P-C Schools' Hoedel calls it quits after 22 years

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

After spending the last 22 years making scant education dollars go further, Plymouth-Canton Schools Assistant Superintendent for Business and Operations Ray Hoedel is taking a long golf holiday.

"I'm going to play more golf," Hoedel said. "I'm usually too busy to get out and play."

He's also planning to spend more time with the grandkids, do work in his church and travel the world with his wife.

Ray Hoedel is retiring.

"When you're about to retire, it either seems right or it doesn't seem right," Hoedel said. "I'm 63, my health is good and I'm into the retirement program."

Hoedel got his start after earning an M.A. and a B.A. from Michigan State University. He served in the Army, stationed in Ft. Benning, GA, before going to manage a hotel. After five years at Oldsmobile, a stint as the business manager for the physical plant at MSU and later a school finance executive for the Michigan Department of Education, Hoedel went to work for Clintondale schools.

"Clintondale was in deficit when I got there," Hoedel said. "I have spent my public school career streamlining operations, cutting cost and providing the best quality of education for the revenue coming in. We got them out of debt."

Hoedel has spent 22 years in service to public education, 15 of them at the Plymouth-Canton Schools. In looking for new ways to cut costs and get more bang for the buck, Hoedel said all ideas were important.

"We would go to the Michigan School Business Officers conferences and pick up ideas," Hoedel said. "Anything that would release pressure on the operating budget and get more money for the classroom."

Some of the ideas have stuck, such as investment procedures and a computerized routing system for the busses that gives the P-C Schools the lowest transportation cost per pupil in the state.

According to Hoedel, technology and training have played a part as well.

"You have to provide the proper equipment to maintain and increase the productivity of the staff," Hoedel said. "The custodians, maintenance and clerical staffs — provide the training and be able to replace the equipment when it is outdated."

Hoedel retires after 22 years of service to schools

He said that the environment of the office has to be conducive to work as well.

"Encourage the staff to attend workshops and get new ideas to enhance productivity," Hoedel said. "Create an atmosphere where it is comfortable to make suggestions. I have got a great deal of satisfaction out of getting good people and encouraging them to do their best.

Ray Hoedel

No matter what job you have in the schools, be the best."

Being the best in the business and operations department, according to Hoedel, is never running a deficit.

"You have to maintain a balanced budget, not like the one that they talk about in Washington," Hoedel said. "When they talk about a balanced budget they aren't including the deficit. In the schools the budget includes the deficit."

Along with maintaining the budget, Hoedel prides himself on keeping a good fund balance.

With an adequate fund balance, Hoedel said, a district can handle some of the unforeseen events and funding changes that can pop up during the course of a school year.

"If there isn't a healthy fund balance, unforeseen events could put the district in deficit," Hoedel said.

After 36 years of education in Michigan, Hoedel said that the profession is noble and he has found it very rewarding.

"I think it is a gift to be able to be a teacher, to encourage someone in a good way — to encourage a young person to be the best," Hoedel said. "It is truly a gift to the kid.

"At meetings, people come up and say that the budget should be for the kids. It is for the kids, all of the cuts that are made are to put more money in the classroom."

Hoedel said he would be involved in the hiring of his successor and the goal was to have his post filled no later than Aug. 1 so that he or she would be ready to start on Sept. 1.

Twp. begins garbage contract negotiations

BY PETER BRODERICK

At last week's meeting of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, the board voted unanimously to allow Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy to begin contract negotiations for the township's garbage hauling and collection service.

Waste Management of Michigan, a Wayne based company and the current waste hauler in the township, was the low bidder in the process of awarding a new five-year contract. Other companies that bid on contracts were Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI), Canton Waste Recycling, City Environmental, Laidlaw, and Painter and Ruthenberg.

Four of the bidders gave prices for a five year contract which ranged from just over $3.3 to almost $3.8 million. BFI and Canton Recycling gave three and two year bids, respectively. All bids given totalled more than Waste Management of Michigan's.

All bids — and the new contract — will include waste hauling, recycling, composting, freon disposal, anticipated revenue from recycleables, and a hazardous waste day. None of the bids, however, include the recycling of numbers two and three plastics.

According to a memo sent to the board from the solid waste committee, "the township has been very satisfied with the company's performance."

Waste Management of Michigan will now enter negotiations of a five-year contract with Keen-McCarthy. The bid received from Waste Management is $3,323,059 over the course of the contract which will begin July 1.

Canton company lends helping hand

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

The "dependable" in Dependable Transportation Company of Canton means much more than getting a package delivered on time.

It also means coming through for others in need.

Dependable Transportation Company recently delivered 25,000 pounds of goods to the Red Cross and St. Luke Methodist Church in Oklahoma City to aid victims of the federal building bombing.

Their effort did not go unnoticed. The Canton Board of Trustees recognized the company for their relief work at last Tuesday's meeting.

"Mr. (Brian) Bussey and I came up with the idea," said Dan Greenwell, the transportation analyst for the company. "Mr. Bussey did (relief) work for the victims of the Miami hurricane a few years ago."

Greenwell said most of the donations came from individuals and consisted of clothing, food for the search dogs, medical supplies and blankets.

"We've been in Canton for just over a year," he said. "It's amazing how giving the community is. It was a really great outreach. We're happy to be here in this community."

Greenwell said Dependable Transportation Company teamed up with WXYZ Channel 7 to get the word out to the public.

Dependable Transportation Company ships for customers such as Builders Square and Domino's Pizza. They have a fleet of trucks and work with the airlines for long distance and international shipping.

Raffle benefits Canton Playscape project

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Tickets to ride.

There are raffle tickets still left for tomorrow's drawing for the 1995 Ford Explorer at Blackwell Ford, 41001 Plymouth Rd. The money raised from the $50 tickets will directly benefit the Canton Playscape, which is to be built June 7-11 in Heritage Park in Canton. "We don't have as many tickets sold as we thought we would," said Lee Bittinger of Re/Max Crossroads, who is volunteering his time to organize the fundraiser. "We've sold 400, and we need 600 sold. We're kind of pushing like crazy."

The Explorer has a sticker price of $27,100. It is decked out with trim, all-terrain tires and four-wheel drive.

There is no ticket limit, and they can be purchased until minutes before the auction.

"They can buy as many as they want," Bittinger said. If the minimum of 600 tickets is not reached, a purse of $10,000 will replace the Explorer as the prize. "$10,000; that's still pretty good," Bittinger said. "It's a lot better chance of winning than the lottery."

Tickets can be purchased by calling Bittinger at 453-8700. Blackwell Ford, the Fairfield Inn and Rock Financial also have tickets for sale.

Streetscape groundbreaking celebrated

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

A shovel full of dirt and the pop of a champagne cork signified the official beginning of the Plymouth Streetscape project Thursday.

Although work on the project has been underway for a week, the small celebration — which included members of the Plymouth City Commission, Plymouth Downtown Development Authority, the project's architect and developer and several downtown business owners — was officially kicked off with words of praise for the project's organizers.

"Good things come to those who wait," said Plymouth Mayor Doug Miller, explaining how the project has been in the works for more than two decades.

Plymouth DDA Chairperson Lee Harrison said the project is the fruition of many people's hard work.

"There has been a great deal of effort from a lot of people to make this happen," he said. "We need to thank the city commission for taking on this massive project."

Harrison said DDA Director Steve Guile and Plymouth City Manager Steve Walters deserve much of the credit for getting the project from the drawing board to the street.

"(Guile) is now in a management role in the project," he said. "and the city manager has done great work and provided quite leadership."

Harrison said the project will be worth the wait for the business owners and residents of Plymouth. "(The Streetscape) will make this city one of the most beautiful in Michigan," he said.

Streetscape Contractor Peter Basil said their experience with similar projects will make the construction a little easier to get through.

"We understand your plight," he said. "We will do whatever we can to cooperate and make this easier."

P-C Schools' Close Up program linked with technology

BY MATT HUCAL

Looking to the future, the Close Up program at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) and Ameritech are providing a new age of technology that will connect local students with students a far and have created a research and learning center. The program is seeking a multimedia approach to learning by accessing on-line sources and teleconferencing to enhance student involvement in their education.

On May 24, the Close Up program held an open house in their classroom in Salem to share their new developments with dignitaries of the community. The program's teachers, Al Sudia, Clint Smiley, Bill Gretzinger, and Mike McCauley, gave insight on what is going on presently and how Ameritech is providing the grants and technology to make all of this happen. The Close Up teachers presented their room which included six television screens and three cameras scattered in different locations throughout the room, a control room that lets people control the camera angles, sound, and the overall quality of the system, and a computer lab with an Internet connection and interactive compact disc functions. Students are able to operate everything in the room, and the room is very open so that the students can interact together without being crowded.

Superintendent Charles Little was among the members of the audience and he got up and had a few words about the program.

"I'm glad everyone's supporting this. We have a long way to go, but we're heading in the right direction," he said as he also encouraged these technological developments to proceed even if there are a few setbacks, "May the weeds never cause cracks in this school district."

Teleconferencing has opened a new window of opportunity. Presently, the CEP teachers are team teaching with a teacher from Jones High School in Orlando, Florida and students will meet, debate, and argue about the political issues of the day. Eventually, all parties involved are going to try to be able to connect with schools all across the state and nation.

Ameritech has been the main reason why all of this is possible. As of now they have donated $534,000 to Plymouth-Canton Schools which has created the research and learning center. It is part of the Michigan Telecommunications Act that took effect in 1992 and has linked education and the Information Age.

Jim Lossman, the vice president of Ameritech who is from Chicago, attended the open house and explained what their main goal is with the grant money.

"What we want is an improvement in the quality of life. We're not talking about the future, everything we have is available today," he said.

I was also able to get in on the action. Al Sudia was in Lansing, but was linked up to the room and was having discussions with people in the audience. He was waiting in an office for Senator Loren Bennett and Representatives Jerry Law and Eileen Dehart to create a mini town hall meeting to talk about different topics floating around the capitol. I got to speak into a microphone to Sudia and look into a television screen to make it seem like he was in the same room and we had a regular conversation.

The Close Up program looks to be headed in the right direction. There are some kinks to work out in the system, but that's only normal in something this large. These developments have made the future look bright at CEP.

Helping Hugs

Canton retailer eases the pain of children by donating stuffed animals to Canton police and fire services

BY BRIAN CORBETT

As a child, just about everyone has had a favorite blanket or stuffed animal to provide safety.

Their continuing flow of affection and comfort becomes extremely important when a child is traumatized. That is why the Canton Target store is setting out to make emergency situations more "bearable" for young children by donating teddy bears to the Canton Police and Fire Departments and the Plymouth Fire Department this Sunday through the Helping Hugs program.

"Helping Hugs is a community program that we look forward to every year," said Randy Craig, a floor manager at Target.

"We are pleased to provide these huggable bears to paramedics to help make their job easier and to comfort frightened children. Target is always looking for ways to make a difference for families who live in our communities." Target founded Helping Hugs in 1991 with the National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians and Hershey.

"It's for children who've been through a dramatic experience," Craig said. Stuffed animals have become regular passengers on many Emergency Medical Service vehicles because research has disclosed they have a comforting effect, easing anxieties and fears.

It is estimated that 63,000 stuffed animals will be collected by Target stores across the country.

"When it comes to giving, Target team members are real leaders," said chairman and chief operating officer Bob Ulrich. "That's one of the reasons for our success. We put time, effort and money back into communities where we do business, and you can see the results."

Said Craig: "We try to do all we can for community support work."

Craig said Target encourages employees to take part in community work through the Good Neighbor Program. "We try to make it as fun as possible," he said.

Young authors flex literary muscle

Bentley Elementary School recently completed its Young Author's Celebration writing fair, which encouraged and celebrated student writers.

The theme for the event was: "To be an author is a dream come true." Students wrote poems, stories, autobiographies and reports.

Among those participating were Shirley Wake's first grade students. The students compiled group reports on many different topics. Also, these six-year-olds have learned to locate information, do research in the library and computer lab, and then write and present their reports to their own class and other classes as well. "I want them to know how to gather information, learn from it, and then use it to write a report," Wake said. "This way they also learn to work cooperatively in small groups, and to share this information with other students." Wake believes report writing will help students as they move up through the upper grades.

Getting down to business

Neighbors in business

Freudenberg-NOK of Plymouth, in an effort to maximize product and process value, has created a new Value Analysis/Value Engineering (VA/VE) function and has named Dan Algase VA/VE manager. In this position, Algase will assume the responsibility for coordination all VA/VE activity at Freudenberg-NOK, will institutionalize VA/VE efforts throughout the company in product design and development, and will complement Freudenberg-NOK's lean manufacturing program called GROWTTH (Get Rid Of Waste Through Team Harmony.)

Plymouth resident Todd Bohlen, a computer consultant who was instrumental in the computerization of phone ordering for Domino's Pizza, has been appointed vice president of operations for the Computer Renaissance stores in Framington Hills and Ann Arbor. Taylor Bond, Computer Renaissance franchisee for Southeastern Michigan, made the announcement. The retail outlets feature used and new computers and a service department. Bohlen is a U-M graduate and an amateur pilot.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will hold a mixer on Tuesday at the Skatin' Station. The event is free. On Friday, June 16, at the chamber office Neils Hansen of the Fishman Group will speak on the topic: "How to hire and fire without ending up in court." $5 for members and $25 for non members.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is still accepting nominations for the Plymouth Business Beautification Award. The winner will be announced in June by John Glodich of First of America.

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department is holding a chili cook off on June 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Call 455-6620 for details.

Trying new things

Plymouth tavern changes owners, name, and plans more changes for the future while shaping lifelong dream

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Little Shawn Patrick Enderle does not even know it, but he gets top billing in Plymouth. "We named it after our son," said Jackie Enderle, owner of Shawn Patrick's Press Box in Plymouth. "We just decided to name it after him."

Enderle and her husband, Dale, purchased the bar and opened for business on March 13.

"It was something he always wanted. It gets him out from under the cars," Enderle said about her husband who does body work on cars.

It might have been a lifelong dream for Dale, but it is reality for Enderle who is currently handling the day-to-day operations.

"We're learning, we're just learning," she said. For instance, keeping the bar stocked has been an experience. "The beer portion is really kind of easy, that part is great because the drivers count the cases for you; they know how much you need," Enderle said. "It's the food because you never know what people will like."

If the first couple of months are any indication, Enderle is a quick learner. "We've added quite a few things," Enderle said.

"We have specials everyday. We've added a lot of new sandwiches, before it just used to be burgers and fries, bar food."

Some of the specials include coney day on Tuesday and a scrumptious fish fry on Friday that has already started to attract a good crowd. Enderle said she wants patrons to try the bar's expanded menu so she is holding a business card drawing every week for a free lunch.

Also, Shawn Patrick's Press Box is now open on Sundays under a test basis until the fall, then a permanent decision will be made.

The decor has changed too. There are new chairs and fresh carpeting, only the bar top remains the same. "We changed everything," Enderle said. So far no shamrocks or leprechauns have made an appearance, despite the Irish name of Shawn Patrick.

"We were thinking of getting into the Irish theme because I've heard they make a lot of money, and people like to hang out in them," Enderle said.

The changes to Shawn Patrick's Press Box does not stop with the visual improvements.

"We're looking to sponsor baseball teams," Enderle said.

"I guess they came in before (the bar changed ownership,) and they were turned away."

Bowling teams and dart leagues are other possibilities Enderle has considered as a way to increase the bar's involvement in the community.

So until the baseball teams start coming in after games and the dart boards league attract regulars, Enderle must endure the up and down business of owning a bar.

But do not expect the Enderles to open another bar if Shawn Patrick winds up with a brother or sister. "He'll have to share," Enderle said.

Credit union awards scholarships

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Studying every day keeps the loan collector away.

In these days of rising costs for higher education, three Plymouth-Canton residents did their parents a huge favor by winning three scholarships. While most financial institutions are eager make money off of loans, these scholarships were awarded by Community Credit Federal Union (CFCU,) 500 S. Harvey, in Plymouth. "We like to support the community that supports us," said Sue O'Connor, CFCU's director of marketing. Melanie Bosse, a Canton resident and Salem High School student, won the inaugural George Lawton Scholarship for $500. Arthur Partain of Plymouth won the top $1,500 Margaret Dunning Scholarship and Amy Price, a Canton High School student, won the $500 Margaret Dunning Scholarship.

The winners were chosen by a volunteer scholarship judging committee of individuals who either work for or are associated with CFCU.

"This was my first year, so it's kind of hard to compare," said O'Connor, who was also a member of the judging committee. "But everyone said this year was difficult. There were so many good candidates." O'Connor and the other committee members based their decisions on academic excellence, work experience, volunteer efforts, essays and personal interviews.

The George Lawton Scholarship is named for a former manager of CFCU who has since passed away.

Bosse became the first-ever winner by maintaining a 3.95 grade point average, participating on the Salem swim team, working for a local real estate office while still managing to donate her time through a variety of school, church and community groups. Bosse plans on attending U-M and pursuing a career in actuarial mathematics and finance. "We are very pleased to award the first annual George Lawton Scholarship to such an outstanding individual," said Daniel Herriman, chairman of the CFCU scholarship committee.

For the seventh straight year, The Margaret Dunning

Scholarship honored several high school graduates who not only stood out academically, but demonstrated a true commitment to the community. Partain and Price were able to meet these qualifications. Partain is a 4.0 student at Plymouth Christian Academy, and plans to attend the honors program at Northwestern University in the fall where he intends to study biomedical engineering.

Price, an outstanding volleyball and softball player, graduates with a 3.7 grade point average. She will attend Hillsdale College, and plans to major in accounting. The scholarship fund is named after Margaret Dunning, a 23 year member of the CFCU's board of directors.

Covering new ground

The First Baptist Church of Canton celebrated the ground breaking for their new church with more than 600 people in attendance. The new facility will seat almost 1,000 people.

Canton honors top officers in 1994

BY MATT HUCAL

At a recent banquet, John R. Santomauro, the director of public safety in Canton, presented commendations to members of the Canton Department of Public Safety for their acts and accomplishments.

These members received Department Commendations.

Officers Todd Koch and Robert Sidor were commended for apprehending a carjacking suspect on foot on Michigan Avenue and turning the suspect over to the Wayne Police Department on March 13, 1994.

Officer Mark Gajeski was commended for his role in the arrest of two suspects who stole $2,000 worth of merchandise from Meijer's on May 22, 1994.

Lieutenant Patrick Nemecek, Sergeant Ernie Sayre, and Officers Dan Antieau, Mark Gajeski, and Brian Schultz were honored for their roles in arresting a suspect in a breaking and entering without incident on June 6, 1994.

Sergeant Robert Kerr was cited for his role in the arrest of two subjects connected to the breaking and entering of automobiles on August 25, 1994.

Officers Constance Barber and Robin Bush for being major factors in the apprehension of two suspects in a bank robbery that had occurred at a Plymouth Road location on October 5, 1994.

These officers received Department Citations.

Officer Patrick Sullivan for his role in the arrest of two subjects who were stealing hubcaps on October 31, 1994.

Officer Keith Myers for his role in disarming a female subject who charged at him with an eight inch knife and taking her into custody with no injuries to each other on August 5, 1994.

These members received Unit Award Commendations.

Captain Alex Wilson, Sergeant Ernie Sayre, and Officers Dave Boljesic, Davey LeBlanc, Brian De Young, Richard Pomorski, Fred Pytell, Kevin Rize, Bruce Roderick, Leonard Schemanske, Dave Schreiner, and Bruce Sutzer for their part in the capture of two suspects in a Plymouth Road bank robbery on October 5, 1994.

Sergeant Eddie Tanner and Officers Craigen Bauldry, Dave Boljesic, Jerry Hardesty, Colleen Hodde, Mark Schultz, Michael Tulip, Constance Barber, Robin Bush, and Jerry Ellerholz for their roles in the safe handling of a suicidal man threatening to jump onto south I-275 by maneuvering a semi truck underneath him then convincing him to return to the road on August 16, 1994.

Officers Davey LeBlanc, Rene LeBlanc, Leonard Schemanske, Fred Pytell, Bruce Roderick, Bruce Sutzer, Constance Barber, and Mary Wind for their roles in traffic, crowd control, assisting the injured, and securing the scene at Mettetal Airport on September 3, 1994 when a single engine aircraft carrying four people crashed in Plymouth Township.

These officers received Certificates of Appreciation.

Officer Constance Barber for her quick thinking and professionalism in persuading a suicidal individual into going to the Canton Department and meeting with a chaplain on October 21, 1994.

Officers Matt Jenkinson and Michael Wells for their roles in the arrests and charging of four suspects in a breaking and entering of Field Elementary School on October 31, 1994.

Officer Brian Schultz for his role in the arrest of a suspect in a breaking and entering of an auto and a home invasion on December 5, 1994.

These members received Certificates of Merit.

Officer Todd Mutchler for his role in apprehending a carjacking suspect by following the vehicle until other units arrived on March 13, 1994.

Lieutenant William Lenaghan and Officer Leonard Wolons for their calm demeanor while talking a suicidal man out of jumping onto southbound I-275 on August 16, 1994.

Sergeant Ernie Sayre for his quick decisions and his command at the scene during the airplane crash at Mettetal Airport on September 3, 1994.

Officer Scott Hilden for his role in recovering a stolen car and helping apprehend a suspect who had three outstanding felony warrants for similar offenses on November 8, 1994.

These citizens received Civilian Citations.

Diane Zorowa for her role in the arrest of a suspect in a larceny by giving an accurate description and indicating the direction the suspect fled on June 1, 1994.

Bessy Sills for her role in the arrest of a subject breaking into cars by giving an excellent description of the suspect and indicating the direction the suspect fled on July 11, 1994.

Nancy Nall for her role in the arrest of two subjects breaking into cars by her descriptions and directions of where they fled on August 25, 1994.

Michael Potter, 7, for his 9-1-1 call and keeping the dispatcher informed after his mother was injured while alone on October 26, 1994.

Brian Groves for apprehending a suspect who had broken into his apartment and attempted to assault his stepdaughter on October 30, 1994.

Crystal Gesler, 11, for her calm behavior during a call to police after almost being assaulted and explaining that her stepfather was chasing a suspect on October 30, 1994.

Chris Elder and Suzanne Elder for their roles in the arrest of four individuals charged with the breaking and entering of Fiegal School on October 31, 1994.

Clinton Smith for his role in the arrest of suspects charged with stealing hubcaps on October 31, 1994.

Mark LaDouceur for his role in the arrest of a suspect who had been breaking into cars and houses on December 5, 1994.

Officer Michael Quinn for giving a mother proper instructions for rescue breathing after her son fell out of bed and stopped breathing. He started breathing and was taken to the hospital on December 31, 1994.

Because of their roles and good deeds, these people earned these awards by contributing to the welfare of the community.

Streetscape '95 Under Construction

HAVE YOU SEEN THE BIG DITCH ON MAIN ST.?

Having milled Main Street, Ann Arbor Trail, Forest Avenue, and Penniman Avenue, workers have dug a deep ditch in the center of Main Street between Penniman Avenue & Ann Arbor Trail. The ditch will be used in the construction of the pedestrian island - Main Street Downtown continues to be the only street closed. (for now...)

CRIER READERS

Watch for this information and photo page each week in The Community Crier during the entire Streetscape '95 construction period. We will keep you updated on the progress, (or lack of it), with photos and information on what and where in your downtown work is being done— Also, you will be able to check out all the construction sales which local businesses will be running during the renovation.

GENE NEWPORT husband of Vickie Newport, and brother of Miss Katie of Plymouth's College of Beauty, passed away May 22, 1995. No one ever said that life was easy, but no one said it was hard either. His funeral was Friday from the Bobson Funeral Home in Carlton. He was from a large family. It doesn't matter how many progeny, brothers, sisters, and relatives he had, the vacant place he left in their hearts is almost unbearable. Why these things happen, we don't know. There is good here somewhere! To his mother, - let me hold your hand.

Jacobsen wins Golden Fox skins tourney

Damp weather didn't stop golfers from joining the First of America Challenge skins tournament at the Golden Fox course at Fox Hills country club Monday.

PGA members took to the Plymouth course to benefit the Special Olympics in the second annual First of America-sponsored tournament. Of the total purse — $18,000 — half was to be awarded to winners and the other half to the Special Olympics. However, Peter Jacobsen, the winner of the tournament, started a trend when he donated all of his winnings to the charity. Each golfer that took a prize donated it all to the Special Olympics, leaving the tournament with only the pride of having played.

Tony Thompson, First of America's public and media relations director said, "It's a beautiful facility. It's really centrally located, too, between the Detroit and Ann Arbor markets."

First of America looked around for a charity group to benefit from this outing, and Thompson said "the Special Olympics just fit. All of the money raised was given to the Special Olympics."

Thompson said that First of America was pleased with the turnout of spectators, considering the weather. "There were about 3,000 people there. I'm sure the weather held some people back.

"It was a lot of fun," said Thompson. "We had a great Memorial Day."

Salem baseball loses 2-1, end season at 20-7

It was just one of those days.

The Salem baseball team could not catch a break in the 2-1, eight-inning loss to Harrison for the Western Lakes Activities Association title. Take a look.

•The Rocks were making good contact at the plate, but managed only three hits. "I seemed like every ball we hit hard," said coach Dale Rumberger, "it went directly to somebody."

•The Rocks received a strong performance from pitcher Justin Marcis, usually a sign of victory, but he recorded the loss. "He's pitched many games like that one," Rumberger said, "and he's come out on top."

•Harrison Hawks pitcher Jake Lawson quieted Salem's potent offense, which carried a team batting average of .320 into the game. Lawson was also Harrison's hottest hitter, recording two hits and scoring both runs. "I have to give him all the credit in the world," said Rumberger, referring to Lawson.

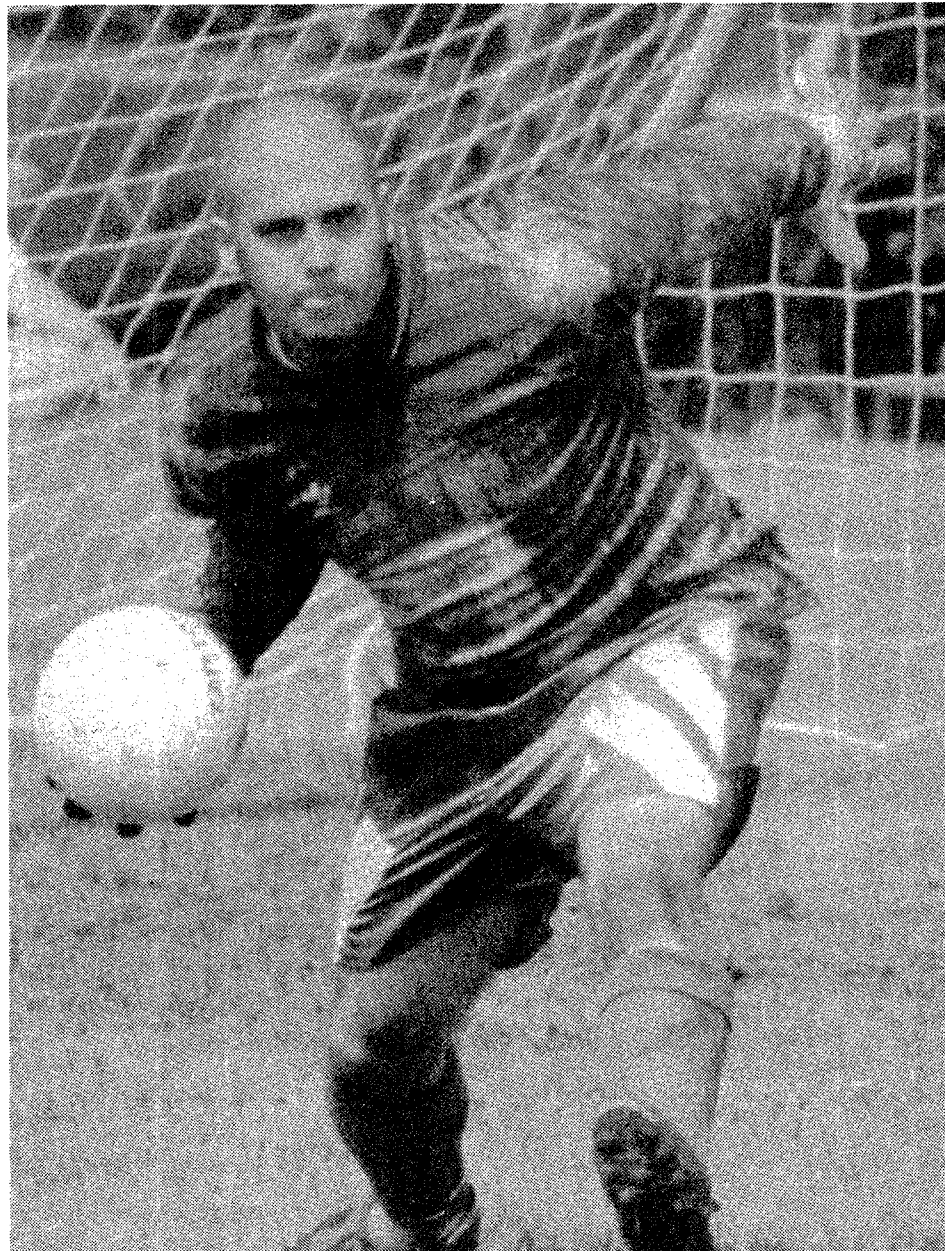

With two all conference pitchers going head-to-head, the game was a scoreless tie until the third inning when Harrison scored one run on two hits. It remained 1-0 into the seventh inning when Salem finally got a rally going. With one down, shortstop Bill Styles reached base via a double. Third baseman Brad Lear then roped a single to bring in Styles and tie up the game, 1-1. Next up was Ahmande Grimes, and Rumberger called for the hit-and-run. Grimes swung and missed, but Lear was off to the races, and stole second anyway. After Grimes had grounded out to third, Dan Quaine walked, putting runners on first and second with two out for outfielder Geoff Mackiewicz, who grounded out to second, ending the inning.

The game went into extra innings, and Salem threatened to take the lead when Sammy Lagrow and Kazuki "Kaz" Kurisu both walked. But Lawson was able to pitch his way out the jam, and keep the score tied. "We had opportunities in those two innings, and we just didn't get it done," said Rumberger. It was Lawson who put Marcis in a jam in the bottom half of the eighth inning when he doubled and went to third on a ground ball. Then, disaster struck. With Lawson taking a huge lead off third, Marcis — knowing he could not let a run score — attempted a pick-off move. The throw sailed over Lear's head, and Lawson scored to end the game, 2-1, in favor of Harrison. "You look forward to playing in those kind of situations. It was just one of those things," said Rumberger. "I feel bad for the kids, because they played hard." Salem finished the season at 20-7, and is currently in district competition. "We're disappointed we lost, but it's not the end of the world," said Rumberger.

Rock linksters win WLAA meet

The Salem girls golf team saved their best outing of the season for their last outing of the season — when it counted most. The Rocks posted their lowest score this year, 410, to win the Western Lakes Activities Association golf meet. Second-place Northville was 10 strokes behind. Stevenson finished third with 423, Churchill scored 468, Walled Lake Western posted 499 and Canton was sixth with 515. Franklin and Walled Lake Central rounded out the eight-team field.

"We knew we had to win the conference meet to win the conference," said Salem coach Jim Stevens. "The kids did real nice." Salem's previous low this season was 424. "One of the big reasons is Beth Cleland," said Stevens. "She shot two of her lowest nine rounds ever. Beth really came through."

Cleland finished with 108. Katie Murinas pitched in with 105. Kelly Collins had 99 and Katie Collins put up a 98. "For me, it's very nice because I'm retiring," said Stevens, adding that he has been golfing since 1959, and that it was time for a change of pace.

"I'm interested in doing some different things in golf," he said. The excitement on the Salem team intensified when it was learned that Murinas and Collins were both medalists, Murinas for dual meet competition and Collins as the team medalist. But after winning the conference championship, Stevens stressed, "The whole team is the most valuable."

Canton track runs away with title

BY BRIAN CORBETT

At the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) girls track meet, there were no surprises as Canton ran away with the conference title, and Salem finished third in a field of 12. "We ran better than what we expected in some places," said Salem coach Mark Gregor. "We had some superb efforts. I kind of figured we'd finish first through fourth."

The Rocks high placement was a result of the sheer determination of such athletes as Nicole VanHees. "She had a superb meet," said Gregor. "We asked her to do four events, and she came through in just about everything." VanHees placed in three out of events. She was seventh (17.7) in 100 hurdles. "It was a strange finish. There were four or five runners real close at the end," said Gregor, who hinted at displeasure with the judges' placement of Canton's runners. Teammate Kim Sheldon (17.8) was eighth. In the 300 hurdles VanHees finished seventh again. Fellow Rock, Courtney Sheldon was eighth. Of all events, it was the high jump that completed VanHees' day, and she did not disappoint. Her rubber legs bounced her over the 5'2" pole setting, good for the WLAA title and state final qualification.

In the long jump, senior Marcia Parker leaped to 16'3" and third place. Over at the shotput, Leslie Deshazor recorded a second place finish with a throw of 33'3," less than three feet behind the eventual winner. Angie Smith (32'11") placed fourth. Smith had another strong showing at the discus competition with a distance of 95'5." "That's a pretty good effort for her," Gregor said. Salem had 24 points on completion of the field events.

In the track events, the Rocks started to roll. Courtney Sheldon, Kristie Giddings, Miranda Wade and Sarah

Hamilton got the landslide started by winning the 4 x 800. They completed the relay in 9:42.5. For the 4 x 200, Courtney Sheldon was joined by Kim Sheldon, Katie Bonner, and Parker. The squad started out the race seeded seventh, but finished third in 1:50.6. Nicole Bolton "saved her best for last" in the 1600 meter run Gregor said. She finished fourth with a 5:29.8 time — her best time this season. In the 400 dash, freshman sensation Jennifer Burke bolted to a 63.4 time. "She's really coming on strong," Gregor said. "She's learning fast." Parker (60.8) was third in the event. Giddings (2:23.5) was third and Hamilton (2:22.0) won the 800 dash. Meran Miles was eighth in the 3200 run, finishing in 12:30.4. Courtney Sheldon, Parker, Hamilton and Bonner (4:05) recorded a season best in the 4 x 400 when they finished second. "That's really a good group of kids," Gregor said. "They're going to run in the state finals." They will have some company. Salem has qualified in the high jump, long jump, shotput, discus, 400 and 800 dash and 4 x 800 relay. "Most of the events we have a chance to be real competitive in," said Gregor, who praised his team's determination. He then marveled at his cross-campus rivals, he said, "Canton ran a great meet. They dominated on track events."

Salem soccer ends Canton's 4-year streak

BY BRIAN CORBETT

The Persian Gulf War was big news and George Bush was president. Those were just some of the current events in 1991 — the last time Salem beat Canton in soccer.

"It's been a long time coming," said Salem soccer coach Ken Johnson after the Rocks defeated the Chiefs 2-1 in the district playoff game at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park (PCEP.) In the last seven meetings, Salem was 0-4-3 against their cross-campus rivals. "They had beaten us twice this year," said Johnson. "They were good games, but we got our payback here." "Sometimes you win them," said Canton coach Don Smith, "sometimes you lose them." Both teams won pre-district games — Salem defeated Ann Arbor Huron, 7-2, and Canton destroyed Monroe, 11-0 — to advance to the district game at PCEP. Salem came out with their offensive guns loaded, sending shot after shot at the Canton net. But the Chiefs' goaltender, junior Sarah Warnke, made save after save. Perhaps lulled to sleep by all the action at the Canton end, Salem's goaltender Julie Buczek was burned on a crossing shot by Canton's Melissa Tomei in the 15th minute. But The Rocks would answer ten minutes later when sophomore Jodi Coyle corner kicked, a melee ensued when the ball landed in the box, then, junior Mari Hoff emerged to rocket the ball past Warnke and tie the score at 1-1. "I'd say we dominated the first half," said Johnson, whose team outshot the Chiefs, 8-3. "But they scored the same amount of goals."

At the beginning of second stanza it was Canton who was on the offensive. "We got pounded for the first 20 minutes," said Johnson. "We had to defend real hard." Buczek held strong in net as her defensive crew tried to stop the Canton barrage. "She saved us a couple of times," Johnson said. The Rocks rebounded, as its midfielders shut down Tomei and Kristie Drinkhahn — Canton's prime offensive threats — taking some of the pressure of Buczek. But the game remained a tense deadlock.

It must have seemed like déjà vu for everyone involved: Another Canton-Salem game going down to the wire. But the outcome would be different this time if Hoff could do anything about it. The clock showed two minutes left in the game when Hoff took possession of the ball, and roped it down the sidelines into the Canton end.

Just before the ball went out of bounds, Coyle intervened, and carried the ball to the corner, where she turned and lofted a centering pass to senior forward Kelly Lukasik, who was standing in the box. Lukasik jumped up, and headed the ball past Warnke for the winning goal. "It was unbelievable," said Johnson. Said Smith: "We made a little error along the sidelines, and they took advantage of it." There was 1:15 left on the clock, and the scoreboard showed a 2-1 Salem advantage. The final 75 seconds ticked off the clock, and Salem moved to the next round of playoffs. "I want to congratulate (Salem)," said Smith. "I hope they go a long way."

Never forget

Memorial Day has come and gone, but we should remember everyday

Monday was Memorial Day — for most of us, a day off work, a time to relax, a good day for a cookout.

It's sometimes easy to forget those who fought for this country and made the ultimate sacrifice.

The men and women who serve, or have served in the armed forces should be remembered, not only on Memorial Day, but every day of the year.

Even though Memorial Day has come and gone for another year, make a point to remember those who fought for our freedom each and every day of the year.

Remember the sacrifice always.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Mettetal property not covered by attorney general

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a letter from the Michigan Attorney General to Edward Tate, regarding his ongoing problems with Canton and the State of Michigan regarding his property near the Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport. It is a response to a letter Tate wrote, which was published in The Crier.

MR. TATE:

Thank you for sharing with me your concerns about Mettetal Airport and Canton Township Board regarding your property located at 8508 Lilley Road, Canton Township, Michigan.

For your information, the State acquired Mettetal Airport on July 2, 1993. Prior to the State's acquisition of the airport, there were several meetings held involving the State and Township officials, their legal representatives and members of the public having an interest in the matter.

Also, you should know that the State's acquisition of the airport was approved in accordance with State law, MCL 17.1 et seq; MSA 408.61 et seq, by the State

Administrative Board which is "composed of the governor, who shall act as chairman, the lieutenant-governor, the secretary of state, the state treasurer, the auditor general, the attorney general, the state highway commissioner and the superintendent of public instruction...."

Mr. Oliver R. House, Airport Development Department Division Administrator in the Michigan Department of Transportation, states that after the acquisition the Aeronautics Deputy Director appointed an airport advisory board which included a citizen's group. Mr. House also informed this office that after the airport acquisition, you made an inquiry concerning whether the State was interested in the purchase of your property. The State, together with the airport advisory board, concluded that purchase of your property was not in the State's best interest.

Mr. House also indicates that you were advised of the State's decision several times. In any event, for your information, the purchase of additional property by the State could be construed as airport expansion, which is prohibited by an agreement between the Canton Township Board and the State. Such a lack of interest in the acquisition of your property would seem to refute any allegation of Township harassment mentioned in your letter.

Nor can the Michigan Department of Transportation's contacting the Michigan Department of Natural Resources be considered as harassment because MDOT, if it has information suggesting contamination of State property, must transmit the information as required by State law. From the available information, it is apparent that the airport acquisition by the State was accomplished with fairness and in accordance with pertinent State law and, for this reason, an investigation by this office is not warranted at this time.

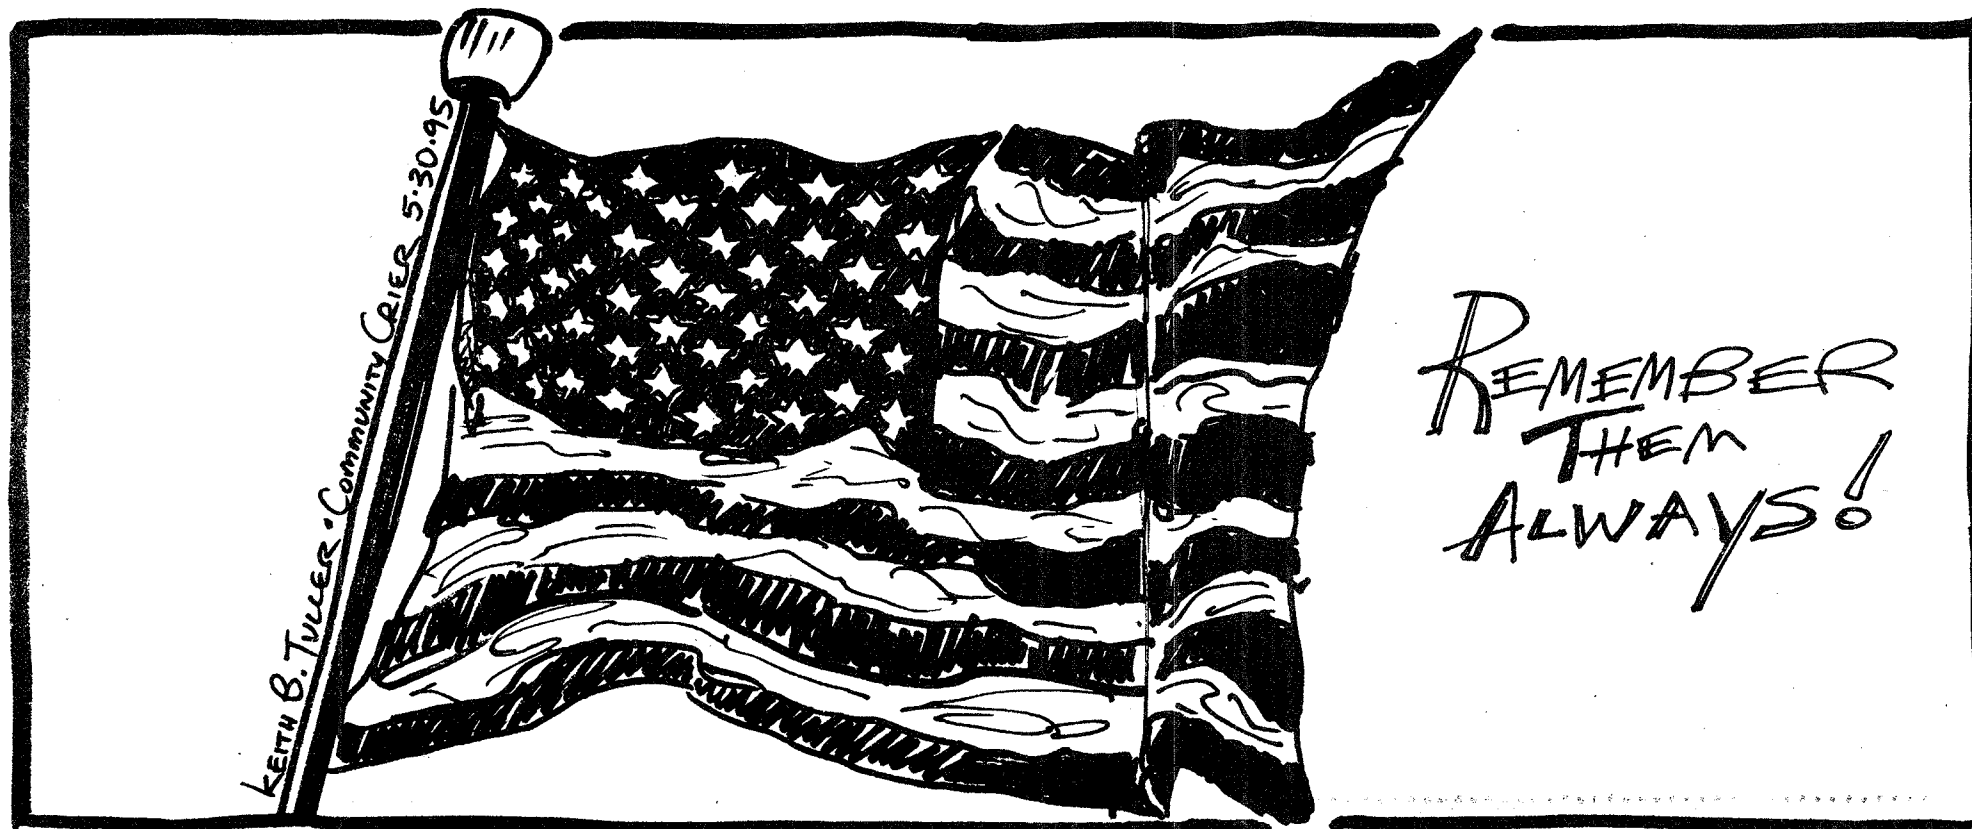

With respect to your reference of specific Township requests regarding your property, it should be noted that local units of government such as Canton Township have the authority to regulate the establishment and operation of businesses in their geographical boundaries and that the purchaser of any property should be aware of the restrictions and requirements relating to the property he or she intends to purchase. The specific requests of Canton Township seem to be within its authority to impose restrictions and establish requirements in the development of commercial property such as you propose.

As the Attorney General, I am responsible for advising the State of Michigan, its boards, commissions and agencies; I am not authorized to represent the private legal interests of individual citizens.

Since this is a private matter and if you feel that the Township is attempting to exceed its legal authority, you may wish to consider the advice of private counsel.

FRANK J. KELLEY
MICHIGAN ATTORNEY GENERAL

Fat cats

Streetscape perfect example of government spending

I don't know why, but these streetscape projects are awfully hard for me to swallow.

The Canton DDA is quite aware of how I felt about their project — I thought it was a waste of time and money. Since the project has been completed, I've changed my mind. I think it looks great and it sets Canton apart from all the other communities that line Ford Road.

Maybe I'll change my mind about the Plymouth Streetscape as well. After all, I'm not a politician — I can waffle and flip-flop as much as I want.

I'm going to say the same about the Plymouth Streetscape as I did about the Canton project. I'm not against improving streets and sidewalks. After visiting Indiana this past weekend, I know how bad our roads are in this state.

I do question the scale and cost of the project. The millions of dollars being spent on the streetscape could be better spent.

Plymouth DDA Director Steve Guile said the project will make downtown more competitive with the malls. I disagree. It will make downtown nicer to look at, but unless the downtown business owners get together and stay open longer, it won't do much good. People already like shopping downtown — without new streets and sidewalks.

The Plymouth Streetscape project is typical of most government funded projects. When money is earmarked for a project it will be spent. If $10 million is set aside, $10 million will be spent. If $50 million is there, $50 million will be spent. The same with the streetscape. The money is there, so the money will be spent.

If you don't believe me, watch the project proceed. The signs of a government funded project are already visible. Streets have been ground up, just to be paved again. Trees have been cut down to plant new trees. Flower boxes will be ripped up to build new flower boxes. Sidewalks will be torn up to pour new sidewalks.

Maybe it's just me, but I thought Plymouth looked pretty nice just the way it was.

People (including the politicians and bureaucrats responsible for this project) will point at me when the streetscape is complete and say, "There's that guy from The Crier who said the streetscape was a waste. I bet he's changed his mind now."

Maybe I will change my mind — I've done it before. I'm (usually) the first to admit it when I'm wrong.

There's one thing I won't change my mind on: The money for the Canton and Plymouth Streetscapes could have been better spent.

Target program helped local seniors

EDITOR:

A noted "SALUTE" to the Target Good Neighbor Volunteer Program. This wonderful crew of volunteers gave their time to assist with serving 100 Seniors Dinner as an appreciation for Seniors Week last Friday. Thank you to Randy Craig, Stacey Sultana, Karrie Ballinger (and Mark/Nick), Cora VanLoan, Rhonda Dilizion, Linda Leavenworth, Chris Lightfoot and Stacey Toor.

Thank you for your time and commitment to the Canton community. We truly enjoyed working with the volunteer group.

The rewards were evident on all of the faces, volunteers and seniors alike. Thank you once again for being available for this event.
