

Mettetal vote expected tonight

BY SCOTT DANIEL

Indications from members of the Canton Mettetal Airport Committee are that a vote on whether or not the township should purchase the privately owned facility will be a close one.

The study group is expected to make a recommendation regarding the future of the airport at tonight's (Aug. 1) 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Once the committee takes its position, the recommendation will then be presented to the Canton Board of Trustees. The board will make the final decision on whether or not the township should consider a purchase of the airport.

"I think it will be a close vote," said committee member Ken Bennane, "based on my conversations with other committee members. But, I'm leaning towards voting 'no.'"

Tonight's meeting is the fifth by the committee since April in its quest to come up with a Mettetal recommendation for the township board.

The committee has heard from state and federal aviation officials as well as township residents during the course of the study. The committee has also conducted an airport tour and received a report on the economic impact of buying Mettetal Airport in Canton.

Committee members are expected to meet with the board next Wednesday (Aug. 8) to explain the recommendation and answer questions about their study.

The board could make a decision on

For county, state, national races

Primary election is Tuesday

BY MIKE GUINN

Plymouth-Canton residents will vote on a full slate of political races during Tuesday's (Aug. 7) primary, including those for county, state and Congressional seats.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in all precincts throughout Plymouth-Canton.

Voter turnout is expected to be less than 25 per cent, according to county and local election officials.

According to Wayne County Deputy Clerk Joan Martin, 15-20 per cent of the registered voters can be expected to turn out for Tuesday's primary election.

Only one national primary race is on tap for local voters. That's in the 15th Congressional District, where Republicans Burl Adkins and Glen Kassel will vie for the right to face incumbent Democrat William Ford (D) in the November election. The 15th District includes Canton.

For seats in the Michigan House, Republican challenger Kathleen Keen-McCarthy is taking on Gerald Law (36th State Rep. District-R), while Robert Bell is facing Democratic incumbent James Kosteva (37th State Rep. District-D). The 36th District includes Plymouth, Northville and part of Canton, while the 37th District includes Canton.

The winner of the Law and Keen-McCarthy race will face Democrat Dennis Shrewsbury in November, while the winner of the Kosteva-Bell match-up will meet Republican Dolores Carmichael in November.

In the 11th County Commission District, Republicans Linda Churhan and Victor Gustafson will square off for the right to challenge incumbent Democrat Milt Mack in November.

Martin said that one reason for the projected low turnout is the number of absentee ballots which have already been returned.

"Last fall, we decided to allow anyone 60 and over to have an absentee ballot," Martin said. "We've got a heavier return of them (absentee ballots) because of this policy.

"I really wish that it (voter turnout) would be 90 per cent, but that doesn't happen," Martin added.

Loren Bennett, Canton's clerk, said that he does not expect a big difference in this year's turnout compared to that in 1988.

"If anything, I anticipate that it will be quieter," Bennett said. "There has been nothing that leads me to believe that this year's turnout will be different than 1988."

Bennett said that of 33,500 registered voters in 1988 only 5,054 actually went to the polls. This year there are 34,134 voters registered.

"If history is an indication, it will be a light turnout," Bennett said.

Plymouth Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said that she also expects voters to turn out in lesser numbers.

"I would say people aren't very enthused about the gubernatorial primary," Hulsing said. "I would hope that we would get about a third of our voters, but I don't think so."

City of Plymouth Deputy Clerk Linda Langmesser said that she thinks only about 10 per cent of registered voters will turn out for the primary.

"That's usually what it runs every

In 15th Congressional District Kassel, Adkins square off

BY KEN VOYLES
 AND SCOTT DANIEL
 Two Republicans will face off in the Aug. 7 primary in the 15th Congressional District, which includes Canton.

On the primary ballot in the 15th District are Glen Kassel and Burl Adkins. The winner of next week's primary race will square off against Democrat William D. Ford during the November general election.

Kassel, a 65-year-old Westland resident, is running in the 15th District for the fifth time. Two years ago he lost the primary to Adkins, who was later defeated by Ford in the general election.

"I feel I'd like to give a little of myself," said Kassel, who runs his own real estate company out of Wayne. "I have the desire and ability and no nest to feather."

Kassel said the issues he is concerned about include the power of lobbyists and political action committees (PACs) in this country. "They're running the country and I'm fed up with it," he said.

BURL ADKINS

Kassel, a veteran who remains active with the American Legion, is also concerned about tax reform, the savings and loan scandal, education, and the rights of seniors, veterans and the "unborn."

On the tax reform issue he said, "To achieve tax reform we first have to have political reform."

A family man who has been married 40 years, Kassel said his theme this year is: "I care."

He added, "I'm not one to throw daggers at anyone. I'm running with my own money and I do not represent any special interests. But it's time for a change."

Adkins, 38, is a Southgate resident and running for the third time in the 15th District. He is the owner and founder of an automotive consulting firm in Lincoln Park.

"Taxes are the main issue in this campaign," Adkins said. "I feel we need to restructure our tax system. "American families can't afford to keep paying higher taxes," he continued.

Adkins listed education as another of the key issues in the campaign. He said students and teachers should face competency tests.

"If we don't have educated people coming into the workforce," Adkins said, "America will continue to struggle economically."

Adkins said he is better organized for the campaign than in the 1988 election. He said he has a campaign manager and has other staff that he didn't have in previous elections.

"I know what to expect this time," Adkins said. He described his campaigning as "grass-roots," adding that he has gone door to door to talk with voters in the 15th district.

"I'm confident that I'm going to win," Adkins said. "I have been working very hard."

In Northville, VanBuren

Other elections

Residents in Northville Township and VanBuren Township will go to the polls during Tuesday's (Aug. 7) primary to vote on several local election issues.

In Northville Township, four Republicans are seeking the township treasurer's post. The winner of the primary will win the post since there are no Democrats on the ballot this year.

The candidates for the job are: Bill Butterfield, Rick Engelland, Jack Hosmer and Betty Lennox.

Lennox, who was appointed to the treasurer's post to replace Richard Henningsen when he became township manager, is seeking to remain on the board of trustees.

Also in Northville Township, voters will be asked to renew a .5 mill tax for fire protection service. The five-year renewal is for operation of the township fire department.

In VanBuren Township, voters will be asked to approve a limited tax pledge proposal to increase the levy for water and sewer to six mills for 20 years. The mills will be used to cover water and sewer bond payments.

Other nearby communities will vote on the full slate of county, state and national primary candidates.

P-C residents DARE to turn out

BY SCOTT DANIEL

A pancake breakfast held to benefit the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program last Saturday served about 1,700 people, according to Canton Police Officer Leonard Schemanske.

"We were hoping the event would be successful," Schemanske said. "But, I think it turned out better than we planned."

Schemanske, who serves as a DARE instructor to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, said the final amount of money raised by the event is still being counted. He added, however, that $1,500 was raised from the sale of items such as hats, t-shirts and bumper stickers.

Besides raising money for DARE, Schemanske said the purpose of the event was to make the public aware of the program.

"I think we did that job well," he said. "I think we are getting the message to the community."

Schemanske estimated that a total of about 2,500 people attended the breakfast, which featured pancakes, sausage, orange juice and coffee. He said the event would likely be held again next year.

DDA plan features streetscapes

BY PHILIP TARDANI

Downtown Plymouth may be getting a new look.

The City of Plymouth's Downtown Development Authority (DDA) got a look at the new concept July 18 from architect Kent Anderson.

It centers on making downtown more pedestrian friendly, according to Anderson, who has come up with a streetscape concept unanimously approved by the DDA.

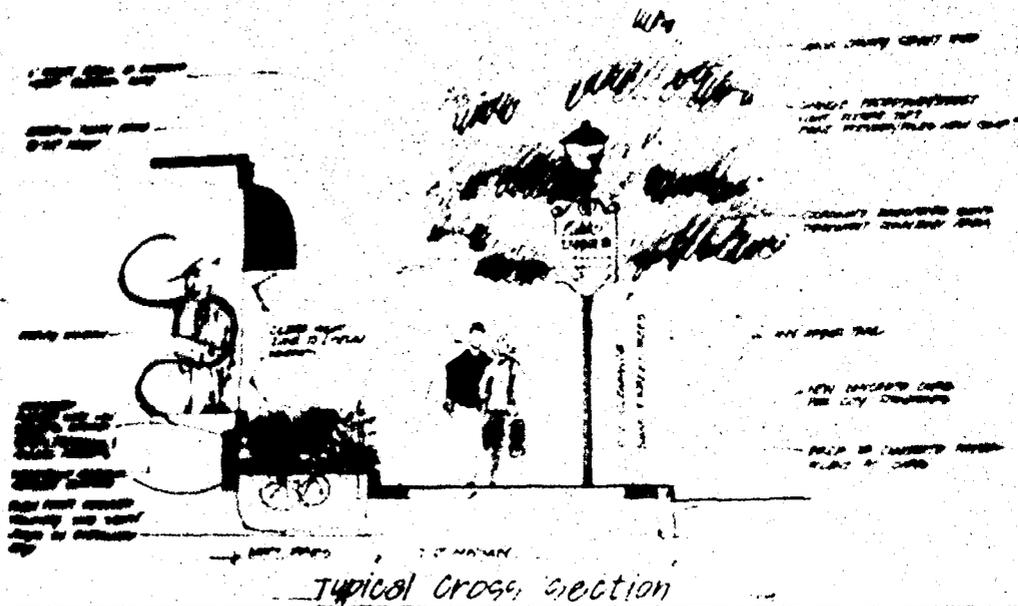

The new streetscaping will include plenty of vegetation, promoting the theme of Kellogg Park throughout the city, he said.

"The downtown area has a lot of paving and very little vegetation," Anderson said. "There should be something that brings you into town that picks up on the character of the park."

The concept calls for wider sidewalks, more street crosswalks, benches, planters, short shrubs and other landscaping, according to Anderson's drawings.

City Manager Gordon Jaeger, who is also director of the DDA, said the garden idea was favorably received.

For Republicans vote for Law Tuesday

Republican primary election voters in the 36th State Representative District (which includes all of Plymouth and Plymouth Township plus most of Canton's population) should take the safe road and vote incumbent.

Gerald Law, who has served as the district's representative for eight years, does not face a superior primary candidate in his challenger, Kathleen Keen-McCarthy.

Law has grown with his job and has served the 36th district -- which includes Plymouth, Northville and northeast Canton -- adequately. Without a better challenger, or without a major representation flaw, there is no reason not to retain an incumbent.

Keen-McCarthy has based her campaign on claims that Law is not accessible. She had merit in bringing up Law's absence during the last week of the legislative session this year -- a time when the state budget was approved. (Law had previously committed to vacation time before knowing the House session would run longer.)

Her claims do not stick any further than that, however, particularly when, as Law pointed out, Keen-McCarthy herself has never once voted in a primary election, and only one school board election -- the most recent, when she had decided to run for office.

How can Keen-McCarthy ask Republican voters to pick her Tuesday in the primary when she herself never believed in participating in primary elections?

If Law is to be attacked, it should be on the abortion issue -- an area where Keen-McCarthy can certainly bring up debate. Law -- who is "pro-life for religious reasons" -- is entitled to his religious beliefs. However, they should not take precedence in the vote he casts representing the district.

But Keen-McCarthy -- "strongly pro-choice" -- has chosen not to bring up the issue in her campaign. If the district is as strongly pro-choice as she claims, it might have been better for her to debate the subject more thoroughly.

Keen-McCarthy does, however, come across as a serious, concerned individual anxious to serve the public, although not as informed on the issues as Law. Perhaps she should run for the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education or another elected body rather than jump in at the State House.

Republicans in the 36th District primary should vote Tuesday for Gerald Law to run against Democrat Dennis Shrewsbury in the general election on Nov. 6.

... vote for Gustafson

The best indicator of future performance is past performance.

Voters who cast ballots in the 11th District Wayne County Board of Commissioners race (which includes all of Canton) would be wise to remember that addage when they go to the polls next Tuesday.

Candidate Victor Gustafson has kept a consistently active interest in his community. He has participated in many service activities, including the Mettetal Airport Study Committee, homeowner groups, and acts as vice chairperson of the Canton Planning Commission.

In contrast to Gustafson's record of contribution to Canton, rival Linda Chuhran's record shows more contentiousness than contributions. Her four-year term as Canton clerk was marred by her all-too-often bickering with board members.

It would be wishful thinking on the part of voters to believe that she would cooperate any better if elected to the county's board of commissioners. After losing her bid for re-election, Chuhran dropped out from active participation in the community.

Saying that she was running because she was asked by the party to do so, Chuhran displayed little commitment to the issues facing the county (for example, she sloughed off a question about airports -- one of the major issues facing out-county voters). For these reasons, Chuhran cannot be considered the best candidate.

Gustafson, while the better choice of the two candidates, would be much more appealing to voters if he learned to concentrate more on the issues and less on rhetoric. However, he has shown himself to be knowledgeable about the issues and concerned about the future direction of Canton and Wayne County.

People casting ballots in the Republican primary for the 11th County Commission District should vote for Victor Gustafson to face incumbent Democrat Milt Mack in November's general election.

No Crier endorsement in the 15th

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some of Tuesday's primary voters in Canton will be selecting a Republican candidate to face William D. Ford in the 15th Congressional District this November. There are two candidates in the race: Burl Adkins and Glen Kassel. Adkins ran against Ford two years ago and lost.

For voters seeking further help in making their election choice we are not in a position to supply an endorsement in the 15th District due to a lack of complete information about the race. We were unable to work out arrangements -- through no fault of the candidates -- to gather sufficient information on which to base such an endorsement before the primary.

Vote on Tuesday

This year is the first major election season of the 1990s, a decade that holds much promise for this country and our community.

Voters in The Plymouth-Canton Community owe it to themselves and the nation to get out and vote during Tuesday's (Aug. 7) primary vote.

A wide range of election races are on the ballot slate Tuesday. The shape of November's general election will be decided next week and voters from this community can help mold the direction of both this state and country by voting.

So get out and vote Tuesday -- be a part of that group of residents who are concerned about their voice in state and national government.

And if that's not incentive enough, each year at this time the saddest part of most election coverage is the lack of voter interest. With turnout once again expected to be around 25 per cent, casting a vote becomes all that more important.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Make the time to get out and vote. No excuse is a good excuse.

For Dems, vote Kosteva

Of the two Democratic contestants for the Michigan House of Representatives in the 37th District (which includes the southwest portion of Canton), only one can be considered a serious candidate.

Incumbent State Representative James Kosteva has grown in importance inside of the Democratic organization beyond his seniority. (It's not unreasonable to speculate that Kosteva could be being groomed as the Democrats choice for the U.S. House of Representatives in the 15th District when William Ford retires.)

Kosteva has represented the district well. He has been particularly strong in education during his six years in the house, as is shown by his service as a chairman and member on various educational committees.

Although his view on the abortion issue too narrowly follows his own religious beliefs, Kosteva is generally ahead of his time on state issues. He is a hard worker and is easily accessible to his constituents and to others seeking input on state matters.

Robert Bell, while a colorful, charming character isn't a credible candidate for any elected position this century in this state. He is clearly uninformed about the issues relevant to the district. His views about minorities and AIDS patients are bigoted and rooted in ignorance.

Vote for Kosteva on Tuesday.

CAMMILLER
PRESIDENT
PLYMOUTH-CANTON JAYCEES

Big vote tonight

A most important decision will be made tonight.

The Mettetal Airport Study Committee will vote either "yes" or "no" to recommend if Canton should buy the airport.

The committee's recommendation goes to the Canton Board of Trustees, which ultimately decides the township's involvement in Mettetal Airport.

In reality, the committee's recommendation will go a long way in determining Mettetal Airport's future. If they vote "no" it's extremely unlikely the board would vote "yes" on buying the airport.

It's true that the board isn't bound by the committee's recommendation. It's also true that the board members have received the same information about the issue the committee has.

But, the board hasn't had the luxury of studying one issue over the last four months. For that reason, the recommendation, along with the opinions behind it, will likely have a strong influence over the board members.

The committee should vote to recommend the purchase of Mettetal Airport.

In covering Canton, one often hears that Canton lacks an identity. Many people in The Plymouth-Canton Community joke about the abundance of strip malls, fast food restaurants and the lack of a downtown in the township.

Buying the airport would be a positive step in establishing an identity for Canton.

With proper management, the airport can serve to enhance economic development, provide educational opportunities and promote a good feeling about the community.

If the airport isn't purchased by Canton it's likely the land would be sold for light industrial development. The community already has an abundance of vacant land, along Michigan Avenue, which can be used for industrial development.

It's clear that Mettetal wouldn't make or break such development in Canton. But having the airport would enhance remaining industrial and economic development by providing an access point for business people.

Convenience is often a key to doing business. Making deals and showing what a community has to offer can be achieved more efficiently with an airport such as Mettetal.

The opportunity of establishing an educational program, in conjunction with the Plymouth-Canton school district and nearby colleges, also exists.

The need for qualified workers in the aviation industry is clear. Avionics, jet maintenance and flight instruction are programs which could be established that would fill those needs and provide many with the opportunity of earning a good living.

Having an airport for these purposes and others, such as plane watching and public plane rides, promotes a good feeling about the community.

Buying the airport would be a risk. But it could potentially do much more for the community than another industrial park.

Buying the airport should be seen as a long term investment in the community.

Certainly, it's hard to imagine that an industrial park would provide any kind of identity for Canton. A successful airport would.

Cruiser leaves impression

Summertime and the cruising is easy. Unless, of course, you're one of those law-abiding "prudes," in which case you had best move your fanny when one of the "beautiful people" decide they need to pass.

Not everyone driving up and down Main Street summer evenings has this attitude. Let's face it, if they did, downtown Plymouth would look like a scene out of a war film. But recently, while out for a stroll on Main Street, I saw him... "Steve Stud."

Stud (the name has been changed to protect the juvenile) was out there, revving his two-door, four-quad, single barrel classic rod (translation: his mom's Chevette) up the boulevard, cussing at ladies who weren't fast enough to get out of his way, blaring the horn, flipping the bird to people who shook their heads in disdain at his antics.

You could almost read his mind.(?) "I got these babes looking. No one's cooler than me!" Well, maybe, but only if he has the air conditioner running on high.

Guys, let me give you some advice here. There are girls who go nuts over losers like this, but they are also the kind that like scratching, spitting and pestering strangers for quarters. If you want this in a woman, buy a chimp.

The point I'm trying to make here is that if you want to cruise, do it right. Act civilized. Obey the law. Bathe. No one takes points away for doing these things.

I want to be fair here. Kids cruising in this town, for the most part, do things right. But one jerk can give a lot of people the wrong impression about a whole group.

Goofballs, be they teens, politicians or yes, even reporters, can make the rest of their type look bad by their actions. It can be a pain to set an example for others, but the rewards often go unseen.

So be careful out there. After all, you never know who is watching. It might only be a bored journalist, but it could also be a cop.

I have no idea what happened to Steve Stud since I last saw him acting like a dork for the world to see. But, on the off chance that he hits the same spots each week, I have a suggestion for Plymouth Police.

Check out Main and Church on Friday. Stud will be the easy one to spot. He'll be the one sitting next to the chimp.

Jaeger is doing his job

EDITOR:

As an avid reader and careful follower of The Community Crier -- who cannot go on a vacation without a subscription to it -- I found your Wednesday's editorial, July 18, to be sadly disappointing.

Yes, public scrutiny is needed and you have been doing superbly well in diligently uncovering the truth about our government, but your harsh words attacking Gordon Jaeger's preliminary exploratory meetings with other officials is definitely unwarranted.

What the city's new manager is doing is exactly what the 1989 commission campaign was all about -- ask Jerry Vorva: to find a way for shared services with Plymouth Township and Canton. There has been nothing official about such meetings, simply getting to know other officials and how they feel concerning wasted tax dollars with duplicating departments.

Mayor Dennis Bila has begun demonstrating the "open meeting policy," and with the manager of Jaeger's caliber, Plymouth citizens can justly feel proud. Attend a commission meeting and see for yourself.

This one citizen is gratified to sit in a commission meeting and hear Jaeger respond: the Main Street rail crossing is the worst anywhere -- and it will be fixed. Onward and upward with Manager Gordon Jaeger. Hurray for the citizens of Plymouth.

Bag-tag not a recycling program; it's a tax increase for residents

EDITOR:

I believe Jane Sauchak was "stunned" prior to reading my letter regarding the bag program.

I simply pointed out some possibilities resulting from the premature introduction of the recycling program.

The real point I made was the cost of the tax increase being sold to the public as a recycling program. I don't care if you charge $50 a bag. It won't reduce garbage without a recycling program in place. Charging $1 per bag times three bags weekly per household, times 4,000 households (example only) equals $624,000 annual increase in cost for the Plymouth community.

I'm a card carrying member of the City of Plymouth recycling program, agreed with the concept, use the program and abide by its rules.

I simply object to overpaid bureaucrats and politicians initiating programs prematurely under the guise of a recycling program when it's simply a tax increase.

I also object to the support given to these bureaucrats and politicians by the unthinking public.

HAROLD MONET

Will these ideas work?

With malice
toward none

W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Recently, two friends -- independent of each other -- came up with great ideas.

First, Steve Mansfield, Heide's Flowers and Gifts co-owner, had a very practical suggestion about distant politicians in Washington and Lansing:

With these days of faxes and teleconferencing, why do the politicians have to be there at all?

Steve's idea was to prohibit Congressfolk from going to Washington and our state legislators from going to Lansing. This, he reasons well, would increase accessibility and decrease mischief if legislators spent more time in the home area.

It's the ultimate turnaround once suggested for the "franking" privilege which allows Congressfolk to write constituents for free. Some have suggested the franking right should work just the opposite -- let constituents write elected officials for free.

The second great idea came over a chocolate ice cream dish from John Miller, the Red Baron at Uncle Lou LaRiche Chevy et al, during the "cruise."

John, and a couple young friends, were enjoying the evening, watching the parade of cars. His idea was simple (although arguably would face some resistance):

Make the "cruise" official. Invite, for one given evening, all the folks in the world to "cruise" Main Street. Judges would be appointed to sit at the official reviewing stand and give awards for "best custom paint job," "loudest car," "safest driver," and so forth (like the Jaycee's July Fourth Parade). Service groups could sell hot dogs and raise money from a crowd that would easily be 10 times the size of the July Fourth Parade.

As a matter of fact, the very next day, the Free-News-Press carried a short story from Williamston, WV where officials and merchants organized the event after other nearby towns cracked down on "cruising" by enforcing traffic and loitering laws. (Any interest from the Plymouth Chamber or City Hall?)

Everything new begins with ideas from folks like Steve and John.

Twp. Police vehicle wrecked in pursuit

A Plymouth Township police car was damaged Sunday after an officer pursued three off-road vehicles onto a dirt trail.

According to police reports, Officer Eric Anderson was traveling eastbound on Five Mile Road, east of Beck Road, when he saw two dirt bikes and one quad runner coming the other way.

The three off-road vehicles turned north onto a dirt trail, police said, and Anderson followed.

The officer was attempting to catch up with the quad runner when his patrol car struck a "large chuck hole," according to police reports.

Anderson then broke off pursuit and returned to the police station to examine the damage to the cruiser, a blue and white Chevrolet Caprice, police said.

The vehicle had a broken windshield, "pushed-in front bumper" and fender damage, according to police reports.

Anderson was not injured.

Board approves plan to light soccer field

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will spend nearly $70,000 to light a new soccer field at Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Last week the Plymouth-Canton Schools Board of Education unanimously approved a plan to hire Harlan Electric Company to put up 36 metal halide power spot lamps at the new CEP field.

Paul Cummings, athletic director at CEP, said the district's goal for the past six years has been to develop its own soccer facility so that the teams do not have to play evening games on the CEP football field.

To that end, he continued, the district has put up a scoreboard and bleachers. Lighting is the final phase in getting the field in order, he said.

There are four varsity soccer teams at CEP, both boys and girls teams at Salem and Canton high schools. More than 200 students are involved in the programs.

Work on the field is expected to be completed in the next eight weeks.

District officials said the lights are designed to amply light the soccer field without disturbing private homes in the area. All of the plans have been approved by Canton.

20/20 interviews board president

BY KEN VOYLES

It was the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' turn in the spotlight Thursday when a crew from ABC's "20/20" program interviewed Board of Education President Dean Swartzwelter for an upcoming segment.

Rob Wallace, one of the program's producers, conducted the hour-long interview at the Hoben Elementary School library in Canton.

Also present during the interview were Dave Artley, a school board member; Neil Goodman, an attorney for the district; Michael Homes, the district's assistant superintendent for instruction; and Richard Egli, the schools' community relations director.

"We covered a whole range of topics," said Swartzwelter, who added that the interview was set up at the last minute last week when ABC called district officials on Tuesday.

The interview centered on the tragic death of Gallimore Elementary School student Stephen Nalepa, who was found hanged two days after seeing a movie, "Nobody's Useless," that has since become a point of contention.

Larry and Debby Nalepa have said the movie may be linked to their son's death, while the school district maintains there is no direct connection.

Swartzwelter said the interview included questions about the film, about the process of its selection and the reaction among the community, as well as the Michigan Model for Health Education.

"It was April 11 all over again," said Swartzwelter, referring to a press conference held at the board office that day. "I gave them a copy of our statement from that press conference and told them we are conducting an on-going look at the whole process."

Swartzwelter said the other district officials were present only in case the interview got "crazy." He said he was not coached before the interview.

The board president added that the entire board decided it would be better to take part in the program, reportedly on "death education" in schools.

"We'd rather take our chances than have them say we tried to talk to the Plymouth-Canton Schools but they refused," Swartzwelter said.

The Nalepas were interviewed by Tom Jarriel, an investigator with the show, on June 28. At the time the school board prepared a letter requesting "equal time" if the Nalepa interview was used.

A spokesperson for "20/20" said the specific contents of the segment have not yet been determined, but added that it would probably air in September or October.

Grant aids landfill closure

BY PHILIP TARDANI

The City of Plymouth will accept a $600,000 state grant to close an old city landfill.

The Plymouth City Commission voted unanimously at its July 16 meeting to accept the grant, which constitutes a commitment to fully close the Salem Landfill.

Acceptance of the grant will probably cost the city another $400,000-$600,000 to close the site in accordance with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), according to City Finance Director William Graham.

"The city approved acceptance of the grant," Graham said, adding that this also constitutes acceptance of closing the landfill.

The objectives of the closure plan will include capping the landfill with a minimum two-foot layer of clay, erecting a six-foot chain link fence around the old dump and installing methane gas valves around the entire site.

Friends & Neighbors

Canton man has life by the wheel

BY MIKE GUINN

If taking care of one automobile, let alone two or three, isn't a task you look forward to, then Jeff Lajoie's job might just be your worst nightmare.

But for the Canton resident, who serves as director of Domino's Pizza Corporation's Classic Car Museum, it is a short drive from paradise.

The museum, located at Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor, serves as home to Domino's owner Tom Monaghan's extensive car collection.

As director, Lajoie has been able to merge his occupation with one of his long-time interests.

"I've always enjoyed working with cars," Lajoie said. "It's an interest I have had for quite some time."

Cars displayed in the museum range from 19th century motor-powered bicycles to a 1931 Bugatti Royale which Monaghan purchased for $8.1 million. Lajoie said that the value of the car is currently between $15-20 million.

Other interesting roadsters on display at the museum include a collection of offbeat autos used as pizza delivery vehicles. Included in this fleet is a 1960 Volkswagon 'Beetle,' a 1981 DeLorean and a 1981 Aerostar prototype. All are painted to show off the pizza company's logo and product.

Lajoie said that a favorite part of his job is attending vintage car auctions. He often accompanies Monaghan when the Domino's owner is looking to add to his collection. Occasionally he helps Monaghan decide about his purchase, although the assistance is not often needed.

"We help each other," said Lajoie of Monaghan's purchase decisions. "But he (Monaghan) is very well read on cars he would like to collect."

Although the cars spend most of their time at the museum, Domino's often takes particular cars to display at franchise openings and city parades. Lajoie said that while the practice helps promote the pizza business, it also has caused museum customer complaints when a favorite car is on the road.

"We have to let the public know when various cars are out of the museum," said Lajoie. "People get upset if they come to see a car and it's not here."

Keeping the cars in pristine condition can be difficult, with the 40,000 people who visit the museum annually. Belt buckles, rings and watches pose an expensive threat to the valuable cars.

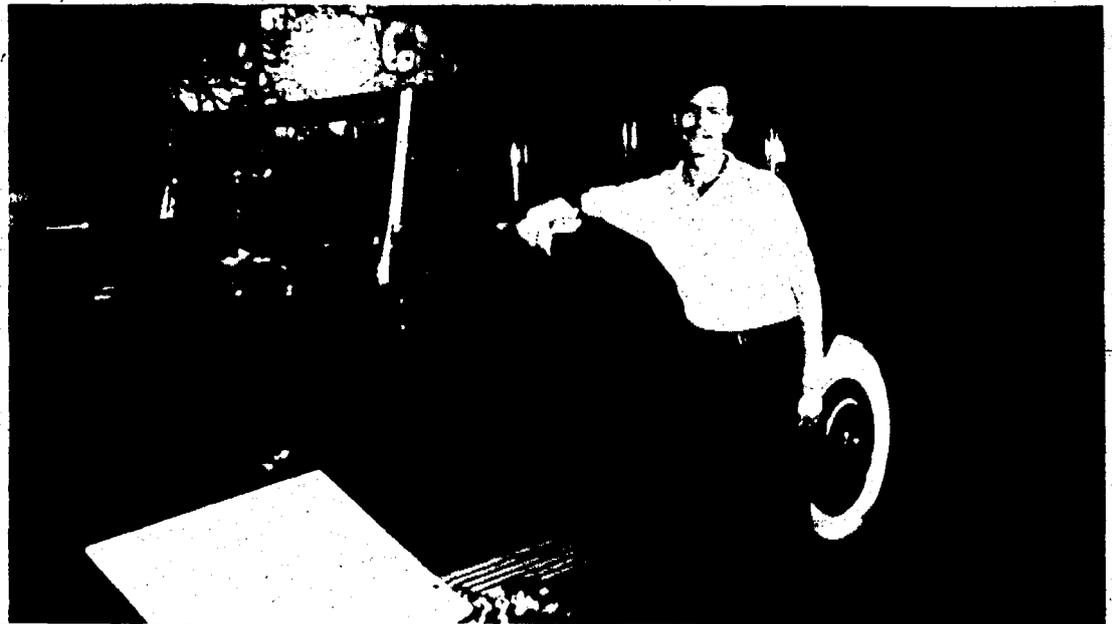

"If a Duesenberg is scratched, it costs $30,000 to get repainted," said the 31-year-old. "It's not like you can take it to Maaco and get it repainted for a couple hundred bucks."

The entry fee to the museum is $6, which also covers admission to the Frank Lloyd Wright Museum, Domino's Petting Farm and the newly opened Detroit Tigers Museum. Darwin Matthews, archivist for the Tigers museum, has located numerous baseball collectibles to display, and has also compiled a list of every man who has played for the Detroit club.

While Lajoie enjoys working with the autos at the museum, collecting cars does not appear to be in his future.

"No," said Lajoie when asked if he owned a vintage vehicle. "I have three kids instead."

Twp. board likes St. John's plan

BY PHILIP TARDANI

A developer wants St. John Seminary for a retirement facility, but he first must sell his idea to Plymouth Township, where the property is located.

To that end, the developer John Erickson -- who has proposed a $120 million, 1,200-unit retirement home at the site -- was in the community last Tuesday to present his plans to township officials.

Township Board of Trustee members seemed favorably impressed.

"I think it's pretty exciting and I think it would be very worthwhile for Plymouth Township to have the project at that site," said Mary Brooks, township treasurer.

Township Clerk Esther Hulsing called the proposal "the best and most productive use of that property that has been suggested to date.

"I do think we need a development of that sort out here," she added.

Erickson, who operates a similar facility in Baltimore, said the average age of residents at the proposed complex would be 75. He added that he would aim for middle-class customers.

"We'd certainly try to make it affordable for any private homeowner living on social security," he said.

Erickson also said he believes the development would impact "the whole metropolitan (Detroit) area."

Trustee Ron Griffith said he thought there would be a demand for services at the proposed site.

"I think the need is there and it's going to be a growing need," he said. "The population is growing generally across the country."

Griffith also praised the "three-tiered" care Erickson would offer, accommodating residents who were simply ready to move out of their homes, those who need some health care, and those who need total health care.

"It's a more phased-in approach, and I think a more humane way of doing it," Griffith said.

Griffith was also quick to point out, however, that the idea has a long way to go before becoming a reality.

"I'm not saying it's going to fly," he said. "But I think it's going to be considered seriously."

One obstacle Erickson faces is zoning for the project, according to Trustee Smith Horton, who is also on the township planning commission.

"We don't have anything that really speaks to this in our zoning ordinances," Horton said, adding that the township may have to pass a new zoning ordinance to cover it.

Horton did say, however, that a retirement facility is in line with the township's residential character.

"As a way of making use of that property, I think it's compatible with the community's goals," he said.

Trustee John Stewart said the meeting with Erickson was "helpful and informational." Stewart said he believes Erickson's plans are compatible with what the township wants.

"His plans seem to fit in and I'm hopeful that the community atmosphere he wants there will interact with the rest of the community," Stewart said.

Supervisor Maurice Breen, who visited Erickson's Baltimore facility, said he was impressed.

"I went through the facility and it's very well-run," Breen said. "From the standpoint of people care, they do an excellent job."

Erickson said he would preserve the buildings that now stand vacant at St. John's.

"We think the overall concept will expand the campus but pretty much preserve what's there," he said. "We're going to keep every building out there."

The new facility would be a "small, self-contained town," including a medical clinic, library and gift shop, among other things, he said.

His ideas were generally "very-well received," Erickson said, and his next step will be to get specific plans drawn up.

Oakwood is Advanced Medicine

Magnetic Resonance Imaging

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) is a breakthrough diagnostic tool being used routinely at Oakwood Hospital today. MRI allows physicians to "see" into the body without x-rays, sound waves or surgery. As the name implies, Magnetic Resonance Imaging uses a strong magnetic field to produce multi-dimensional images of the inner structure of the body. The patient experiences no pain.

Oakwood provides patients access to MRI as well as the more traditional diagnostic procedures available at your physician's office or local Oakwood facility. MRI can reveal disorders much earlier in the course of a disease. In many cases, this early detection results in simpler and more effective treatment.

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty. Oakwood will serve more than half a million patients this year.

Planners, ZBA overworked?

BY SCOTT DANIEL

The Canton Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals are apparently working too hard.

Last Tuesday the Canton Board of Trustees unanimously agreed to allocate $4,000 in additional funding for the commission and board members to pay for their meeting salaries over the remainder of the year.

Planning commission members currently receive $50 per meeting while zoning board members are paid $40 per meeting, said Canton Community Planner Dave Nicholson.

Nicholson said the need for additional funds came about because the commission and board have met more times than was expected this year.

"I'm going to be embarrassed if I have to ask the board for more money this year," Nicholson said.

Canton compost site no longer an option

BY SCOTT DANIEL

A Canton site for a proposed regional composting program is no longer a viable option, according to Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) Executive Director Ann Bolin.

The site, which would have covered 80 acres in the township at the corner of Beck and Geddes roads, was eliminated as a possibility when WTUA failed to execute a contract with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) by today, Bolin said.

She said WTUA might also lose $250,000 in grant money from the DNR for start-up costs of the program because of the lack of a contract. Bolin added that WTUA has filed for an extension on the DNR grant.

"We are optimistic that we will receive the extension," Bolin said, "to explore other alternatives for the program." She said no time frame for a response from the DNR exists.

Canton Supervisor Tom Yack said he doesn't anticipate the Canton Board of Trustees will reconsider a resolution that would have paid for the township's involvement in the program.

"I think composting for 1990 is a dead issue," Yack said.

Muster features Plymouth

BY KEN VOYLES

The renowned Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, currently on its annual tour of Eastern states, is the featured group Friday during the yearly Fife and Drum Muster in Camden, NY.

Before that performance, however, the 48-member corps, which is made up of local youths ages 12-18, will be playing in Toronto, Kingston, Ontario, and Ticonderoga, NY. Later the group will perform at Niagara Falls.

Yesterday the group performed at Fort York in Toronto. Today (Aug. 1) it will be at Old Fort Henry in Kingston playing two shows.

On Thursday (Aug. 2) the Plymouth fife and Drum Corps travels to Fort Ticonderoga, a site made famous during the Revolutionary War, for its first ever performance at the fort.

Then on Friday, in Camden, the group is the featured corps at the annual muster involving some 15-20 fife and drum corps from throughout the United States. Plymouth is the featured group during the evening show. On the following day the group will take part in the muster parade also in Camden.

"Each year they select a corps to be featured during the muster. It's Plymouth's turn this time," said Kip Kauffman, a spokesperson for the local group. "After the muster there will be a 'jam session' which sometimes goes through the night.

"That's when you see the real spirit of these groups," she added.

Plymouth will then travel to Niagara Falls for a show on Sunday at the visitor's center on the U.S. side of the falls. The next day the members will play on the Canadian side of the falls. The final performance is set for Tuesday at Fort Erie, also in Canada.

The corp, which includes members from Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Livonia, Redford, and Garden City, among others, is made up of a color guard, fifers and drummers.

It is making the trip this year with the help of money raised through various fundraisers, said Kauffman.

The group, formed in 1971 as the first of its kind in the Midwest, has also played in Washington D.C. as well as Philadelphia.

Performers are clad in exact replicas of the late 18th Century military fife and drum corps uniforms. The repertoire includes songs from the revolutionary era.

CPR class offered

Learn to save a life at Oakwood Hospital's Cardio-pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) course on Aug. 6., to be held at the Oakwood Canton Health Center.

The class is scheduled for 6:30-10 p.m. CPR will be taught through discussion, films and hands-on practice. Recognizing the symptoms of heart attack and aiding choking victims will also be covered.

Class instructors are certified by the American Heart Association. Participants will receive a certificate upon completing the course. The cost for the program is $7.50.

The class is sponsored by the Oakwood Department of Community Health. For more information call 278-5151.

Arts celebration on tap

The Canton Community Foundation is holding a celebration of arts, in conjunction with the grand opening of the Village Green Apartments on Aug. 8.

Titled "Sculpture and Spritzers," the event will include a patron's reception, followed by an opening night preview.

Sculptor and Canton resident Joseph

N. DeLauro's works will be displayed at the art exhibit. DeLauro will also be on hand to discuss his sculptures.

The cost to attend the patron's reception at 6 p.m. is $50. Admission to the opening night preview at 7 p.m. is $20.

Village Green Apartments are located on Haggerty Road in Canton. Call 454-5427 for more information.

U-M club dinner scheduled

Football and food will be served up when the University of Michigan Club-Plymouth Community holds its fourth annual scholarship dinner Sept. 20 at the Mayflower Hotel.

Ron Kramer, a former player for the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers, will be the guest speaker at the event. The dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Tickets are $30 and $20 for students. Call Bill Carter at 455-2912 for more information.

The club has also named officers for the 1990-91 year. They include: Bill Carter, president; Dave Keahl, vice president; Ken Holmes, treasurer; Kathy Gooze, secretary; and Kevin Albaugh, Marge Harrington, Howard Finkbeiner and Lisa Drouillard— as Board of Governors members.

Volunteer needed

Residents who want to make a difference in their community can volunteer as mentors to work in the Plymouth-Canton Youth Assistance Program.

The organization is aimed at reducing delinquent behavior in youths ages nine to 16. It also provides support to parents of children who have legal or behavioral problems.

Volunteers will complete a 20 hour training program. After training, mentors will be matched with a youth or parent, and work with them for about two hours a week.

Training is open to all persons 21 and over. No previous experience is required. Mentors should be good listeners, objective problem solvers and positive role models.

The program is supervised by Growth Works Inc., a Wayne County youth service agency. For program information and training details call Susan Davis at 455-4090.

Downtown to get new look?

"The DDA liked the idea of the garden theme," he said. "This could be unique to Plymouth."

William Graham, city finance director and treasurer of the DDA, said the improvements could act "as an impetus to encourage business owners to redo their storefronts."

Changing the direction of one-way traffic on Penniman Avenue between Harvey and Main Street has also been proposed as a way to make downtown more pedestrian friendly. The new direction of traffic would change west to east.

Greg Goodman, chairperson of the DDA, said this will help bring people into downtown.

"Now, your first look at downtown (going east on Penniman Avenue) says 'Do not enter,'" Goodman said. Having traffic enter directly on Penniman would also alleviate congestion on Ann Arbor Trail, he added.

Signage is addressed as well in the streetscape concept. It calls for new directional signs and illuminated parking signs.

Goodman said he is "ecstatic" with the design ideas.

"I am really excited about them," he said. "I think they address a number of things."

The concept incorporates the "best of both worlds," including functional and aesthetic aspects, Goodman said.

Anderson, who said he has tried to meet weekly with Jaeger, praised the city manager for his efforts.

"I think Gordon has done a great job in terms of organizing," Anderson said. "I think he's done what a city manager should do."

Anderson said he is pleased with the design and unique character of Plymouth.

"I feel very good about this project," he said. "It's not typical of any streetscape project."

The final streetscape drawings should be back to the DDA in August, Jaeger said, and may go before the Plymouth City Commission in September.

Any renovations would have to wait until spring at the earliest, he said.

primary," Langmesser said. "I sent out quite a few absentee voter ballots, but they're not coming in very well."

Unlike the general election, voters will be asked to vote for candidates in one party only. Democrats will vote only democratic primaries, while Republicans will cast ballots only for that party's candidates.

Republicans will also be asked to choose a candidate to run against incumbent democratic governor, James Blanchard. In that race, gubernatorial hopefuls John Engler and John Lauve will compete for the nomination.

Non-partisan Wayne County issues on the ballot include a tax renewal proposal and a one mill levy for Wayne County Community College.

Voters will also select a probate court judge on the non-partisan ballot.

Hopefuls for the judgeship include: Peter E. Bec, Carolyn Blanchard, William Leo Cahalan Jr., Patricia B. Campbell, Robert K. Costello and Sean Patrick Kavanagh.

Business people

A former Plymouth resident has been promoted to regional marketing manager for Little Caesars Pizza.

In his new position, John Matthews, will oversee all advertising and marketing for Little Caesars restaurants in the Chicago area.

Matthews grew up in Plymouth, and is a 1984 graduate of Michigan State University.

Sales Consultants International, a marketing and sales recruitment organization, has opened a new office in the City of Plymouth.

The new office, Sale Consultants of Plymouth, will specialize in recruiting personnel for consumer, industrial and medical areas, among others. The office is located at 851 Main Street.

For more information, contact office manager Patricia Redmond at 451-7510.

Plymouth Reed and Cane Supply announced that a second store, Plymouth Stitchery, will open today.

The new shop will feature merchandise including English smocking and counted cross stitch materials. Instruction books, along with classes and workshops, will also be available.

Both stores will celebrate Plymouth Stitchery's grand opening on Sept. 30.

Country Charm, an arts and crafts shop on Penniman Avenue in the City of Plymouth, will be visited by miniature collectibles creator Faline Fry Jones on Aug. 4.

The artisan will be available from 10 a.m. to noon to autograph pieces of her work. Jones' tour house, the 1990 Frycrest Farm Homestead, will also be on display. Her The Cat's Meow Village includes a reproduction of Plymouth's own Baker House.

Twenty-two Plymouth and Canton residents were honored for completing at least 10 years of service with Catherine McAuley Health Center, in Ann Arbor.

The recipients included: Marilyn Rafferty, 25 years; Barbara Backes, Patricia Barry and Martha Satwicz, 20 years; and Ann Barrie, Denise Devitto, Joan Griffiths and Gordon Wong, 15 years.

Those honored for 10 years of service included: Juanita Banks, Nelly Barroga, Paul Conlon, Bonita Dean, Kathleen Dooley, Antoun Ghazal, Gloria Kulpa, Karen Londo, Deborah Mackinder, Sally Owens, Linda Radcliffe, Linda Storch, Susie Lucas and Brenda Wilkin.

Helped by citizen Cops aided by car phone

With a little help from a car phone, City of Plymouth Police were able to track down a driver believed to have left the scene of an accident.

Chief Richard Myers said his department got a call Monday morning from a driver on a car phone who reported he was following a car that had struck his own on a city street.

"We kept him on the line and determined their route," Myers said, adding that city police eventually caught up with the two cars in Livonia.

Canton adopts waste plan

BY SCOTT DANIEL

Canton's Board of Trustees unanimously adopted the Wayne County Solid Waste Management Plan last Tuesday.

According to Canton Clerk Loren Bennett, who served on the Wayne County Solid Waste Implementation Committee, the township has already complied with most of the plan.

"It has been my desire to keep Canton on the cutting edge of waste management," said Bennett. "I want to create a situation where no more landfills are sited in the township in the next 10 to 15 years."

The county plan calls for municipalities in Wayne County to reduce the waste stream going into county landfills by 75 per cent, said Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack. The plan gives each municipality the option of using incineration or recycling and composting to achieve the reduction, he said.

"Most communities prefer recycling and composting to incineration," Mack said. He listed public support and the lack of any side effects as the reasons why recycling has been favored over incineration.

Before the plan can be implemented it must be adopted by 29 of 43 — a two-thirds majority — Wayne County communities and then approved by the director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Mack said. So far, four communities have adopted the plan, he said.

"I anticipate most approvals (by the communities) to come in August," said Mack. He said the plan has met with support and should be adopted without problems.

Bennett said Canton has opted for recycling and composting to comply with the plan.

"In the waste stream there are many things of value," said Bennett. "Why destroy something (by incineration) of value?"

Glass, newspaper, plastics, tin and cardboard are among the things that

The board voted down the resolution to pay for Canton's involvement in the program on June 26 because of residents concerns over the project. The board held a special session on composting, on July 17, but didn't reconsider the issue.

As a result of Canton's declining to back the project, Bolin said the WTUA board held a meeting to discuss options last Monday. She said the board decided to ask for the extension to save the project.

Bolin said the project is back to "square-one." Assuming the extension on the grant is given by the DNR, she said WTUA would have to pick a new site for the program.

"The Canton site is dead," Bolin said.

She said the possibility of WTUA contracting a different company to operate the program also exists. Composting Systems Inc., of Ypsilanti, which is owned by Peter Rekschan, was contracted to run the Canton site, she added.

Airport economics report flawed

BY SCOTT DANIEL

An economic report on the impact of a possible purchase of Mettetal Airport has come under attack from a representative of a pilots association.

The report, prepared by Mettetal Airport Study Committee member James Darling, contains "significant biases," according to Peter Burgher, a regional representative of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association.

In a letter submitted to the study committee, Burgher list four areas in which he claims that Darling's report is flawed:

- No investment, no depreciation. Burgher said Darling's study forgot that the Michigan Aeronautics Commission committed to paying the remaining portion of the purchase price of the airport not covered by federal grants.

He said the report wrongly uses depreciation in calculating cash generated by airport operations.

"The township (would) have no cost to depreciate since it (would) have no investment," Burgher said. "Therefore...it is inappropriate to apply depreciation."

- No administrative or operating costs. Burgher said Darling's report assumes the township would run the airport rather than a fixed base operator (FBO).

He said if the FBO operates the airport no administrative cost would be incurred by Canton. Burgher added that all operating costs would be covered by the FBO under such an arrangement.

- No operating revenue. Burgher said under FBO operation, the FBO would receive any operating revenue -- such as hangar rentals.

- Rental income, from an FBO, and fuel revenues would be devoted to airport purposes.

Burgher said, as a requirement of federal and state grants, the township would be required to devote airport revenues to improving the airport.

He said as a result, the township would experience "neither positive or negative cash flow." Burgher added that Darling's report "erroneously" shows big negative and positive cash flows in its projections.

He also said that Darling "deliberately set out to create a confusing and mixed-up picture of the impact that ownership of the airport would have on the township of Canton."

Airport decision at hand

the airport at that meeting or decide to put the issue on the ballot for the November general election, according to Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

But, he said, "I'm not in favor of putting it on the ballot. I think the board should be responsible (for making the decision)."

Committee member Sam Marshall said he was in favor of the issue going to a vote of the residents. He said that a decision by Canton's residents would probably be best because the issue affects the entire community.

"It would be ideal to put it to a vote," Marshall said. "Then it could be settled once and for all."

Marshall said he hasn't decided which way he was going to vote on the recommendation. He said he's going over financial information and trying to determine what would be best for the community in making his decision.

"It's not been an easy task," Marshall said, in trying to make a decision about Mettetal.

Committee member James Darling declined to comment on his vote. But, he said, his decision would be based on the figures concerning the economic viability of Canton running the airport.

"It doesn't appear that the airport could support itself based on the scenarios the committee has looked at," Darling said.

Darling said the committee vote will be a close one.

Committee member Mike Clark agreed with Darling that the vote will be close, adding, "I'm not sure what the outcome will be."

Clark also declined to comment on his vote, but said he had made a decision. He said he wouldn't change his vote unless something "comes up at the last minute" to change his vote.

During recent campaign discussions, committee member Vic Gustafson, who is running for Wayne County Commissioner, declined to say whether Canton should buy the airport.

But, Gustafson said, "Mettetal Airport, if purchased by Canton, would be excellent for the township. It would go on to become a focal point in our community."

Committee chairperson Dan Calabrese said he felt the vote would be close. He said whatever position the committee takes will have to be backed up by strong information.

"The board won't take any recommendation on faith," Calabrese said.

Mettetal wreck

A single engine Cessna 172 lies upside down after skidding across Joy Road on Wednesday. According to Plymouth Township police reports, pilot Michael Larson, of Canton, said he was taking off from Mettetal Airport when he felt his plane was not accelerating correctly and aborted the takeoff. There were skid marks on the last 150 yds. of the runway and across Joy Road. Neither Larson nor his passenger -- David Larson, of Mt. Clemens -- were injured. The front wheel of the Cessna was broken off. Mettetal Airport is in the background. (Crier photo by Philip Tardani)

To drug charge

Twp. man pleads guilty

A Plymouth Township man charged with the manufacture of marijuana has pleaded guilty to the charge.

United States Attorney Stephen J. Markman said last week that James L. Spinelle, 48, a West Bloomfield High teacher until his recent resignation, pled guilty in federal court to the charge.

Spinelle faces a sentence of up to 20 years in prison, fines totalling $1 million, or both. Also pleading guilty to the charge were Southfield residents Richard K. Barth and Elmer H. Drouillard.

Michael J. Stern, assistant United States attorney, said the evidence showed that the three men were "involved in an extensive indoor 'hydroponic' marijuana growing operation."

Markman also said there was no evidence that Spinelle was providing any marijuana to his students.

Spinelle was arrested during a raid on a Southfield home in March. At the time U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) agents seized more than 300 marijuana plants from the home.

It seems like yesterday that the Rotarians started it all with a picnic ... 35 years have rolled by as the annual Fall Festival has grown into SE Michigan's grand daddy of all festivals.

With over a quarter million visitors expected this year, the Fall Festival is the showcase opportunity for The Plymouth-Canton Community and your business.

Our staff is already planning its yearly full-color award-winning Fall Festival Edition -- including the annual Salute to Industry and Commerce of Plymouth-Canton-Northville. This edition annually helps publicize the many aspects of our vibrant community and its largest Festival.

With your participation -- the 35th annual Festival should be the best ever.

Canton skater shines at Olympic fest

BY RITA DERBIN

There's going to be skating at the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain -- and it won't be on ice.

With roller hockey making its debut in the Olympics in 1992 as a demonstration sport, the top roller skaters in the country gathered at the Olympic Festival in Minnesota recently to compete in three different events -- hockey, speed skating and artistic.

Canton's Tiffany Tyra and her partner, Philip Beuck, took a sixth-place at the festival. The pair competed in world class dance, which was divided into three parts -- the compulsory, original set pattern and free dance.

Tyra, a 16-year-old Canton resident, said she was pleased with her performance. "We finished where we thought we would," she said.

"The people we skated against were a lot older," Tyra added. "They're more experienced and have been competing a lot longer than us."

Tyra, who will be a senior at Mercy High School in Farmington this fall, has been competing in roller skating for years but this was her first experience competing at the Olympic Festival.

"I was one of the youngest skaters there," said Tyra, who won two national titles last year on the junior and sophomore levels. "But it was fun seeing everyone from all the different sports."

She and 18-year-old Beuck, who lives in Euclid, OH, qualified for the festival, which featured about 40 of the best roller skaters in the country, by winning the junior nationals last year in world class dancing.

Tyra, who currently teaches some roller skating when she has time between practices and competitions, plans to go to college after high school but still hopes to compete in roller skating for a few more years. She is hoping that hockey will be admitted as an Olympic medal sport in 1996, with speed skating and artistic to follow.

Tyra and Beuck are in Pensacola, FL

this week to participate in the roller skating nationals that will continue through Aug. 5. The duo will compete in world class dance where they hope to qualify again for the Olympic festival by placing first or second in the event. Tyra will also be competing in the junior figures.

"I think I can place in the figures," said Tyra, who will be advancing to juniors following a national title in sophomore figures last year.

"In the dance we should do okay -- we've got more experienced people we're up against," said Tyra of her and Beuck's chances competing at the highest level of roller skating dance for the first time. "We're hoping to make it to the finals. That's our goal."

Magical kick team wins nationals

BY RITA DERBIN

There was Michigan Magic in Virginia over the weekend for local soccer players whose team won a national championship.

The Michigan Magic Wolves 16 and under soccer team, a Livonia "Y" Premiere team that hails several players from The Plymouth-Canton Community, became the first Michigan mens team to win a United States Youth Soccer Association, Inc. (USYSA) National Championship. The Magic won the 16 and under division of the Youth Challenge Cup last weekend in Woolbridge, VA.

After gaining a berth at the tournament by winning their regional, The Magic defeated two other regional champions to win the national showdown, which is held every two years.

In the championship game on Saturday (July 28), the Magic defeated the Clearwater (FL) Challengers for the Niotis Cup, the trophy awarded to the 16 and under division of the national tournament. Tim Webb was in goal for the game, and Kerry Zavagnin, Marcus Cudnik, Travis Roy, Steve Weiger and Jeremy Banks, each scored goals in the victory.

"We had good goaltending, offense and defense -- that's what wins games," said coach John Boots. "Everyone (at the tournament) was impressed with us -- there was no argument that we were the best team there."

To get to the championship game, the Magic defeated the Bethesda (MD) Mustangs, 4-1. Webb was in goal and Will Bothe provided most of the offense scoring three first half goals for the Magic. Weiger scored a goal in the second half to make the score 4-0. The Mustangs scored late in the game.

"The Mustangs were just overwhelmed," Boots said. "They couldn't compete with our size and speed."

Members of the Michigan Magic Wolves 10 and under soccer team took a national title over the weekend.

Zavagnin, a Plymouth Township resident who is a tri-captain along with Roy and John Truskowski, was honored as the tournament's most valuable player. He was judged the tournament most valuable player on his ability as a player, leadership and sportsmanship throughout the tournament, according to Boots.

"It was an honor to be named MVP," said Zavagnin. "There were other players on the team that did just as well as me.

"Will Bothe scored three goals for us and a lot of people played good," Zavagnin added. "I'm just happy we did what we wanted to do. Winning this tournament was our main goal for two years."

"In my opinion Kerry is maybe one of the top players in the country in his age group," said Boots, who also coaches Zavagnin at Detroit Catholic Central.

"It's so easy to just talk about him (Zavagnin) but this whole team really came together for this tournament," Boots added. He went on to say that winning the national tournament has been a goal for the players for two years.

"They've spent so much time and effort on getting there they deserve everything they've gotten," Boots added. "I'm just glad to be a part of it."

In preparation for the national tournament, the team, who won two straight regional championships, went to Europe and every major tournament in the United States and also won the prestigious Roby Tournament in Toronto this summer.

"We've done all that work to prepare for the last two months," said Boots, who's team battled mental fatigue and a regional schedule that included five games in three days, to get to the nationals. "There's almost always a breakdown somewhere along the line on a team but that didn't happen to us -- each player had a job to do and they did it."

"I have nothing negative to say," Boots added. "The guys played almost flawless soccer for 160 minutes in the nationals and nobody let anyone down -- they did exactly what they were supposed to do."

Boots added that role players were a big part of the team's success. The scoring was spread around as five players scored nine goals in the tournament. Other role players such as John Truskowski and Craig Abraham, who were given the assignments to mark (defend against) national caliber players, not only defended against their assignments, but shut them down. Players, like Bothe, who only scored four goals all season and then scored three in the first game, and Webb, who did a good job in goal, were commended by Boots.

"They all came up big," Boots said. "Everyone played real well, everyone just did outstanding."

Boots has coached the team for the five years the Michigan Magic Wolves have been a traveling team. His staff includes assistant coach Roy Lerner and team manager Dave Cook.

The team is made up of 17 high school players from around metro Detroit. Defender Matt Werner plays for West Bloomfield; and Cudnik, a defender, and Abraham, midfielder, play at DeLaSalle High School. Keeper Webb attends Detroit Country Day School; Bothe, a forward-defender plays at Lake Orion High School; Defender Steve Schwartz plays for Troy Athens, the defending Class A state champions; and Weiger, a forward, attends Dearborn Edsel Ford. Roy, a defender, attends Livonia Stevenson, and Jeremy Banks, attends Livonia Churchill.

There are eight players from The Plymouth-Canton Community: keeper Mike Makowic, defender Matt Lee, midfielder Truskowski, and defender Matt Cook, who play for Salem; and defender-midfielder Chris Hayes, who is a student at Canton High. Other residents include midfielders Scott Lerner, Brendan Sullivan and Zavagnin, who play for Detroit Catholic Central.

Softballers 'special' in Canton

BY RITA DERBIN.

There was nothing but good times and a feeling of good will at Canton Softball Center last weekend. A big turnout of volunteers and spectators helped make the Michigan Special Olympics' State Softball Tournament a success.

Over a thousand people involved in the Special Olympics, including 678 athletes of all ages on 44 teams, and numerous coaches and chaperones came to Canton for the largest ever softball tournament and no one left disappointed, according to Edie Wirtshafter, sports director for the Michigan Special Olympics.

"For the first time we didn't have rain, and the events ran smoothly," Wirtshafter said. "We love the facilities (at the softball center) — they're top-notch, and we're already negotiating a weekend when the tournament can be held next year."

Wirtshafter added that the Michigan Special Olympics owed a big thank you to all the volunteers that made the event possible. She added that the umpires at Softball Center who volunteered their time to the softball games, the Wayne Civitans who hosted the event and the United Auto Workers (UAW) 735 who provided all the meals for the athletes, also deserved a warm thank you.

After opening ceremonies and a dinner dance at the UAW meeting hall Friday night, the athletes were ready to play softball on Saturday. The teams were divided into divisions based on skills and the softball games began.

The top three teams in each division were awarded trophies and the fourth place teams received ribbons. The Plymouth-Canton Thundercats, who played well but lost two one-run games to Saginaw (11-10) and Allegan (10-9), received ribbons for coming in fourth place in division 10.

There was also a skills competition for athletes who did not participate in the softball games. The competition, intended for beginning level athletes, tested the hitting, running, throwing and fielding skills of the 75 participating athletes. Medals were awarded to the top three places and ribbons were given to athletes finishing fourth through eighth.

Chamber golf

It's time for linksters across The Plymouth-Canton Community to gear up for the Canton Chamber of Commerce's annual golf outing Aug. 21.

This year's competition will be held at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton. Tee-off time is 8:30 a.m.

Registration fee is $60 before Aug. 3. Entries after Aug. 3 are $65. The price includes a hot buffet lunch and individual and team trophies.

Registration for four golfers is $260, or $240 before Aug. 3. For more information call 453-4040.

Fans enjoy the softball action during the Special Olympics State Softball Tournament in Canton Friday and Saturday.

Canton to establish curbside collection program can be recycled and are of value, Bennett said. He said two collection bins, behind the Canton Administration Building, were established about a month ago to comply with the plan.

"The recycling station has been overwhelmingly successful," Bennett said. "Canton has had to add a third bin because we just haven't been able to handle the flow."

The township will establish a curbside collection of recyclable materials within a year and a half, Bennett said.

To fully comply with the plan, both a recycling and composting program have to be in place by 1994, Bennett said.

Canton has sought to open a composting facility at Geddes and Beck roads but has met with community opposition. Despite that opposition, Bennett said it wasn't "a dead horse."

"Canton has done an outstanding job with the plan," said Mack. "They have taken the plan and virtually implemented it already."

According to City of Plymouth officials the plan will be looked at Monday at the city commission meeting. It could be adopted that night, according to officials.

Plymouth Township Board of Trustees will consider the plan on Aug. 14, according to Clerk Esther Hulsing.

SCULPTURES & SPRITZERS AUGUST 8th

The Canton Community Foundation, in cooperation with the Canton Historical Commission, is pleased to play a role in bringing about a Celebration of Canton and the Arts, and to assist in helping to recognize the proud heritage of the Canton Community.

On August 8 the Village Green of Canton will officially open its gracious appointed 5,550 square feet clubhouse. The Grand Opening will feature Art and Music.

The evening is designed to showcase Village Green, as well as provide a gathering of friends, complete with spritzers and sculptures. Featured will be noted local sculptor Joe DeLauro, founding Chairman of the Canton Arts Council.

A patron preview will be held from 5 until 6 p.m. The cost is $50. The reception and gala event will begin at 6 p.m. and last until 9 p.m. The cost for the reception is $20. If you would like to be placed on the invitation list you should call the Canton Community Foundation Office at 454-5427.

Honorary Chairmen for the Event are Supervisor Tom Yack and Clerk Loren Bennett. Chairing the event are Melissa McLaughlin, Terri Bennett, Cynthia Burgess, David Arley and William Joyner.

CANTON BPW HOSTS WOMENS CAR CARE CLINIC

The August Dinner meeting of the Canton Business and Professional Women will feature a special program on Womens Car Care. All working women in the area are invited to this meeting, scheduled for August 6.

The Canton BPW meets at the Roman Forum, 41601 Ford Road. Dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. and the program begins at 7:30 p.m. Those interested in attending this program, a Womens Car Care Clinic, can pay at the door. Cost for the dinner is $10.

If you are interested in more information about either the program or the Canton BPW you can call Kelly Baldrice either at home (489-4257) or at work (737-7300).

FOUNDATION HUMAN SERVICE GRANTS ANNOUNCED

The people of Canton are some of the best. They generously offer time and energy to help others. Your Foundation is working to create a clearinghouse of human service programs so that in time of need, no one will go untouched.

Canton is fortunate to have a number of human service agencies providing important programs for the residents of the Canton-Plymouth community. The Canton Community Foundation has announced grants to several of these agencies:

First Step, $500
Plymouth Family Services, $1,000
Salvation Army, $1,000
Canton Place, $500
Growth Works, $250

It is the stated purpose of the Canton Foundation to help the community to benefit from the joining together of resources, both financially and intellectually.

2nd ANNUAL CANTON NIGHT AT EASTERN MICHIGAN

The success of last year's Night at Eastern Michigan University has led to the Second Annual Canton Night.

One year ago the Canton Chamber of Commerce, working with the Canton Community Foundation, held the first ever Canton Night at Eastern Michigan University. The event was a tailgate party and car caravan to the football game between EMU and Liberty College. Proceeds from the night were used to provide a scholarship for an Eastern Michigan student from Canton.

The success of that night has led the Chamber of Commerce to once again sponsor a Canton night at EMU. On Saturday, September 8, Rynearson Stadium will be the site for Canton residents to gather to watch the Eastern Michigan versus Western Michigan football game.

Tickets are on sale in Canton at the Canton Chamber of Commerce office (453-4040). Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Canton-Eastern Michigan Scholarship Fund.

Kara Cummings, 43934 Harisdale, Canton, is a junior at Eastern Michigan. She was selected to receive a $500 scholarship, presented during the Scholarship Reception by the Chamber of Commerce. The Scholarship Reception was sponsored by the Canton Community Foundation, during which $4,500 was awarded to Canton students.

CANTON ECONOMIC CLUB

The Canton Economic Club is pleased to announce that, in addition to the outstanding speakers already scheduled and announced to the public, two additional programs have been confirmed. On November 6 Paul Hubbard, President of New Detroit, will join the Economic Club. On February 5 Dr. William Shelton, President of Eastern Michigan University, will be guest speaker.

Milton Mack, Wayne County Commissioner, and Legal Counsel for the Canton Community Foundation will introduce Mr. Hubbard. Tom Yack, Supervisor of Canton, and a distinguished alumni of Eastern Michigan will introduce Dr. Shelton.

The Economic Club will begin its new season on Tuesday, September 4 at Geneva Presbyterian Church. The meetings are at 12 noon and the cost is $10 for each luncheon. For more information on the Economic Club you should call Cindy Burgess or Bill Joyner at the Canton Community Foundation office, 454-5427.

Bob Wade, of the Wade-Trim Group, will serve as President of the Economic Club for this season.
