John E., of Westland, Charles H., of Walled Lake, Robert N., of Plymouth and Frank W. of Walled Lake.

Proctor was employed at the Burroughs plant in Plymouth for over 30 years in the plant's quality control division.

Memorial contributions can be sent to A. Lateral Sclerosis Society.

Boy, did we goof!

In the March 4 edition, two birth announcements were erroneously placed in the 'Community Deaths' column.

Jason Edward Coleman, new son of Thomas and Katherine Coleman of Canton, and Jared Christopher Nisch, new son of Dennis and Susan Nisch of Plymouth, are both doing fine according to their parents.

The Crier regrets the error, apologizes for any inconvenience and is extremely embarrassed.

Salem varsity basketball player Mike McBride is a Junior and not Senior at the high school, as reported in the March 4 edition of The Crier.

It was incorrectly reported in the March 4 edition of The Crier that Al Miller, a local real estate agent, was involved in the purchase of the adult foster home at 741 Beech. The Al Miller that purchased the home is employed by Howard and Howard Real Estate in Westland and is not a resident of Plymouth. We regret the error.

Durie

Robert E. Durie, 88, of W. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth died March 3 in Plymouth. Funeral services were held March 5 at the Schrader Funeral Home with The Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee officiating. Burial was at Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Durie came to the community in the early 1940s from Detroit and was a sales counselor in electrical supplies.

He was affiliated with First United Presbyterian Church, Plymouth Historical Society, Plymouth Rock Lodge 47 and a past Worthy Patron of the Plymouth O.E.S. 115. He was also a member of the Moslem Shrine of Detroit.

Memorial contributions can be sent to the Michigan Heart Fund.

Hawes

Garnet Ewart Hawes, 82, of Sheridan in Plymouth, died March 3 in Livonia. Funeral services were held at the Schrader Funeral Home March 6 with The Rev. Douglas Mercer officiating. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery.

He is survived by sons Charles of South Lyon and George of Big Rapids, two sisters and three brothers and two grandchildren.

Hawes came to Salem Township in 1946 and moved to Plymouth in 1970 where he practiced his carpenter's trade. He was affiliated with Northville Masonic Lodge 186 and Northville O.E.S. Orient Chapter 77.

Becoskey

Anthony Becoskey, 71, of Adams in Plymouth, died March 5 in Livonia. Funeral services were conducted at Our Lady of Good Counsel March 7 with The Rev. Fr. Kenneth MacKinnon officiating. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery. Schrader Funeral Home made the arrangements.

He is survived by wife Leona Dobzinski, daughters Geraldine Kitchen, of Plymouth, and Marlene Stawski of Novi, brother John Becoskey of Plymouth, sister Helen Hibian of Bringantine, N.J., and three grandchildren.

Becoskey came to the community in 1956 from Northville and worked for 23 years at St. John Seminary as Chief Engineer before retiring in 1975.

Ann Arbor driver fails to respond to CPR efforts

George Brown, of 1745 Green Road in Ann Arbor, was found unconscious by Plymouth Police last Tuesday at Napier Road just E. of M-14 in Plymouth Township and was later pronounced DOA (dead on arrival) to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia.

According to the police report, Brown was found behind the wheel of his 1975 Dodge in the median of the road with his engine running and lights on. He wasn't breathing and no pulse could be found. Officers attempted CPR (Cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) but the results were negative.

He was transported to St. Mary's where he was pronounced dead on arrival. No signs of foul play were found on the scene, said the report. He was 57 years old.

Conference to study exports at Dearborn on Thursday

Representatives of small business will have an opportunity to learn about export opportunities and how to prepare effective procurement bids at a seminar sponsored by Congressman John D. Dingell (D-Trenton) and Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) on May 12 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

The Downriver/Western Wayne Business Procurement Conference will be aimed at businesses and professionals wanting to sell their products and services to the federal government and its prime contractors and will offer personal counseling and specialized seminars.

Assisting in the coordination of the conference is the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce, Dearborn Chamber of Commerce and Downriver Community Conference.

In a joint statement, the two Michigan Congressmen said, "This Conference will provide an excellent opportunity for our small business community to expand its productivity by opening new channels of trade with the federal government, to provide new avenues of employment, and to acquire some essential tools of doing business."

Details regarding conference invitations and registration are available by calling Congressman Dingell's District Office (846-1276) or Congressman Ford's District Office (722-1411).

Sen. Geake named to national committee of legislative group

State Senator Robert Geake, 14th District, has been appointed to the Science and Technology Committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL). He was nominated for the appointment by Senate Majority Leader William Faust.

"The primary responsibility of the Committee will be to focus on strengthening state legislatures' ability to deal with the increasing number of scientific and technological issues," Geake said.

Park forum gets small response from Cantonites

Less than a dozen people turned out for the Canton Parks and Recreation Summer Parks and Playground forum at the township office Thursday night.

Parks and Recreation Director Mike Gouin said he still received some input from the local homeowners and subdivision representatives who did attend the meeting.

"I guess the best way to get people out for something like this forum is to tell them motorcycles will be riding in their parks and playgrounds," said Gouin of the low turnout.

"We still received a number of suggestions that we will be looking into over the weeks before summer," he continued.

One suggestion was to shorten the length of time the program leaders spent at the aprk sites organizing and supervising the activity.

Gouin said it was one thing the recreation office concurred with. "A full day presents the problem of holding the kids' interest," said Gouin.

Right now college-aged leaders supervise the various parks sites from 1-4 p.m. and 5-8 p.m. Gouin said the program might extend its evening hours to 8:30 p.m. because the best attendance comes in the evening hours.

"Another suggestion was the consideration of organizing some kind of softball program for the parks," said Gouin. "The problem with that idea, in the past, has been the location of these sites in neighborhoods very close to residential homes."

A solution, said Gouin, might be the use of a real soft softball known as a 'mush' ball.

Last year the township had about 18 leaders for its various sites in the township. Those leaders move from playground to playground with equipment for neighborhood youths to provide activities for them during the summer months.

Gouin said the township is limited in what it can do because of the number of parks and because some homeowners associations don't want a leader program in their neighborhood parks.

"We want it known that even if you have a small subdivision we would consider extending our program to the site as long as it has the ground coverage," Gouin said. "We are willing to be very flexible in what we can provide over the summer."

Golf sign-up

It will soon be sign-up time for the Fellows Creek Men's Golf League sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Registration will begin Monday, March 30, with the registration fee set at $20 for the 12 to 14-week league action scheduled for a 6 p.m. tee time on Tuesdays.

The league organizational meeting is set for Saturday, April 11, 11 a.m., at Canton Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Avenue, at Sheldon Road. Golfers may mail their registrations to Canton Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, or register in person at the Parks and Recreation Office.

The league is limited in size and registration is on a first-come basis.

PC Bantam knocked out of hockey finals

The Plymouth-Canton Bantam AA hockey squad, sponsored by S & H Fabricating and Engineering competed in the State Bantam AA finals last weekend at Garden City.

The squad lost its first game to Taylor 5-3, won its second contest 6-4 over Houghton and fell Saturday night to Port Huron 5-0 to be knocked out of the competition.

Earlier, the squad had won the District Five championship defeating a Farmington team 4-1 in the finals.

In the final game of the playoffs Plymouth jumped out to a quick lead as Chris Belhart, assisted by Dave Nelson, scored. Plymouth added another goal when Chuck Norton, assisted by Belhart scored giving Plymouth a 2-0 margin.

In the second period, Tom Bryans slid the puck under the Farmington goalie and Plymouth led 3-0. Farmington got one goal back in that period, but Rodney Williams tallied for Plymouth to give them a 4-1 win.

In its first game, Farmington had beaten Plymouth, by the same 4-1 score. Rob Sim-sick got the only Plymouth goal. He was assisted by John Smith.

Plymouth came back to shut out Garden City 3-0 in its second game. Blehart, Joe Carlson and Williams accounted for Plymouth's three goals.

Plymouth won its third game 3-2 over Mic Mac. Nelson, Williams and Smith scored to give the squad its second win of the tourney.

Plymouth advanced to the finals with a 2-0 win over Livonia. Bryans sparked the win with both of Plymouth's goals. He was assisted by Don Perrin, Williams and Tim Osburn.

With Malice Toward None

(like most of Canton and much of Plymouth Township) take longer to install.

Soon, there'll be eight crews laying underground cable throughout Canton-Plymouth-Northville -- most of their time will be spent in Canton, Newell said. "As soon as the ground is thawed we're starting."

The result? In a year's time there'll be 13,000 cable subscribers in the western tier of Wayne County, predicts Omnicom.

Technical changes in the television industry are rapidly outpacing implementation of the "latest" invention. Two weeks ago, Omnicom bounced all the channels around (Please tell them I'm not on Channel 16 anymore," said Denny Campbell) to accommodate 52 channel capacity instead of 36.

This now means that Channel 4 isn't on channel 4 anymore if you're hooked up to cable. But it also means, according to Jencks, that there soon will be close to 30 different stations broadcasting everything from culture, sports and religion to cartoons, movies and weather.

The next year will tell us whether cable television can meet its promises in Plymouth-Canton.

One of the accompanying changes at The Crier, to allow eventual interface with cable local news programming, was last weekend's arrival of a new typesetting system. If you've been in The Crier newsroom before, you've seen the battered $25 manual typewriters we've used for the past seven years.

Starting next week, the reporters and editors start typing onto television-like screens that make little blipping noises. The place will never sound the same, but it means fresher news in print and eventually on cable television too.

The changes here have led to many jokes about our entering the 20th century. It's an amazing thing there's still some humor here -- it helps live through the confusion and long hours the changes have meant.

Of course, there wasn't much humor to be found last Sunday when Earl Schabo, Owen Faulkner, Mike Carne, Ken Voyles, Bob Brown, Dan Bodene, Bob Cameron, Nancy Hayes, Joanna Darwish, Vicky Downing, Phyllis Redfern, and Donna Lomas discovered (1) Dick Brown lied like a rug when he said the new typesetter was about the weight of a refrigerator and (2) we had to rip out the wall to get the blasted heavy thing in the basement.

But it's in; The Crier's on the street again this week; and local news is on cable channel 9. None of it's perfect, but it's getting better all the time.

As we turn more and more attention to cable TV (which will happen as more and more of you are hooked up), we hope many of the questions and issues will be solved.

They can only be dealt with when they're raised though. And that's starting now too (in places other than in long-winded columns).

Next Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at the Hill-side Inn, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will hold a caucus meeting on cable TV. The featured speaker is Phil Power, owner of the Observer & Eccentric newspapers, who has leased a cable television station in Redford (he's not on the air yet, "we're still fooling around with experiments," he said).

So at least take comfort that while cable-vision has its problems here now, it's off and running and the questions and issues are being dealt with. The next year should be revealing.

Tune in, won't you?

community opinions

Plymouth freedom dead?

EDITOR:

Those of us who live in Plymouth like to tout our colonial heritage . . . the flight of our forefathers to freedom from the heavy hand of oppression. A part of that heritage contains statements like those we make each time we pledge allegiance to our flag . . . "with liberty and justice for all".

I had an experience last Thursday evening which left me wondering where some of us in this community are coming from. In what might be akin to the old New England town meeting, I and, previous to that, members of the staff of Northville Residential Training Center (NRTC), were told to leave a meeting called to discuss and "receive more information" regarding a proposed home for six mentally retarded adults within the city of Plymouth.

Although a case might be made by those attending the meeting, that the NRTC staff did not belong there because they were not residents of Plymouth, that same case could not be made for me. Not only am I a resident of Plymouth, but I also live within the same 1,500-foot radius that many of them do.

Should the group's rejection of the NRTC staff be based upon residence it seems that one might then ask why people from Livonia were in attendance.

The answer to that I think is clear. It mattered not where you were from, as long as you were opposed to having persons who are mentally retarded live in your neighborhood. It did matter if you believe in "liberty and justice for all."

PETER D. SCHWEITZER

Protests home opposition

EDITOR:

Oh . . . how embarrassing. Tell them to cover it up before everyone sees it! Hurry! Oh geez . . . this is terrible! Uh oh . . . too late. Your ignorance is showing, and everyone has seen it!

The people who are opposed to allowing six retarded adults to live in a foster home obviously are making a snap decision with limited knowledge about the subject they are protesting.

Of course the foster home is in conflict with Plymouth's zoning laws; that is not an issue here. The fact that these people are part of society, and should live within our community is.

Why hide these people in an institution, where they will never be able to deal with real-life situations. The community is the place where these people will grow, and live more fully. Unfortunately, they are not able to achieve this independently. However, with the understanding of all of us, we can learn to accept those who are less fortunate.

Incidentally, why, when a similar home was instituted in a "lower class" area of Plymouth, these same "higher class" citizens, who are now protesting so loudly, didn't they object then?

Who's really "lower" and "higher" in our community?
