

Computers needed in middle schools?

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

What started out Monday night at the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education regular meeting as simply a review of the Instructional Computer Technology Study Committee's report, turned into a workshop on the subject.

The chairman of the committee, Charles Weaver, attempted to give the board a quick overview of the lengthy report, but the fast run-down turned into a detailed discussion.

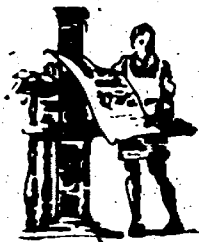

And after Weaver presented his initial report, the board sat down in front of various computers scattered around the Plymouth Salem library to get a feel for the gadgets.

The thrust of the committee's report dealt with the lack of computer availability at the middle school level. Several of the elementary schools in the district have various machines purchased through parent-teacher organizations, and computer classes are offered at the high school level. But middle school students have nothing, Weaver said.

But why the big push in computers

Principal is hit by auto in mishap

Edgar Kleinsmith, 46, of Plymouth Township was hit and seriously injured by an automobile early last Thursday morning as he jogged along Joy Road.

Kleinsmith, principal of Fiegel Elementary School since 1976, was listed in serious condition early Tuesday morning at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

According to Plymouth Police, Kleinsmith was hit by a car driven by Sherry M. Snyder, 17. No charges have been filed against the woman.

Police said the emergency call came in at 6:11 a.m. Thursday. Officers and Plymouth Township firefighters arrived to find Kleinsmith lying on the side of the road and Snyder in her car parked on the other side.

The car was removed to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab for examination.

Police refuse to comment any further on the case, which is still under investigation.

School board gets ready for Sept.

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Ninth graders are in, busing is out and it's almost time to get ready to open school doors for the fall, judging by Monday's Board of Education meeting.

The adoption of a resolution which will allow ninth graders to participate in athletics, marching band and other extracurricular activities which operate after the school day, and which grants no release time or expenditure of school funds drew the most debate.

Fourteen concerned citizens spoke before the board, and after the comments from the audience, the board itself spent over half an hour discussing the merits of the move.

Nearly everyone agreed it wasn't an easy issue to decide, but a majority of the board felt it was in the best interest of the students to provide ninth graders from the middle school extracurricular activities that might not necessarily be available at the middle school level.

Eventually the discussion got around to giving the program a one-year trial run after which an evaluation would be held to determine the merits of the program.

"Extracurricular activities are not really extra, but should be part of every student's education," Board President Elaine Kirchgatter said. "And as long as no extra funds are going to be used, we should try it for one year."

Gary Balconi, a Plymouth-Canton teacher and parent, tried to sum up the feelings of the large group of concerned parents on hand.

"One chance, one opportunity to make it work, that's all we're asking," Balconi pleaded to the board. "I know it's a tough decision for the board to make, but believe me we have qualified people to handle the program. I know we can do it."

Eventually, the board voted 6-1 to pass the resolution submitted by Trustee E.J. McClendon and seconded by Kirchgatter. The lone dissenting voice on the board belonged to Treasurer Glenn Schroeder.

He was concerned the board was allowing the taking of one segment of the school, athletics, and putting it above all others. He didn't think it was the district's place to take 13 and 14-year-olds and "make sure they are ready to play pro football and baseball."

Board members Tom Yack, Sylvia Stetz, Flossie Tonda, Kirchgatter, McClendon and Roland Thomas voted in favor of the resolution.

Then the board voted on an amendment added to the first resolution. The amendment was brought before the board by Kirchgatter and seconded by Thomas, and it called for the program to be allowed one-year to operate and an evaluation of it after the one year.

Yack, Stetz, Tonda, Kirchgatter, McClendon and Thomas voted in favor of the amendment. Schroeder voted no.

The board also went on record Monday night as to its philosophy on busing. The state mandates in the School Code

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL

Congressional District Boundaries have been redrawn. But Plymouth will remain in the 2nd District, represented by Congressman Carl Pursell.

For the past six years, Carl has provided strong representation in Congress, and excellent service to people here in his home town of Plymouth.

Just as he promised, Carl has maintained his home and family in Plymouth, not Washington, D.C.

He has never lost touch with the people here at home. He never will.

Lineup is announced for Crier edit staffers

Several new appointments have been made in The Community Crier's editorial department.

Dan Bodene, editor of The Crier, announced the changes which take effect immediately.

Rebecca Rowand, (soon to be known as Rebecca Beach after her Aug. 7 wedding) who joined the paper as sports editor and reporter, has been named feature editor and will also continue to cover the Plymouth community local governments - city hall and township hall. Before joining The Crier in May, she worked for the Detroit Free Press.

Mark Constantine, former sports editor of Miles City (Montana) Star daily newspaper, has been named Crier sports editor. He will also cover Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, having been an education reporter in Dearborn previous to moving to Montana.

Rick Smith, long-time Plymouth freelance photographer, has been named photographer of The Crier. His work has appeared frequently in the local newspaper and in regional newspapers.

"We're pleased to be able to offer the talents of both these experienced reporters," said Bodene, "and feel they will contribute substantially to improving our service."

P-C Schools grad takes federal DOE position

A former Plymouth resident is heading to Washington, D.C.

Norman R. Hughes has been named to a post in the Department of Energy effective June 7, 1982. He is the new assistant to the Assistant Secretary for Conservation and Renewable Energy, according to Assistant Secretary Joseph J. Tribble.

In his new senior executive position at the Department of Energy, Hughes is responsible for the development, implementation and management of a program to assist in the transfer to the private sector of federal development technologies, federal demonstration facilities and initiatives for private sector activities in lieu of federal investment.

Hughes graduated from Lawrence Institute of Technology with a Bachelor of Science degree in Architecture. He then went on to do post-graduate work in engineering and construction technologies at Eastern Michigan University, the University of Michigan and the University of Wisconsin.

He attended primary and secondary schools in Plymouth, South Lyon and Ten-ton.

Prior to accepting the post in the Department of Energy, Hughes owned his own firm, which specialized in value engineering, engineering economy and in time, quality and cost control on a wide variety of industrial, commercial, educational, residential and health care projects.

This isn't, however, Hughes first foray into the public arena.

He served twice as a National Republic delegate, received nominations for the U.S. Congress in 1978 and 1980, managed the successful 1972 campaign of Congressman Robert J. Huber and served as special assistant to the Congressman in 1973.

Hughes currently resides in Metamora, Mi., with his wife, Susan, and three children.

State House hopefuls to debate tonight

Two Democratic candidates for a seat in the 37th State House District, which includes Canton, will meet in debate at the Wayne Community Center at 8 p.m. tonight.

Jim Kosteva will debate Roger Caderet on issues and voter concerns. The debate will be hosted and moderated by Wayne Mayor Pat Norton.

"Most of the people in the 37th district will be electing a new representative from some unfamiliar names," said Kosteva. "This will give them an opportunity to learn more about the candidates."

Edward Mahalak and Betty Jo Price, also Democratic candidates for the 37th District seat, were asked to join in the debate but both declined their invitations.

Canton Country Fest takes off Aug 5-8

A full schedule of entertainment awaits visitors to the Canton Country Festival, held August 6 to 8.

Free hot air balloon rides will be featured at Griffin Park on Thursday, Aug. 5, the festival's kick-off day. The beginning of the festival's Muscular Dystrophy Tournament will also start, at 6 p.m.

On Friday the day's events will include sidewalk sales throughout the township's business community, and the beginning of the festival at 4 p.m. in Griffin Park.

Scheduled throughout the day are the Canton Business and Professional Women's Club Picnic Dinner from 5 to 8 p.m., the Pet Show at 6 p.m., live country music by Manny Perez and dancing all evening from 7 to 11 p.m., and judging of produce and crafts at 8 p.m.

Saturday's agenda begins with more Muscular Dystrophy Tournament action from 8 to 11:30 a.m., followed by the Rotary Pancake Breakfast from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Free helicopter rides provided by the Michigan National Guard will commence at 9 a.m., which is also the starting time for the Country Festival 5-Mile Run.

Perhaps the most well-attended event of the festival begins at 11 a.m., when entries in the annual Country Festival Parade begin their route on Saltz Road to Canton Center, north to Ford, east on Ford to south Sheldon to the park. More than 100 entries have already been signed up for the parade, including 18 floats and seven marching bands.

Saturday's events also include a Puppet Show at 1 p.m., performances by the Windsor Scarlet Brigade at 1:30 p.m. and Syrena Dance Ensemble at 2 p.m., the Tug-of-War at 2 p.m. and a performance of the First Michigan Fife and Drum Corps at 2:30 p.m.

Children's games and the Garden Tractor Pull (a new event) will begin at 3 p.m., followed by live music and entertainment sponsored by the Canton Kiwanis from 3 to 11 p.m. Canton Firefighters will hold their

State hopefuls debate in City

Plymouth Jaycees are sponsoring a Candidates Night for 36th District State House of Representatives hopefuls on Thursday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, beginning at 8 p.m.

Candidates will give a five to eight minute opening statement, followed by a question and answer period. At the end of the program, candidates will give a three minute closing statement.

All concerned citizens are urged to attend.

Twp. meeting for Aug. 3 cancelled

Plymouth Township Trustees cancelled their regular board meeting scheduled for last night for lack of pertinent business.

The board will meet on Tuesday, August 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall Assembly Room. Budget meeting dates will be set, proposed dates are August 23, 24, 25 and 26, 1982.

annual spaghetti dinner from 4 to 8 p.m. The final day of the Country Festival begins with sunrise services sponsored by the Canton United Council of Churches at 8 a.m., Muscular Dystrophy Tournament contests beginning at 9 a.m. with concluding games to start at 11:45 a.m., and an 18-hole Golf Tournament at Fellows Creek beginning at 11 a.m.

For those in attendance who work up an appetite by then, the Canton Chamber of Commerce will hold their annual Chicken Bar-B-Que starting at noon.

Sunday's activities also include a performance by the Canton Kitchen Band at 12:30 p.m., children's games beginning at 1 p.m., Polish Dancers at 1:30 p.m., a Corn Eating Contest at 2 p.m., Banjos of Michigan at 2:30 p.m. and the now-famous Cow Chip Fling, also at 2:30 p.m.

Canton Wheels Square Dancers with caller Ray Wiles will perform at 3:30 p.m., followed by a 4 p.m. Beeper Ball game between teams of visually impaired persons and township officials, and performances by the Plymouth Community Chorus at 4:15 p.m. and singer Dickie Lee at 5 p.m.

Country Festival organizers say the weekend will definitely live up to its motto of "A Little Bit Country...A Whole Lotta Fun!"

Produce Tent wants to know

How does your garden grow?

Green-thumbed gardeners take note: the Fall Festival Produce Tent may be just what you're looking for.

Gardeners throughout the area are invited to participate in the Produce Tent, which will be part of Fall Festival activities on Sunday, Sept. 12. Sponsored by The Community Crier, the annual event will be located in front of Central Middle School.

Judging of entries will begin at 2 p.m. on Sept. 12, and ribbons will be awarded for first through fifth places (along with honorable mentions) in 20 categories. All children will receive either a ribbon or an honorable mention for entering.

A list of categories is included on the Produce Tent registration form, available by contacting either The Community Crier at 453-6900 or Ann Taylor at 453-7499. Registration forms will also be available at the Produce Tent on Sept. 12 between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The Trailwood Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association organizes the Produce Tent and staffs the event all day, beginning at 9 a.m. Ann Taylor, a member of the organizing committee, says all items entered must be measured and tagged before entrants report to the registration booth. Items should be picked up by 6 p.m. on contest day, and all entries not picked up by that time will be donated to a nursing home or discarded.

Woman injured in two-car mishap

THERE WAS ONLY ONE minor injury in this two-car mishap which occurred last Wednesday afternoon at Ann Arbor Road and Lilley. According to Plymouth Police, Officer Bob Henry was westbound on Ann Arbor Road with his lights on when a car driven southbound on Mill by Eric Stopa, 19, of Livonia, stopped but was hit from behind by another auto driven by Gerald V. Wiltse, 52, of Saginaw. Police say no citations were issued, and only one minor injury noted. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene)

PLYMOUTH FIFE AND DRUM CORP drum major Collette Brown and Corps director Leonard Goren present a plaque and performance trophies earned on their recent Connecticut and Pennsylvania tour to Corps board vice-president Colin Martin.

Fife and Drum Corps has successful eastern tour

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, based in Plymouth, has completed a successful performance tour of Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

The Corps participated in two parades, a muster, a competition performance and three concerts. Performance stops were made in Deep River, Cromwell and Unionville, Connecticut; and in Stroudsburg, Rhinohls, Fort Ligonier and Fort Pitt, Pennsylvania.

Judges in the Firemen's Parade in Unionville named the Corps "best all-around musical unit" and a plaque and several trophies were presented to the Corps for their performances elsewhere along the tour.

Colin Martin, president of the Fife and Drum Corps Board of Directors, said, "The art form our group represents is highly developed in the east, unlike in Michigan where there are only two fife and drum corps in the entire state."

The other is Sterling Heights' First Michigan Colonial Fife and Drum Corps.

"The fact that the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps was so warmly received by audiences that are so knowledgeable has brought us great pride and satisfaction," Martin continued. "It was a great experience for our corps members. They did their usual terrific job."

Made up of young people between the ages of 12 and 18 from Plymouth and the surrounding area, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps has performed throughout the state of Michigan this summer, including the Fourth of July parades in Northville and Plymouth. They will be performing at the Canton Country Festival on August 7 and at the Plymouth Fall Festival on September 12.

Civitan's sponsor Senior Parties

The Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club will sponsor two Senior Citizen's Summer Parties in August.

For the fourth year in a row, seniors may gather at the Elks Club on Ann Arbor Road for a chuck wagon supper, bingo and dancing.

Canton seniors gather August 5, Plymouth seniors August 19. Both nights will follow the same agenda, cocktails at 6:30 p.m., supper at 7. Tickets are $2 and are available from senior groups throughout the community.

The Civitan Club has canvassed the area seeking donations from Plymouth-Canton merchants to give as bingo prizes. Accordionist Jerry Holzer will play for dancers.

Anyone interested in joining Civitan or asking questions may call 459-0022.

And here's the (phee!) winners

BY REBECCA ROWAND

Their tongues hung out, they were ragged and dirty, past their prime, soles laid bare.

Soles? Souls, of a good pair of sneakers, that is. The kind of rubber soles that'll take you over hill and dale, to school and back, on the court and off.

Canton's smelliest and most rotten were presented at the Canton Parks and Recreation's annual Rotten Sneaker Contest held Saturday.

Entrants were judged on a scale of one to four, with one indicating excellent condition, four indicating "horrible." Points were given for the condition of the sole, eyelets, tongue, toe and heel, with additional points for overall condition.

Judges Gene Smith of Canton's organized playground program, Connie Flynn of the Canton Crickets pre-school program and I closely examined some pretty awful terms before settling down to some difficult decision-making.

We had to be certain that the shoes were worn from wear and use rather than a bout with the garbage disposal. As far as we could tell, nobody cheated and it seemed most of the entrants had worn their favorite sneaks until the shoes literally crumbled on their feet.

But the best (or worst) won out and a perfectly dreadful pair of high-top Nikes worn by Ted Barker, 5, of Canton gave him first place. Ted dribbled a basketball to prove that he could still wear them.

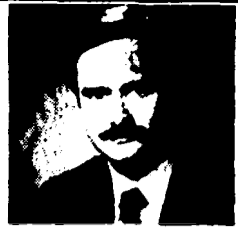

Second place went to Jason Pepp, 8, of Canton who wore a pair of shoes in such horrible condition that we couldn't tell who made them. Jason proved his shoes were still wearable with a rope-jumping test.

Third place went to Jaimie Gibbons, 6, of Canton. Her Strawberry Shortcake sneakers had almost all the Strawberry Shorecake places worn right off. Jaimie did some cart-wheels to show she could still wear her shoes.

First through fifth places won a can of foot powder, first through third places took home a plaque as well.

All in all, Gene Smith summed up the contest fairly well when he commented (as he looked at toes poking through Jason's sneakers), "Gee, those are pretty horrible, aren't they?"

began construction of that new home on Mill Street. The previous structure was destroyed by fire earlier this year. Located on the site of the old hall, the new building will feature a rental hall as well as a VFW lounge.

Rental hall capacity is estimated at 300 people and includes full kitchen and bar facilities.

Lounge capacity is estimated at 140 people, includes full kitchen and bar, separate billiard room and card areas. The lounge will be completely finished with carpet and wall fabric, oak trim and area lighting.

Both hall and lounge have been provided with separate entries that are convenient to full parking facilities.

The exterior will be earthtone, textured block with bermed landscape materials. The complete structure has been designed to be energy conserving and uses insulated walls and roofing, wall fabric and earth berming.

Bring Spot to Fall Festival Pet Contest

What has legs, fins or wings; looks cute or ugly; does tricks or just sits there; and wears blue ribbons?

Winners of the annual Fall Festival Pet Contest!

The Optimists Club and Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Continuing Education Department will co-sponsor the annual contest, which will be held at Fall Festival this year on Saturday, Sept. 11. Judging will begin at 9 a.m. at the bandshell in Kellogg Park.

Charles Child, president of the Optimists, says judging will begin with dogs, followed by unusual pets at 10:15 a.m. Aside from the usual entries, kids have entered their pet spiders, bugs, rabbits and snakes in this category. Cats, the last category to be judged, will take the stage at 10:45 a.m.

The only rule for the show is that it is for children only. Pets will be judged as cutest, best behaved, longest tail, friendliest, smallest, most colorful and in other categories.

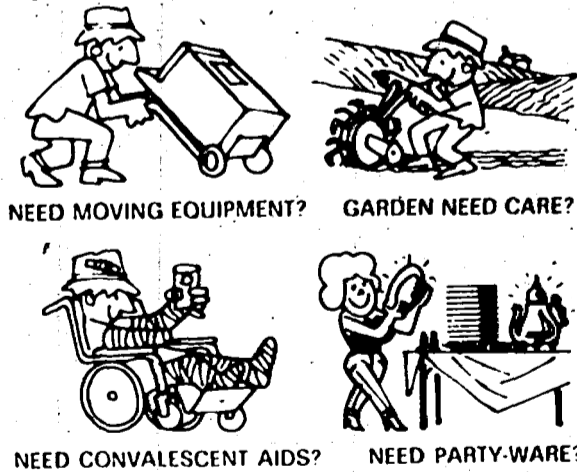

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded, but all children will receive something for their efforts - Margaret Wilson of the Penn Theatre will award free tickets to a matinee.

So get that pet in shape: Fall Festival is coming.

THE SECOND ANNUAL Bluegrass Festival sponsored by the Western Wayne County Conservation Association is set for Aug. 6 through 8. Here, city firefighters raise the banner over Main Street. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene)

Bluegrass Festival is coming Attention music lovers!

There will be a lot of pickin' and grinnin' going on Aug. 6-8 at the 2nd annual Western Wayne County Conservation Association, Inc., Bluegrass Festival.

The three-day event will take place on the Conservation Association grounds at 6700 North Napier Road. And Bluegrass buffs can come and camp out and listen to the tunes.

Headlining the get-together are the Young Blades of Bluegrass and the Bluegrass Cardinals. Also appearing will be the Danville Mountain Boys, the Sunny Siders, Dry Gulch, North Country Grass, the Butler Brothers and Wendy Smith and Blue Velvet.

The Young Blades of Bluegrass have appeared on the Barbara Mandrell Show and at the Grand Ole Opry. They were also recipients of the 1979 Ohio State Governor's Award and winners of Bill Monroe's Bean Blossom Bluegrass Band Contest.

The Bluegrass Cardinals, meanwhile, are under contract to CMH Records, and they had the distinction of playing a concert for the newly-elected President Jimmy Carter and his guests at the White House.

The festivities will kick off Friday evening with a set from the Young Blades of Bluegrass. The Bluegrass Cardinals won't make their first appearance until Saturday afternoon.

Organizers of the event remind all Bluegrass fans planning on attending there will be no drugs allowed in the park, no alcohol or pets in the stage area and no electrical hook-ups for those planning on camping in a trailer.

Food and drinks, ice, and flush toilets will be available. Also, a pancake breakfast will be served Saturday and Sunday mornings, and complete concessions will be sold all three days.

The foot stomping music can be heard Friday night for $5, $7 Saturday and $5 Sunday. Saturday's show will last from noon until 11 p.m., while Sunday's program will get underway at noon and conclude at 6:30 p.m.

And, of course, parking lot pickers are welcome to pick all night long.

WSDP presents last radio play of summer season

This summer's last National Radio Theatre play will be broadcast over WSDP 88.1 FM on Monday, Aug. 2 from 4 to 5 p.m.

"Mathry Beacon," written by famous British radio writer Giles Cooper, is the story of a British Army squadron that builds a little Eden patrolling an isolated Welsh outpost. Complications arise when the group learns that the war ended 10 years before.

The award-winning National Radio Theatre series will be continued in the fall when WSDP resumes broadcasting. In early September Plymouth-Canton listeners can tune in to hear "The Adding Machine" by Elmer Rice.

I am not Law's campaign mgr.

EDITOR:

In your recent editorial on Gerry Law's candidacy for State Representative (June 30), you referred to me as his campaign manager.

In point of fact, I am not.

I am, however, a supporter of Mr. Law's.

After having worked with him on the Township Board of Trustees for the last four years, I am convinced that he is the best man for the job of state representative in this district.

Jason's a hero

EDITOR:

This week's hero in Canton's Carriage Hills Subdivision no. 2 is Jason Pesant, who single-handedly saved the life of a neighbor child, Parini Mehta, when she fell into the deep end of a neighbor's pool.

Parini does not swim. This act was quick-thinking on Jason's part as he ran over and pulled her out without getting into the pool himself. Parini is three years old and Jason is eight.

We're all proud of Jason for his heroic deed and are very thankful he was around the pool at the time she fell in. Everyone on the street of Southhampton gives Jason a round of applause for saving Parini's life.

Vial of Life story was really appreciated

EDITOR:

Just a short note to express our appreciation for the wonderful coverage on the Vial of Life program printed in your July 21 issue.

We at the Plymouth Community Council on Aging would like to personally thank your helpful reporter, Rebecca Rowand, for her expertise and cooperation in gathering all the facts.

It is reassuring to know The Community Crier newspaper takes an interest in promoting worthwhile Senior programs.

Thank you for the support!

Don't jump this gun

Does the City of Plymouth fireworks ordinance cover the firing of a 200-year-old cannon?

How about the ordinances pertaining to weapons?

What are the required credentials for those who touch off such relics in public places?

No one, apparently, has the answers to those questions.

But the most important question is: Can the successful firing of an antique warpiece possibly be worth the risk of an accident?

At the grand opening of the Lorenz family's Mayflower II, the historic old cannon (normally seen resting majestically in the hotel lobby) was touched off for the first time since it was last fired during the welcome for the Massachusetts delegation to the 1980 GOP national convention.

It was that previous firing that ignited the controversy. The photographer for another paper was knocked over, our Photo Editor Bob Cameron had ringing ears for three days, the elephants standing nearby were spooked and members of the attending crowd were shocked by the size of the blast. The cannon even blew off its stand.

The hotel folks admitted that the explosion was a fluke - too much powder was used, they said. And a test of the cannon was run in a Plymouth Township field before the most recent firing.

But was a permit granted or required by the city?

Has the cannon been X-rayed for possible defects?

Can any "expert" know everything about a 200-year-old cannon?

No, no and no.

And is the chance that on the 100th time the relic is used it will blow apart worth the slight extra bang it gives? (Compared to the rest of the Mayflower II grand opening extravaganza, the cannon was insignificant. Without the boom, the Lorenz family should take pride in the memorable party it threw.)

No.

It's time to retire the cannon and its glorious history.

Motorists take heed: Please drive carefully

Please drive carefully.

Last week's near-fatal accident involving jogger Ed Kleinsmith and an auto was the latest in a series of incidents that have left community police and rescue units wary of what the rest of the summer will bring. There are several distinct possibilities.

The worst would be that more accidents will happen. No one wants that - just ask Kleinsmith, or his family, or anyone that knows him. Ask Canton Clerk John Flodin, who nearly had the wits scared out of him when a moped rider seemed to appear in front of his vehicle from out of nowhere. Ask the parents of the 14-year-old Canton boy who was killed by a hit-and-run driver in Van Buren Township a month ago.

Those kinds of things don't necessarily need to happen. Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry has been warning for months about some of the potential hazards of road running, and he has suggestions for anyone willing to listen. Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox has asked for a tougher ordinance against illegal moped riding in the township, and Plymouth Police will no doubt do the same.

Perhaps one of the best solutions to a host of potential problems is being enacted on community roads early every morning: young people are learning how to properly operate a motor vehicle. Drivers training should and must be the way to prevent the kinds of highway carnage that takes so much away from us all.

And drivers who haven't been through a training course in many a year shouldn't ignore the training they did have.

Please drive carefully. The Plymouth-Canton Community depends on it.
THE COMMUNITY CRIER

A rule of the road: compromise

A commendable thing, exercise. A by-product of an unhealthy consumption of fossil fuels and tight financial situations seems to be self-improvement, and the physical kind appears to be outweighing the mental kind.

When Ed Kleinsmith, principal of Fiegel Elementary left the house for his morning jog early Thursday, he knew his route - the same short run down Joy Road he'd used every morning. He probably didn't even see the car that hit him.

Ed Kleinsmith is alive, thank Heaven, but with multiple head and leg injuries in Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

Both sides could be taken, the runner along the road vs. the driver on the road and their respective rights-of-way. Most issues are like that, take one side or the other but don't muddy up the water. Unfortunately, this case and cases like it aren't quite that cut and dried. Runners aren't going to stop running along the side of the road and until automobiles are outlawed, drivers aren't going to stop it either. Ask any runner or bicyclist and they'll tell you, one takes one's life in one's hands by being anywhere near a road without having one's body wrapped in steel and leatherette.

No one wants to be the one to hit a runner and no runner wants to get hit. Why do we all come so close and so often?

The solution appears to be compromise, a distasteful thought to many people whose teachers, parents, employers and union representatives' ideas of compromise left a bad taste in the mouth.

But then, there is no other way.

We must learn to live together, surely anyone who drives the roads of the Plymouth-Canton Community with any regularity sees the mopeds, runners and

It's a thought...

by Rebecca Rowand

bicyclists that appear "out of nowhere." Just because they're not four feet wide and weigh three quarters of a ton doesn't mean they weren't there a second ago.

Then again, I'd have to really need a workout to run along some local roads day OR night, the way people drive as though speed limits and defensive driving are for sissies. Any runner that doesn't get a little queasy at the thought of running along a road close enough to reach out and touch the traffic is foolhardy.

A television commercial not-to-many years ago for motorcycle safety reminded drivers that a motorcycle disappears behind a pencil at 30 feet. Think of how close a runner or bicycle comes to being invisible. Give them a break, take a second look at those "invisible" runners.

Newest Crier employe makes his introduction

Hello, Plymouth-Canton, I've been looking for you for awhile, and I'm glad I've finally found you.

I've spent the past year out on the prairies of eastern Montana working diligently for a daily newspaper, and I'm glad to be home.

Well, Plymouth-Canton isn't exactly my home (I grew up in Dearborn), but it's close enough. At least it's Michigan.

It's not that I hated Miles City, Mt., all that much, it's just that I grew up in Michigan, specifically the Detroit area, and there really is no place like home.

The move back to Michigan, however, wasn't without its traumatic moments, including the dreaded: Will I find a job in Michigan? Listening to the national news in Miles City, it was easy to be discouraged about the prospects of securing employment in Detroit.

But everything worked out and now here I am, the new sports editor of the The Crier. And, although I grew up in Dearborn, I am not all that unfamiliar with the happenings in Plymouth-Canton.

My first job in journalism was with the Dearborn Press & Guide. And, after cover-

Offsides

with Mark Constantine

ing everything from the police beat to the writing of new city charter, I was finally given the opportunity to take over the sports editor's job.

Naturally, writing about sports in Dearborn meant watching Dearborn High and Edsel Ford take on Plymouth Salem in everything from football to girls volleyball. And I soon developed a healthy respect for the Rocks.

One instance, in particular, stands out in my mind. It involved the Rocks' standout quarterback Rich Hewlett and a slightly-built Dearborn High defensive back.

The Rocks came into the contest at Dearborn High as one of the top two or three Class A units in the state. Mr. Hewlett was having a sensational year, and it looked as if he might lead his teammates to the state title.

But, it was not to be. Hewlett tried to turn the corner late in the Rock-Pioneer clash and instead of stepping out of bounds when he had nowhere to go, he lowered his shoulder and did his best to run over and through a Dearborn High player.

It turned out to be a tragic mistake. I don't remember the name of the Pioneer who hit Hewlett, but I do remember he was small but he could hit a ton. And he blasted Hewlett with a perfect form tackle.

The sound of Hewlett's collar bone popping out of place could be heard 10 yards away. I was standing on the sidelines and the play happened almost at my feet. I knew his season was finished.

But, what impressed me the most was the way Hewlett handled himself after he was injured. Instead of writhing in pain on the ground and waiting for assistance, he simply picked himself up and slowly walked all the way across the field to the Rock sidelines.

Several coaches ran out to meet him, but with a wave of his hand he told them to go back. They followed him as he made his way to the bench, sat down and slammed his helmet into the ground.

He never changed expressions after he was hit or as he made what had to be a long, disappointing trek back across the field. He knew, too, his season was over, and you had to feel sorry for him because he's such a great player.

But that's athletics, and that's what makes sporting contests so great. You just never know what's going to happen, and I'll do my best to capture in words and pictures all the goings-on in the Plymouth-Canton sports world.

Garage salesmanship is a uniquely American art form

Have you noticed that one of the most popular forms of summer entertainment is garage sales?

Normally I probably wouldn't have given the matter a second thought, but last week I had a hand in one put on by my mom.

After having seen the thing first hand, now I am inclined to place garage sales right up there with baseball as a uniquely American form of summer pastime. Let's face it - who can ignore the weeks of publicity before the event, the preparation, location-hunting, the crowds, the noise, the bargains...

My mom, who was frankly surprised at the utterly successful outcome of her version, is now in the consulting business. She did waive her regular fee to give me some tips on How To Hold a Successful Garage Sale. They go like this:

1. Avoid sentimentality. A garage sale is a business, not an auction at Christie's. A rule of thumb is that if you haven't used it in 30 years (although mom reports that my dad abused this edict in collecting the sale merchandise), sell it.

2. Gang up on sales contributions. Neighborhood garage sales obviously offer a wider assortment of unwanted items, and an added bonus is that you may be able to con your neighbors into sitting around on sale days.

3. Showcase the weird stuff. A surprising number of people might actually want Aunt Martha's old corset. My mom says some of the items in highest demand at her sale were old military artifacts (junk I couldn't even pawn off on a surplus store) and "used" furniture (mostly Salvation Army no-shows) of an undeterminate heritage and style.

4. Price to sell. No one wants to pay at a garage sale what they would have to pay at a store. People look for rock-bottom bargains. Anything used which garners above-rock-bottom prices is classified as flea market fare, which is an entirely different breed of merchandise. Don't look to get rich quick.

5. Haggle. The person who won't pay what you advertise for Aunt Martha's corset might pay a few nickles less. Bargain a little, because if you can make the sale, who's the loser? You have the greenbacks, and the customer has your junk. A variation is to throw into the deal some wreckage that absolutely can't be sold. After all, the object is to get the stuff out of the house.

6. Timing should be correct. Many garage salespersons overlook the weekdays for viable selling times. I'm convinced there are

by Dan Bodene

crowds of people out there who get up at the crack of dawn to paw through newspaper garage sale ads in hopes of getting there first. Plan to get up early on sale days. Don't yawn at customers.

7. Offer perks. Lemonade went over big at my mom's sale. Cookies will do nicely, also. Or maps to the nearest landfill.

8. Make sure the authorities know about your operation. Almost every community has registration forms to fill out. Be polite, and good hunting.

Plymouth Flyers exhibit derring-do

The wild, blue yonder, at one quarter scale

BY DAN BODENE

Imagine being at the controls of a B-17 bomber you built yourself. Or daydream, perhaps, of pulling back on the stick of a F-106 ducted-fan fighter. And all over the skies of Canton.

Impossible? Not for the Pilgrim Flyers.

A club of model airplane enthusiasts, the Flyers can indulge in some of their airborne fantasies for a total investment of only a few hundred dollars, rather than the staggering sums it would take to purchase and maintain full sized aircraft.

According to club secretary John Lane, the group of approximately 70 members meets once a month at "Pilgrim Field" on Proctor Road about a half mile west of Canton Center. At a gathering two weeks ago, for example, the Flyers held "Fun Fly '82" - a competition consisting of five events. Besides such tasks as spot landings, most loops in a minute and touch-n-go, pilots also played a few hands of airborne poker and blackjack with their planes, all worth points for the event's final tally.

It's hard to decide which is more impressive: how the aircraft are made or how well they perform.

Lane says there are several distinct "scales" of models such as military scale, copying actual fighting aircraft designs; precision scale, built for maneuverability; stand-off scale, which are miniature versions of various commercial airplanes; and one quarter scale, designed one fourth the size of working aircraft. In addition, there are designs which are little more than "a figment of somebody's imagination," Lane says.

Although it is possible to buy a finished model, the vast majority are built from kits, by their owners. That way, the modeler not only has the satisfaction of building the plane from scratch, but benefits also from hours of first-hand experience at engineering and construction techniques. You'll never know all about one until you build it yourself, Lane explains.

Model aircraft engines, be they single or in pairs according to the dictum of the scale, may develop from three quarters to one horsepower on a potent fuel mixture you wouldn't consider pouring into the family station wagon. But at the heart of each model is a radio unit, which actuates servo mechanisms in the fuselage which are connected to the model's ailerons and control flaps. The radio unit in the model is only half of the marvel, however. The other half is the control unit, a 1-watt citizens band radio which includes two sticks for controlling the plane's engine and controls.

Lane says a typical outfit costs about $200 for the radio units, $50 for a model kit, $50 for an engine and $50 for miscellaneous building materials such as glue and paint. "Although there are a lot of young people in our club, the parents are here, too - sometimes they're helping to pay for the planes," Lane adds.

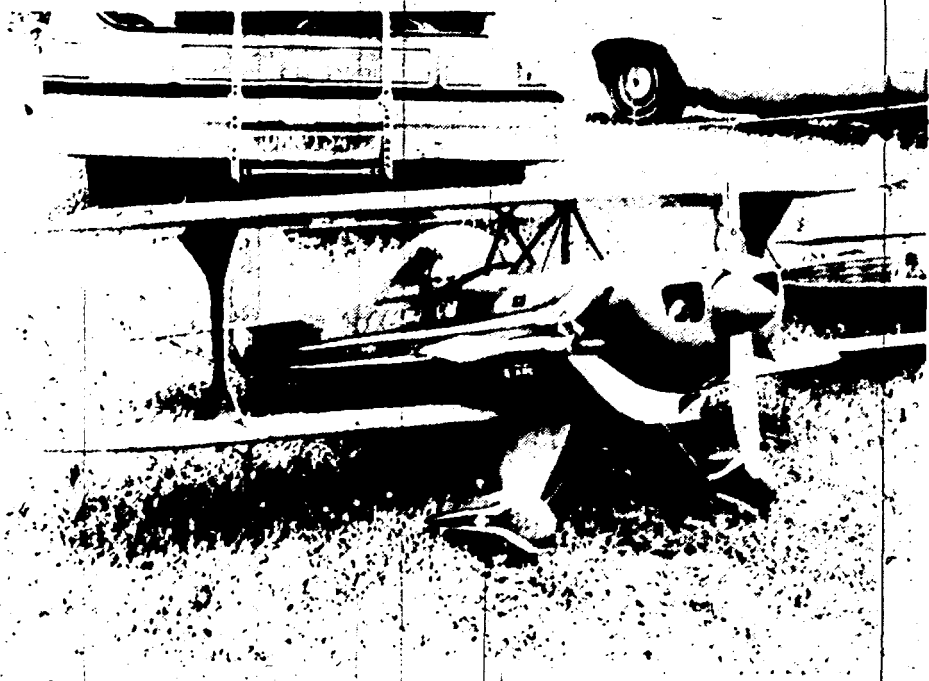

All in all, Lane points out, the fun is cheap at the price. There are other benefits, too, like monthly cookouts, flying competitions and the chance to test your flying mettle against the elements.

If you're interested, why not call the Pilgrim Flyers? The club is looking for new members. For more information on the Flyers, just call Gary Figi at 455-5377.

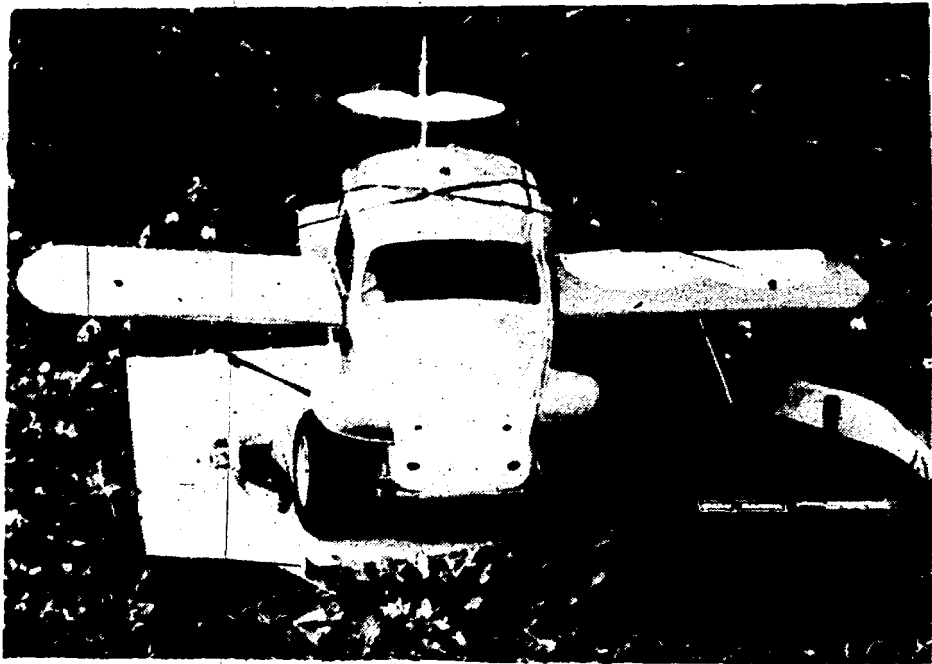

EVERY Pilgrim Flyers outing includes a wide assortment of aircraft. The field not only provides competition, but endless discussion on relative merits of each plane as well.

Marigold Contest will brighten Fall Fest

It's already time to begin thinking of a decorating scheme for the annual Marigold Decorating Contest for Fall Festival.

Businesses, residences, festival booths and serving lines decorated with marigolds (the official Fall Festival flower) will be judged on the basis of color, dramatic arrangement and creativity. Businesses and residences will be judged on Tuesday, Sept. 7, and festival booths and serving lines will be judged during the festival.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded for each category, along with honorable mentions.

Anyone interested in registering for the competition should contact the Fall Festival Marigold Committee at P.O. Box 177, Plymouth 48170 or Erick Carne at 459-1170.

Health program info

An informational program on Medicare and Medicaid will be presented at the Canton Public Library Aug. 3 and Aug. 4, beginning at 3 p.m. The meeting will be held in the library meeting room.

Harold Stein will discuss such topics as eligibility, coverage and supplemental programs.

Registration for the program will begin July 19 at 10 a.m. either in person or by telephone. Details may be obtained by calling the library at 397-0999.

addenda & errata

In the July 21 edition, on pg. 2 it was stated that the City of Plymouth and Wayne County would share the cost of a repaving project. The paving project for several city streets does not involve Wayne County, but the county is responsible for partial funding of the Mill Street project.

Cubs learn skills at Cub Scout Day Camp

CUB SCOUT SHAWN FRENNER, of Plymouth works intently on a flag-making project at Cub Scout Day Camp held last week at Bicentennial Park in Livonia. Nearly 100 Cub Scouts from Plymouth, Redford, Northville and Livonia gathered for five days of instruction and fun. Skills such as crafts, nature appreciation, cooking and several sports were practiced and enjoyed with the able assistance of den mothers, scout leaders and senior boy scouts.

Drug program funds requested

A public hearing on a 1982-83 drug abuse program in the Wayne County Intermediate Schools will be by the Board of Education and staff of the district on Wednesday, Aug. 11.

The program, which has been conducted by the Wayne County Intermediate School District for the past 11 years, is known as DARTE (Drug Abuse Reduction Through Education).

The hearing proceeds submission of a proposal to the Michigan Department of Public Health, Office of Substance Abuse Services, for a grant of $176,811.

The money will be used for inservice training of public school teachers, administrators and support staff in areas related to substance abuse education and prevention.

Wreck a car for Muscular Dystrophy

Ever want to get back at Detroit? Or Japan? Now's your chance to do some damage and all for a good cause. The Plymouth Jaycees will conduct a car smashing session August 7 and 8 at the 7-11 on S. Main Street with all profits going to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The Jaycees will provide a five to 10 pound sledge hammer, three chances to swing, a Japanese car and two American cars, all for one dollar.

Destruction begins at 9 a.m. and runs until 5 p.m. both days.

18 what's happening

To list your group's event in "What's Happening" merely send the information (in writing) to: THE COMMUNITY CRIER, 1226 S. Main St., Plymouth, Mich. 48170. Information received by NOON MONDAY will be used in that Wednesday's paper (space permitting.)

Expert joins Odiome

An internationally recognized expert in computer security and computer crime investigation has joined Odiome International, Inc., a Plymouth management consulting organization, as a Senior Consulting Associate.

Dr. Timothy A. Schabeck, in addition to his new post, will retain his vice presidency with Practical Management Consulting, Inc., a Royal Oak computer service organization which markets small business computers, packaged and custom software and time sharing services.

The announcement of Dr. Schabeck's hiring was made by Odiome International president Jack Bologna.

"Tim Schabeck is a valuable addition to our staff," Bologna said. "He brings many years of education and experience in the data processing, computer security and management consulting fields.

"The array of services we can now supply our clients will dramatically increase with Tim's addition to our staff and with our affiliation with PMC."

Odiome International now will feature point 4 medium-sized business computer and distributed processing, which can provide quality data processing services at reasonable rates to many local business and professional firms and governmental units, according to Bologna.

Dr. Schabeck has been involved in the managerial and technical aspects of computer operations, systems design and analysis and systems applications programming since 1965.

Dunn Steel plant on the sales block

If you happen to have $990,000 laying around, then the Dunn Steel Plant can be yours.

In fact, the price for the 63,000 square foot facility was recently reduced, making the purchase of the plant, which was built in 1953, even more attractive.

The Dunn Steel complex is being offered by Earl Keim Realty South, Inc. And it is ready for immediate occupancy.

Anyone interested in buying the facility can get a close look at it today from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. when Earl Keim will hold an open house for prospective buyers. Call 453-0013 for reservations.

Some of the features the new owner will get include a 20 foot clearance in one bay with 22,800 square feet and a five ton crane, a full sprinkler system and 6 and 8 inch reinforced floors.

The site sits on seven-plus acres and is fully lighted and fenced. Insulated additions were added in 1965, '68 and '73. And, there is still room for more expansion.

Other features include an available rail spur, plenty of blacktop parking, five overhead truck doors, 3,600 square foot air conditioned office with a walk-in vault and much more.

Negotiable terms and possible investor involvement on a long term lease are available.

So, don't delay, McLouth and Rouge Steel may be out of your range, but Dunn Steel can be yours for a steal.

Sisters open kids' resale boutique

Susan Mann and Kathy Rose recently opened a children's resale boutique and they called it "Kid's Stuff." The new store is located in the Pine Tree Plaza, which is on Joy Road just east of I-275.

"I shopped resale shops and there was only one nice one at the time in Birmingham," Mann explained. "Resale stores are beginning to look more and more like retail stores, and with the bad economy people are turning to them.

Kid's Stuff will take children's toys, books, furniture and clothing on consignment. The store also features a play area for the little ones while mommy and daddy shop.

getting down to business

Fields and jazz

The Mayflower Hotel will present a full night's entertainment when W.C. Fields impersonator Karrell Fox joins Hank Warren's Dixieland Jazz Band Saturday night.

Tickets are $5 per person at the front desk, the festivities begin at 8:15 p.m. on the deck of the Mayflower II, with a night of dancing and comedy for all. A cash bar will be available.

Goodbye Prof

The Little Professor Book Center on Sheldon Road has a new name and new sign.

From now on it will be known as the Little Book Center, and owners Helen and George LaPenta insist the change is in name only.

"As always, you are welcome to come in and browse," LaPenta said. "And you will still find the same helpfulness in finding all those special books and magazines you need."

The LaPentas have been at the same location for 13 years.

Easy listening

THE BOTTOM OF THE HILL at the Hillside Inn is humming through the month of August to the easy music of Frank and Dave. Frank Trupiano, 27 and Dave Wechlic, 25, are stepbrothers from Westland who got together to play music one cold February day and haven't stopped yet. Their specialty is light rock and easy listening. They'll be playing five nights a week, Tuesday through Saturday, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m., until September 5. (Crier photo by Rebecca Rowand)

Schools calendar adopted

HERE IS THE PROPOSED Extended School Year and Traditional School Year calendar as adopted Monday night by the school board for the 1982-83 school year.

'Don't know' leads gubernatorial race

Who's really winning?
According to a public opinion poll conducted for Detroit stations WDIV-TV and

WJR Radio, the leaders in both Democratic and Republican gubernatorial races are "Don't Know."

Jack Casey, political analyst for WDIV and WJR, said, "One of the surprises of the poll was the large number of undecided voters - more than a third in the Republican race and approaching half of the Democratic voters."

Family Day on Aug. 1

Michigan's second annual Family Day will be observed August 1.

Although relatively unknown, Family Day was declared to be the first Sunday in August by Governor William Milliken in July of 1980.

Organizers of the Family Day project had in mind a day dedicated to the family without the fuss of cards, flowers or gifts. Their aim, according to the Michigan Fraternal Congress' American Family Day Committee was "a day where the entire family would gather together, to say a prayer of thanks for all our blessings, have a picnic, pot-luck dinner, games or just a few minutes together to ponder over our lives, our good times and had."

Further results of the poll show that in the Democratic race, James Blanchard trailed Don't Know, followed by Zolton Ferency and William Fitzgerald. Republican candidate Jim Brickley also came in behind Don't Know, followed by Richard Headlee and L. Brooks Patterson.

"Nobody has either contest wrapped up yet," Casey said. Literally.

Heart attacks fought with phone call

You can help combat heart attacks, atherosclerosis, strokes and related fatal diseases, with a phone call.

The National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute is conducting a program at the University of Minnesota to determine whether lowering blood cholesterol levels will reduce the risk of heart attacks.

Plymouth residents are asked to participate in the study.

The university is seeking persons 29 through 64 years of age, who have had one heart attack in the past 5 years with no history of heart surgery, diabetes or stroke. Any Plymouth resident who wishes to share information with the University of Minnesota Hyperlipidemia Study is asked to call collect at 612-376-4494 for information.

Red Cross helping Lebanese victims

The American Red Cross is hoping Americans will not turn their backs on the innocent men, women and children caught in the middle in the conflict between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Army.

That's why the American Red Cross has set up the "Lebanon Relief Fund."

Anyone from this area wishing to assist the victims of the undeclared war can send checks made payable to the Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross, Executive Office, P.O. Box 351, Detroit, Mi. 48232.

Cool your heels at Cultural Center ice arena

Open skating hours are Monday, 3 to 10 p.m.; Tuesday, 4:40 to 6:10 p.m. and Thursday, 4:40 to 6:10 p.m. Fees are $1 for children and $1.25 for adults. Skate rental is 50 cents.

The pro shop at the ice rink offers all types of figure skates and hockey equipment, skate sharpening, and fitting, and lease and rental skates.

Rental of the entire arena is also available by contacting the Cultural Center office Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 455-6620. Summer rates are in effect until August 29.

Who will run Police Dept. when Ann Brown retires?

BY REBECCA ROWAND

When Ann Brown retires from the Plymouth Police Department Friday, she'll leave a legacy behind.

In the span of almost 20 years, "Annie" has been a part-time dispatcher, full-time dispatcher, supervisor and secretary and has gone from just a kid to everybody's mother figure.

When she started at the department in 1960, at the age of 24, she took a part-time dispatcher's job working the odd shift nobody wanted. In 1964, she began working full-time and went on to supervise a staff of five part-time and full-time dispatchers. Last August, Annie became the secretary to Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry, but still supervises and fills in at the dispatch switchboard on lunch breaks or when things get hectic.

"I love this job," she said, smiling from her office in City Hall. "Things are always happening, it's never the same. I'll really miss the people."

Ann and her husband George came to Plymouth in 1959 from Colorado, where George was stationed in the Armed Forces. Annie's two sons have stayed in the southeast Michigan area: George, his wife Cheryl and their two-week old daughter Sarah, in Holland; and Gary, his wife Sandy and five month-old son Anthony in Westland.

After a short stint with the police department in 1960, Annie took a job with the Bendix Corporation in Ann Arbor, but grew bored with the monotony. "I had a great job, great boss, all that, but it was the same job day after day," she said.

So when Plymouth asked for her to fill in for awhile in October 1963, she jumped at the chance and has been with the police department ever since.

Annie became senior dispatcher in the mid-70s, taking over the duties of supervising and coordinating a round-the-clock staff of dispatchers for the police department and the fire department. "She's always there never jumping all over you, always helpful," said Dawn Najarian, a dispatcher.

"I don't want her to leave," said Johnnie Lodge, the police department's only full-time dispatcher. "She knows everything."

In 1960, Officer Carl Berry took radioed instructions from Annie, now Chief Carl Berry has an old friend in the office next door. "I'll miss her very badly," Chief Berry said, "she's a close and dear friend. Annie and I have spent 20 years together, you develop a special closeness working with people of her caliber."

Annie's last day is Friday and she and her husband will leave as soon as possible for Lakeland, Florida where George will attend Southeastern Bible College. "He retired from Western electric last September," Annie said, "he's going to be a minister." Then she laughed. "Not many people get a chance to start a second career."

Annie if anyone can do it, you can.

Computer use in middle schools debated discussed

Now?

"The committee thinks we shouldn't wait because compared to other school districts we are behind," Weaver explained. "And private schools are advertising computer literacy courses in an attempt to draw our students."

"Plus, if you wait, you end up playing catch-up, and when you do that, you're always going to be second best."

There is also the question of whether or not the cost of hardware and software will go down in the future, Weaver said. He thinks it has gone down almost as far as it will.

"Will it get lower? Yes. Much lower? No," Weaver said. "There is the old adage that if you wait long enough, the price of anything new will come way down. Almost to the point where they will pay you to take their merchandise. And we know that will never happen."

Some of the board members, treasurer Glenn Schroeder and Trustee Roland Thomas, in particular, voiced concerns as to whether or not more money and hardware ought not to be pumped into the high school. In time, the pair contended, the program will filter its way back down into the middle schools.

Weaver said the committee would have liked to come before the board and ask for a more auspicious computer program. But, in light of recent budget cuts and the philosophy of holding the line, the committee made a conservative recommendations.

Plus, the point of the proposed pilot program is to help as many students as possible become computer literate, Weaver said. In other words, allow the students to get over their fear of the machines and show them how computers can become applicable in their everyday life, Weaver added.

"We aren't out to turn all students into programmers," Plymouth Canton math teacher Ron Carlson said.

Schroeder was hesitant to endorse the committee's recommendations because he said there is no yardstick to measure its success or failure.

Weaver and Carlson said that Schroeder had a valid point, but once a curriculum has been established and parents start talking the program once it gets underway, that should give the committee and the board some sort of measuring device.

Another question raised was whether or not there is adequate staff to teach the courses? And, if in-service training is required, is it difficult to learn?

Plymouth Salem librarian Marian West responded to the query by relating how she took a course through the University of Michigan and after one semester was at least computer literate.

However, no decision was made one way or the other by the board. President Tom Yack told the rest of the board he would telephone each one individually to get a feel for where they stand on the issue, and then they all would make a decision at a later date.

Board readies for school openings

of 1976 that school districts aren't required to bus or pay for the transporting of students who live within 1½ miles of the school, and the board voted to adhere to that policy.

The board voted in favor of the motion with Yack, Stetz, Kirchgatter, Schroeder, McClendon and Thomas voting yes and Tonda voting no.

Stetz then introduced a motion to set a time-line for the administration to implement the board's philosophy on busing.

The argument didn't last long and the motion was voted down 6-1, with only Stetz voting yes.

The board then voted 7-0 to recall 14 pink-slipped teachers. The move cut the number of teachers receiving unemployment compensation from 117 to 65.

The adoption of the E.S.Y. and T.S.Y. calendar for the 1982-83 school year was next on the agenda, and the board voted unanimously to adopt the calendar.

The approval of middle school textbook purchases had to be made Monday night, if the books were to arrive before the start of school according to Dr. John Telford, executive director of secondary education.

The purchase order was accepted with one notable exception. The board stated last year that only one English grammar book was to be in the classrooms, and it was up to the individual teachers to decide which one.

Telford was instructed to eliminate the duplication where the problem was occurring, and then the board voted 6-0 to pass the motion, with McClendon abstaining because he wrote one of the textbooks the board was purchasing.

Then in quick order the board voted unanimously to approve the purchase of textbooks for sixth grades housed in middle schools, and the attendance of Nic Cooper and Sally Wisotzkey at an Alternative Education Project in Washington, D.C.

Sports

Phillips has plan mapped out

"I have a tendency to choke under pressure," Phillips admitted. "That's why I want to play in as many tournaments as I can because the only way I can get over my Bobby Clampett syndrome is to be in as many pressure-packed situations as I can."

"I don't want to fall apart this season when I'm playing for the school, when it really counts."

PAUL PHILLIPS may have missed the cut in the 65th Western Junior Golf Championships held last week in Ann Arbor, but he said he learned some valuable lessons. (Crier photo by Mark Constantine)

The Western Golf Association Junior Championship is the oldest event of its kind in the country. Most of the top junior golfers from across the United States, Canada, Ireland and New Zealand made the journey to Michigan for the tournament.

Over 360 young golfers with a four handicap or less began the event, which was played at Travis Pointe Country Club and Radrick Farms Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

The Western is unlike most junior events because players from 16 to 19 are eligible. That means high school standouts can compete against some of the best underclassmen in the collegiate ranks.

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Paul Phillips knows just how Bobby Clampett must have felt after he gave away the British Open to fellow American pro Tom Watson.

Phillips, a senior at Plymouth Canton and captain of the golf team, tightened up in the first round of the 65th Western Junior Golf Championship, and promptly played himself out of contention for the title.

It didn't matter that he followed up his first round score of 93 with a 79 the second day, the damage had already been done. But it's all part of a plan Phillips has mapped out.

Runners can jog on at Canton fest

So, tossing a cow chip just isn't your idea of fun.

Not to worry, hunky.

The 4th annual Canton Country Festival has a couple of activities that are guaranteed to bring a smile to your face, if you happen to be a golfer or runner.

First, Saturday at 9 a.m., the Canton Country Festival Five Mile Run will be held. The event is being billed as "...the race where everyone is welcome."

The runners will start at the Township Administration Building on S. Canton Road, and will cross the finish line in Griffin Park. Refreshments will be available after the race.

Advance registration of $5 is due by Thursday, Aug. 5, and is payable either in person at the Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Road, 48188, or by mail at the same address. Checks should be made payable to Canton Township.

Those who decide to test their track talents or lack of same can register late, but it'll cost slowpokes an additional $1.

Medals will be presented to the first three finishers in each age group. And the first 400 entrants will walk off with special Canton Country Festival Run "Hats."

For further information, call 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Hey, golfers, listen up because the organizers of the Canton Country Festival haven't forgotten you.

That's right, Sunday, Aug. 8, will be your opportunity to showcase your talents on the links in a special three person team scramble event.

The 2nd annual Canton Festival Golf Tournament, sponsored by the Canton Parks and Rec, will take place beginning at 11 a.m. at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The tourney is open to all area golfers, and awards will be handed out to the top three teams as well as the longest drive and closest to pin.

Teams can enter by mailing $33 to the Canton Parks and Rec at the address above or by stopping in person with the cash. The deadline is Friday, Aug. 6.

Canton kids off to fitness finals

Youths from Canton and 38 other Detroit communities will converge on Kensington Metropark near Milford Thursday, July 29, for the finals of the Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Meet.

The action will get underway at 9:30 a.m. at the Possum Hollow Playfield Area of Kensington.

The competition will mark the 25th anniversary of the event, and is sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan who will supply trophies, other awards and refreshments.

Boys and girls will participate in nine events, including the 50, 60 and 75-yard dashes, softball throw, standing and running broad jumps, running hop, step and jump, shuttle relay and pull-ups.

The competition will be broken down into three categories: Class A, boys and girls, ages 13 and 14; Class B, boys and girls, ages 11 and 12; and Class C, boys and girls, ages nine and 10.

The champions in each event, plus those who finish in second and third places, will receive trophies. Everyone will get an emblem just for participating.

And one city will walk off with the Considine Award, which is presented to the one community selected among those competing recognizing their sportsmanship, conduct and appearance during the track and field events.

The rotating trophy honors the late John Considine for his contributions to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Cities Youth Fitness program.

Crier tennis tourney time

THE CRIER-Plymouth Parks and Recreation tennis tournament is scheduled for Aug. 6-8 at the Plymouth-Canton High School tennis courts. There will be divisions for men, women, children and mixed doubles. The cost for entering is $3 per event. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Rock grad selected for all-star unit

Former Plymouth Salem gridiron standout Darrel Bartkowski is in for a busy month in August.

First, he is one of 80 players who will don shoulder pads and helmets to take part in the 2nd annual Michigan High School East-West All-Star football game Aug. 7 at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing.

Then it's on to Saginaw Valley State College for the start of football practice. Bartkowski, a 5-11, 215-pound fullback, recently signed a national letter of intent to play for the Cardinals.

Proceeds from the clash between the high school stars from eastern and western Michigan will go to the Michigan Ronald McDonald House, and a portion will go into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association (MHSFCA) scholarship fund.

The players were chosen from a list of 300 graduating seniors nominated by their high school coaches. The coaches, meanwhile, were chosen by the MHSFCA Board of Directors.

DARREL BARTKOWSKI

A total of 12 coaches were chosen, six for each squad. The mentor with the most votes was given the head coaching job.

Rock football coach Tom Moshimer has been the All-Star chairman for the past two years and, according to MHSFCA treasurer Dr. Donald Lessner, he has done an outstanding job organizing the contest.

More than 11,000 fans turned out for the inaugural East-West confrontation. And the western standouts will be out to avenge last year's last second 6-3 loss to the eastern stars.

Phillips has plan in mind

Play began last Tuesday with the first of two qualifying rounds. After the completion of 36 holes Wednesday, the top 64 players advanced to match play, which concluded with the finals Saturday at Travis Pointe.

The two days Phillips spent flexing his muscles against the cream of this nation's junior crop was an eye-opening experience, according to the affable Plymouth resident.

"I'm used to playing with guys I can beat consistently," he said with a laugh. "I had a rude awakening out here. Like one poster said, the players in this event are the future of professional golf."

"I think I competed well the second day, except for the final holes. But I just worried too much the first day and it showed in my play."

Phillips normally knocks the ball around the Bray Burn layout where he has a two handicap. He said he found his way into the Western event with a little help from his father.

"My Dad got in touch with the USGA (United States Golf Association), and they sent him a list of all the junior events across the country," Phillips said. "The only one in the area was the Western, so I figured I might as well try to enter."

It will not be, however, the only event Phillips will compete in this summer. Right now, he said, he has entered three more tournaments and he might possibly play in one or two more, depending upon his work schedule.

He is dead serious about becoming the best golfer he can, and helping the Chiefs "surprise" a few people this fall.

"I'd like to end up with the lowest average in the history of the school and I think I can do it," Phillips said without hesitation. "I'd also like to qualify for the state meet, no one in the history of the school has ever done that."

Youths can take physicals at Salem

All Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton athletes interested in participating in a fall sports program, ninth graders from the middle schools included, are instructed to show up Thursday, Aug. 5, at Salem for a physical.

Girls will begin first at 5 p.m. with the boys scheduled for 7 p.m. The cost is $7.

All band members who would like a physical prior to going off to band camp are also encouraged to attend.

The boys fall sports include football, cross country, golf and soccer. The girls, meanwhile, will be competing in basketball, swimming, tennis and cross country.

Registration for hockey coming up

Although it may not seem like it with the sweltering weather that has descended upon the Plymouth-Canton area, the hockey season is right around the corner.

And with that in mind, the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association would like to remind parents and players registration for the coming season will take place Aug. 9 from 6-9 p.m. at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Youths from 6-17 years of age are eligible to play. The fee is $40 and players are requested to bring their birth certificates when they register.

Any questions should be directed to Carolyn Kocis at 459-6391.

The man who sold hot dogs.....

There once was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He was hard of hearing and nearly blind so he never listened to TV or radio or read the newspapers.

But he sold great hot dogs.

He put up signs and took out newspaper advertisements to let everyone know how good his hot dogs really were.

And people bought more and more of his hot dogs every year.

He increased his meat and bun orders, bought a bigger stove to accommodate the increased trade and even added on to his stand.

Finally, he brought his son home from college to help him out.

And that's when it happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you heard the news?"

"There's a big recession on and business is bad."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son hears the news and he's been to college, so he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his orders and cancelled his advertising program.

And, sure enough, hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right son," the father said to the boy. "We certainly are in a recession after all. I wonder why I hadn't noticed it?"

MORAL OF THE STORY: Before you cut down on the meat and bun orders at your hot dog stand, call your Crier advertising consultant (or our publisher, Ed Wendover) at 453-6900. Our apologies to the anonymous author of this story but thanks to Bill Saxton and others for passing it on.

Massey event on tap

The softballs will be whizzing through the air starting this Friday at 6 o'clock when the Massey Tournament of Champions gets underway at Don Massey Park.

The event pits the top two teams from leagues in Plymouth, Canton, Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Redford, Livonia, and Northville.

MBM-Jerry's Bike and Massey Cadillac will be representing Plymouth, while Canton Sport and the Sonar Softball Club will make the short trip from Canton.

The action will continue all weekend with the finals slated to get underway Sunday at 3 p.m. Teams will take to the diamond Saturday morning beginning at 8 a.m. and games will continue all day.

In addition to the clashes at Don Massey Park, teams will also square off at Canton's number two field.
