Joseph Tessman will now hold forth in the merchant tailoring department at Geo. A. S. & Co's, where he is now engaged early and late manipulating the new machine, just put in by that firm.

—Little Ruth Dillard, who has been living with Mrs. R. M. Price, of this place, for several months past, was taken to her mother at Lynch's station, Va., on Thursday, the 10th inst., by a Mr. VanWard-ragen, who was sent by the child's mother, for her.

—Wm. Cole, who it will be remembered was the pitcher for the Highland base ball club in a recent game in this city, died at Wayne, Sunday, Oct. 23. He was much respected, and a great favorite with the young people of Wayne and vicinity.—Pontiac Gazette. Mistake. Mr. Cole was a resident of Plymouth, and died here.

—Ransom Kynoch, a former resident of this place, was married at Petaluma, California, October 11. The following clipped from a Petaluma paper will be read with interest by his many friends here: "Yesterday the marriage of Mr. R. Kynoch, of Novato, Marin county, and Miss Louisa Rodock, was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, near this city. The house had been tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers, etc. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. Rev. W. J. B. Stacy tied the silken knot. They were the recipients of a number of useful as well as ornamental presents. Mr. Kynoch and his bride have a host of friends here who will extend to them the hand of congratulation for a long and prosperous journey through life. They will reside at their home in Novato.

—The assault and battery suit of the Stockfleets vs. Oliver Mannassau and George Fisher, before Esquire Valentine, last Friday, called out a large crowd, especially from the neighborhood in which they reside. There were quite a number of witnesses sworn, those on the defense being mainly to prove an alibi. The justice reserved his decision until Monday morning, when they were acquitted. They were, however, immediately arrested on complaint of the Stockfleets for alleged larceny and their trial set down for Thursday, yesterday. These suits are the outcome of an occurrence, which took place a couple of weeks ago, at which time the complainants claim to have discovered two men taking potatoes from their pits. Armed with a shot gun they boldly went forth to capture the thieves, but the latter, took offence at having a loaded shot gun pointed at them, and one of them promptly took it away from the elder Stockfleet while the other fellow knocked the younger Stockfleet down, and the two thieves made way with the gun—a borrowed one of that Geo. A. Starkweather appears as attorney for the complainants and J. F. Brown for the defendants.

—Revival meetings are being held at the Baptist church this week.

—M. D. Seaman and Lee Wager, of Northville, were in town Sunday.

—One Ann Arbor boarding house has 103 boarders at $2.50 per week each.

—Mrs. Frank Butler and sister, Miss Kate Buchner, of Northville, were in town Monday.

—South Lyon Picket: "R. Root of Plymouth, was the guest of H. A. Whipple, over Sunday.

—W. H. Wherry's dwelling has been receiving a fresh coat of paint from the brush of Lew Hassinger.

—Mrs. C. M. Duntley left our Wednesday for Flint where she will visit her eldest daughter for a few weeks.

—Miss Cora Beam, who for some time past has been engaged teaching school near Northville, spent Sunday with her parents here.

—One of our young ladies in getting off the train the other evening was asked by a polite young gent if he should help her alight. "No, thanks," she replied, "I don't smoke!"

—Last Sunday evening while Merritt Stanley and a gentleman friend were sitting in Stanley's house quietly conversing, they were startled by the crash of a window and the report of a pistol, both coming about the same time. Stanley made a break for the door, intent on discovering who did the shooting, but his little children, who were in bed at the time, their mother having gone to church, ran after him and being obliged to take care of them, he was unable to pursue further. A search was instituted and the ball found, which proved to be a thirty-eight size, cartridge bullet. The result was probably the carelessness of some one. Stanley has no idea that the shot was intentional, but he doesn't like such carelessness and would probably have taught some one a lesson could he have got hold of them.

—Ann Arbor Courier: "A racy scene occurred on our streets this morning: A crazy man who had been wandering about the streets found his way into the upper corridors of the P. O. building. He finally entered the room of a gentleman who was peacefully slumbering therein, and gazing at the scene a moment the crazy man sprang full force upon the sleeping young man as if to rend him in pieces. As may be imagined this action suddenly awoke the slumberer, and he looked so dazed and wild over it that his crazy assailant began to scared himself. So he gradually relaxed his hold upon the sleeping young man who every instant grew more and more awake, and as he awakened a feeling of madness supplanted that of astonishment and he commenced defensive operations, getting madder and madder each breath; he shook off his assailant, fired him out in the hall, grabbed a congress water bottle (so supposed), and entirely regardless of his scant costume, started in pursuit. The crazy man didn't want to die so he run. Up stairs and down stairs and finally out into the street with his white clad pursuer hot upon him, and yelling like a Comanche Indian all the time. After making the circuit of the court house square a crowd intercepted the runners, the crazy man was taken to jail for safe keeping, and the young man returned to his room for a change of raiment.

Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Spies Swing on the Gallows. Lingg Cheats the Gallows.

The following is the governor's decision in full in the anarchist case: STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE OFFICE, SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 10, 1887. On the 5th day of August, 1886, in the Cook county criminal court, August Spies, Albert R. Parsons, Samuel K. Fielden, Michael Schwab, Adolph Fischer, George Engel and Louis Lingg were found guilty by the verdict of the jury and afterwards sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Matthias J. Segan.

RURAL ECONOMY.

Cheese Generally Regarded as a Condiment Rather Than as an Article of Food.

How Its Consumption Might Be Greatly Increased in City and Country—Suggestions on Conducting Farmers' Institutes To Be Held the Coming Winter.

A Bite of Cheese.

Farmers and dairymen are constantly complaining because the market for their products is so poor and prices are so low. During the past few years many manufacturers of cheese have become discouraged and have converted their establishments into creameries. If they make cheese at all they are of inferior sorts. The curd is produced from skimmed or separated milk to which lard, oleomargarine, neutral or cotton-seed oil, is added to take the place of the cream that was removed.

made in foreign countries produced here.

Farmers' Institutes.

Meetings of farmers for the purpose of listening to lectures and engaging in discussing matters pertaining to raising crops, feeding and breeding animals, and managing estates have for many years been held in various parts of the country, and have been productive of good. During the past few years they have been conducted in a more systematic manner than ever before, and the results were in all respects more satisfactory.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

SPICED ONIONS.—Peel onions of medium size and lay them in a jar. Take as much good cider vinegar as will cover them, add cloves, cinnamon, mace, mustard seed and horseradish to suit the taste, and pour scalding hot over the onions. In twelve hours pour off the vinegar, heat to the boiling point, pour over again, and repeat twice.

SAUSAGE.—Forty pounds meat, one pound salt, one pint sage, three ounces pepper, add three ounces allspice; season the meat before grinding.

HOT CABBAGE SALAD.—Take a firm, white head, shred or chop enough to nearly fill a quart dish, put it in the dish, sprinkle the top with a half-teaspoonful of black pepper and two or three tablespoonfuls of white sugar; put half a cup of butter in a spider; when it is brown stir into it the following mixture; Half-cup of sour cream, three well-beaten eggs, half-cup of vinegar; let it boil a moment and pour it over the cabbage; cover and keep in a warm place until wanted.

CIDER VINEGAR.—Although the process of making vinegar from cider is very simple, some do not succeed in it. There is nothing difficult about the theory, yet we have known farmers to make futile attempts. If the pure juice of the apple is reduced one-third with water, put into a clean barrel and stored in a warm room with the bung taken out, and the orifice covered with a coarse cloth to keep out insects, it will change to excellent vinegar in two or three years.

APPLES WITH RICE.—Peel and with a scoop take the cores of as many apples as is required for your party. Put them in a baking dish with a little lemon peel, and a syrup of sugar and water. Cover with a baking sheet or plate, and let the apples bake very slowly until done, but they must not be the least broken.

BACON SALAD DRESSING.—Cut three or four ounces of streaked bacon into small dice and fry them in a stew-pan a pale color, but crisp. Beat the yolks of three eggs with a spoonful of flour, a small wine glass of vinegar and half as much water; add a spoonful of made mustard, and a little pepper and salt if needed. Put this to the bacon in the stew-pan and stir it over the fire until thick and smooth.

The Approach of Winter. The dead leaves rattle from the bough Like shavings from a plank; Each tree stands mortised in the ground And lifts its moveless flank;

Revival of the Reticule. It is understood that the opera-glass bags and the dainty little plush pockets for handkerchiefs that our belles have for the last year been wont to carry about with them are to be superseded this season by the regular old-fashioned reticules that our grandmothers used to delight in.

POLITENESS.

Civilization Bringing About Changes Among the Nations.

I think civilization is gradually doing away with politeness, says a writer in The San Francisco Chronicle. It does not seem to be fashionable to be polite any more. True, fellows always raise their hats to ladies and all that sort of thing, but it does not mean so much as it did, not the same kind of respect the old school carried to a point of quaint affectation.
