

PFFFFT! Canton's dome goes flat, ala Pontiac

BY KEN VOYLES

What's up doc?

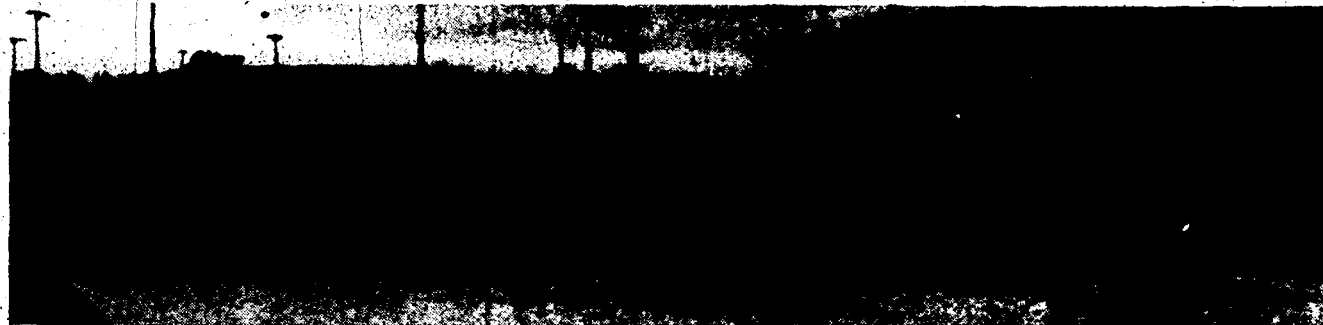

More like what's down.

High winds and an electric power outage late in the evening Sunday led to the surprise collapse of Canton's inflatable Soccerdome on Michigan Avenue.

Approximately 200 players, officials and fans were inside the dome when power went out in the area, said Bob Hope, manager of the indoor soccer arena. He said the incident occurred around 6 p.m. Sunday.

Generators producing air to keep the dome inflated failed when the power did, according to another source. A back-up generator went out also, said the source.

"There was some damage, some ripping, as well," Hope said on Where's the spare?

Monday. "The hardest part of getting the dome back up will be replacing any panels that may have ripped."

Hope said the entire dome would be inspected for damaged panels, including around the door where he said some ripping may have taken place. He did not have an estimate as to how much damage was done and the potential repair cost.

"We were just finishing a game at the time," he said. "It wasn't a sudden collapse but it was surprising. And there wasn't any panic."

Hope said he didn't know when the dome would be reinflated until after it was inspected later this week.

One source said it may be up as early as this weekend.

But Hope wasn't nearly as optimistic.

Millage renewal slated for Tuesday

BY KEN VOYLES

A small turnout -- maybe 15 per cent -- is expected Tuesday when voters in the Plymouth-Canton Community School district go to the polls to decide on a two-part proposal -- a millage renewal proposal, and a request to waive the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment of 1978.

The renewal represents nearly a third of the budget of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, or 28 per cent of the district's 37-mill operating budget.

The renewal is for 10.36 mills, or $10,939,000.

The two-part proposal seeks a "yes" or "no" vote on the millage renewal as well as permission to levy the full authorized millage (37 mills) in the event that the existing state equalized valuation (SEV) increase is higher than the state of Michigan's inflation rate.

"Both of those proposals are very important to us," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business. "Without the vote of the people we would have to levy only the amount the state formula allowed us."

A "yes" vote on both proposals Tuesday would allow the district to go ahead and levy the same millage rate as last year, but a "no" vote on the second proposal might mean the loss of as much as one-quarter of a mill, said Hoedel.

"The quarter-mill loss isn't a firm figure," said Hoedel. "We know the inflation rate is going to be around 1.9 per cent but we don't know the other additions and subtractions in the state formula. We probably won't have those other ingredients until May."

A quarter mill decrease would represent a loss of $250,000 to the district. A homeowner with a house worth $70,000 would save approximately $8.

Dick Egli, community relations director for the schools, admitted the second proposal was an attempt to "get around" the millage reduction required by Headlee, which was originally designed to put a cap on taxes levied by local governments and schools.

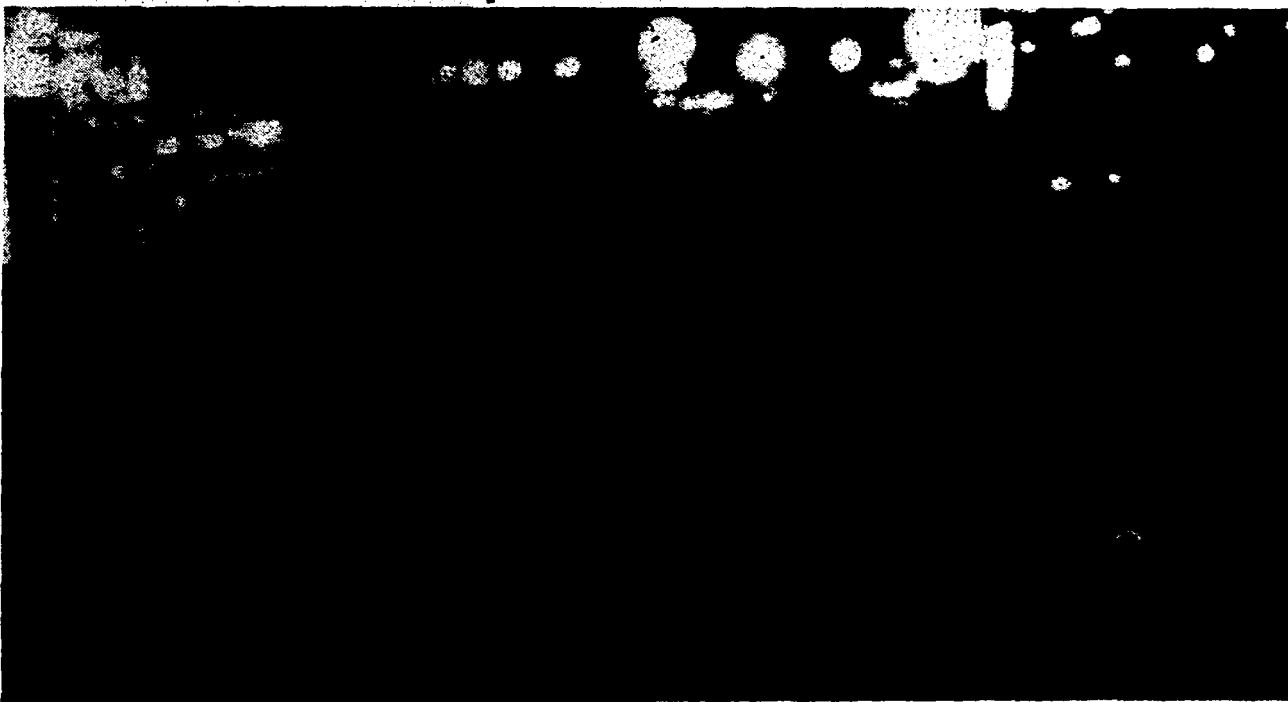

The amendment limits property tax increases to the rate of inflation in the state.

The last time voters in the district had a chance to waive the Headlee amendment -- in 1981 -- they voted it down, 4,457 to 2,152, said Egli. But in an election the year before, local voters agreed to override the amendment, 3,147 to 3,101.

"We're just trying to maintain the same operating millage," said Hoedel. "This is not an attempt to increase taxes by any means."

As for the voter turnout, Egli said it has been "typically" low -- around 15 per cent, in the past. There are approximately 46,000 voters in the school district.

Suspended driver charged in Twp. hit-run fatal

BY T.M. SMITH

An 80-year-old Plymouth woman was hit and killed Monday night as she attempted to walk across a busy street in Plymouth Township.

The driver of the car, John Edwin Pary, of Canton, was hoped to be arraigned today on charges of "fleeing a scene of a fatal accident and driving with a suspended license," according to Deputy Chief Chip Snider.

Snider said Pary was being held by the police until the arraignment and that this was Pary's second suspension.

Police said that Mary Frozila, of 14255 Sheldon, was walking across Sheldon Road at 6:45 p.m. Monday towards the shopping mall on the west side when she was struck and killed.

"She was wearing dark clothing, unfortunately the driver fled the scene. He cut through the Trailwood subdivision behind the mall, and we just happened to have a routine patrol in that area," Snider said. "He ran a stop sign and one of our officers effected the traffic stop not knowing about the accident."

Snider said once the driver was pulled over he admitted the accident.

Police also said that alcohol was not involved.

Witnesses at the scene said that it appeared the driver of the car stopped, got out of his car in a nearby lot, and then fled the scene.

The victim was pronounced dead at the scene, but the medical examiner has not determined the exact cause of death.

Man arrested after pulling gun in Canton bar Saturday

A Wayne man was arraigned in 35th District Court Feb. 7 on a three-count warrant -- felonious assault, carrying a concealed weapon and use of a firearm in commission of a felony, according to Canton police.

David Alan Harter, 38, is being held on $10,000 or 10 per cent bond after being arrested at Mobil Lounge, on Michigan Avenue, Saturday night.

According to police, Harter allegedly entered Mobil Lounge, got into an argument with a Detroit man about a girlfriend and pulled out a gun, threatening the Detroit man.

Harter allegedly left the bar and hid in the back seat of his car in the parking lot. Canton police found him and made an arrest at the scene.

Parade might return

Chamber cancels Fest chicken feed

BY DAN NESS

The ever-changing Canton Country Festival will look even more different this summer, following a recent decision by the Canton Chamber of Commerce not to hold its chicken feed.

The Chamber Board of Directors voted Jan. 14 to not participate with a chicken feed, and to look into other possibilities for participation on a smaller scale, according to Board President Tim Ford.

"It just does not make good business sense," Ford said. "It's not worth the man-hours that was put into it."

Ford said the chicken feed was a "financial gamble" for the Chamber, which started the annual festival 12 years ago, billed then as the Canton Corn Festival. Ford cited the "cost of liquor liability insurance and the financial gamble the Chamber took" as reasons for the decision.

One of those gambles was the large purchase of chicken for the feed. The success of the barbecue depended heavily on the weather, Ford said. "If we'd have had rain last year, for sure we'd still be eating chicken."

The Chamber is studying different possibilities for involvement in the festival, such as running an information booth, Ford said. "We're not abandoning the Country Fest - in no way, shape or form."

"I haven't been officially notified," although he did hear about the decision, said Country Festival Chairman Bill Simmerer. "We know what the Chamber won't be doing, but we don't know what they will be doing."

Simmerer said the Chamber is looking for "other groups doing the stuff the chamber was doing," such as the chicken barbeque and the beer concessions. "We're looking for alternative sources right now."

Simmerer said the biggest change in the fest, however, would be the return of the Country Festival parade. "The big news is the parade, tentatively scheduled for the weekend before the Fest," Simmerer said. The Country Festival parade was not held last year after growing into one of the largest parades held in the state annually. A lack of volunteers and money were the main reasons for the cancelled parade, according to festival officials.

"I don't know how large a parade we'll have, but we do have it on the schedule," Simmerer said.

Double hoax hits Canton police

BY DAN NESS

The Canton Police Department, along with other police agencies, spent hours searching for a body and more hours investigating a reported rape and abduction Monday before determining that each of the separate incidents was actually a hoax.

Canton police began investigating a report from a Romulus woman who said she was abducted in her own car late Saturday night at the Speedway gas station near I-275 and Michigan Avenue in Canton. The woman reported that two men entered her car, drove her north on I-275, exited onto a gravel road, and sexually assaulted her several times.

The 48-year-old woman said she was then dropped off at I-275 and Ecorse Road as the men drove away with her car. Sumpter Township police recovered the vehicle at about 4:30 a.m.

Late Monday night, however, the story changed, according to Police Information Officer David Boljesic. "She's confessed to making the whole thing up."

According to Boljesic, the woman said she fabricated the story to explain why she was late to work on Sunday.

"We're going to definitely seek a warrant for filing a false police report," Boljesic said.

In another bizarre incident, Canton police received an anonymous phone call reporting an injury accident at Denton and Proctor roads Sunday night. When officers arrived at the scene, they found a two-door 1976 Oldsmobile in the west ditch of Denton Road.

The driver's side window was broken, and there was blood all over the door and the seat, according to Boljesic. The officers searched the area for a potentially injured driver to no avail.

On Monday, a helicopter from the Detroit Police Department was employed in the search. After calling several friends of the owner of the car, it was determined that the "car accident" was set up.

"It was a hoax by a young lady," Boljesic said. "We still don't know why she did it."

Plymouth Twp. survey good start

BY T.M. SMITH

A survey, recently sent to Plymouth Township residents, might have stirred an interest and awareness in the township government that has been missing for awhile among homeowners.

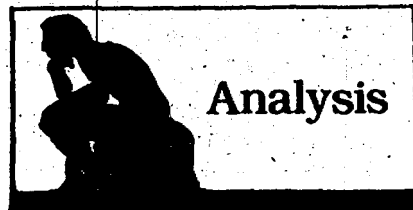

The survey, paid for and distributed by the township, was an attempt to gauge the knowledge and opinions of residents in the township.

Whether those opinions and thoughts were found or not, is still up in the air. But it can be fairly well assessed that the survey did raise the conscience of the residents.

Greg Williams, one of the seven members of the township task force who organized the study, said the survey was a three-pronged approach.

He said it was the first of several steps the township was planning in response to Project Key, which was released last summer.

The objective of the survey, he said, was to "first, educate people of Plymouth Township; second, get a feel for the level of services people believe we provide; and third find how good of a job we are doing at telling people what we do."

Those three objectives are all valid, solid reasons for extending the money for a study. But maybe something more important came of the study.

By sending the 7,000 survey booklets to homes in the township, the government was telling the residents that their opinion mattered.

In return, the people sent the surveys back in numbers, telling township officials the good, the bad and the ugly.

But there were some problems.

The most obvious blackmark were the handwritten, ominous numbers written on the back of each form.

Head-on collision kills 1

BY DAN NESS

One person was killed and two were seriously injured after a head-on collision between two cars on Cherry Hill Road between Lotz and Hix roads Thursday morning.

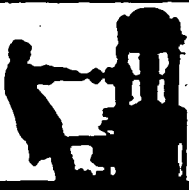

According to Canton police, Martin Louis Grocuff, 43, of 795 Canterbury in Canton, was killed when he passed two cars on Cherry Hill Road and failed to get back into his lane, striking a car driven by Patricia Fugate, 36, of Ypsilanti head-on. A passenger in Fugate's car, Larry Bostain, 29, also of Ypsilanti, was also injured.

Fugate and Bostain remain at Westland Medical Center in serious condition.

Grocuff was driving a 1984 Honda Prelude and Fugate was driving a 1979 Pontiac Firebird, according to police.

"None of the three people had seatbelts on," said Police Information Officer David Boljesic. "Apparently, there have been other fatalities (accidents) there in the past."

Department Reports: Treasurer Brown gave a department report covering the following items:

1. Progress of 1986 Tax Collection.
2. Reported total deposits of $34.7 million as of December 31, 1986.
3. Reported $6.8 million deposited with C-Tan Trustee.
4. Discussed possibility of not having February 15-28 Late Tax Moratorium.
5. Discussed possibility of collecting summer school taxes.

Clerk Chuhran requested the following be read into the record:

Clerk Chuhran indicated that she researched Township files and could not find anything to support the Supervisor ever preparing the agenda. "In fact on 3-23-76 the board voted all materials relating to agendas be handled by the Clerk. Prior to the 1976 agenda appears to be made by the Clerk's Office. It is an impossible task, from a records keeping/records management standpoint to be accountable for documents not available for the public because of confused agendas and packets. The Clerk's Office was in the process of setting up a system of computer indexing the minutes and agendas for instant retrieval for the staff and the public. This is impossible due to the existing circumstances. Board members who voted in favor of this administrative nightmare must assume any responsibility and incurred liabilities. Chuhran stated a show cause motion is before circuit court and an amended lawsuit is filed to protect the integrity of the office of Clerk. It will be the official position of the Clerk's Office that until the show cause motion is heard before the court, the Clerk's Office will continue to prepare the agenda. The Supervisor or Board will not remove the check and balance between offices without continued opposition from the Clerk, and will not throw obstacles in the way of those who want to appear before the board. It is a direct violation of the open meetings act. If one individual in a thousand is not allowed to speak, the system has failed. The board has repeatedly tried to muzzle me and now wants the ability to muzzle the public."

She stated "several weeks ago when I tried to address the board on Bob Padget's allegation of assault, I was shouted down, disallowed to speak, and a resolution was passed to "gag" my conversation. It showed the arrogance of some of the board members along with the attempt to stop the right to speak about this type of subject. I have discovered that allegations of this nature about elected officials must be brought before the board. This resolution was made ironically by Bob Padget at a special meeting called for that purpose on November 13, 1982 - That motion reads: Motion by Padget, supported by Larson and unanimously carried that all future meetings of the township board pertaining to complaints or charges against Elected Officials be open to the public."

If the allegations are against someone other than the "good ole boys" the official is fair game."

Item 1 - Resolution Regarding the Issuing of Bonds - Library Board.

Motion by Larson, supported by Preniczky, to adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS the Township Board has received a resolution from the Canton Public Library trustees requesting the support and assistance of the Canton Board of Trustees to construct a Public Library with bonds in the amount of $3.5 million issued for not more than 20 years

Ayes: Padget, Poole, Prencizky, Bennett, Brown, Chuhuran, Larson.

Motion unanimously carried.

Item 7 -- Agenda Format and Items -- Supervisor Poole provided the trustees with Plymouth Twp. Agenda Format for review and comments. Clerk Chuhuran advised Supervisor Poole that her staff would not give any assistance to the Supervisor's Office with the preparation of the agendas, as it was the position of the Clerk that it was diminishing the responsibilities of the office of the Clerk.

Item 9 -- Establish meeting scheduled for 1987. Motion by Larson, supported by Bennett, to establish 1st, 2nd, and 4th Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. as regularly scheduled Board Meetings for 1987 and to change the meeting scheduled for February 3 to Wednesday, February 4, 1987.

Novi concert

PSO performance best in 10 years

BY REEF MORSE

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra has traditionally held its concerts at Centennial Park High School in Canton. During the teachers' strike in Plymouth-Canton several years ago, the PSO played at the Novi High School Auditorium when Centennial Park was unavailable.

This time, the PSO is expanding its geographical horizons and Novi High was a deliberate choice for the Feb. 8 concert. The acoustics of the auditorium were excellent and it is a well-maintained facility with no squeaking seats. Even though the weather was terrible, the concert was well attended.

The program reflected the efforts of Leon Gregorian to bring more contemporary music to the community. All of the composers played were alive in this century and two, Poulenc and Barber, died in 1963 and 1981, respectively.

The concert opened with the overture to "The Forces of Destiny" composed Verdi in 1868. It was the most traditional music of the afternoon. The orchestra played this piece with vigor and intensity.

This was followed by Poulenc's Concerto in D Minor for Two Pianos and Orchestra which was composed in 1932. The first movement was playful at first, then somber with a great deal of dissonance. The second movement was sentimental and melodic, while the third movement returned to the humor and playfulness of the first, but retained more of the melodic components of the second.

The soloists, Yong Hi Moon and Dai Uk Lee, played with spirit and precision. They played with remarkable balance; there was never a feeling of one piano dominating another and the combined effect was smooth and flowing even in the very difficult and dissonant parts of the first movement.

Moon was presented with a bouquet of flowers after the performance and the audience gave a standing ovation to both soloists and orchestra in appreciation.

The orchestra was clearly still uncomfortable with dissonant music and took a while to get into the spirit of the music. But, by the third movement, the pianos and orchestra has joined forces to provide an excellent finale.

After intermission, the string sections and harp played Barber's "Adagio for Strings". Composed as part of a string quartet in 1936, the Adagio has overshadowed the rest of the work and is played often. It is currently used as the theme music to the movie "Platoon." It is evocative and emotional music. The orchestra played with intensity and Gregorian used the full dynamic range of the strings in the performance.

The final piece of the afternoon was Respighi's "The Pines of Rome". It was written in 1924 as part of a trilogy depicting aspects of Roman life. It is played in four movements and uses a number of additional instruments such as celeste, organ, and a recording of a singing bird. The orchestra gave a lively and colorful presentation. The balance among all the instruments was excellent and even the power of the lowest stop on the organ, equivalent to a 32-foot pipe, complemented, but did not overwhelm, the orchestra.

Once again, the audience gave a standing ovation, this time to Gregorian and the orchestra members themselves.

It is clear that the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is developing a wider repertory and is capable of performing a wide variety of music. This was as varied a performance as ever been presented and the orchestra handled it well. The orchestra gained in intensity as the performance progressed with no feeling of flagging spirits.

Gregorian's programming selections and conducting are bringing out the rich potential of the orchestra. The orchestra has been steadily improving with every concert.

This performance was the best in the last 10 years.

Chamber sells house plans for March move

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce House on Main Street has been purchased by two individuals representing a real estate office, a member of the chamber's House Committee said.

Margaret Slezak said the house was sold three weeks ago, but no details of the sale were available. She said the chamber will no longer occupy the house.

"We have plans to move into the house on Ann Arbor Trail next to McAuley's," Slezak said.

She said the terms of the sale include that the chamber will complete the move by March 1.

The new owners of the Chamber House are Dennis Cohoon and Nanette Herbeis, who represent Century 21 Real Estate Slezak said.

Slezak said the chamber was pleased to sell the house as quickly as it did.

The chamber's new address will be 960 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Next Tuesday

Vote yes on schools

On Tuesday, voters will have a chance to show their support of the Plymouth-Canton Schools as they go to the polls to decide a millage renewal proposal.

Also, and probably just as important, voters will be asked to waive the 1978 Headlee Amendment which limits property tax increases to the rate of inflation in the state.

The millage renewal -- for 10.36 mills or $10,939,000 -- is very important. It represents nearly 28 per cent of the district's operating budget and without it the administration would be forced to make drastic cuts at all levels.

The district is too important to lose its much needed funding just because there are those who would vote against any kind of tax proposal -- even if it's only a renewal.

And with the increasing growth in the district's student population, there is more need than ever to secure continued funding at all levels.

As for the proposal to waive the Headlee Amendment, the district is doing the only sensible thing by trying to secure its full operating millage.

The potential savings from such a rollback (based on the state's current inflation rate as compared to the state equalized valuation) is not that great for district residents -- amounting to somewhere around one-quarter of a mill. (One mill levied equals $1 of property tax per $1,000 of state equalized value (SEV) of property. SEV equals about one-half the property's market value.)

The money saved by a homeowner would be about enough to catch a film at a local moviehouse.

Still there are those diehard, anti-tax folks out there who will vote against the overriding of Headlee because their philosophy tells them any kind of potential tax shift, or increase, is unjustifiable.

But it's important to remember that voting to waive Headlee does not mean a tax increase.

It will only allow the district to levy its full authorized millage no matter what the SEV and inflation rates turn out to be. And that won't be known for sure by district financial directors until as late as May of this year.

So, vote for the millage renewal. And vote "yes" to waive the Headlee Amendment.

City should stop, listen

A turmoil has surfaced between the city administration and some residents, for what might be nothing more than a misunderstanding.

The friction stems from the city administration's desire to expand the Downtown Development District. This expansion would include, among others, four lots at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey. The residents who live in that area, and some who live elsewhere, are steamed that the administration would move the downtown into their residential area.

With this anger the residents have raised some important questions.

And while many of the specific questions are important, the fact that they raised them is even more important. The fact that these residents found it important enough to attend and speak at the city commission meeting proves the issue is vital to them.

These resident's questions and fears deserve to be answered before any action is taken on the proposal -- and they should be answered in public.

This is not a question of the expansion, but

The public is often treated like a small child, with the city's attitude seemingly saying: "trust me, this is the best thing for you. You just don't understand it."

The public can understand complex problems. Rational thought is not limited to those elected to do so. Where there are legitimate public concerns, those problems must be met and answered.

Several years ago when the DDA went through its initial expansion, the city ran into problems when it did not stop and listen to these same type of questions. Back then some people were not properly informed of the move. But when that was brought to light, the city denied the problem.

Later the city was forced to swallow some pride when it was found that those people were not notified.

The merit of an expanded DDA at this time isn't the major question right now. That will be worked out in pre-established channels if the city does not insist on ram-rodging it through the system.

For the good of the residents and the city, everyone should stop and listen.

To the point

By Dan Ness

Canton's premier festival -- and its best excuse to fling cow manure -- is headed for some troubled times.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted last month to not hold its chicken barbecue at the Canton Country Festival as it had in past years. Instead, the Chamber will look for other ways to participate.

Those other ways will be less costly, and less risky, financially, and that's the whole problem here.

The Canton Country Festival, as opposed to the Plymouth Fall Festival (and I do hate to make that comparison), hires out much of the entertainment. It hires a rodeo company to put on the rodeo, it hires a carnival company to run the rides, and the rest is filled in with community-sponsored activities.

Why not turn that around, and let the community take over? What's left can be hired out.

Chamber members point to the finances involved in the Fest when explaining the cancellation of the chicken feed, and it's hard not to sympathize with them. Why should an organization gather volunteers to work for an event that may not (and does not) return anything to that organization?

Just as the parade was cancelled last year because of lack of funds and volunteers, this year's pull-out by the Chamber signals a major change in the Fest. The Fest board should now make necessary changes to keep the Fest alive, and not so expensive, for participating groups.

It has been heard in town that maybe the way to go is with a scaled-down version of the Festival -- more of a community picnic than a carnival -- to save the Fest and save money. That may be worth considering.

The Festival board is going ahead with a plan to return the Country Festival Parade, and I hope they can do it. That should also help to get the community more involved in the celebration. But, if the board scrapped the parade last year because of money and volunteer problems, it faces an even bigger challenge this year to pull it off.

Everyone wants a Canton Country Festival. And Canton should have an annual celebration of what makes this community what it is. Canton deserves a festival.

But, it cannot afford so large a festival that even its own Chamber of Commerce has to pull out.

Go back to the drawing board. Save the Country Festival.

Make way for offices

EDITOR:

My sympathy to the owners of the four lots on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail just west of Harvey Street.

These unfortunate people are obviously being pressured to sell their homes to make room for an office complex.

Who is pressuring these owners? The City of Plymouth. Who? By attempting to include them in the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) which would place on them additional taxes, assessments, and other burdens.

Remember three of these properties are private homes and one is a real estate office is a beautiful older former home. There is no more good reason on the surface to include them in the D.D.A. than any other private homes or real estate offices except that some developer wants to obtain these particular properties. It is grossly improper to pressure these people.

A new office complex will require new parking space and probably another parking structure is in the plans. Well, who should pay for a new parking structure? Obviously the developer should have to provide enough parking for business buildings and no zonings changed or building permits granted until the developer assures the city that he will provide a parking structure.

Is that fair? But remember that the last time a parking structure needed to be built in the City of Plymouth the Plymouth homeowners ended up paying for it and we will still be paying for it until the year 2000 and it will cost us more than $2 million. Can we keep that from happening to us all over again?

So I sympathize with the Ann Arbor Trail group because I can see what is being done to them. And I feel especially sorry for the Plymouth homeowners because when all the cards are played, we will be left paying for another parking structure that we don't need.

Plymouth homeowners need some support from the Mayor and City Commissioners. This town is not just one big "J.C." project. The homeowners are as much a part of this city as anyone and it's time that some of our interests and concerns get some attention.

TONY ANASON

Do they have backbone?

Support the committees

It's time to see what kind of backbone The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education really has.

With five of Diane Daskalakis' appeals on the docket for Monday's workshop, it will be very important to chart how the board reacts.

Will the board act responsibly and back its own review committees? That's the key question.

Although it will not make any decision until the next regular meeting, the board should begin to make it clear Monday that it stands behind the review committees 100 per cent.

If not, the entire policy and procedure for dealing with complaints against instructional resources means nothing.

The review committees deserve the confidence of the administration to give their very function legitimacy.

If not, complaints will continue to pile up in Dr. Michael Homes office and there will be no end to Daskalakis' attempts to overload the system with new complaints and appeals of rejected complaints.

The Board needs to make a strong statement with its decision Monday night to put an end to these specious complaints (and appeals). Let Daskalakis bring the matter before the courts if she so desires.

It's time for the board to move on with more important matters.
THE COMMUNITY CRIER

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

It is decision time for the school board.

No-one can help the board members now. Finally they have to confront the issue of controversial teaching materials in the school district.

But they need to do it with enough aplomb to hopefully put an end to the battle over movies, books and other teaching aides used at the high schools as well as middle and elementary schools.

Up to now the board has been able to stay in the background of the gladiatorial proceedings between Diane Daskalakis, Michael Homes' office and the various committees appointed to review the complaints.

The review committees have done a fair job thus far siding with the teachers and the loosely liberal instructional attitude in the district.

It's time to hear from the board.

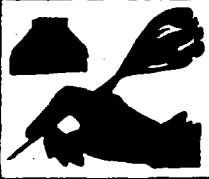

This issue could drag on indefinitely (even if the board speaks loudly against any form of academic censorship) and it would be nice if we had something definite on record from the board members.

Individually, the board members have had things to say, but publically there has been little if any discussion about the pros and cons of what Daskalakis is doing.

How does the board feel about the specific complaints? About controversial materials in general?

Maybe we'll find out on Monday at the board workshop, but don't count on it. Still it will be interesting to see the confrontation between board members and Daskalakis.

Will the board be able to deal with the pressure she and her group exert? Hard to tell.

Community opinions

Plymouth biz folks important

One of the strong points in The Plymouth-Canton Community is the mettle, the intellectual level and the individualism of our business community.

Rarely can a town boast of such a group.

For example, take Chris Saxton.

When his older brother, Al, and I were pals in high school, Chris was there -- the little brother running around with a squirt gun in the old Hartsough neighborhood.

Now, Chris is stepping up as the third generation in one of the oldest businesses in Plymouth-Canton-Northville and he's not bashful about it.

As I stopped in Saxtons to load up Beauregard's weekly supply of dog food, Chris dropped what he was doing to register a complaint about The Crier's opinion pages. (See the resulting letter elsewhere on these pages.)

Tim Smith, Crier special sections editor and occasional grumbler about business practices towards consumers, had penned a column a few weeks back stating that our community needed a forum where consumers could complain about businesses they were dissatisfied with.

"Great idea," said Chris. "But how about a place where businesses can complain about consumers too?"

As every business owner knows, serving customers can be frightfully exasperating in rare instances. Even without the bounced checks, there are times that the customers just are not right. But, to stay in business, shopkeepers pretend the customer wins.

Or take Irene Mattis over at Gould's Cleaners. Perhaps you read recently in Metropolitan Detroit magazine that Gould's was picked as the "best of Detroit" because it had returned cash found in a suitcoat.

"We do that all the time," said Irene. "The day I have to start cheating my customers to make it, I'll retire."

And then there's Ted Gutowski, an equipment liquidator over on Eckles Road in Plymouth Township. He discovered The Plymouth-Canton Community when he came here to help run an industrial auction, fell in love with the place and has become a miniature chamber of commerce about town ever since.

He's one of those businessfolks who, although they don't live in the community, take Plymouth-Canton charms to heart. They contribute much to our economic lifeblood and to our ambiance.

With Malice Toward None

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Or take Bob Puckett. I've liked the guy since our families have known each other for some time; but politically speaking, Bob's vote at the polls has probably been cancelled in every election since I've been old enough to cast a ballot.

Yet, when this newspaper was the target of an advertising boycott six months ago, Bob called to say, "Bluebeard? --, I never agree with you, but I'm not letting some ----- tell me how to run my business." Bob, as you might expect, talks like a plumber.

Like Bob, George Lapenta at Little Book Center was threatened a month ago to boycott Crier advertising or face his own boycott. George finally tracked me down at home to say, "This town needs a newspaper like yours. You print their letters (those disagreeing with Crier opinions) too." George said he didn't care if the threatening folks didn't buy books in his store; he dismissed my apologies for getting him in the middle of an argument that wasn't his.

Another Plymouth-Canton businessman we see a lot of is Frank McMurray, the State Farm agent of Canton. Frank spends a great deal of his time getting things done for the Canton Chamber or the Canton Historical Society -- and those who try to button down projects like those know that it never pleases everybody. I suspect Frank's lost some policy business over the years.

Or take Fred Hill, the hustling haberdasher. He's not one to be shy about promoting business in general or his shops (soon to be four in Plymouth) in particular. He stands up to be counted on matters like the DDA or the pigeons, or Ohio State (in that order of importance) -- even though that may irritate a client or two.

What do all these business folks have in common?

The drive to participate. The responsibility to serve customers fairly. The will to stand up and be counted even if they know it could hurt their business in the short run.

This pro-community, pro-customer attitude runs rampant in The Plymouth-Canton Community's businesses.

It contributes in large part to what makes our town so alive. In the long run, these individuals -- and the many other businessfolks like them -- will help us grow and prosper in a manner that's good for all sectors of our community (residents, commercial and industrial concerns all gain).

We owe a great deal to our business community here.

Myers should make apology

EDITOR:

This letter is our response to recent public statements regarding the Miranda decision.

In this article, Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers was quoted as saying that prior to the Mirand ruling in 1966, "we used to beat confessions out of people." Of course, nothing could be further from the truth.

First of all, at the time of Mirand, Chief Myers was but a mere adolescent, and surely did not have any knowledge of, nor interest in the activities of the Plymouth Police Department

Secondly, we had the privilege of being associated with numerous officers who worked in the area both before and after the Supreme Court ruling in question, and there has not been even one single incident related to us by any of these officers which corroborates Chief Myers' allegations.

As we all know, many of these officers have been promoted to positions of high rank or administration in Plymouth as well as other communities, which could not have been possible if their characters were questionable.

We, the members of the Plymouth Police Officers Association, are outraged by the statements of our chief.

We feel that he has not only slandered the good names of these individuals, but has blackened the reputation of the Plymouth community in general, as the police department's activities are a direct reflection of the people it serves.

We view Plymouth as a city rich in culture, which promotes progress while maintaining a quaint, picturesque image, and do not believe the citizens of this community would tolerate the type of behavior Chief Myers states has been part of our history.

We feel the only way the damaging remarks made by Myers can be reversed is by way of a public apology, both through the local newspapers and at a commission meeting, which the officers in question would have an opportunity to attend.

JOSEPH M. KAHANEC,
President Plymouth Police Officers Association

Businesses deserve fairness on both ends

Who decides which are good businesses and which are not?

In response to T. M. Smith's column, "Keep track of those unfriendly businesses" (Crier's Opinion Pages of Jan. 21):

There is enough forum in the legal process -- like Small Claims Court, Better Business Bureau, Action Line, Contact 10 -- to handle it. If the customer goes to the business and has a problem, and they make the business aware of it (the business can't react if it doesn't know something's wrong) and they can't work it, then go through these systems.

If The Crier wants to run a similar column, it should be researched thoroughly be prepared to legally substantiate that that person is bad news.

Being a consumer and a businessman, I like to be treated with respect on both ends.

I agree that bad business ethics should be exposed. But it should be done with fairness to both the consumer and the businessman.

CHRIS SAXTON

Twp. police rude

EDITOR:

I, as a senior citizen living in Plymouth township, would like you to know what kind of a police department the township has.

I am very sick with the flu and my doctor told me not to go out, so he called in some medicine to the local drugstore for me. Being I live in a senior citizen complex, I had no way of getting my medication. The township police told me to have my husband get it. After I told him I was a widow, he said, "have your friends pick it up," and then said "we do not do anything like that" and hung up.

They are very nice police in Plymouth township.
LOUISE SMITH

P.S. At least he could have been polite.

Canton has $$$, needs projects

Canton will receive approximately $290,000 in Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds this year, and Canton residents will have until Feb. 16 to submit projects for possible funding.

The grant money is provided by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and is directed toward projects involving low and moderate-income residents.

The funds are administered to selected projects through the Canton CDBG Advisory Council and the township Department of Community and Economic Development. The Advisory Council is seeking suggestions for projects to consider, and any resident or group is invited to respond.

Anyone with project suggestions may contact Gerald Martin, Department of Community and Economic Development, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd., Canton 48188 or call 397-1000 ext. 238.

Since Canton's involvement beginning in the mid-'70s, funds from this program have been used for drain improvements, construction improvements to the Senior Recreation Building, acquisition of property for the Dye Brothers Subdivision industrial complex south of Michigan Avenue, and support of community service agencies such as the Salvation Army and Growth Works. CDBG funds have also been used through the years for housing rehabilitation.

He examines urban ecosystems

Bob Smock, of Plymouth, sees metro Detroit very differently than it is often portrayed.

As the driving force behind a new research venture at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Smock would give the area a B-plus.

With an interdisciplinary board and an ad hoc laboratory, the sociology professional and institutional research director has taken on a new role leading the UM-Dearborn Urban Research Lab.

Smock has already served as director of the campus Center for Urban Studies, technical director of the Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study for the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and as associate director of the Wayne State Detroit Area Traffic Study and Urban Research Lab.

He has also written more than 30 articles on urban ecosystems.

"I've decided that I wanted to make computer models of urban ecosystems before I retire," Smock said.

Welcome to my lab

Bob Smock stands by the entrance to his lab where he studies forms of urban ecosystems.

The new urban research lab is different from the earlier UM-D center for urban studies. The previous center conducted research for others, while the new lab carries out its own research.

Tell it to Phyllis

By Phyllis Redfern

Last week's Tell It to Phyllis column was guest-written by Ted Gutowski. He was identified at the end, but not prominently at the beginning.

Our apologies Ted.

Addenda & errata

With the income tax deadline two months away, most people have started thinking about their taxes but few have actually done much about it. Unless you're getting money back from the government there's no need to rush into it.

Those of us who have college kids trying for financial aid, scholarships or grants don't have much choice. We have to jump into trying to figure out the income tax forms so that we can pull our hair out trying to fill out the financial aid forms. For those parents who are still procrastinating, remember the deadline is Feb. 15. I think college students who already have scholarships and are trying to renew them have until March 15.

I hate filling out any kind of form and income tax laws are one step beyond me. There is no doubt but that it is cheaper for me to pay someone to do my taxes who knows what they are doing. So far, I'm still able to handle the easy form for the kids.

If I can't handle the forms as they are now, you know there's no hope for me next year with all the changes. I even had to call the accountant for help figuring out my W4 form. You should have heard me try to explain it to the rest of the staff.

Life would be so much easier if we didn't have to deal with forms, especially those in legalese. I notarized a form a couple of weeks ago that I had to read five times before I could figure out who had to sign where.

The financial aid forms for college students are the ones that really get to me. With two kids in college next year and two different forms to fill out I'm about to go crazy. I reached the point one night last week when I threw out my hands and said it wasn't worth it. I got up and walked away from the forms, then took another look at the cost of tuition and decided to give the forms another chance.

Someone should teach a class on how to fill out these stupid forms. A lot of the questions are simple common sense, but some of those questions can be real tricky.

One of the hardest things about putting yourself through the misery of filling out all those forms is that you're not sure it is really going to do any good.

While most people are busy this time of year making and sending out valentines, some of us are working with numbers and forms so our valentines can go to college next year.

A note to those parents who are going through this for the first time -- I think it gets a little easier after you've been through it once. Just remember these forms are never the same, they're never easy, they always drive you crazy, but sometimes it can be worth all the hassle. Good Luck.

Students named to the Dean's List at Alma College are: Brian Bartes, son of Jimmy and Catherine Troutman of Brookfield in Canton; Karin Barto, daughter of Glen and Constance Barto of Willowbrook; and Tamara Budlong, daughter of Robert and Judith Budlong of Old Salem in Plymouth. A December graduate, Bartes received a BA with majors in both business administration and German.

Regina Ruggiero received a 4.0 at Bowling Green University. A senior majoring in Education, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ruggiero of Charnwood Drive in Plymouth.

CRUISE TIMETABLE

One of the least stressful ways to enjoy your holiday is to take a cruise. Your transportation, lodging, meals and recreation are prearranged and guaranteed, so you are free to unwind and enjoy. Cruise ships generally arrive and depart with a fair degree of punctuality so departure problems are highly unlikely, provided you get to the ship on time.

To avoid the disappointment of watching your ship sail away without you, be sure to allow a few extra hours to get to the pier at board-on time. If bad weather is a possibility, you might plan on getting to the departure city a day earlier.

It's wise to reserve from 3 to 4 months ahead for peak holiday seasons such as Christmas and Easter. Ship companies rarely cancel a cruise, but if this occurs, you will be offered a full refund or a comparable or slightly superior future cruise.

If you have to cancel, a full refund is usually allowed up to 30 days before departure. After that time, you may be charged a cancellation fee.

Over 30 years experience assures you of the finest travel service available. And, best of all, THERE IS NO CHARGE TO YOU FOR OUR SERVICES. We are reimbursed in commission fees by the airlines and hotels, ships and resorts that we book.

Santomauro picked as safety head

BY DAN NESS

Canton Police Chief John Santomauro was to have been recommended to the Canton Board of Trustees as the appointee to the newly-created position of Public Safety Director at Tuesday night's board meeting.

"All we've done so far is create the position," said Dan Durack, Canton's personnel director. "I've certified his name to the township supervisor in accordance with the merit commission. It's a formality."

Santomauro's appointment comes as a result of the Bartell and Bartell study of the Canton Fire Department, which was presented to the board in October. In the report, one of the options put forth by municipal consultant Rod Bartell was the formation of a public safety director position, and Santomauro's name was mentioned as a possibility at that time.

As public safety director, Santomauro would be the top administrator for both police and fire departments, although the departments would still be independent.

Santomauro is no stranger to the public safety director position. He served five years as deputy director for public safety in Farmington and was the public safety director in Pittsfield Township immediately before coming to Canton in 1985.

The board will decide upon a salary level for the new position, according to Durack.

Santomauro said specific changes within the police and fire departments would not be determined until he had a chance to talk with personnel in the departments and review the Bartell study again.

"There are going to be changes, as there are in this type of consolidation," Santomauro said.

Santomauro said he was looking forward to the position. "I've always had a keen interest in fire service."

Board to hear Daskalakis' appeals

BY KEN VOYLES

Diane Daskalakis will have her say next Monday, at a workshop session of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of education.

The session is set aside to hear her five appeals over the use of certain controversial materials by instructors in the district.

Daskalakis had appealed five of six review committee decisions which upheld the use of the films "The Breakfast Club," and "Excalibur," the book "Rules for Radicals," a Ouija Board and the study of palmistry and Tarot card reading.

"We'll hear her out," said Board President E.J. McClendon. "I really don't want to say anything right now. I haven't heard what she has to say."

Board member Roland Thomas said, "I'll sit and listen and be as impartial as I can be. We owe that much to her."

Another Board member, Dave Artley, said, "It's gonna be interesting."

"I want to hear what the lady has to say." Please see page 20

Juvenile was witness, not suspect -- police officers

BY DAN NESS

A 16-year-old Ypsilanti Township youth being held in connection with the killing of Mary Anne Hulbert, 13, of Canton, was perceived as a "witness" and not a "suspect" when he took a polygraph test on Jan. 7, according to the testimony of three law enforcement officers Monday in Washtenaw County Juvenile Court.

The juvenile and another 16-year-old boy were arrested the night of Jan. 7 in connection with Hulbert's death. Hulbert's body was found on Jan. 7 in a field in Superior Township, after she had been reported missing from her Canton home on Dec. 30.

An autopsy showed that Hulbert had been shot seven times.

Monday's hearing was a continuation of an examination to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to show a murder has taken place, and whether there is enough evidence to show that the two 16-year-olds should stand trial for the murder. The Washtenaw County Prosecutor has previously stated that he would seek to have the juveniles tried as adults if the hearing produces a trial.

The defense attorney for one of the juveniles being held questioned the propriety of a polygraph, or "lie detector" test, given to his client on the night of Jan. 7. Edward Schwartz pressed Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Officer Frank Combs, who administered the polygraph, for information about the test itself and the manner in which it was administered.

Canton Detective Karen Paulun

testified that the juvenile acted "cocky" during the polygraph test, smiling and playing "air guitar" at times. "He appeared to be enjoying himself," the detective said.

Paulun also said she regarded the juvenile only as a witness at the time he took the polygraph. "I was under the impression that he was a witness at that time," the detective said.

Canton Lt. Larry Stewart and Combs also testified that they thought the juvenile was only a witness at that time.

The police officials said they did not hear anyone call the juvenile a "prime suspect" before the polygraph testing had begun, although Paulun's written report of the night's events was contrary to that information.

Schwartz said Combs' policy of not letting the juvenile's mother into the polygraph observation room, in effect, prevented her from stopping the testing whenever she felt it was infringing on her son's rights. Combs disagreed, and said he does not allow anyone except police officers with a professional interest in the case to watch the polygraph testing.

The hearing will resume today at 1 p.m. in front of Judge Judith James Wood.

Survey is step in right direction

Several callers to The Crier expressed concern about those numbers, and suggested they were a form of identification that could be traced through the township tax books.

A quick investigation revealed the numbers were nothing more than a zone number, which put each returned booklet into a very general area of the township.

Still, people were concerned, and some said they cut the numbers off before sending the booklet back.

Whatever the reason for putting the numbers on the back in handwriting -- it probably cost the township more than a couple completed surveys.

Which translates into several lost opinions.

The content of the study also raises some questions.

Williams said that many general questions were included to gain an overall view of areas that need to be further studied, and others were included to compare to a study done ten years ago.

Which are, no doubt, important points to a survey.

The problem created, however, is the perception the residents completing the study were given.

For instance, questions on ethnic background, with no explanation, can stir emotions in people that might hinder the objective of the study.

Certainly, the $10,000 that was allocated for the study, might have found a way to explain the reasoning behind some of those questions.

But the study is not all hindsight and sour grapes.

In fact, for the most part it appears to be a solid attempt on the part of township officials and the task force to query residents.

In today's world of government, when officials are forced to operate on the assumption of "you don't hear from the residents until you screw up," it is good to see government taking the initiative.

Good will come of the study if the township is able to carry through with the plan and delve further into the concerns this preliminary study might have raised.

But the work cannot stop here.

Bd. hears Daskalakis

say," he continued. "She has a right to speak and it's our responsibility to listen. It will be a difficult decision whatever we do."

The Monday meeting is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Board will not make a formal decision on the appeals at the meeting but will instead wait until the next regular meeting on Monday, Feb. 23.

Changes are being made in the way long distance users in your area place some operator-handled calls.

These changes affect Michigan Bell customers having phone numbers beginning with 420.

This is an informational message about your phone service from Marcia Buhl, your Michigan Bell Corporate Affairs Manager.

"These telephone service changes concern only operator-handled long distance calls outside your Michigan Bell long distance calling area. They apply to collect, credit card, person-to-person calls, calls billed to a third number, and requests for assistance. Some customers will need to contact their long distance companies for new instructions on how to place such calls. To find out if and how the service changes may affect your service, we ask you to read the following explanation."

An explanation of the changes in your operator-assistance service for calls outside your Michigan Bell long distance calling area (interLATA calls).

How operator-assisted calls were placed before. If you wanted operator assistance to place a long distance call, you dialed "0," or "0" plus the area code (if required), and the phone number you wanted and an operator put the call through for you.

How these calls are placed now. If the long distance service on the phone you are using is provided by a company that offers operator services and you want operator assistance to place a call, you dial "0," plus the area code (if required), and the phone number and an operator will assist you. To reach the long distance operator for additional assistance, you must dial "00." (Important: If you dial "0" without the phone number, you will get a Michigan Bell operator who can place calls within your Michigan-Bell area only.)

If the long distance service on the phone you're using is provided by a long distance company that does not offer operator services, you must contact that long distance company to get instructions on how to place operator-assisted long distance calls.

Please note: If you dial "0," plus the area code, and the number, you may get a recording or no response. Further, if you dial "0" without the number, you will get a Michigan Bell operator who will refer you to your long distance company for further instructions.

If you are calling from a pay phone, continue to use the instructions posted on the phone.

Again, you should contact your long distance company for new instructions on how to place operator-handled long distance calls outside your Michigan Bell calling area. If you have any other questions about the changes, please call Michigan Bell's Let's Talk Center. The toll-free number is 1 800 555-5000.

Please watch your Michigan Bell bill inserts for further information.

Hollywood in Plymouth? Locals jump on soap box

BY JILL SCHAUFELLE

Hollywood comes to Plymouth.

Bobby Hoffman, West Coast casting consultant to all of the ABC soap operas, appeared at the John Cassablancas modeling center Feb. 5-7.

Three seminars on how to audition for the soap operas were taught by Hoffman over the weekend. Saturday night, a critique of acting videos and auditions was held.

"The ability to want to do something is the key. The desire to be is as important as doing," Hoffman stressed.

Local residents Suzanne Farhat and Greg Lea participated with 92 other possible future actors and actresses coached by Hoffman during the three-day seminar. According to Hoffman, the 92 hopefuls was a record attendance for one of his seminars.

Lea, local Detroit model and '81 Salem High School graduate, has been interested in acting for the past few years. Although he performed his very first cold reading for Hoffman, it was overheard that Lea had a likeable charisma and the "look" for a soap opera actor.

"Bobby Hoffman was outspoken and straightforward," said Lea. "I really liked the man and felt his seminar was well worth it. Acting is different from modeling in that you can show your personality and ability to create a character."

Farhat, freelance make-up artist and instructor at John Cassablancas, also appeared for Hoffman with her first acting reading. "Even though it was my first reading I enjoy being in front of people, so I wasn't nervous," said Farhat. "The seminar was very educational, I learned a lot about different techniques and procedures for auditioning, and what to do to make a scene work for you. Hoffman was great."

Bobby Hoffman ended, "I never find specifics in people, however, with the invigorating groups this weekend I found a lot of talent -- young people with a lot of potential if they keep training. There is no stopping learning, you learn every day in acting."

Schools set mission

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education has "informally" committed to a two-sentence mission statement for the district it was reported after Monday's regular meeting.

The mission statement reads, "The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools believes that all students can learn and achieve personal success. Our mission is to provide educational opportunities in support of this belief."

The new mission statement was first discussed at the Board's workshop/retreat on Jan. 30-31.

It will be officially approved by the Board sometime in February, according to President E.J. McClendon.

The statement was boiled down from an original one-page statement written last year.

Stone new principal

BY KEN VOYLES

Judy Stone was named the new principal of West Middle School Monday at a regular meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

Stone, a Canton resident for the past 19 years, had been acting principal at West since Pat O'Donnell moved over to head the Special Education program in October, 1986.

"Most of my career has been in working with middle school and younger students," she said, "This age-level is one that needs special care.

"I'm looking forward to being both principal and instructional leader at West," she added.

Stone began teaching in 1964. She has spent 12 years at the middle school level, including nine in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

She has taught English and social studies and helped start the Talented and Gifted Program (TAG) and computer education program at the middle schools.

Stone also spent seven years as a university instructor in charge of student teachers at Eastern Michigan University (EMU) and the University of Michigan.

For the past three years she has been assistant principal at West.

The Registry is out

BY KEN VOYLES

The CEP Registry went out to nearly 300 parents recently.

The Registry lists the names and phone numbers of parents in The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools who have signed an agreement to supervise any party held at their home.

More importantly, though, the parents have also agreed to keep any alcohol or other substances off their premises during parties.

According to Salem Principal Gerald Ostoin, and a driving force behind the booklet, most of the parents who have signed up so far have students at Canton or Salem.

"But there are also some middle school parents in it," he said. "And I know its on the middle school principal's agenda to be discussed."

Ostoin said he hopes the second Registry -- to be published sometime in the fall -- would have even more names in it.

"We hope word of mouth will help increase its size," he said. "We'll probably do another one in the fall after publicizing it during the summer."

Rock grapplers retain league crown

BY MARTY TUNGATE
AND JANET ARMSTRONG

The Salem grapplers continue to roll, as they handily took the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) title Saturday, with 182.5 points.

The Rocks were followed by Westland John Glenn with 149.5 points. Walled Lake Central captured second place, and Livonia Stevenson took third with 139 points.

In the 98-pound weight class, Jeff Delbeke of Salem, pinned Tom Flores of Canton to capture first place.

At 129 pounds, Dennis Dameron finished first, beating Paul Maliszewski of Northville 16-5. This was the third consecutive WLAA title for Dameron, a feat only two other wrestlers from Salem have accomplished — brother David Dameron and Jeff Brown.

"Dennis joins an elite group now," said Salem head coach Ron Krueger.

In the heavyweight division, Richard Johnson from Salem took first place by beating Chris Zimmerman from John Glenn, 7-2. This was a significant victory for Johnson, as Zimmerman finished fourth in the state competition last year.

At 112 pounds, Sean May finished second for the Rocks, losing to David Zehrden from Walled Lake Central 7-5. Lem Yeung also captured a second place finish for the Rocks at 155 pounds. Yeung lost to Nick Papadakos from Walled Lake Western 7-6.

Todd Bouiler took third place for the Salem grapplers, as did Bill Atwell. Atwell lost a tough match to Adam Cahn of North Farmington, 11-0, in overtime.

Scott Contini finished fourth for the Rocks. Contini lost to Pat Somervell of Walled Lake Central 7-1. Also taking a fourth place for the Rocks was Chuck Graczyk on a fall.

"I'm very happy with the team's performance thus far," Krueger said.

Although the Rocks were able to win the league title and make it look easy, it wasn't.

"Some of our boys are wrestling with colds and other injuries as well as other grapplers," Krueger added. "Tim Ott even tried to wrestle with a broken hand."

At the beginning of the season the Rocks were "rebuilding" according to Krueger, and they still are, but the team has made some large strides in becoming the powerhouse it was once was known as.

"The boys have come along real nicely throughout the season," Krueger said.

The Rocks have two non-conference meets coming up with Ann Arbor Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneer. In these two meets a lot of the junior varsity will see action on the varsity level to give the starters a break before their big district meeting at Salem.

"Our starters need a break to rest and to try and get healthy before the districts," Krueger said.

The district meet will be held Feb. 21 at Salem beginning at 11 a.m.

Canton's grapplers wrestled themselves to a sixth place finish in the WLAA league meet Saturday.

Amazing! Rocks tally 136 points, best Chiefs

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

Salem's girls gymnastics team did something Monday night not many teams do during the year or ever. The Rocks put together an amazing score of 136.95 points to beat cross-campus rival Canton 136.95 to 130.9.

Salem scored first places in all four events.

Becky Talbot tallied an 8.95 to take first place on the uneven bars. Talbot also captured a first place with her floor routine racking up a 9.0.

Stevenson downs valiant Rock spikers

BY KEN VOYLES

Despite a valiant effort by Nancy Rekuć and Salem's girls volleyball squad, highly ranked Livonia Stevenson downed the Rocks 15-13 and 15-6 Monday night.

Rekuć, starting for Denice Tackett, "played her mind out," said Salem coach Betty Smith.

"We lost, but that's o.k.," she added. "It's o.k. because we played really well tonight."

Salem led the first game 7-1 before losing its momentum said Smith, while in the second outing poor serving hurt the Rocks' chances.

Last week the Rocks also fell to Walled Lake Central, 15-12 and 15-4. The squad is currently 4-10 overall and 1-7 in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA).

"We've played so much better defensively in our last two outings," said Smith. "And we're staying involved in every play."

Jackie Huff won the vault with a 9.25. She also garnered a first on the balance beam, and in the all-around competition, breaking Beth Rafail's record of 34.85 with a 35.8.

The Rocks were also dominate in the second place finishes, with Huff taking a second on the uneven bars, 8.9, and capturing a second for her floor routine, 8.9.

Talbot captured second on the balance beam, 8.7, and in the vault competition, 8.75.

Canton had third place finishes from Brenda Perry in vault with a 8.7, Mary Jo Charron in the floor competition with a 8.6. Charron was also third on the beam with an 8.6.

Kathy Kinsella was more than just pleased with the Rocks performance tonight.

"They worked hard, they practiced hard and they did really well," she said of her team.

Although Canton was on the losing end of the score, the Chiefs did well according to coach John Cunningham. "Overall we did very well. We had some nice performances," he said.

He added, "There's still a lot of room for improvement."

The Chiefs record drops to 5-2, while the Rocks record stands at 3-3 on the season.

So far this season he has averaged 4.9 points per game and 3.6 rebounds per game.

Canton tankers turn year around, win 6th

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

It's been all uphill for the Canton boys swim team since the squad began the season with five straight losses.

Since then, though, the Chiefs have won their last six meets including their most recent win, 110-58, over Livonia Franklin Thursday.

Canton is now currently 6-5.

The Chiefs took the meet with eight first places.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Dean Roberts, Jeff Homan, Bryce Anderson, and Jim Walker combined for a first place with a time of 1:50.2.

Walker also took an individual first place in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 54.4 seconds.

Tom Hone captured a first place in the 50-yard freestyle with an effort of 23.8 seconds.

Jim Hartnett garnered two first places for Canton. He won the 200-yard freestyle with the time 2:03.8, and the 500-yard freestyle in 5:30.7.

Keith Corley took a first place in the diving competition with a score of 193.75.

Rounding out the individual first place finishes for the Chiefs were Mike Helmstadter in the 100-yard butterfly race.

Frank Wisniewski, Walker, Hone, and Helmstadter combined for first in the 400-yard freestyle relay with an effort of 3:40.4.

Chief cagers fall

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

On Friday the Canton boys basketball team lost a heart wrenching game to the Livonia Churchill Chargers, 52-51.

Churchill led 52-51 with seven seconds left when Canton brought the ball up the court and Tyrone Reeves took a jumper at the buzzer.

It looked like Canton would win by a point.

No such luck!

One official called the basket good and the other called it no basket. Following deliberations, the basket was disallowed and Churchill went down recorded as the victors.

Most of the game was as close as that finish.

At the end of the first quarter, the Chargers were up 17-14, and when the halftime buzzer rang the Chiefs had narrowed Churchill's lead to one point.

Churchill again gained a three point lead after the third quarter.

Brad Wybe, from Churchill, was the leading scorer in the game with 16 points, while his teammate Steve Ditchkoff was next with 14 points.

Ditchkoff was next with 14 points.

Reeves led Canton scorers with 11 points. Roger Trice who fouled out with approximately two minutes left in the game, led Canton rebounders with six. Trice also led the game with four steals.

"Roger did an excellent job," said Canton coach Tom Niemi.

Canton will face Farmington Harrison Friday, Feb. 13. The winner will emerge as Western leader in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA).

The game is at Harrison starting at 7:30 pm.

Rock cagers slay Stevenson

BY MARTY TUNGATE

The Salem hoop squad won another one, as they slayed the Livonia Stevenson Spartans 61-45.

"We're playing good basketball right now," said head coach Bob Brodie.

The Rocks' objective against the Spartans was to stop their highly-potent fast break, according to Brodie.

"We did a great job of stopping the fast break, and made them shoot from the perimeter," Brodie added.

The Rocks were lead by senior captain Mike Hale, who had 18 points.

"Mike played a good game," Brodie said.

Bryan Kearis, the other senior co-captain, threw in 14 points, while senior center Rick Taylor tossed in 10 points.

The Rocks, who have a very strong starting five, have developed one of the best non-starting line-ups in the league, according to Brodie.

"The non-starters have done a great job for us. I feel we have the best bench in the league," Brodie said. "I can put anyone on the floor and feel confident that they will do the job."

Rocks win wrestle title, Chiefs led by Flores

The Chiefs had strong performances from several different grapplers including Tom Flores. Flores picked up the best Canton finish of the day as he was second in the 98-pound weight class.

Three Chiefs finished third overall.

Jim Crews was also impressive, placing third at 198 pounds. Also taking third was Chiefs grappler Tony Calloway at heavyweight. Dan Dewyer, at the 155 class, was also third.

At 105 pounds Matt Keeler finished fourth overall, while Craig Rinke, at the 132-pound weight class, took fifth place.

"Realistically, the wrestlers I thought would place did so," said Canton coach Rick Menoch.

Canton is now looking ahead to the districts on Feb. 21. The Chiefs could do well, said Menoch, but it will be difficult.

"We have to do exceptionally well to place," he said.

Salem tankers win

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem's swimming squad won easily over Farmington 119-53 last Thursday, to up their record to 8-2 on the year.

Freshman sensation Ron Orris continued his domination in the pool by capturing the 200-freestyle, with a time of 1:49.4. He was also a part of the 400-freestyle victory. Don Harwood, John Irvine, and Phil Bocketti joined Orris in the 400-freestyle win, in a time of 3:29.

In the 200-medley-relay the Rock tankers also took first place in a time of 1:46.6. Members of the winning squad were Dave Miller, Geoff Taylor, Bocketti and Mike Hill.

Hill managed to win the 50-freestyle in a time of 24.1 seconds, while Miller took the 100-backstroke in 59.3 seconds and Taylor won the 100-breaststroke in 1:08.7.

Fred Seidelman captured the 100-butterfly, and Kevin Tunish took first place in diving with 210 points.

"We swam well," said head coach Chuck Olson.

One tanker who is having an outstanding season for the Rocks is Ron Orris.

"Orris is a great kid, he gets good grades, works hard and most of all he loves the sport," Olson said. "Orris in my opinion is the best freshman swimmer in the state."

And they have. The Rocks are averaging 61 points a game, and the defense is only allowing 49 points per game.

"The lead tends to spread out with our bottom half of the bench in; they're doing a great job," Brodie said.

The Rocks are 11-1 on the season, with the lone loss to Westland John Glenn. The Rocks will face the Rockets at the end of the season, which has the potential of being one of the most exciting games of the year with the division title on the line.

Dyer leads Cardinals

Jennifer Dyer, of Plymouth, led North Central College's women's basketball team to victory recently, 84-71, over North Park College.

Dyer, a freshman guard, collected 10 points during the Cardinals' victory. It was her first double-figure scoring game.

Dyer, a graduate of Dearborn Divine Child, has been playing in a reserve role for the Cardinals. She has appeared in 14 games this year.

North Central is a private, liberal arts college of 2,100 students.

'Fun' wins softball tourney

Led by the all-weather hitting prowess of Bruce Parry and Gene Mooney, the team "Are We Having Fun Yet" successfully defended its title in the 7th annual Groundhogs Day Softball Tournament.

The squad, managed by Rick Vigil, knocked off The Good Times, 6-4, in the championship game.

The team advanced to the finals by beating Brew Crew, 6-0, and The Building Company, 5-0.

The Good Times had a tougher time of it, reaching the finals with a 15-inning 1-0 win over Walczaks and a 20-inning 7-6 thriller over Boczar's team.

In the championship final, the game was tied 4-4 before Bruce Parry knocked in Howard McLellan in the fifth inning with what turned out to be the game winning RBI.

Mooney added an insurance run.

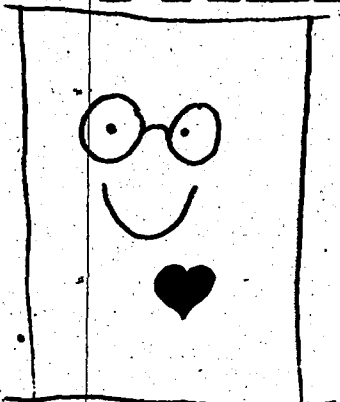

The annual event, sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, played in ideal winter weather, mild and plenty of snow on the field.

New hotline

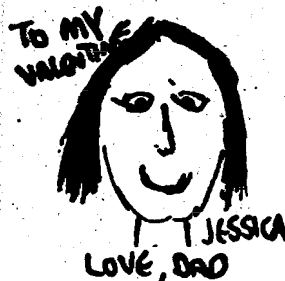

Canton's Parks and Recreation Department now has direct dial phone line for the public to call -- 397-5110.

The department, located in the Township Administration Building, is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.
