Chiefs take state title!!

BY KEN VOYLES

Celebration!

Everyone celebrated Saturday when Canton High's girls soccer squad won the school's first Class A state title ever outlasting Livonia Churchill, 2-1, in a sudden death shootout following four overtime periods.

The heat was on Saturday, but the mid-80 degree temperatures didn't stop the Chiefs, and their loyal fans, from enjoying the school's first state title.

Heat definitely played a factor on the field -- mass substitutions were in order Saturday -- and in the stands where several hundred Canton followers sizzled while their team played its heart out on the field.

"Beautiful. This is just wonderful," Canton coach Don Smith said after the game and a dousing with ice water by his players. "What a way to end the season."

It was a tough, exhausting win for the Chiefs, one which emotionally spent both fans and players alike.

"I'm happy as can be," said Canton halfback Michelle Fortier, who scored the Chiefs' only goal during regulation play. "We're pretty excited about it."

Graham, McClendon win seats

BY KEN VOYLES

It was a stunning conservative upset and a possible preview of where the community might be going as it heads in the 1990s.

That sums up Monday's school election where Barbara Graham upset two incumbents to win the first of two four-year seats on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

Oh, what a relief....

Selection Committee suspends activities

BY KEN VOYLES

The Superintendent Selection Committee, which is searching for a superintendent for Canton, has suspended all of its activities until the outcome of a proposal on the Aug. 2 ballot.

Robert Padget, one of the committee members, told the Canton Board of Trustees last week that the committee has suspended its activities until after the election vote.

"We never really got down to the top four or five candidates," Padget said of the interviewing process which the committee was in the middle of when it called the proceedings to a halt.

There are approximately 10 candidates who have applied for the job of superintendent. The names are currently being withheld under confidentiality rules.

It remains unclear if all of the potential candidates are aware that a ballot proposal will be before voters on Aug. 2.

The ballot proposal will ask voters to alter the township's Merit Ordinance to allow for the hiring of a superintendent to run the day-to-day operations in Canton. It would also make the supervisor's job part time.

Canton Supervisor James Poole, who has been opposed to the idea, suggested the hiring of an assistant for the supervisor as if already allowable under the current Merit Ordinance.

In a memo to the committee Poole wrote, "This could be done under the current ordinance, require no change, eliminate the dichotomy that exists in the township, accomplish the alleged 'professional' management and reduce potential costs by hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Cruising down, cops say

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

"Cruising," the rites of youthful summer which had disrupted downtown Plymouth the past two summers, has lessened considerably.

According to Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers and Assistant to the City Manager Paul Sincock, cruising related tickets and incidents are down 40 per cent compared weekend to weekend of a year ago.

This past weekend was anxiously watched by downtown business owners, residents and public officials because of the timing with Salem and Canton High Schools graduation with high temperatures.

But a review of the weekend's tickets and police reports show a little more than half the cruising-related problems

Kid Salas works out in his grandmother's yard in Old Village. Salas is a local calf-roper who hits the rodeo

Have lasso, will travel

BY KEN VOYLES

On a lazy summer evening Kid Salas, a 29-year-old rodeo cowboy, practices calf-roping in the backyard of his grandmother's Old Village home.

He doesn't look like someone you'd call Kid, even with the pleasant smile and easy going laugh.

A rope dangles around his hardened waist. He sports a white 10-gallon cowboy hat to keep the sun out of his eyes while whipping the lasso over a wooden frame built to mimic a young calf. A pair of cowboy boots with jangling spurs completes the outfit.

The rope whirrs dramatically overhead. Kid lashes out in a flash. First a miss. Another try. This time he hits it, pulling the rope tight around the wooden calf's neck. Then again. And again.

"It's all in the timing," he explains to the curious. "It's one, two, three and throw. Roping takes a lot of mental stress. It's thinking, and a little physical."

Roping, something Kid has specialized in for more than a year now, also takes practice and more practice, sometimes six a hours a day, sometimes eight.

"I practice at work in the morning. I practice at lunch. I practice at home," Kid says swinging the rope faster and faster. "I take this as a job, a serious job."

Originally from San Antonio, Texas, Kid has lived in Michigan since 1980. On weekends he hits the rodeo circuit, traveling from Connecticut to Alabama in search of rodeo fame.

Land use approved

Hindu Temple coming to Canton

BY KEN VOYLES

A new Hindu Temple proposed in Canton was granted special land use and site plan approval at last week's meeting of the Canton Board of Trustees.

The board supported the plan 6-1 with Supervisor James Poole, voting against it.

The proposed temple would be on the south side of Cherry Hill Road between Canton Center and Sheldon roads on a five and a half acre site.

"We think all of the problems that had arisen have been addressed and this should be approved," Dave Nicholson, director of Canton's Community and Economic Development Department, told the board.

Ved Kapila, architect for the group putting the temple together, said the design was consistent with other buildings in the township.

"We didn't want to do anything elaborate," he said. "This is a community project. We've been trying to talk to everyone."

The Hindu Temple group includes a 33-member board of trustees. The chairperson is Kanti Patel.

The first phase of construction, which would begin as soon as permits were obtained from Wayne County, would be 2,400 square feet. A second phase of 6,000 square feet is planned for the future.

The facility will be used by 250 Canton families of East Indian origin. It will be a multi-use facility eventually, said Kapila.

The board expressed some concerns over traffic along Cherry Hill once the temple is built and in use. There are already two churches nearby the site on Cherry Hill.

This is the design for a proposed Hindu Temple in Canton. The temple won special land use and site plan approval last week.

Myers: noise levels much lower during cruise compared to 1987.

"Last year our Mondays were normally taken with phone calls from parents, businesses and residents complaining of cruise problems," said Myers. "This year we haven't had that."

That isn't to say that there haven't been some problems.

A review of last weekend's tickets show violations for trespassing, urinating in public, open alcohol in cars, minors in possession and noise violations. One ticket was written for possession of a police radio in a car.

The past weekend was "up a little bit from previous weekends" because of the high school and other activities, the police chief said.

"Cruising isn't going to be eliminated," Myers said, "but a decrease in the disorder accompanying cruising is noticeable.

"Despite the high volume of traffic, the noise level is much lower than a year ago. We're pleased with that," the chief added.

CSX railroad fined 3 times in 24 hours

The C and O Railroad (CSX) is finding it tough going in Plymouth.

Members of the Plymouth Police Department issued three violations for blocking crossings to the railroad within 24 hours last week. A city ordinance prohibits a railroad from blocking a crossing for more than five minutes at a time.

On Thursday from 1:07 to 1:14 p.m., the CSX blocked Farmer Street, according to Officer Greg Knox who filed a complaint.

Sincock, who coordinates City Hall's efforts to control cruising, credited the addition of police officers, and the use of plain clothes police to starting an early campaign against cruising-related problems this year.

"Last year, 75 tickets plus a weekend was a steady average, this year it's 40," Sincock added.

"A lot of kids are coming to town, but they're doing it within the confines of the law," he said.

On Friday, the CSX blocked Main Street from 1:33 p.m. to 1:40 p.m. according to a ticket written by Officer

Mel Meck and the same crossing again from 2:29 to 2:35 p.m. said a ticket issued by Officer Craig Schwartz.

Vote close, but Headlee fails again

BY KEN VOYLES

Unofficial vote totals from Monday's Plymouth-Canton Community Schools election showed voters in The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools rejecting a Headlee Amendment request by nearly a four to three margin.

Voters in nine of the schools 14 precincts rejected the Headlee Amendment waiver request. The 'no' vote total as of Monday night was 4,392, while 3,475 backed the Headlee waiver proposal. The absentee voters rejected the request, 279-75.

Nearly 56 per cent of the voters went against the Headlee request, while almost 44 per cent supported the request.

It was the third time in two years voters had rejected the schools' request for a Headlee waiver.

A total of 7,936 voters turned out Monday. That's about 12 per cent of the district's approximately 65,000 registered voters. The vote count was up almost 1,200 votes from the last schools election in March this year.

The Headlee waiver request was supported at the Fiegel, Hulsing, Eriksson, Field and Canton precincts.

"I guess it's back to the drawing board to start all over," said district Superintendent John M. Hoben. "This is an unfortunate day for education in the Plymouth-Canton School District.

"The board of education clearly spelled out the cuts which would be required if the Headlee override did not pass when they approved a budget on May 31. We will now implement that budget," Hoben added. "This means we will have less money to operate in 1988-89, than we did to operate in 1987-88.

"We will continue to make the best use of whatever funds are available to us to educate the young people and adults in our area," Hoben said. "I would also like to thank those who supported the schools, even in this losing effort."

"I think we gave it a good shot," said David Artley, president of the school board. "We put a budget out there and the public had every opportunity to give input.

"I'm disappointed," Artley continued. "I do think the margin was a lot closer this time."

Artley added that he felt the margin was closer because more voters turned out and "maybe some voters changed their minds."

E.J. McClendon, who was re-elected Monday to the board, said his election was of little consequence compared to the defeat of the Headlee override request.

"I feel pessimistic about the kind of decisions we have to make," he said. "You cannot buy what you cannot pay for."

McClendon said a lot of programs would "go down the drain. And I'll hurt." He also felt the district needed to organize a wider base of involvement among community residents.

Hoben added that he felt the Headlee Amendment would hurt the district over a long period.

Large voter turnout

Surprise! Graham in, Walker out

For Better Education (CBE) group, which has been fighting the district over teaching materials, garnered 1,840 votes. She previously served on the Detroit Regional School Board from 1973 to 1979.

VOTE

"I was kind of stunned," she said after the victory. "I was really surprised that I not only finished in the top two but that I got the top vote.

"Apparently, there are people in this community that feel the way I do," Graham continued. "I don't have any particular following, though. I guess it was word of mouth and the (CBE)."

Following Graham was incumbent E.J. McClendon with 1,766 for a close second. The other incumbent, Lester Walker finished fifth overall with 1,183. Mary Dahn — another critic of schools' teaching materials but not backed by the CBE — came in third overall from the field of 15 with 1,272 votes. Newcomer Annette Remsburg was fourth with 1,189 votes — six ahead of Walker.

The 53-year-old Graham, a Plymouth Township resident, won in seven of the 14 school precincts and finished second in four other precincts.

Monday's turnout of 7,936 voters (nearly 12 per cent) was one of the largest in recent history at a schools election.

"I'm not going to make a lot of waves," she said about starting on the board. "I want to plant my feet firmly and go from there. First I want to find out what I've gotten myself into."

She added, "I hope to be an effective board member, I really do."

McClendon said he had mixed emotions about winning re-election while at the same time watching a third Headlee Amendment override proposal being rejected by Plymouth-Canton voters.

The 67-year-old Plymouth Township resident said he did not run much of a campaign this time around, passing out no literature and making few if any appearances in the community.

"I'm really concerned about the quality of education in this community," said McClendon, who added that he wants to broaden the "base" of community involvement in school affairs.

"We really haven't got the machinery to let people know what we're doing now or what we'll have to look at," he said.

Walker said he was disappointed by his defeat but would probably remain involved in the district. He also said it was too early to tell whether or not he'd run again next year.

"I ran a campaign I thought was appropriate," said Walker, who added that he thought the large field of candidates as well as the efforts of the CBE may have hurt him. He had served one four-year term.

Graham said the CBE's endorsement definitely helped her campaign as did a frustration by voters who felt the school board was not listening to them.

She also said CBE is now a force to be reckoned with.

"There's no doubt they did help me," Graham said. "I'm sure they were the force that put us over the top.

"I'm not 100 per cent sure of all their goals, but there are a number of issues they've raised which are worth looking into," she continued. "I have a lot of respect for the group."

CBE also backed Kent Jensen who finished sixth with 942 votes. The president of CBE is Diane Daskalakis who lost in a school board try to McClendon two years ago. "After two and a half years, we're gaining momentum," she said Tuesday.

The following is the order of finish: Barbara Graham, 1,840; E.J. McClendon, 1,766; Mary Dahn, 1,272; Annette J. Remsburg, 1,189; Lester W. Walker, 1,183; Kent A. Jensen, 942; Leon R. Watkins, 856; John E. Thomas, 848; Frank Riky, 532; Mary M. Roberson, 525; Allen C. Kinsler, 505; Janet Carol Drass, 438; Milan A. Emanuele, 422; Mark D. Beauchene, 411 and Richard Sumpter, 314.

Win shows schools' strengths

Way to go Chiefs

The state title performance of the Canton High School girls' soccer team Saturday scores several important points.

First, it is Canton High School's first state championship in any sport.

Secondly, it comes back-to-back with last year's state title won by the Salem High School girls' soccer team — a positive note for the entire Plymouth-Canton Community.

Third, women's athletics show they're more than just window dressing.

Fourth, it shows the progress of the relatively fledgling soccer program in this community. Through the development of junior sports to finally seeing varsity-level play, soccer has been gaining momentum.

Fifth, and most importantly, the girls' triumph Saturday exemplifies the strength of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Unfortunately, the victory came only two days before Monday's school elections where another positive impact may have won a few more votes for the Headlee waiver attempt. Had there been time to get the word out, maybe a few voters would have stopped to think about it.

One of the budget cuts threatened by the school board with the Headlee waiver defeat by a 4,392 to 3,475 margin, is to make athletics and other extra-curricular activities "pay as you play." This is a serious threat to an educational program that has incorporated such activities into a quality school system.

If some families cannot afford to pay the fee, or if some "lesser" activities or sports can't muster enough participation, students will be cheated.

For the moment, all glory lights Canton High School and the victorious Chiefs.

But in the long term, will the lights go out?

EDITOR:

The second question we are usually asked by people who are looking for homes is, "How are the schools?"

The school election had more than students and education at stake. The property values of our community are tied to the quality of education in our community. The two go hand and hand. Without good education, property values decline. Yet, of the 34 school districts in Wayne County 28 spend more per student than we do in Plymouth and Canton.

We need to be aware that we get what we pay for. Good schools are good for students, but they are also good for the value of real estate.

Fulfilling a promise

Canton kickers great

EDITOR:

This letter was written to fulfill a promise made to members of the Canton High School Girls' Varsity Soccer Team at the end of their season last year. The promise was to send a follow-up letter to the papers at the end of their successful 1988 season -- and what a season it turned out to be! Those girls came back this year to win the state championship, and finally, hopefully, they have earned the respect that was their due last year.

To become champions, the team had to walk the Road to Success, and a difficult road it is. Too often coaches, players, and parents get caught up in the "numbers" game, emphasizing individual statistics, and forgetting that it takes an entire team to win, or lose a game. The girls had to learn that teamwork makes winners. They had to learn to encourage and support each team member, and to absorb the wins and losses as a team. Then, at this point, success begins to become a reality.

There is also an enormous amount of hard work and dedication that is encountered along this road of champions. But in the end, the long hours of practice, the sweat, tears, and frustrations, the disappointments, and the comebacks are rewarded at the end of the road. When the teamwork can bring a team to this point, success is inevitable. Such was the road that the 1988 Canton High School Girls' Varsity Soccer Team travelled.

So, once again, I say CONGRATULATIONS to this "upstart" team of the year, and to their coach, Don Smith. The 1988 Canton High School Girls' Varsity Soccer Team should be very proud of their accomplishments; they have reached a pinnacle and brought back to the Plymouth-Canton School District a state championship soccer title for the second year.

They have proved to themselves, and to others, that Canton High School soccer will be a force to be reckoned with in the years to come! Go Chiefs!! 1988 State High School Soccer Champions -- We Salute You!!!

Election, graduation, soccer title fills the margin

I wanted to write about the schools this week, but there was so much to choose from it almost made that impossible.

We could tackle the schools election, or take a look at graduation. Or better yet, there's always the Canton girls soccer team, which won that school's first ever Class A state title.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

It's unusual to have so many subjects to write about this late in the week. Maybe, if you'll stay with me, we can tackle all three:

• Voters who rejected the Headlee rollback request on Monday could jeopardize any further athletic state championship drives since the schools will have to enact a pay-as-you-play system. Those systems never work as well as when a program has a budget to support it.

• Voters who supported the schools request can proudly point to the Chiefs as an example of the high quality of education in the community -- education not only in the classroom but on the playing field.

• Voters who didn't get out to vote better not read any farther. Those residents should be ashamed and guilty for their lack of foresight and understanding of the American way. (And don't call me to explain why you "forgot" to vote. I don't want to hear it.)

Thinking this thing over, I have to

Geer committee says thanks

EDITOR:

On behalf of the Geer School Restoration Committee we would like to thank and acknowledge the students, staff and administration of West Middle School. They raised over $325 through a Geer School pencil sale. A special thanks to the Junior National Honor Society students and their sponsor, Mrs. Porterfield, for organizing the sale. Domino's Pizza #1069, located on Main Street and managed by Donna Watson, donated a pizza party for the homeroom with the highest sales. Miss Ortho's sixth graders were the winners.

Over $2,600 worth of pencils have

Austin and son Elmer with horse "Jimmy" behind Whipple's Penniman Avenue Store.

Austin will 'haunt' newsroom

The Community Crier gained a "ghost" for its newsroom last Tuesday.

Austin Whipple died at age 95.

A great many old timers knew Austin from his hardware days when he owned Huston and Co. Hardware located in the building which now houses The Crier and its publishing subsidiary, COMMA.

When Fleet Street Association II bought the building to house the newspaper, Austin volunteered lots of stories about the years he spent working here.

The nooks and crannies of the building still held forgotten goodies -- like the carriage seat on display in the Penniman Avenue windows -- that remind reporters, advertising folks and production artists of days gone by. After decades as a hardware store, the

with Malice
Toward None

building also did brief service as a bank office, the Michigan Secretary of State office, a dress shop and a fabric shop before it entered the publishing era.

Austin had a famous smile and a friendly word for everyone. Buying a pound of nails from him entailed hearing the latest joke or news tidbit about town.

Somehow, despite the constant hum of modern computers in the almost-century old building, it seems that Austin still stands in what is now a newsroom watching Penniman Avenue go by.

say all three of these events -- the election, graduation, and state championship -- are interconnected in more ways than one:

• Here we have a school system that fosters not only good academics but good sportsmanship. We turn out graduates who will go on to college, maybe even continue their athletic careers, and make a mark in the world.

• Here we have a school system which celebrates when a new class moves on to the next step along life's long road and one that acknowledges the efforts of a group of girls who played their hearts out to win some glory for their school.

• Here we have a school system which no one seems to trust enough to vote with it when there is a request for help from the administration and board of education. Do we trust the Don Smiths and Ken Johnsons of the world? Did we ever believe they would lead two young groups of girls to back-to-back state soccer titles?

• Here we have a school system which is one of the best around, but which ranks at the bottom when it comes to dollars spent per student (thanks to state aid formulas). It could use help. Has it cried "wolf" one too many times? Have we failed to listen?

Now it's too late to change what is, but it's never too late to appreciate what was.

So, hats off to the Canton girls soccer team, this year's graduates from Canton and Salem, and all those voters who put the school district ahead of their own pocketbooks.

been purchased by elementary and middle school students and others interested in the Geer project. These proceeds will support the restoration of the one-room school. Pencils are available at the Board of Education office.

The sales at Field, Giegel, Gallimore, Hulsing, Isbister, Miller, Smith and Tanger were especially successful this year. The Allen students also sponsored a used toy sale and donated the proceeds for Geer School.

The community and support of our project is greatly appreciated.

Pen-pals -- spirit sisters of the world

BY KEN VOYLES

Joan Kotcher and her "sister" of 32 years Dong Song Cho are both hungry for the world.

Pen-pals since they were in high school, the pair met again two weeks ago when Cho, a Korean who lives in Seoul, came to Canton with her husband and son.

When they departed at the airport and embraced Kotcher told her friend, "You and me are alike. We both hunger for the world," Kotcher said. "We want to embrace the world."

"She then asked me why we are still writing," Kotcher continued. "I said I didn't know. She said it was because we are both interested in non-material things. We seek enrichment of the spirit."

The pair has enriched each other's lives since 1956 when they began their correspondence as a part of a high school writing project.

"As far as I know we're the only ones still writing," Kotcher said. It has been a steady correspondence most of the time, but now families and careers have forced them to slow down their contact.

"She calls me her sister," Kotcher said. "In the orient there is no such thing as friendship. They only have family. We consider each other sisters."

Besides letters and the pair also exchange gifts at the holidays, on birthdays, and anytime it seems especially appropriate.

Their recent meeting was only their third in the past 32 years. Twice before Kotcher traveled to Korea, both times while working for the Red Cross. The last time was in 1967 after Kotcher did a stint in Vietnam.

"She came to the United States once, before but couldn't make it here," said the 47-year-old Canton resident. "I told her this time I was so glad she came. It's like I know her, like we're really, really good friends."

With only a couple days to spend together the pair used most of the time just to be together, talking, visiting, exchanging gifts.

"It's not like we didn't know each other," said Kotcher. "I do know her pretty well. You can say a lot in letters."

"She's very dynamic," she added. "She thought my house was beautiful. She thought the price of oranges and bananas were much cheaper. She was really pleased we don't have a lot of dust."

Big houses are a luxury in Korea and dust is a constant problem with the fine grain soil of the peninsula.

On one day Cho, who is 50, and Kotcher went to a grocery store to pick up things for a traditional Korean meal, which Cho prepared for the two families and some friends.

Kotcher reciprocated by making a traditional turkey feast (a la Thanksgiving) which went over with a bang. "They just thought they were eating at a rich man's table," said Kotcher.

They have since parted again, but Kotcher still feels like her sister is always around. "She's always been a part of my life," she said. "Wherever I turn in my house is a reminder of her."

"There's no way to know when I'll see her again," she continued. "I don't feel apart from here. We're together in spirit."

Artist looks ahead to high school

Middle school can be a kind of no-man's-land for young adults. Stuck between childhood and adolescence, these are the hyperkinetic and forlorn few in search of an identity and some kind of recognition.

Kelly Knysz is one ninth grade student at Pioneer Middle School who can't wait to move on. She'll be going to Canton High School in the fall.

Not the stereotypical middle-schooler, Knysz has already earned recognition.

She recently won a National Gold Medal for her colored pencil still-life of a Raggedy Ann doll leaning against an old wooden desk. Her work will be part of the 1988 National Scholastic Art Exhibition opening June 24 in Cleveland.

In addition, Knysz has won the Presidential Award for Academic Achievement, signed by Ronald Reagan himself.

The gold medal is the highest award which can be attained in the Scholastic Art Award Program, which has honored outstanding art students for the past 64 years.

Of the 15 competitors selected from Michigan, only two were middle school students.

Hurray for the forlorn few.

"We're really proud of her," said Georgi Schutz, art teacher for Pioneer. "It is an honor for the school and the school district. She (Knysz) works hard. She's a well-rounded student."

"It was a surprise," said Knysz. "I didn't even think I was going to do anything."

Knysz said she likes to draw, but wants to be an English teacher, "just because."

Schutz's students were drawing the hallway that day -- an exercise, apparently, in perspective. Students were perched on chairs in the middle of the middle school, staring at the very walls which they would be escaping from in roughly two weeks.

For Knysz, the big move was coming none too soon. "I'm ready," she said. "The building's too small, the kids are too little."

Look out Canton High.

National Hug Holiday

How many times have you just wanted a hug?

Well, now's your chance. National Hug Holiday is being celebrated today (June 15) throughout the nation and Wayne County.

For the third year in a row the Hug Headquarters for the greater Detroit area is Healthways, of Plymouth. Barbara Wade, hugging chairperson and owner of Healthways, suggests residents come in for a free hug.

A Hug Tally will be kept and recorded. Healthways has pledged more than 1,000 hugs for 1988. Last year it gave out 763.

"You don't have to come in the store," said Wade. "You can phone in a hug and be counted in the tally and then collect the hug whenever you're in Plymouth.

"Everyday is hug day here," she added.

Nearly 10,000,000 hugs are expected to be collected this year throughout the country.

"Hugging is fun, free and makes everyone feel better," said Wade. "We are a busy, mobile society and caring and touching often get lost in a day's activities."

Call 455-1440 for further details.

FAMILY BUSINESS ALBUM

Many of the businesses serving The Plymouth-Canton Community are proud that they are family-owned and operated. The following special advertising pages tell the stories of some of them.

WORLD TRAVEL

With over 60 years combined experience in the travel business, the Tucker family at World Travel, Inc. (42183 E. Ann Arbor Rd.), knows how to get you where you want to go — and often for less than the other guys.

"We're a full-service agency," said Shirley Tucker, company president. "There is no charge for our services. We know more about the airline industry than most travel agencies."

And, with the recent deregulation of the airline industry, said Shirley, experience is important. "A fare can change in five minutes," she said. "Our knowledge goes beyond the computer — we provide individualized service, we fit the trip to the client."

For example, said Shirley, World Travel arranged a trip for a family of eight to Orlando. The vacation included air tickets, rent-a-car and condominium, all for less than the available package tours.

Four Tuckers help run the business: Shirley; her husband Coy; daughter Keya; and daughter-in-law, Ann. Sally Salter is also considered part of the family, "even though she's not technically a Tucker," laughed Coy.

Between them, the Tuckers have worked at every aspect of air travel, from passenger service to freight. Coy, former manager of services for American Airlines, knows how to "do everything but fly 'em and fix 'em." He's been in the business for 35 years.

Three and one-half years ago, Coy and Shirley decided to retire and open their own travel agency. Why? Because they love it.

"You don't get rich in the travel business," said Shirley. "We love the business, like to plan trips, use our knowledge and make things easier for people. We have fun working together, we're a real team."

According to Shirley, the secret to getting cheaper air fares is to book early. In fact, she said, it's not too early now to start thinking about Christmas and New Year's holiday travel arrangements.

When they aren't busy arranging travel plans for clients, Coy and Shirley like to travel to the upper peninsula to fish. Another favorite getaway is London ("It's a real exciting city") and the Caribbean ("We love the beaches, the sun, the fishing, the people").

CLYDE SMITH & SONS

Along Newburgh Road between Warren and Joy Roads is a family owned and operated business called Clyde Smith and Sons.

The farm, market, and greenhouses all started with Josiah Smith in 1834, and was recently designated by Detroit Edison as a sesquicentennial farm, one of only nine such farms in the Southern part of the state.

Josiah, his son William, and his grandson Clyde sold vegetables at the Western Market on Michigan Ave. and 18th Street in Detroit, to help support the family farm. Eventually Clyde's sons David and Everett expanded the family business to include plants and flowers adding one greenhouse at a time.

Today there are 5 acres of greenhouses which produce over 600 kinds of plants including geraniums in 20 varieties, marigolds in over 40 varieties, impatiens and petunias in nearly 50 varieties and 150 varieties of perennials and rock garden plants, all of this and much more come in a rainbow of colors.

Clyde Smith and Sons is now run by David and his wife Edna, Martha Smith (Everett's wife), David Smith Jr. and his wife Sandy, Carol (Smith) McCreedy, and her husband Cary, and Barbara (Smith) Strong and her husband Denny.

The season starts in January for the Smith's, when the seeding begins. Seeding and transplanting are a continuous job right up until opening day on March 1st and through the month of May. House plants are sold March 1st through October with nursery stock, annuals, and perennials coming in April. May is the busiest month with the 200 car parking lot constantly full. As the plant season slows down the produce season starts with fresh fruits and vegetables from mid-June to October 31.

Although the Smith's family no longer grows their own vegetables, they are hand selected from the Eastern Farmers Market, and local growers, selecting only top quality fruits and vegetables.

After the summer produce rush, there's the fall, with it's cornucopia of pumpkins, squash, cider, apples and gourds.

Clyde Smith closes at the end of October, but re-opens December 1st for Christmas trees, poinsettias, wreaths and roping through December 24th.

Starting now Clyde Smith and Sons will be offering flats of annuals for $7.95, and an excellent selection of 8 and 10 inch hanging baskets, sale priced at $7.95 - $9.95. Potted rose bushes with nearly 50 varieties to choose from are all $2.00 off the regular price of $9.95 and $10.95.

Geraniums in a flat of 32 plants reg. $13.95 now $9.95.

Coming soon Kentucky Vine-ripened tomatoes and Michigan sweet corn.

JACK DEMMER FORD

PG. 19 THE COMMUNITY CRIER, June 15, 1968

One might say that selling new and used automobiles is in the Demmer family's blood.

One might also say that the Demmers - they own and operate Jack Demmer Ford Inc. in Wayne - have come a long way with the automotive industry, growing and expanding while continuing to maintain a quality of service hardly matched in metro Detroit.

Jack Demmer sold his first car at the tender age of 16 from his father's used car lot on Livernois Avenue in Motown.

By 1957 he had formed a partnership with Jimmy Spittler and opened Spittler-Demmer Edsel in Wayne. Despite the well-recorded history of that product, they did well selling the vehicles and took over a Ford-Mercury dealership in South Lyon.

The outfit moved back to Wayne in 1963 to sell strictly Ford's. Their present location was opened in the fall of 1969.

A few years later - in 1975 - the dealership became Jack Demmer Ford when Demmer and Spittler separated their partnership.

Today you'll find Jack Demmer Ford at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Newburgh Road, across the street from the huge Ford Motor Co. Wayne Assembly and Michigan Truck plants with easy access from I-275. It's a truly convenient location for those who live and work in neighboring communities.

Today you'll also find other Demmers working at the dealership to bring total satisfaction to any and all customers.

Son William Demmer, a resident of Northville Township, is general manager at Demmer Ford and son Jim, also of Northville Township is the assistant general manager. Both grew up working in the business.

"We work closely in all of our business decisions today," said Jim Demmer, who started with his father's company sweeping floors.

He added, "Our parents (Jack and Margaret) just celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. They have been a great inspiration to us."

Demmer Ford's full complement of services is also inspirational:

There's a professional sales force, specializing in the full line of Ford products; there's a recently expanded used car facility with quality, and "aFORDable" cars and trucks under $5,000; there's low cost leasing (any make or model) and renting; there's an award winning service department; and there's a body shop and a fully stocked parts division featuring Ford Motorsport and truck parts.

Demmer Ford even opens its parts division on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. as a convenience to those car buffs who work on their own vehicle on the weekend.

"That's not something that a lot of other places do," Demmer said.

The dealer is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday and Thursday and until 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

So what makes Demmer really special?

"The employes have a caring attitude, they appreciate the customers that come in here," Jim said. "We're proud of our employes."

There are nearly 100 employes at Demmer, including a sales staff of professionals who "go to a great extent finding the right car for the person." That same staff makes certain everything is ready on the car when the owner comes to pick it up.

"And we follow-up," said Jim, "to make sure the customer is satisfied."

Customer satisfaction is a major goal at Demmer Ford as evidenced by their receipt of the "Detroit District Manager's Leadership Award in Customer Satisfaction" for the first quarter of this year, as well as the "Ford Motor Company Distinguished Achievement Award."

And it's not a surprise that Demmer has been rated among the top 100 Ford dealers in the United States.

One has come to expect those winning qualities at Demmer Ford.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat-Magnet' Diet Pill
Gives You Steady Fat Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" to help you steadily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods as long as you don't increase your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire."

It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patents pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles from food that you have just eaten. Then, the trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Pills Go To Work"

The fat-magnet pills alone, "automatically" help reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat, with no exercising. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals. However, you can lose weight "faster" if you choose to follow the fat-magnet diet plan along with the pills.

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with record sales and glowing reports of weight loss. It's a "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public

If you need to lose a large or small amount of weight, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills and diet plan (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. WR62, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800)527-9700, ext. WR62. CE-M 1988

Ropin' cowboy hits national rodeo trail

"I love the road," he says. Kid has been working rodeos for more than 11 years now. Besides calf roping, he proudly wears a "world's best bullfighter" ring.

Most people call them rodeo clowns but on the circuit they known as bullfighters. Those are the guys one sees in the ring helping bull riding cowboys escape when disaster looms. It's a dangerous job, one but that's highly respected among rodeo professionals.

A jeweler in Northville, Kid also works horses in Salem Township where he hopes to buy land someday.

"Do you train the horses?" he's asked.

"No. I break them."

But Kid's talents go beyond calf roping and breaking horses. He's a singer who used to perform at the Urban Cowboy in Westland. He even warmed up for country singer Marty Robbins once.

"I got into singing when I made the finals of a talent show at the Grand Old Opry," Kid said.

But his true love is working the International Professional Rodeo Association (IPR) circuit, a hard road well traveled, one with its own rewards and setbacks. Currently Kid is trying to score points in the IPR's Northeastern Championships.

"Every weekend I hit it. I'm out there on the road by myself or with some other cowboys," Kid says.

This week it's on to Canton, Ohio. In August he'll compete in a rodeo in Saline and then another one at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit. He'll also be on hand for a show in Mason.

"A lot of people think cowboys come from Texas," Kid says. "But I know some in Michigan, like the Griffin boys from Howell." He also mentions Gus Malavite, a nationally known roper from the Cricket Valley Ranch, as one of his inspirations.

"The little one" in a family of 19 brothers and sisters, Kid hasn't been home to Texas since 1985. But that doesn't seem to matter -- he's fascinated by Michigan.

"I had never seen snow before I came here," he said. "Where I come from you get a few flakes and they're gone. I just love it (the snow). It's all white, ya know."

Besides timing, and a good wrist action, the secret to roping is a good horse, one that can get the rider literally on top of the calf. Kid's companion inside the rodeo ring is a "pretty good old horse" called Blackie.

Blackie isn't around now, though, as Kid works on his roping with the wooden practice calf. He works hard, but without building up much of a sweat, tossing and re-tossing the rope.

Over and over the rope cuts a graceful flight through the warm summer air, ending in an elegant snare, the kind of snare which may someday win Kid Salas the monicker of calf-roper extraordinaire.

School Board approves Central bids

BY JIM RINK

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education has awarded four bids for phase two of the Central Middle School renovation project, scheduled for completion sometime this summer.

Construction managers of the project, Barton-Malow Company of Detroit, recommended approval of the four bids during a workshop session held June 6.

A low bid of $27,900, offered by U.S. Dismantlement Corporation for selective demolition, was accepted by the board. The amount budgeted for the demolition was $30,732.

According to school officials, some demolition will take place of the existing cafeteria ceiling and walls.

Also coming in under budget was a bid of $30,250 by Wally Kosorski for carpentry work, a bid of $13,215 by Imperial Floor Covering, Inc. for flooring and carpeting and a bid of $49,250 by Farley Electric Company for electrical work.

In total bids awarded, the school district came out $38,402 under budget, partly because some contractors had already worked on the building and were familiar with the layout, requiring less preparatory work.

Heart stopper ends with Canton win

We were getting tired but we just kept fighting our hearts out."

Before the game had started fans were directed to come support their team with a giant banner stretched across a pedestrian bridge on I-696. It read: "Go Chiefs in States."

By game time there were dozens of banners showing support for the Chiefs. And the fans used their vocal chords to the utmost throughout the contest.

"It was an exciting game," said Louise Wolfe-Morgan, mother of fullback Erin Morgan. "You hate to see a great game like this go to a shootout."

When Wolfe-Morgan found her daughter in the mad rush after the contest the kicker was totally exhausted. "Only the parents know how hard these girls worked to get here and win this," Wolfe-Morgan said. "They were under a lot of stress but they played like champions."

Her husband Mike Morgan, coach of Canton's boys team, said he wished his team had played in a state finals.

A crowd enveloped the players after Chris Zawacki knocked in the winning goal in a sudden death shootout. Players rushed for ice or cold drinks. Someone held high a cardboard sign --

"Canton Chiefs, State Champs."

It was chaos, but happy chaos. A time of celebration.

High-fives were in order for some players. Others fell down on the grass from exhaustion before lining up for their awards and trophy.

"I'm exhausted," Smith said. "But they're more exhausted than me. I kind of thought we'd have a game like this."

"I'm just glad I played today," said Canton goalie Jenny Saul, who stopped Churchill's last penalty kick try in sudden death. "I hurt my shoulder against Brighton and didn't think I'd play." Saul said she planned to go home after the game and soak her shoulder in an ice pack.

"This is something we've all been waiting and waiting for," said Dean Swartzwelter, a Canton father and member of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education. "This community has every reason to be proud of these girls."

The Chiefs finish the season with a 17-2-1 overall record, along with state district and regional crowns. The squad won its final nine games of the year, including all of its post-season action.

Smith, who has led the Chiefs for only two years, is a 1957 graduate of Detroit Western. He earned his bachelor's degree from Wayne State University in 1962.

Many of the Chiefs were due to graduate one day after the state championship game, on Sunday.

Chiefs outlast Chargers

State crown!

BY KEN VOYLES

Don Smith had his back to the play. He couldn't stand to watch.

But when Canton High fullback Chris Zawacki clipped the team's seventh penalty kick past the Livonia Churchill goalie to give the Chiefs a 2-1 win and their first ever Class A state title Saturday, Smith quickly turned around to stare history in the face.

"I never saw the goal," Smith said. "I couldn't take it so I didn't watch."

Zawacki's goal, immediately following a big save by Canton goalie Jenny Saul to stop Churchill's second straight bid for the soccer title, ended a grueling 120 minute game that had remained tied 1-1.

And it ended a long drought for Canton High, giving the school its first team state title ever. The win also kept the state soccer title in The Plymouth-Canton Community; Salem High won the title last year beating the same Churchill team.

"Our defense was super," said Smith trying to come to grips with what had just happened. "We had our chances during the regular game to win but we just couldn't get it in."

Churchill drew first blood, but only late in the first half after a tough back-and-forth passing struggle. With 40 seconds before intermission, Dawn Gabriel took a lob pass which had slipped through Saul's arms and punched it in the net.

The half ended with the Chargers on top 1-0.

It didn't take long for the Chiefs to retaliate, however, as Michelle Fortier scooped up a loose ball in front of the Churchill net and drove it in.

Her goal came with only 50 seconds gone from the second half and knotted the game at 1-1.

"I told them at the half that we weren't playing good soccer," Smith said. It was his way of firing up his already tiring players.

The rest of regulation play was made up of more back and forth surges, neither team able to capitalize on its chances, though both the Chiefs and the Chargers had several opportunities to go ahead.

Canton worked in a lot of substitutions throughout the game, trying to outrun Churchill, said Smith, but it was defense which mostly impressed the coach.

"It was our defense," he said. "They've been doing it all year long. I knew it was going to be a good game."

Following the end of regulation play, the teams battled through two 10-minute overtimes and another set of two five-minute overtimes. But the score didn't change.

That's when a shootout (on penalty kicks) was called.

In the first shootout, five players from each squad got a chance to boot the ball from a spot around 12 yards in front of the net. The goalies had to stay on the goalline until the ball was kicked.

Churchill made its first two kicks, while Canton connected on its first three. The Chargers then hit a third shot in, while the Chiefs were stopped and missed on their last two tries. The score was still 1-1.

In sudden death, five more penalty kicks were called for, but this time the first team to miss would lose. Churchill made its first one, as did Fortier for Canton.

Saul then stopped Nikki Johnson with an excellent save. "It felt really good," she said afterwards.

Zawacki came up and drilled it by Churchill goalie Monia Cervi to give the Chiefs the victory. "I knew I could do it. I was doing it in practice," Zawacki said. The Chiefs had indeed practiced penalty kicks leading up to the game, according to Smith.

"The Chiefs are just fantastic," said one elated fan. "They deserve every bit of credit in the community for a great job."

State titles are hard to come by for P-C teams

BY KEN VOYLES

When Canton High kicker Chris Zawacki knocked in her goal in the second of two shootouts at the end of regulation play Saturday, a new chapter of community sports history was written.

And it was time to celebrate.

Zawacki's goal gave the Chiefs' a 2-1 victory and their first ever Class A state team title. It was a first that has been a long, long time coming.

Last year the Salem High girls soccer team won that school's first state title in 12 years with a 2-1 win over the same Livonia Churchill squad.

Before that one has to go back to 1975 and Salem's baseball squad to find another state championship team from the two high schools.

Since then other teams have come close — especially Salem's girls basketball teams and Canton's baseball squads — without reaching the top.

Individual athletes (at both schools) have also won numerous state titles over the years.

And there have been other titles, including a 1976 computer "paper playoff" which gave Salem top golf honors. But that title wasn't earned on the playing field.

Before that the Rocks did win a golf title outright back in 1973. The school's football teams also won a computer playoff which ranked the Rocks number one in the state.

"I think we may be seeing a new balance of sports power at the park," said Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent John M. Hoben. "I'm quite happy about the victory. I think it's outstanding."

"We earned that one," said an exhausted Canton coach Don Smith after Saturday's win.

"This community should be proud of this team," said School Board member Dean Swartzwelter, who was on hand for the battle Saturday.

Champs!

Community gets behind its new heroines

BY MARTY TUNGATE

"It's great to keep it in the family."

That's how Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent John M. Hoben reacted after the Canton High girls soccer team took the Class A state title Saturday.

The Chiefs captured the school's first team state championship in its history, downing Livonia Churchill 2-1 in a sudden death shootout.

This is the second year in a row that The Plymouth-Canton Community has brought home a state title for Class A girls soccer. Salem won the title in 1987 defeating Churchill by the same score of 2-1.

"The win speaks well for the girls and the community," Hoben added.

Word spread fast in The Plymouth-Canton Community that the Chiefs had won the title and numerous celebrations erupted throughout the community. Even the Chiefs themselves took the chance to cruise down Plymouth's Main Street celebrating their hard earned victory.

"The Chiefs are fantastic. They deserve every bit of credit in the community," schools board member Dean Swartzwelter said. "The community should be proud of the team."

Canton principal Thomas Tattan, who attended the contest on Saturday, had only great things to say about the Canton soccer program and the community's program in general.

"I have not witnessed a more exciting game than the one I saw on Saturday," Tattan said. "This team's state title is extra special for the school. We've been waiting a long time for this and it has finally happened."

Tattan also sees a bright future ahead for the Canton girls soccer program.

"The soccer programs at both program, as well as for Salem's Canton and Salem are outstanding. Coaches like Don Smith (Canton) and Ken Johnson (Salem) have done fantastic jobs with their teams," Tattan added "Our youth programs should be commanded as well, they are the ones who develop these kids for the varsity level and they should also be acknowledged."

Richard Egli, the schools community relations director, said many residents were still bubbling with excitement over the victory.

"It's a tremendous win for the girls as well for the community," Egli said. "They deserve a lot of credit, as does their supporters."

"Everything was great," he added.

The Plymouth-Canton Schools Board of Education honored the girls yesterday at a regular meeting with a resolution of congratulations.

Even Salem's sports department was very happy for their neighbors and rivals from Canton.

"I think it's fantastic that Canton won the title this year," Salem athletic manager Gary Balconi said. "It really says a lot for the recreation programs in our area, and the great coaching staffs we have at Salem and Canton. We're all very proud of Canton and their victory."

"It's just great," said Louis Wolfe-Morgan, mother of one Canton player, Erin Morgan. "The girls were under a lot of stress but they played like champions."

"This speaks well for our programs, our girls and our community," Hoben added.

Rocks fall in regional

BY MARTY TUNGATE
 Salem High's boys baseball squad lost a tight one to cross town rival Westland John Glenn, 3-2, to end its post-season action in the Class A regionals.
 Senior Fidell Cashero got the start for the Rocks. Cashero walked two and struckout eight in the losing effort. Salem scored first in the contest when Steve Woodard stroked a base hit. He then moved to second.

 Glenn hurler Clint Straub then threw two wild pitches, which allowed Woodard to score.
 Cashero, who pitched a strong game, had his bad inning in the third, allowing the go ahead and winning runs to cross the plate.

 Salem tried to muster a rally but only generated one more run, which wasn't enough to catch John Glenn.
 Salem finishes their year as district champs and a 21-9 record.
