WHAT THEY SAY.

—Did you eat turkey?
 Splendid stock of trunks at Potter's.
 —Oliver Westfall, of Northville, was in town Tuesday.
 Nice warm horse clothing at Potter's, in Plymouth.
 —Alexander Bow, of Detroit, has been making a few days visit here.
 Trunks for everybody at Potter's harness store.
 —Holly is threatened with a drama by home talent. The citizens have our sympathy.
 Winter goods of all kinds at Potter's harness store.
 Don't throw away your money on cheap photographs, when you can get cabinets at Gibson's, Northville, at $3.00 per dozen.
 —Frank Hendricks returned from Marquette, Tuesday afternoon, on a telegram announcing the severe illness of his mother.
 —It is singular to us that the water power at Mead's Mills is not utilized. A splendid location for a creamery or milk condensery.
 —The small boy is now looking over his handsled and skates, having them got in shape, preparatory to the winter sport, which is already begun.
 —South Lyon Excelsior: Miss Flora Duncan and Miss Flora Geer, of Plymouth, spent Thursday and Friday with Mrs. W. H. Yanson and Mrs. E. E. Bird.
 The great closing out sale of boots and shoes at Gale's continues. Boston rubber boots $2.50; knit felt boots and rubbers $2.30. Everything at cost for cash.
 —It is stated on quite good authority that the South Lyon fair people paid out nearly thirty dollars as premiums on exhibits at their late fair. Yet, it was a grand success.
 —The Young Ladies' Guild, of the Presbyterian church, will open a bazar in the Taylor block, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 26th. Supper will be served from six o'clock until nine. All are invited.
 —Frank B. Clarke, in the employ of MAIL, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. H. G. Clarke, of Pontiac, and cousin, Miss Grace Clarke, from Sherman, Texas, at the residence of his uncle, Rev. D. J. O'Dell, at Brighton.
 —Fred Shafer is agent for the West Park Steam Laundry, Detroit. F. L. Steers, proprietor. All parties wishing first-class work, without injury to goods will do well by sending through him. Leave your orders at Orr Passage's barber shop.
 —Two barns belonging to Charles S. Mason, five miles south of Wayne were burned to the ground with all their contents except the horses, last Friday. The buildings were insured, but the contents were not. Cause, children and matches.
 —South Lyon Excelsior: Rev. M. W. Gifford, of Plymouth, is in town taking orders for a highly interesting and instructive book entitled "Earth, Sea and Sky." He is meeting with deserving success, having already taken orders for nearly one hundred copies.
 —The suit of the Stockfleets vs. Fisher and Manassau, of Livonia, charged with larceny, which took place here before Esq. Valentine, last Friday, lasted until late in the evening and resulted in a verdict of guilty and a fine of $100 and thirty days confinement. An appeal was taken.
 —Brighton offers to furnish some reliable parties with a large three story brick building, who will go there and engage in the knitting business. Why would not Plymouth be a good location for an industry of this nature, it is a much finer location, and better advantages for shipment.
 —See here! We have a few of Dr. Kendall's horse books, the retail price of which are twenty-five cents each. For a short time we will give one to each subscriber to the MAIL, who pays for one year in advance. If sent by mail, five cents additional to pay postage on the book. Come early, before the books are all gone.

—Now harvest your screen doors.
 Splendid stock of trunks at Potter's.
 Cash for hides and sheep pelts at Bennett's.
 —Miss Carrie Steers is visiting at Wayne.
 Nice warm horse clothing at Potter's, in Plymouth.
 —The young ladies guild have lots of pretty things on sale.
 Trunks for everybody at Potter's harness store.
 —R. F. Allen and wife, of Northville, were in town Wednesday.
 Winter goods of all kinds at Potter's harness store.
 —Quite a number of our young people took in dances at Wayne, Northville and here, last evening.
 —Samuel Dobbins, of Marshall, arrived in town Tuesday for a few days visit with his parents and friends.
 The celebrated Candee rubbers and Pontiac knit boots for sale at Geo. A. S. & Co's.
 —Miss Wallace, a sister of the Rev. G. H. Wallace, is here and will probably remain during the winter.
 —Town treasurers should see our tax receipts before ordering. Our work is equal to any and prices as low.
 —Ladies! Butterick's fashion sheet for December can be had at Starkweather's, either by calling or dropping a card.
 —Lafayette Burch and son, who have been at Ypsilanti for a couple of weeks past, returned home Monday evening.
 A splendid line of wool-lined overshoes (high or low tops), for ladies, misses and children's wear, at Geo. A. S. & Co's.
 —Thanksgiving services were held at the Methodist church yesterday. Rev. H. Burns, of the Baptist church, delivered the address.
 A splendid stock of youths' misses and children's high-top school shoes; ladies' and gents' felt shoes, just received, at Geo. A. S. & Co's.
 Look! All kinds of stamped goods at the Postoffice news depot. Todies, only five cents; splashes, twenty-five cents; also, embroidery silks, araneses, etc.
 Joseph Tessman will now hold forth in the merchant tailoring department at Geo. A. S. & Co's, where he is now engaged early and late manipulating the new machine just put in by that firm.
 —Ira Hough, of Cleo, is in town for a few days visiting and to recover from an injury received some three weeks ago by the explosion of a railroad torpedo. The injury was to one of his legs and he has suffered from three surgical operations so far.
 —Among the recent marriage licenses we notice one No. 431 to James H. Wingard and Eva E. Corwin, both of Wayne, aged twenty-one and eighteen respectively; and No. 440 to Isaac Padget and Eda Rohde, aged twenty-seven and twenty-one, Redford. No. 447 to Zebina M. Hayes and Carrie E. Guthrie, aged twenty-two and nineteen, both of Northville.
 —"Womans Work," is the title of a new journal published at Athens, Ga., and as its name indicates, is devoted to matters of interest to the ladies. The number before us contains sixteen pages, neatly gotten up and filled with interesting matter. It is published monthly at fifty cents per year. Address T. L. Mitchell.

'TIS SAID THAT—

Obituary.

Mrs. Jane Ash, whose death occurred last week, came to Michigan with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Starkweather, in 1825.

Her girlhood days were spent on the farm now owned by Mr. Spencer in the north-eastern part of the town. In 1837 she married to James T. Ash, and came to the village of Plymouth, occupying the house in which her last hours were spent.

Three children, two daughters and a son were given their household, but her brightness was soon changed to darkness. First, the lamb of the flock was taken. Then consumption, that dread disease, marked her companion and eldest born for its victims. Thus, within a year, three had been removed from her home by death, and at the age of twenty-nine, she was left with a little daughter, to meet the conflicts of life alone.

Years passed on, and she was called to part with father, mother, brothers and sister. But the greatest trial came when bereft of her daughter. Alone—from that time on, she seemed to be "only waiting." To her pastor, in her last sickness, she said, "pray for me, but not that I may live." When a friend said: "I hope you will be better, to-morrow," she replied, "do not hope that. I long to see my husband and dear children. All I ask is to go easy. The Lord is good. He is too wise too err, to good to be unkind."

In her sickness, as in health, she was kind and considerate, fearful of making trouble for those who cared for her. Ever gentle and helpful, her memory will always be cherished by her friends. Her sister-in-law, from Holly, and nieces, from Salem and Northville, assisted by friends in Plymouth, tenderly cared for her till she entered into that rest, which she so much longed for.

"The pains of death are passed. Labor and sorrow cease. And life's long warfare closed at last. Her soul is found in peace. Soldier of Christ, well done, Praise, be thy new employ. And while eternal ages run, Rest in thy Saviour's joy."

Card of Thanks.

ERROR MAIL: We wish through the columns of your paper to offer our warmest thanks to the many friends in Plymouth, for their kindest sympathy and assistance in the last sickness of our dear sister and aunt, and for the many beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. JOHN STARKWEATHER. MRS. ADIBOX WHITTELL. MRS. LYMAN BROOKS.

See Here!

Bert Bennett, of this place, is agent for the finest door bell in the market. It is an electric bell and the alarm is given by simply pushing on a button. The bell can be placed in any room in the house; one bell will answer for several doors. The wires run out of sight. It is just the thing for calling hired help in the morning. You should see them; they are cheap, also. Drop him a card and he will call on you.

Marriages.

SPRINGER-TOMLINSON.—James M. Springer to Miss Eda J. Tomlinson, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Tomlinson, Wednesday evening, November 25, 1888, by Rev. John M. Shank. All of Plymouth.

Fifty guests were present. After the ceremony, congratulations and sumptuous feast the happy couple started on the evening train for the East. The following is a list of presents: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Springer, chamber set; Edie Springer, watch case; Harry Springer, dressing case; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Springer, one dozen knives and forks; N. and Mrs. P. P. Whitebeck, hanging lamp; Mr. and Mrs. J. Whitebeck, nitrate; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Simmons, vinegar bottle; Marcell Simmons, knife sharpener; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Simmons, table cloth and napkins; Mrs. C. W. Brauner, linen napkins; Mrs. Maria Seeley, table cloth and napkins; (Grandma Simmons, cock; Fred P. Simmons, two dessert spoons; Mr. and Mrs. Morell Simmons, dessert castor; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Seeley, pair vases; L. W. Simmons and family, fruit basket; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sprague, counterpane; C. W. Bradner, chimpdore; Mr. and Mrs. James Park, pickle caster; Byron Pierce, water set; Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson, water set; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simmons, pair vases; Mr. and Mrs. H. Jenner, vase.

Geo. A. Starkweather & Co. have but in order one of the large rooms over their store, and it will now be the Merchant Tailoring department. They have put in tables, counters and the latest improved machines for tailors' use, and have a splendid stock of suitings and enough orders booked to keep all the tailors and tailoresses in Plymouth busy for three weeks to come.

GROWTH OF A BIG BOOK.—When Webster's Unabridged was first published in one volume, it was a comparatively small book. Some years after, an addition was made of 1500 Pictorial Illustrations, A Table of Synonyms, and an Appendix of New Words that had come into use. A few years later came an entire new revised edition of larger size, with 8000 Pictorial Illustrations, then, after an interval of a few years, a Biographical Dictionary of nearly 10,000 Names, and a supplement of nearly 5,000 New Words were added, and now there has come a new and most valuable addition, A Gazetteer of the World, of over 25,000 Titles. The work is now not only the Dictionary, par excellence, but a Biographical Dictionary, a Gazetteer of the World, and a great many other good things in its many valuable Tables.

BASSETT & SON, FINE FURNITURE! AT LOW - PRICES! PLYMOUTH. Image of a woman in a long dress standing next to a piece of furniture.

SHE: "There, John Henry, that's where all our neighbors are getting their furniture now. You know Mrs. Sims went to the city, and she said Bassett's prices on the same identical furniture was 25 per cent. less than she could get it anywhere." HE: "Well! You see dear, Bassett's expenses are light, and he don't have city prices. We'll go in and take that bedroom set; it's $5.45 less than the identical same thing is sold for in the city, and we save freight, car fare and time."
